Diehard Reds Slow Allies In Offensive

Large Naval Force Bombards Coasts; Hit Main Enemy Line

TOKYO, Jan. 30 (AP).—Infantry spearheading the Allies limited offensive were slowed to a crawl by diehard Communist resistance today. An officer said they apparently hit the main enemy force arrayed along the frozen Western Korean warfront.

The Canadian destroyer Cayuga joined American and British ships in a successful day and night bombardment on the west coast port of Inchon. They helped soften up Communist troop concentrations ahead of the eighth army fighting its way north from Suwon.

An aerial spotter confirmed the destruction of 12 large barracks buildings and damage to others.

On the east coast, U.N. naval power hurled hot steel and bombs into a North Korean town from carrier-based planes and big guns of warships.

Hundreds of enemy supply vehicles were seen in North Korea moving southward toward the western battle line.

Forward U.N. units in the western sector advanced laboriously only a few hundred yards on the sixth day of their northward limited offensive.

Hit Main Line

A regimental officer told AP Correspondent Jim Becker:

"I think we've hit their main defence line."

On the flank, however, gains up to six miles were recorded.

An enemy division may be manning the Red defence line on the western half of the 40-mile front.

"They're well dug in and determined to stay," Lt.-Col. Bernard Peeters, executive officer of a spearhead regiment, told Becker.

Advance Allied units, he added, were suffering their heaviest casualties of the offensive, but these were far below the "terrific losses being inflicted on the enemy."

For the second straight day Chinese artillery pounded away at U.N. positions nine miles northwest of Suwon. About 100 rounds were fired Tuesday. Seven miles northwest of Suwon American units were fired on by Reds in well-hidden caves, and made only a small advance.

Dig Them Out Singly

"Air and artillery is pouring in there," said Peeters, "but the Doughboys still have to go in there and dig them out one by one."

Maj-Gen. Edward M. Almond, U.S. 10th Corps commander on the central front, told a press conference the North Korean 5th Corps is poised for an attack on Allied forces.

He added: "We are ready for it."

He said his troops had wiped out the Korean Reds' 2nd Corps.

One 45-man Allied patrol, entirely surrounded by a Chinese Communist battalion Monday 18 miles northwest of Wonju, was rescued Tuesday by another U.N.

Compares Armies

PARIS, Jan. 30 (Reuters). —Russia could mobilize 21,000,000 men in war compared with Western Europe's 15,000,000, Paul Ramadier, former Socialist prime minister, said today. He said in an article in the Socialist newspaper Populaire that the United States could provide 16,000,000 for the Western powers, but he wondered how such a force could be brought across the Atlantic.

Big Ice Jam Drives 200 From BC Homes

Rescuers clad in slickers and wearing hip boots carried women and children from 40 flooded dwellings, where damage was tentatively estimated at $10,000.

But while the jam remained, the Tulameen River began a slow—and possibly only temporary—drop. In 1½ hours Monday night the waters receded 13 inches.

"We don't dare relax our vigilance one bit," said an RCMP constable at the scene. "Anything can happen yet."

All-night watches were maintained.

Worst In 15 Years

The flood was described as the "worst in 15 years" by residents of this mining town of 2,400 which is 183 miles east of Vancouver.

Chunks of ice piled up against homes and swirled around abandoned cars and trucks. Temperatures stood well below zero.

Ranchers up the Tulameen were also endangered by the rising waters. The main highway to the interior and communications lines follow the river in a narrow valley.

Two days of sub-zero temperatures froze the shallow river waters. They backed up in low-lying areas at the confluence of the Similkameen river, pushing as much as four feet of water into some houses.

Town officials were considering asking the RCAF to drop explosives on the jam.

Police Monday wired Victoria divisional headquarters to advise senior officers the situation was "critical." Townsmen also wired Premier Byron Johnson for some form of assistance.

Expect UN Brand China As Aggressor

London Government Shifts Position Backs US Resolution

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Jan. 30 (AP).—The Soviet bloc tried unsuccessfully today to delay for 24 hours a United Nations vote on the United States demand that Communist China be indicted as an aggressor in Korea.

Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia appealed for an adjournment of the UN political committee on the ground that they had received no instructions on amendments to the US proposal and to an Arab-Asian resolution calling for a seven-power conference on Far Eastern problems.

The committee turned down the adjournment proposal by a vote of 32 against, 10 in favor and 12 abstentions.

The committee then went ahead with its debate, which was expected to lead a vote some time during the day. At least two-thirds of the 60 countries were expected to vote for the US proposal.

Informed quarters said Britain had received instructions to support the US proposal, together with two Lebanese amendments, and to abstain on the Asian-Arab proposal.

Exert Pressure

The United States put all the pressure at its command, including a statement by President Truman and resolutions by the House of Representatives and Senate, into the drive to label the Communist Peiping regime an aggressor.

Chief opposition came from the Russian bloc, which maintains that the U.S. is the aggressor against Korea and China, and from India, which fears a sharp word to the Chinese Reds may set off a Third World War.

India sparked a drive to push through a resolution calling for another peace appeal to Peiping. The Chinese Communists already have rejected three such offers.

Sir Benegal N. Rau, chief Indian delegate, said that refusal to pass his resolution, co-sponsored by 11 Arab-Asian countries, would close the door to a peaceful solution.

Other diplomats asked how it was possible to close a door on someone who never had admitted it was open.

Ask More Defence Powers Given To Meet New Crisis

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP). — The Government hinted broadly in the Speech from the Throne today that it plans to ask Parliament to declare that a state of emergency exists in this country. It also indicated it will ask for further stand-by control powers which may go into the fields of prices and wages. The speech said that the present magnitude of the country's defence effort has "created an emergency situation."

This was taken in parliamentary circles as a pretty clear indication that the government plans to ask for a declaration of an emergency, a step which would give it greater freedom to deal with the problems of a twilight peace.

The speech then said:

"You will accordingly be asked to approve legislation vesting in the governor-in-council (the cabinet) additional powers to ensure adequate defence preparations to meet the present emergency and to prevent economic dislocations resulting from defence preparations."

Further Controls

These powers, insofar as defence preparations are concerned, are expected to deal with the further control of essential materials.

As far as "economic dislocation" goes, the powers would seem to point towards control measures to do with the channelling of materials into or from civilian production and to keep prices—and possibly wages—at what the government considers to be reasonable levels.

It is likely that these powers will be of the stand-by variety which the government won't use unless necessary. Also, the government might undertake not to use those powers in the specific fields without the passage of specific legislation.

War Danger Greater

The speech from the throne, bristling with urgency, said "further deterioration" of the world picture has increased the danger of world war.

This herald of government policy for the new session of parliament said members will be asked to approve these things:

1. Early authorization for Canadian participation in Gen. Eisenhower's European command.

2. Laws giving cabinet "additional powers to ensure adequate defence preparations to meet the present emergency and to prevent economic dislocation resulting from defence preparations."

Speech Highlights

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP).—Highlights from the throne speech read at today's opening of Parliament:

The present international situation has created "an emergency situation."

The intervention of Red China in Korea has "increased the dangers of a general conflagration."

Parliament will be asked to clothe the government with new powers to ensure adequate defence preparations to prevent economic dislocation" resulting from those preparations.

A new department of defence production will be created to act as procurement agency for the armed forces.

While Canada will continue to resist aggression, she feels the door to negotiation of a Korean cease-fire "must be kept open."

Parliament will be asked to authorize Canadian participation in the integrated force in Europe under the North Atlantic Pact.

Steps will be taken to strip citizenship rights from those who have renounced their allegiance or shown by their conduct that they are not loyal to Canada.

The urgent need of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project as a security measure is becoming "increasingly apparent."

Benefits of the veterans' charter will be extended to members of the 10,000-man special force.

Canada plans to provide technical assistance to the under-developed areas of southeast Asia.

Four In Family Die In Flames

MONTREAL, Jan. 30—(CP)—A 23-year-old mother and three of her five young children died early today in a fire that destroyed their one-storey, three-room home in a matter of minutes.

The little frame house is in the community of Notre Dame de Sacre Coeur, about 10 miles south of Montreal.

The dead: Mrs. Joseph Pare; Doris, 5; Cecile, 3; Joseph, 11 months.

Mrs. Pare's 54-year-old father and her sister, who were living in the same house, each managed to save one child.

Neighbors said the young mother died in an heroic attempt to save the other children.

The 43-year-old husband, a tinsmith, was on his way to work when the fire broke out. It is believed to have started from a small stove in one of the bedrooms.

Those saved are Pare's father-in-law, Leonard Williams, Miss Doris Williams, Pare's sister-in-law, and the two other Pare children, Violet, 7, and Betty, 4.

Neighbors said they could do little to help because the flames quickly engulfed the little home. There is neither a fire department nor a police officer in the south shore village. The only water available was a small supply from a hand pump in the yard near the house.

Western Germany To Attend Conference

PARIS, Jan. 30 — (AP).—Belgium and Western Germany have accepted invitations to attend a conference here February 6 aimed at creating a unified European army.

The French government is awaiting replies from eight other Western European powers, also invited to attend the talks.

Canada and the United States have been invited to send observers.

Western Germany's acceptance was viewed here as an encouraging prospect. The West Germans thus far have expressed reluctance to join any European army which does not provide for full equality for German contingents.

Condemned Murderer Wants Start Course

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP)—A condemned murderer awaiting execution here wants to start a correspondence course.

Walter George Rowe, 29, of Detroit, who is scheduled to be hanged April 5 for the murder of a gas-station attendant during an attempted holdup, made the request Monday to his spiritual adviser, the Rev. B. C. Eckart. The minister said the condemned man asked him about the possibility of taking a correspondence course from among those offered by the University of Western Ontario here.

Rowe has expressed keen interest in science and history.

Cold Wave Grips Dominion 45 Below Zero At Sudbury

By The Canadian Press

A surge of Arctic air chilled Canadians from coast to coast today but on the Prairies the deep freeze showed signs of moderating. A Canadian Press survey found weather observers in agreement that the cold snap is the most severe and most extensive so far this winter, with the polar air gripping all Canada and reaching south to Texas.

Sudbury, in Northern Ontario, today reported a low of 45 degrees below zero, the coldest ever recorded for this date in the big nickel-mining centre.

The lowest temperature ever listed in Sudbury records was 55 below on December 29, 1933. Today's bone-chilling minimum was outdone by 46 below recorded in February, 1923, January, 1924, and February, 1928.

Sudbury was colder Monday night and this morning than parts of the Arctic regions. The weather station at Alert, only 900 miles south of the North Pole, recorded 36 below at 7 a.m. and Resolute Bay, another far-north station, had a modest 22 below.

In contrast, the overnight minimum was 40 below at Dawson, Yukon, 22 below in Winnipeg, 51 below at White River, Ont., 28 below at North Bay, and 30 below in Ottawa.

The mercury plunged to 58 below at Matheson, Ont., 40 miles east of Timmins, to 55 below at Porcupine, and to 52 below at South Porcupine, both in the Timmins area. Timmins, itself, reported 38 below, its coldest so far this winter.

The cold spell struck midway through what Canadians in the central and eastern regions had decided was going to be a mild winter with light snowfall.

Forecasters said they expected the moderation apparent on the Prairies—Winnipeg has warmed up from Monday's 35 below to today's 22 below and Regina has jumped from 42 below Monday to 10 below today — to extend through Northern Ontario tonight and to Southern Ontario Wednesday and Thursday. But the general outlook is for colder-than-usual weather during the next few days.

Enemy Casualties 24,500 In War

TOKYO, Jan. 30 (AP).—Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, commander of United Nations naval forces, said today 24,500 North Korean and Chinese Communist troops have been killed by allied naval action since the start of the Korean war.

The seven-month boxscore was compiled from official action reports up to Saturday midnight. Canadian ships were among those contributing to the over-all totals.

Joy said the enemy also "sustained heavy losses" in rolling stock, vehicles, shipping and buildings through U.N. naval, air and surface pounding.

The boxscore also included 81 enemy aircraft destroyed and 85 damaged.

"Contributing to the over-all totals," Joy said, "were the ships of nine nations including Australia, Canada, France, The Netherlands, New Zealand, the Republic of Korea, Thailand, the United Kingdom and the United States."

Politically Unreliable

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP).—A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited said today it has dismissed eight employees because it considered them "politically unreliable."

Richard Hawthorne, industrial relations officer, said the dismissals have taken place over a period of time since the firm swung into jet fighter and engine construction at its plant at suburban Malton.

Mr. Fairthorne said one of those dismissed is Samuel Wood, British Socialist and trade unionist.

Jealous Farmer Confesses Imprisoning, Killing Wife

GRANBY, Que., Jan. 30 (CP)—Police said today that Oscar Senecal, Waterloo, Que., farmer whose jealousy kept his wife a virtual prisoner in the lonely farmhouse eight miles from here, has confessed that he killed his wife more than two months ago and buried the body on the farm.

Senecal is in custody pending an inquest today.

Senecal, described as a robust, "not too successful farmer" whose rocky farm was "out of bounds" to his wife's friends had been under suspicion since Jan. 13 when RCMP were asked to check on the woman's disappearance by her three daughters in Maine.

He sat in the provincial police offices in Sherbrooke until an officer asked if he could be of any help.

"Yes," Senecal is reported to have said. "I want to talk to you about a murder."

He then told detective-sergeant Stenio Brasseur that he had killed his wife Nov. 7 and buried the body in a shallow grave on his farm while his two sons, Donald, 15, and Roger, 11, were at school, police said.

Senecal said he told the children their mother had "gone away and left them."

Provincial police questioned Senecal about two weeks ago after Maine state troopers had advised the RCMP that Mrs. Senecal's daughters were worried and had not heard from their mother for some time.

Mrs. Senecal's body was exhumed today.

Lord Nelson Dies Pension Ends

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters).—Lord Nelson, great-great-nephew of Admiral Horatio Nelson, died here today — and with him died a 150-year-old family pension granted by Britain in thanks to the hero of Trafalgar.

Edward Agar Horatio Nelson, fifth holder of the title, was 90. He is succeeded by the eldest of his five sons, 60-year-old Viscount Trafalgar.

In 1806, a year after Admiral Nelson died in crushing the Franco-Spanish fleet threatening England, parliament granted his family an annuity of £5,000 ($15,000) a year.

Three years ago the Labor government put through legislation to end the annuity, which had cost the state more than £700,000.

The fifth earl was the last of the family to live in Trafalgar House, the ancestral home—also a gift of the country—with its 100 rooms and 3,415 acres at Downton, Wiltshire. The mansion was bought by the Duke of Leeds in 1947.

Maladministration Charged In Hydro

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, Monday night accused the provincial government of "maladministration" in its handling of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Calling for economy in government spending, he criticized expenditures on parties to open the Des Joachims power development on the Ottawa river and the use of an airplane by Robert Saunders, Hydro chairman.

"Ontario's power rate is almost double that of Quebec because of maladministration of Hydro," Mr. Thomson said in an address to the Danforth-Beaches Liberal Association. He contended that the cheaper hydro rates in Quebec were attracting industry to that province at Ontario's expense.

Mr. Thomson pledged his party to stringent economy and said that a Liberal government in Ontario would stop "the present spending complex" of the Progressive Conservative government of Premier Frost.

Caterpillar Plague Be Worse This Year

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — The Ontario Lands Department Monday forecast a more widespread plague of forest tent caterpillars for 1951 than was experienced last year.

Entomologists had found egg clusters of the insect, which causes extensive defoliation of poplar, hard maple and oak trees, over a much wider area of the province than at this time last year.

The department said it is planning a campaign against the caterpillars which it hopes to carry out with the help of tourist operators, forest owners and cottagers.

Britons Stranded

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters). — Thick fog and freezing temperatures today threw Britain's transport system into chaos for the second day running. Planes were grounded at airports, road traffic has reduced to a snail's pace, and trains were heavily delayed. No ships moved on the River Thames, blanketed in its thickest fog this winter.

Sole Survivor Of Fire Woman Improving

CORNWALL, Jan. 30—(CP)—Sole survivor of a pre-dawn fire in which her husband and three small sons died on Monday, Mrs. Samuel Cameron, 37, is reported today to be in improved condition in hospital here. Rev. Albert Eikenaar, Baptist church minister, said he advised Mrs. Cameron of the deaths of her 51 year old husband, Samuel and sons, William, 5; Donnie 4, and Keith 3.

"She stood the news like a good Christian woman," the minister said.

Mrs. Sullivan To Stand Trial

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP) — A Supreme Court of Ontario grand jury today decided that there is sufficient crown evidence to warrant bringing Mrs. Sullivan of Toronto to trial on a charge of manslaughter.

A "true bill" was brought in by the 13-man jury at 12:25 p.m. EST, after examining crown evidence for a day and a half.

Mrs. Sullivan, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of her lawyer husband, Francis J. Sullivan, in an Ottawa hotel bedroom Nov. 18 last, will go on trial before the winter assizes of the court at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Attlee Warns Britons Old War Controls Returning

LONDON, Jan. 30 — (CP). — Prime Minister Attlee warned Britons today they must return to some of the Second World War economic controls if the new £4,700,000,000 ($14,100,000,000) three-year defence program is to be carried out. It was a foretoken of still more sacrifice for the British people.

Attlee spoke to the House of Commons as many British newspapers, critical of some aspects of the rearmament program, expressed doubts whether it was big enough or could be carried out speedily enough to be effective. Some papers said the call-up next summer of 250,000 reservists for 15 days of training offered too short a training period to be of any real benefit.

The Prime Minister, who announced the program to the Commons Monday, told the Parliament today:

1—Government control of raw materials may be widened. The government already has taken over allocation of non-ferrous metals.

2—The production of less essential goods, especially for the home market, may be slashed or stopped.

3—Factory and storage space will be requisitioned where necessary.

Blow At Luxury Goods

The new statement by the Prime Minister was interpreted as meaning that luxury-type goods will be the first to vanish from the home market.

The government announced it would offer a new high-interest defence bond to help pay for the big rearmament program.

Though doubtful of some phases of the plan which Prime Minister Attlee announced to a grim and attentive House of Commons Monday, some newspapers praised the government for refusing to heed the bloc which is reported to be opposed to anything but the smallest-scale rearmament.

No dismay was expressed over the cost of the program or over the certainty of higher taxes and money shortages which it will bring to a country already pinched by austerity and tumbling living standards.

Hides 34 Days In Box Stowaway Vanishes

PARIS, Jan. 30 — (AP). — A bearded, famished stowaway slipped out of sight today after a 34-day mystery voyage from Bulgaria in a packing case. French newspapers speculated he was a western spy.

The man, about 30 years old, and a master of several languages was reported to have been rushed quietly to Paris from Marseille in the company of French secret service operators. His present whereabouts is a closely-guarded secret.

Dispatches from Marseille said the man, who gave his name as Christov Dontcho, was found in a packing case aboard the Italian freighter Palizzi, which docked there last Wednesday after a trip from the Bulgarian Black Sea port of Burgas.

Christov, the dispatches reported, munched vitamin pills to keep alive during the long trip.

Boy Scrounged In Garbage Ease Starvation

SUDBURY, Jan. 30 (CP).—Two doctors testified Monday that a five-year-old boy would have died in "two or three days" if not taken from his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wood are being tried for endangering the life of their son, Richard, by not providing him with food, care and medical attention. He was taken from their custody recently by the Children's Aid Society.

Neighbors testified Monday they they had seen the boy searching garbage cans for food, and described the effects of beatings inflicted on the child.

Child Unconscious

Dr. R. M. Mitchell said the child lapsed into unconsciousness after being taken to hospital. This was caused by an enlarging of the brain due to malnutrition and injury to the head. He would have died when the brain swelled to the point where there was a severe pressure against the skull.

Dr. R. V. Chapple said the child's chest was thin and emaciated and his feet were cold and blush-red in color due to exposure to cold. The doctor said, that in his opinion the boy was suffering from diet deficiency, harsh treatment and possible brain damage.

The trial is continuing before Judge J. M. Cooper.

O'Neill Heads Fish And Game

J. C. O'Neill, 197 Brock St., was elected president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association on Monday night at the Public Library. Norman Bradley is 1st vice-president; Hilliard Tyghe, 2nd vice, and Stanley Purser, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee heads are: H. C. Carter, Harvey Calberry, Kenneth Strasser, Wilfred Perry, Fred Goodfellow, Harold Ploughman, Edward Hiland, Gordon Todd, Charles Kingan and Donald Smedmore.

The matter of using dogs for running deer was discussed, and the general feeling of the 40 members present was to rule out dogs. A letter was read from biologist Charles Weir of the Department of Lands and Forests, Lindsay, in reply to a request from the association to install carp nets in the spring in the lower Otonabee. Permission could not be granted by the department for this sort of thing, he advised: it was an operation that must be expertly supervised.

Freed On Charge Leaving Accident

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident against George R. Bickell, Toronto, was dismissed in police court Monday when he said he thought the other driver had dismissed the accident as negligible.

Sergeant Leo Murphy was a passenger in the truck that Bickell backed into. Driver of the truck was Gerard Devlin. Sergeant Murphy said Devlin had stopped on George St. for the red light at Hunter St. Dec. 3.

He said Bickell backed his car around the corner from Hunter St. and his left rear fender slid under the right fender of the Devlin truck.

Both drivers got out and looked at the damage which appeared to be slight. Devlin told Bickell to pull around the corner out of traffic so they could settle the matter.

Bickell got back in his car, pulled around the corner and drove off east on Hunter St. at a high speed. The sergeant took down the car's license number and Bickell was traced through the number.

Bickell said he had had no intention of leaving the scene of an accident. He said he got the impresion the damage was negligible and thought the discussion about it was finished.

Pledge Price Control Warning

CHATHAM, Jan. 30 (CP).—Price controls on farm produce will not be fixed without consultation with representatives of growers organizations, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said here Monday. He told the Kent County Federation of Agriculture that farmers will receive the same consideration they received during the last war. Avoiding any reference to the possibility of early wage or price ceilings, he said advisory committees of the War-time Prices Board are still functioning and would consult with producer representatives.

Growing Demand

Mr. Gardiner said that on his swing through the Western Provinces he had sensed a growing demand for conscription, but emphasized that his personal opinion on the subject is not for publication.

Referring to overseas contracts the minister said he doubted if the Commonwealth Trade Conference could be reconvened until all Commonwealth units are under the same form of government.

Fear Not Enough Time To Build Civilian Shelters

HULL, Que., Jan. 30 (CP).—A top American civil defense official said Monday the United States is switching away from a construction program of large air raid shelters because Washington "doesn't think we'll have time" to finish them. James J. Wadsworth, assistant administrator of Canada's first civil defense forum said that American military planning has taken on a tremendous urgency based on belief Russia might attack at any moment.

He said the United States had under study a program of large-scale, single-purpose shelters but is switching to family shelters and to use of other potential refuge, such as basements, which could be strengthened.

The reason was a fear that time is short and knowledge that manpower and materials wouldn't be available in sufficient supply. He said some dual-purpose shelters might be built.

His statement followed another by Defence Minister Claxton that Canada must govern herself by the very real probability that she would come under air attack in any new war and that the greatest importance and urgency should guide civil defence activities.

Not Prepared

Official statements at the meeting indicated neither Canada nor the United States is nearly ready to cope with heavy attacks on civilian populations. But both, it was indicated, are getting their preparations into full stride.

Both Mr. Claxton and Mr. Wadsworth said North America must be prepared for atomic, bacterial and gas attacks and the latter said it may well be that the Russians would attack first with bacteria, follow with the A-bomb and then use gas to prevent restoration activities. Mr. Claxton said Russia could make one-way attacks on this continent now.

To these grim prophecies, Canada's civil defence co-ordinator, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington told of a lethal nerve gas developed by the Germans which can't be seen or smelled or for which Canada has no respirator capable of full protection.

PCVS Students Visit Public School Classes

Howard Moebus, vocational guidance teacher at PCVS and P. D. Windrim, inspector of public schools, have arranged for Collegiate students who are interested in teaching to visit the public schools Thursday afternoon.

The students, 37 of them, will observe teachers in action in all grades from kindergarten to Grade VIII in King Edward, King George, Prince of Wales, Central, Queen Mary and Confederation schools. If they wish, the students may teach after a period of observation.

Later this term the students will visit the Normal school where 18 of last year's PCVS students are teachers-in-training.

Prior to the mid-term examinations which are now being held at PCVS, the group which expressed an interest in nursing visited the Civic hospital and nurses' residence.

Prices Ease Slightly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Prices eased slightly under profit-taking as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Following three days of strong advance they opened ahead, became mixed and then mining issues eased. Industrials were irregular.

Trading was active but not as much so as in the last few sessions.

In the irregular industrial list steels, agricultures, constructions, textiles, banks, liquors and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains. Utilities, papers, foods and refining oils were mixed and retail stores were lower.

Base metals posted a majority of losses but were fairly irregular. International Nickel, Noranda, Quemont, Steep Rock, Waite Amulet and Golden Manitou dipped up to 50 cents. Falconbridge, Sherritt Gordon and Hudson Bay bucked the trend for gains up to 50 cents.

Senior golds slipped fractions with very little change. Junior producers declined pennies.

Western oils, like junior golds, eased pennies.

The Arab-Asian resolution, on which a vote also was scheduled, would set up a seven-power conference to solve Far Eastern problems. Members would be the United States, Russia, Communist China, Britain, France, India and Egypt.

Support Appreciated

At Canada's suggestion it was modified to provide that the group should arrange a cease-fire in Korea before proceedings to any other business. But the U.S. declared that a cease-fire is a military matter and not one to be threshed out at any international conference.

Britain's aid was especially appreciated by the United States. It was only Monday that the foreign office decided to support the American resolution.

The shift in London's attitude came about because of a speech Saturday by U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin. Non-Communist delegates unanimously called it "great." It was formalized as an amendment to the U.S. resolution by Lebanon.

The speech and resoliution specifically provided that the study by a collective-measures group of possible sanctions against Red China would be held up if a "good offices" committee reported satisfactory progress towards peace.

$300 Fire Damage To Workshop, Garage

Fire caused $300 damage to a combination workshop and garage at 121 Parkhill Road Monday night. Another $175 damage was caused to the contents. It is not known what started the fire.

William Reed uses the workshop for repairing electrical appliances. Some fishing equipment and wiring were destroyed and chairs and a table scorched. The inside of the building, a two-storey wooden frame barn, was badly scorched.

Mr. Reed discovered the blaze shortly after 8:30 p.m. He heard a crackling sound, and suspecting fire, looked out of his apartment window overlooking the back yard. The building was burning and he turned in the alarm.

A car, parked outside the garage, was moved away from the heat and flames. Firemen used a 2½-inch hose to put the fire out.

The outside of the building was not badly damaged and the roof is intact.

Ontario Tries Pig-Hatchery

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP)—The precarious business of breeding pigs may soon be lifted from the shoulders of Ontario swine producers.

W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, Monday told the Ontario Swine Breeders' Association that the government is experimenting with a pig-hatchery.

Plans call for the hatchery to produce small pigs on a mass production scale for farmers throughout Ontario who want to buy. This would eliminate many of the swine producers' worries since the mortality rate of swine is usually highest during the first few weeks of life.

The association was told that Dr. Martin's pigs can just about be guaranteed to be healthy. His feeding program includes use of penicillin.

The U.S. battleship Missouri and a heavy naval attack force teamed with carrier-based planes to plaster the Korean east coast town of Kansong, 25 miles north of parallel 38.

Heaviest In Months

The navy's east coast bombardment was called the heaviest of recent months. A spokesman said rail and highway bridges were the principal targets.

A naval release said the battleship Missouri alone poured more than 1,000 rounds of 16-inch and five-inch ammunition into the Kansong area in the first hour of the neutralization bombardment.

The U.S. light cruiser Manchester and nine destroyers, firing over the masts of minesweepers clearing the area, added to the tremendous volume of naval gunfire.

A navy dispatch said the task force approached Kansong under cover of darkness and opened up with its big guns at 7 a.m. (5 p.m. EST Monday).

Move Fast

By sun-up, 16 minutes later, all naval batteries were firing and at 7:45 a.m. the first strike of navy Skyraiders streaked overhead on the way to their targets.

Smoke rose from the Sea of Japan port city as the big shells tore into the town.

Due north of Suwon, the Chinese were making increasing use of artillery. Twenty-five rounds were hurled against Puerto Rican troops fighting for a slushy hill about 4½ miles northeast of Suwon.

Delayed reports said an American Negro infantry platoon killed an estimated 50 Reds in a bitter local fight for a hill position Monday.

Greek, U.S., Puerto Rican, Turkish, British and South Korean troops dug the Communists out of their foxholes with rifles, bayonets and gun butts.

The allied advance, measured over a 40-mile front extending eastward from a point nine miles north of Suwon to Yoju, was slow and cautious. The fire of Communist patrols became more frequent.

Repulse Attack

An enemy attack west and northwest of Ichon was repulsed early Tuesday. An allied armored patrol re-entered Hoensong Monday and found it empty of Communists. Small-scale clashes with guerrillas continued south of Tanyang on the central front.

An estimated 500 Reds attacked allied forces with machine-guns, artillery and mortar fire northwest of Suwon, but were beaten off.

Enemy patrols totalling about 200 men each were encountered four to six miles north and northwest of Ichon. An estimated enemy company attacked with small arms in an area five miles west and northwest of Ichon. At the same time a whistle-blowing Red battalion with grenades and automatic weapons attacked six miles west-northwest of Ichon. Greek troops repulsed this attack.

The North Korean radio claimed [illegible] troops had shot down and captured four U.N. fliers. The broadcast on the Pyongyang radio asserted North Korean Communist troops had inflicted "great losses" on U.N. troops in the Suwon area.

Wrestling For Kiss Not Assault On Wife

LONDON, Jan. 30 —(AP)—A judge has ruled that a man wrestling his wife for a kiss is not guilty of assault.

The plaintiff was Mrs. Betty Woolf, who is separated from her husband. She testified he lay in wait for her as she left a movie, seized her, and tried to put his lips to hers. She tore free and ran.

Said Judge Seymour Collins:

"They are still one in law until there is a legal separation order, and how can you assault yourself?"

He dismissed the case.

More Defence

3. Substantially increased defence spending—reported to run to $1,500,000,000 or more.

4. Establishment of a department of defence production to act as a procurement agency for defence needs of Canada and Atlantic Pact allies.

5. Appropriate participation in Commonwealth and United Nations efforts to build up Asia.

To Strip Citizenship

6. Amendments to the Citizenship Act "to prevent retention of Canadian citizenship by persons who have renounced their allegiance or shown by their conduct they are not loyal to Canada."

7. Less important measures such as additional benefits for certain classes of pensioned veterans and war widows; a complete revision of the Indian Act; possibly constitutional amendments to open the way for a contributory system of old-age pensions.

The 1,200-word speech was read by Viscount Alexander, governor-general, at the opening of the fourth session of Canada's 21st parliament. It opened the door on a session that will see unprecedented peacetime defence estimates under study, that will see the end of the business-as-usual era and the entry of a new period of aid for freedom abroad, a booming of preparedness and a tightening of security at home.

Its opening words set the dark atmosphere of urgency for the rest.

Situation Worse

They said:

"Since you met in special session in the autumn, there has been a further deterioration of the international situation. The intervention of Chinese forces in active opposition to the U.N. forces in Korea has increased the danger of a general conflagration."

In a reference to today's climactic U.N. debate on China's aggression, the speech reiterated Canadian policy in these words:

"While aggression cannot be condoned and will continue to be resisted, it is the view of my ministers that the door of negotiation at any time a cessation of hostilities in Korea can be arranged must be kept open."

One battalion of Canada's special army force was in Korea and the rest of the force, now at Fort Lewis, Wash., "is available for service in Korea or for other employment in discharge of our international obligations."

Ask Participation

For Europe's new integrated force — the Eisenhower army—"you will be asked early in the session to authorize Canadian participation...as part of our program for national defence and security."

(It is expected that Canada will commit a brigade of infantry and several squadrons of fighter aircraft, although possibly not all at once.)

The St. Lawrence Seaway, sought for 19 years, also was linked to the danger of war. The speech said "the urgent need of the seaway and power project in relation to the security of this continent is becoming increasingly apparent."

The far-reaching decision to consider the present situation an emergency was announced in these words:

"The policies of the government are designed to prevent war but the dangers of the international situation and the magnitude of the defence effort required as a deterrent have, in the opinion of my ministers, created an emergency situation."

In the past an emergency was always associated with the all-powerful War Measures Act. The present intention appears to be to seek powers short of invocation of that act, the legislative force behind prosecution of two world wars.

Approve Amendments

The speech said the two Houses of Parliament — the Senate and Commons — will be asked to approve amendments to legislation relating to the armed forces.

The veterans charter, under another bill, would be applied to the 10,000-man special force. Amendments would be introduced to laws concerning pensions for veterans and their dependents to relieve difficulties being experienced by certain groups of pensioners."

This is expected to provide extra help for those pensioners and war widows who are unable to supplement their pensions or allowances by working.

The Houses would consider a complete revision of the Indian Act and the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act.

It was expected, too, that the session would see the tabling of the reports of the Royal Commission on Transportation and the Royal Commission on National Development on the Arts, Letters and Sciences.

Use New Method For Bone Bank

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 — (AP).—Development of a new method of preserving human bone for "bone banks" was announced today by the United States Navy.

It may allow storage of bones for surgical use for as much as seven years, compared to an estimated one-year limit for bone preserved by a previous method involving storage in a deep-freeze cabinet.

The new technique entails only a "quick freeze," followed up by drying in a vacuum — and then storage in sterile containers at room temperature.

Navy doctors said it has these further advantages over preservation by deep-freezing, or by another previous method involving placement of unfrozen bone in antiseptic chemicals.

Fined $64.71 For Leaving Accident Scene

Found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident, Charles A. Pescheau, Comemmere, was fined $25 and $39.71 costs in police court today. He pleaded not guilty.

The charge read that he failed to stop and give aid or and his name and address "to escape civil and criminal liability."

Provincial Constable Jack McKendry testified he was told of an accident on Highway 28 south of Lakefield on Dec. 16. From information he and Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield examined a red truck in Lakefield.

The policemen learned that a grey truck driven by Alfred Davidson, Orangeville, had been struck by a red truck as it was passing the Davidson truck. Davidson gave police the truck's licence number C92221. Pescheau's number was C92212.

Chief Samis said there were grey paint smudges on the both right fenders of the Pescheau truck. He said Pescheau told him he "felt a slight jar, but didn't think it amounted to anything."

He told Constable McKendry that he had felt or heard nothing, but "knew he had come very close to the other vehicle."

Davidson said he was driving north. He saw a car approaching pull off the highway onto the shoulder and at that he was aware of a red truck passing him. It cut in to avoid hitting the car and he felt a bump as he swung to the right.

He stopped up the road some little distance, but the red truck continued on.

Pescheau in the witness box said he did not feel any jar and did not know of any accident. He said if he had wanted to escape liability, he would not have driven three or four miles north and parked on the main street of Lakefield.

Cobourg Judge Awards $75 In Civil Suit

COBOURG, Jan. 30—(ENS)—Judgment was handed down in county court yesterday by Judge M. A. Miller, in connection with a litigation based on an unopened road allowance, in which Harry Inglis, of Brighton, sued Jay Mills of the same village. Judge Miller awarded damages of $75 and costs and ordered the defendant to remove all obstructions placed by him on the road allowance.

The case is interesting in view of the fact that one objection raised by Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg, in regard to the proposal of the public school board to buy a school site in the east end is because there is an unopened street allowance on the land. The land in question is owned by Chief of Police W. J. Carey and the mayor has voiced opposition to purchase of the land because of the rights of others to the unopened road allowance.

The two cases are not entirely parallel but the question of road allowance is common to both.

"The plaintiff was entitled to free and uninterrupted passage over this roadway, which has never been closed.

"The obstructions placed on the roadway interfered with the reasonable access to the plaintiff's lots and I think there is no doubt that he suffered that peculiar and special damage which entitled him to bring this action. He is entitled to have the obstructions removed. The part of Division Street which is in question is not fenced and it and the lands on either side of it form a field. The plaintiff owned lots on both sides of the road, as shown on the plan, and the defendant also owned lots abutting on the road. The plaintiff had a track for the training of horses, one-third of which extended onto the defendant's land. On the 28th of August, 1950, the defendant's son had his solicitor write to the plaintiff, advising him that he would no longer be able to use that portion of the track which is not on his own land

"Because of ill-feeling between them, the plaintiff has not spoken to the defendant for some two years and on the 29th of August, 1950, he had his solicitor write to the defendant, demanding the removal of the defendant's harness shop which forms part of the obstructions complained of, from the roadway in question. The plaintiff knew when he bought his lands that the obstruction in question were on the roadway and as far as the evidence discloses this letter of the 29th of August was the first complaint he had in respect of them Under all the circumstances one approaches his claim for damages with some circumspection."

"It is impossible to fix the plaintiff's damages with any accuracy but I think that $75 will cover them. There will be judgment for the plaintiff, ordering the defendant to remove all obstructions placed by him on the road allowance," Judge Miller ruled.

M. Hill, secretary.

The Mission Band secretary, Mrs. W. F. Donaldson, reported there were 15 bands functioning with a total membership of 400. Two Mission Bands were reorganized, Stewart Hall and Keene. A Mission Band rally was held at St. James' Church with 238 children attending.

The C. G. I. T. report given by Miss Gladys Langton, secretary, reported five groups reporting to the secretary with no replies from four other groups. These groups through various ways raised a total of $52.00, an increase of $10.80 from last year. A new group in Millbrook was organized and it is hoped that a new one will be organized in Hastings.

The Baby Band sercetary, Mrs. W. R. Philp, reported 627 Baby Band members, an increase in membership, 32 layettes were completed during the year and sent to mission hospitals. A highlight of the year was the visit of the secretary of the Dominion Board, Mrs. Mills, of Toronto, who was guest speaker at the rally held in St. Andrew's Sunday School in April. Every Mother's Group in the Presbyterial took part in the worship or programme and in turn gave a report of their year's activities.

Associate Helpers Secretary, Mrs. F. Tremain reported amount of money contributed was $192.56, number of members 145, number of visits made 166.

The supply secretary, Mrs. F. C. D. Milburn, stated shipping commenced in April and continued on through January of this year. In June two cartons were sent to Wilkie, Sask., and one to Winnipeg. Good used clothing and new bedding was shipped for United Church relief abroad. Linens were sent to hospitals in Africa. An urgent appeal from Temiskaming Presbyterial for clothing was well responded to.

Two hundred gifts went to Oakwood United and Church of all Nations, Toronto. These were provided by the Evening Auxiliaries, CGIT and Mission Bands.

Community Friendship reported by secretary Mrs. David Lunn, showed visits in homes 2,335, visits in hospitals 958. A shower was held for a Dutch war bride and small gifts are given to new comers from other lands. The work of the community friendship is to promote spiritual comfort, good cheer, to the lowly in spirit, to promote fellowship, friendship and good will.

Mrs. Melville Johnston, secretary of temperance and Christian citizenship, reported that temperance instruction was varied. Some groups had guest speakers, others had lessons in temperance in day and Sunday schools.

Quilts, clothing and layettes were sent to Bancroft Hospital, money was donated for flood relief, and to missionary work in Bolivia.

The literature report given by Mrs. A. J. Noftall showed an advance was made in reading. A total of 1,086 books were read, an increase of 189.8 per cent over 1949. The Jean Wagar Mission Circle of St. James won the book shelf award. They read an average of 5.9 books per member. Sale of literature brought $100.-26.

Mrs. E. Parnall, secretary of World Friends and Missionary Monthly, reported a total of 598 subscriptions for the Missionary Monthly, an increase over last year of 21. A total of 405 World Friends subscriptions, an increase of 65 over last year.

Mrs. W. H. Morton, librarian, reported 103 books loaned and 142 returned. A splendid increase over last year. Donations in money and books gave us 12 new and used books.

Press secretary, Mrs. J. H. Lewis, reported five different newspapers printed 150 reports of regular meetings and 18 special meetings were reported.

Charge Army Inefficient

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Two military writers said Monday that the captured gun which the United States United Nations delegate displayed last fall as evidence that Russia was supplying arms to North Korea actually was a Korean-made weapon. The charge was made in an article for the forthcoming issue of Look magazine, written by Garrett Underhill and Ronald Schiller, the former now back on active duty with the army's intelligence division. In an article called "The Tragedy of the U.S. Army," the writers charged the army with being "bureaucratic, inefficient, hidebound and introverted."

Propose Change In Lighting At St. John's

The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Anglican Church was held on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. The Archdeacon W. P. Robertson was chairman for this meeting.

E. Vernon Morphet, rector's warden, presented the church warden's report for the year ending December 31. This report and statement showed that the church was in good financial condition, the balance at the end of the year being slightly higher than at the end of 1949.

B. Ottewell outlined the proposed new wiring and lighting arrangements for the church which must be undertaken during the coming year and a committee has been set up to study this matter.

The rector appointed Mr. Morphet for a third term as rector's warden. John A. Nornabell expressed a desire to retire from the office of people's warden after serving two years and the meeting elected Fred Hooper to this office. Sincere thanks was extended to Mr. Nornabell for his work as people's warden.

Reports of the following organizations were received:

Church Women's Association by Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald; Main Sunday School, Primary and Kindergarten by Miss Florence Hutchinson; AYPA by Miss Beth Stout; Senior Young People's by W. Dyer; choir by Miss Ruby Quartermaine; Chancel Guild by Miss Margaret English; Bible Society by Mr. C. E. Colemna.

a Little buys a Lot of telephone service

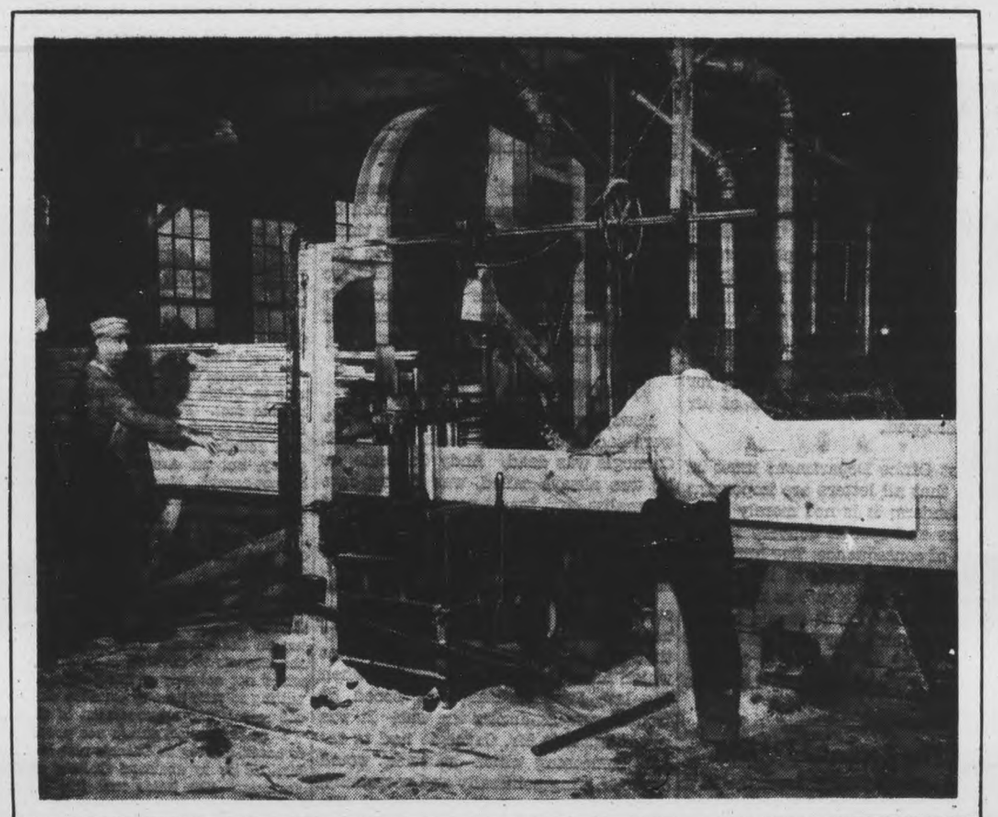
EVERY DAY we receive hundreds of requests for service. Its cost hasn't gone up as much as most other things you buy; in fact, your telephone bill now takes a smaller part of the family budget than it did five years ago.

With more and more families getting telephones, you can now talk to twice as many people. And so, in that way alone, you get a lot more telephone service for your money.

At the same time, the quality of telephone service keeps steadily improving in many ways, and, as always, telephone people try to be helpful and friendly.

Any way you look at it, today's telephone is big value!

If you haven't yet got service:



You can be sure your neighbourhood will be served, and your place on the list protected. Taking care of people without service as quickly as possible is one of our biggest and most important tasks.

Vertical Band Resaw

A continuous ribbon of steel fashions the wide planks to lumber at the Peterborough Planing Mill.

This equipment is used to reduce the width or thickness of timbers or planks down to lumber of desired sizes. The saw is a continuous ribbon of band steel with serrated teeth for a cutting edge and travels at high speed between two five foot diameter wheels, one below floor level and one above as shown.

The "kerf" or cut made by the saw teeth is much finer than can be obtained with a circular saw doing the same work.

A Poorer Mail Service

We are in agreement with the local letter-carriers, who have protested to the Post Office Department against the curtailment of the mail delivery service. After the first of April there will be only one mail delivery a day in Canada. The letter-carriers do not think that it is enough, and we support their opinion. It is not expected that any considerable number of local letter-carriers will be laid off as a result of this work, and therefore their protest cannot be ascribed to selfishness. Indeed, it is expected that only 1,300 Post Office employees in the whole country will be out of work as a result of this change, and that does not appear to us to be a very large economy when the decline in service is considered.

* * *

One mail delivery a day is not enough, and this is particularly so in places like Peterborough which, not being metropolitan centres, receive their mail at hours which do not agree too well with the delivery schedules. People want their letters as soon as they can get them. They pay for a first-rate service and they should have it. The present letter-rate of four cents for the first ounce is high enough; the extra cent was imposed as a special war tax and, as this newspaper predicted when the impost was made, it has not been removed. Now it is logical to suppose that the cost of dealing with mail, like the cost of everything else, has risen, and we do not resent the extra cent too strongly. But thousands of people will resent a cut in their home mail delivery.

* * *

It has been suggested that the reduction in home delivery of mail is an economy enforced by the high cost to the Post Office Department of handling air mail. If that is so, let us hope that the air mail service will be improved. At present air mail is excellent when sent between two points which are on the air routes. But when there is a combination of air service and land service, much of the effectiveness of air mail is lost, for reasons which we cannot determine, but which are plain to a newspaper office which relies heavily upon air mail for certain important services. The cut in home mail delivery will sharply decrease the value of air mail to the ordinary letter writer. Inside Canada, the saving of time by sending a letter by air mail is anything up to two or three days; if one of those days is consumed while the letter lies in the post office, waiting for the morning delivery, the value of air mail has dropped.

* * *

The Post Office Department must be reminded that all letters are important to their senders; it is not merely business letters and special delivery letters which are of consequence. The humblest letter, written by a child to its grandmother, pays the same rate as the letter confirming a big deal; it should be delivered just as quickly by the Post Office, which exists for all of the people, and not merely for those who use the mails most often.

Off The Record At U.N.

A very interesting report from the New York Times gives us a hint as to the kind of things which are said about the present Korean situation when U.N. delegates meet informally. The U.S. Congress has made no secret of the fact that it is exasperated with United Nations; U.N., though it gives no formal voice to its opinion, is perhaps equally exasperated with the U.S.A. The attitude of the great republic toward the trouble in the East is described as "undiplomatic, unwise, emotional, contradictory and slightly hypocritical" — to quote the Times.

It is plain that the U.S.A. resents the restraints imposed by U.N., even though those restraints are at present merely moral ones. The U.S.A. has never met with restraint from outside its borders before, and it sometimes seems to think of UN merely as a cheering section for its own executive. The U.S.A. was critical enough of the League of Nations, although it was not allied with that body. U.N. is like the League of Nations in that it is based upon an agreement to abide by majority opinion—an extension of the democratic theory which the U.S.A. has not yet applied to its actions as a nation. U.N. is, upon the whole, agreed that the present government of China will rule that country for a long time, and must be given some recognition; the U.S.A. does not want to recognize the Communist regime, although it has no great enthusiasm for the discredited and unsavoury Chiang Kai-shek regime. The U.S.A. refuses to budge in the matter of Formosa, with a determination which suggests that there is more in that island than has yet been made apparent. U.S. and U.N. cannot agree about China, and there is no sign yet that either side will give way.

If the U.S.A. gives way, it will lose nothing in strength or prestige. If U.N. gives way it is done for; it will have lost all existence except as a rubber stamp for the ratification of what its biggest members want. As a democratic world government it will have gone the way of the League.

There is no cause for despair, however. The people of the U.S.A., though proud and fond of their own way, are not deaf to persuasion. They do not want war, and they do not want to behave tyrannically. And the Times report is in itself evidence that the disagreement between U.N. and the U.S.A., can be discussed frankly, if not officially. Much of the best diplomatic work is done during unofficial conversations.

No Mental Hygiene For Toronto?

Toronto's Medical Officer of Health does not believe that mental health is a thing which can be encouraged by advice or preventive treatment, and he has refused to appoint a man qualified in psychiatry as head of the mental hygiene division of the city's Health Department. This may mean that Toronto and its M.O.H. will have to part, for although the Board of Health and Control are behind Dr. Jackson, the City Council as a whole is against him.

It is strange to meet with a physician holding an important public post in 1950 who has no regard whatever for psychiatry. Nevertheless, without knowing in detail why Dr. Jackson derides psychiatry and refuses to countenance it in his Toronto department, we have no intention of adding to the censure which has been pronounced upon him. We have a high regard for the value of psychiatry, but we admit that there are complaints to be made against it.

Just how it is possible to give psychiatric treatment through a civic agency we do not know. Psychiatry, to be of value, must be thorough; psychiatric treatment is often prolonged for months, and it costs a great deal of money. It is not merely worthless, but positively dangerous, if it is not in the hands of a physician who is thoroughly trained and in addition a man of fine character. To attempt to give such treatment through a city agency would create many problems.

Psychiatry as a public service is just about impossible. What a psychiatrist may say in private to a single patient cannot be broadcast to thousands. Opinions which a psychiatrist must necessarily hold are at odds with opinions tenaciously and indeed fanatically held by thousands of people who are not in immediate need of psychiatric treatment. Mass psychiatry is no more possible than mass surgery.

We are glad that Toronto wants its mental hygiene department directed by a highly qualified psychiatrist; we think that the City Council is right in demanding that it should be so. But we feel that there is more in Dr. Jackson's intransigence than mere crankiness, and that he should have a full hearing.

When W.L.M.K. Was Booed

Newspapermen throughout Canada were saddened by the news that R. K. Carnegie was dead. Andy Carnegie, as he was always called, was a first-rate journalist, and for 22 years the head of the Ottawa bureau of Canadian Press. He was a man of fine personal character, quiet charm, and a master of his craft.

We were somewhat surprised, however, to read in a tribute to Mr. Carnegie which appeared in a contemporary that one of most difficult news stories which Andy Carnegie handled was when the late Premier King was booed by troops overseas during the war. It was suggested that Mr. Carnegie had to report something which he knew would hurt Mr. King politically and personally, and that he did so with reluctance. We are inclined to think that this matter has been exaggerated.

Political leaders are rarely popular with armed troops; a man who has been handling the hot potato of Canadian conscription is likely to be unpopular with men who have volunteered for service; and it must be said that Mr. King was not the sort of man who looked at his best when inspecting troops; the House of Commons was his home ground. Of all these things Mr. King and Andy Carnegie were well aware. Though it must have been disconcerting when some servicemen booed — the number who did so was not great, and it happened on only one occasion — it was a trifle compared with the sort of thing which the Prime Minister had met with and vanquished during a stormy political career. We doubt if the reporting of the incident cost Andy Carnegie a thought.

As for Mr. King, we know what happened. Great numbers of servicemen voted to sustain his government after they returned from the war. It is not too difficult to boo on a parade ground, but in the voting booth Canadians do not boo. They think.

U.N. Deeply And Dangerously Split

by

SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE non-Communist majority of the United Nations is today more deeply and more dangerously split over Far Eastern policy than ever before. On the one side stands the United States backed by most of the Latin-American nations, as well as by Nationalist China, the Philippines, Thailand (Siam), Turkey and Greece. This group regards the attempt to open peace negotiations with China on the basis ofthe U.N. five principles of January 13 as a closed chapter and wants to declare China an aggressor and impose sanctions on her.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON the other side stand India and the block of twelve Asian and Arab nations lined up with her, as well as Britain, Canada, France, Israel, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. This group has always been reluctant, though in varying degrees, to regard the door to negotiations with China as closed. It is more reluctant than ever now that China seems to show signs of modifying her original intransigent stand.

AUSTRALIA, New Zealand, Benelux (Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg) and some other countries stand somewhere between the two groups in terms of votes in the U.N. The American group commands a majority though hardly—or at most, if it can swing all waverers to its side, only just—the requisite two-thirds majority to carry resolutions in the General Assembly; but in terms of actual interests in Asia the proportions are very different. The Latin American countries which provide the bulk of the voting strength of the American group have no stake in Asia at all. India, on the other hand, is the one great Asiatic power which could balance the power of China on the continent of Asia and without whose willing concurrence any sanctions against China must inevitably remain academic. Britain and France, too, have great stakes in Asia through their positions in Hong Kong, Malaya and Indo-China. For several of the smaller Asian nations like Burma the question of peace or war with China is literally a matter of life and death. The positions of these nations vary in detail and in emphasis, but they all have the following convictions in common:—

1. They regard the establishment of Communist rule in China as an accomplished fact; they see no chance of a reconquest of China by the Kuomintang; and they see no possibility of any alternative regime for China in the foreseeable future.

2. They feel that they have much to lose and nothing to gain in a war with Communist China. They consequently want to avoid a war if at all possible. They feel that before they can resign themselves to its inevitability every diplomatic means of achieving peace and a modus vivendi with China must be fully exhausted.

3. They are prepared to consider as part of a peace settlement with China the admission of the Central People's Government in Peking to China's place in the United Nations and the abandonment of protection for Chiang Kai-shek's regime in Formosa.

4. They are not prepared to accept as part of the price of peace with China the outright abandonment of Korea and the United Nations mission there. They would, however, be prepared for a mutual withdrawal of troops from Korea if this could be linked to a settlement which saves the face of the United Nations and preserves Korean independence.

5. All are anxious to avoid an open breach with America over China in the United Nations. To nearly all of them American friendship is vital and they are willing to go to great lengths to preserve it — but most of them not to the length of getting involved in a war with China as long as they see any hope of avoiding it.

ON all these points American thinking proceeds from a different point of departure:

1. America does not yet regard Communist rule in China as an accomplished and unalterable fact. For her the defeat of Chiang Kai-shek is not an unwelcome event in a foreign country to which she must adjust her policy, but an American defeat which she cannot accept. Nor does she believe that the Peking Government will for long succeed in commanding the loyalty of the Chinese people, especially if it leads them into sanguinary and unsuccessful foreign adventures and into war.

2. America feels she has nothing to lose and something to gain in a war with Communist China. She feels that such a war is likely to hasten the process of disillusionment which she expects to develop in China. Therefore, while not actually seeking war, she is quite willing to take up any Chinese challenge and she rejects any appeasement of China.

3. In particular, she is not prepared either to admit Peking to China's seat in the United Nations or to abandon Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa. She holds that this would mean giving away real assets for the illusion of gaining the goodwill of a proven enemy.

4. America is not willing to settle for a draw in Korea. She feels that this would mean sacrificing the principle of collective resistance to aggression. Considering that her troops are in Korea on a rightful mission and that the Chinese troops are aggressors, she is quite willing to see matters through. She regards the military outlook more optimistically now than a short time ago, but if her optimism should prove unjustified she would rather withdraw from Korea of her own free will and resume hostilities elsewhere by other means than meekly agree to a mutual withdrawal which would in her view put United Nations forces and Chinese forces in Korea on the same moral level.

5. America, too, is anxious to preserve her friendship with the British Commonwealth and Western Europe—although India means surprisingly little to her. But she feels that their friendship is not quite as vital to herself as hers is to them and she is not willing to go to the length of appeasement of China out of consideration for her allies.

THIS is the background against which the present highly critical situation in the United Nations must be seen. America had from her own point of view gone to the utmost limit and indeed somewhat beyond the limit of compromise with her allies in agreeing to the five-point resolution of January 13 for a cease-fire in Korea to be followed by general negotiations with Communist China on all controversial questions. She had done so against strong internal opposition amidst a bewildered and indignant outcry of public opinion and largely in the expectation that China would reject the offer anyhow.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no overlooking the fact that official America reacted to the initial rejection of the cease-fire offer by China with undisguised relief. The Commonwealth group by contrast reacted with disappointment and despondency, and now that China seems to have changed her initial rejection to something like part acceptance combined with counter-proposals most members of this group wish to pursue the possibilities of negotiation further.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS does not mean that they are willing to rush at accepting the Chinese counter-proposals as they stand, but they feel that there is now room for further elucidation and clarification and perhaps for a gradual narrowing down of differences which might ultimately lead to an agreed cease-fire and peace negotiations within the essential framework of the U.N. five principles. They are unwilling to sacrifice the chance of a negotiated peace to mere questions of prestige such as the location of the peace conference. Even the difference between a cease-fire agreed before the meeting of a conference and a cease-fire agreed at its first meeting seems to some of them not large enough to justify a major war which might still be avoided.

✧ ✧ ✧

GIVEN the basic position of the group all this is quite reasonable and indeed inevitable but given the basic American position it looks outrageous if Communist China is not an important and equal Power with which adjustments must be sought, but an international criminal who has deserved general condemnation and punishment. Then it seems intolerable to allow her to haggle about the terms of negotiations. The least that must then be demanded from her is unconditional acceptance of the already over-generous terms laid down by the United Nations. Any further watering-down of the offer of January 13, even in inessentials, appears to the Americans as an unbearable humiliation and sacrifice of self-respect and the mere suggestion of it rouses them to real anger.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the situation, a situation as critical as can be. If an open breach of the United Nations front is to be avoided, the first thing is for the Americans to consider whether their present resolution condemning China as an aggressor can be so amended as to restore a diplomatic rather than a judicial atmosphere to the relations of the U.N. with China, and the Commonwealth group in its turn will have to look for a formula which appeases American anger without closing the door to further contracts with China.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is no easy task, and the next few days may witness some very involved exercises in verbal acrobatics in the U.N. But even if some formula should be found; this would only tide the United Nations over its immediate tactical predicament. A repetition of that predicament can be forestalled only if India, Britain, France and America meet at the highest level outside the United Nations and hammer out their basic differences of approach without shirking any issue.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT is needed before there can be any successful meeting with China is a Nehru-Attlee-Pleven-Truman meeting to agree on basic long-term policy and/or strategy towards China. Without such agreement it is not only unlikely that any common approach to China can be maintained. There is also real danger that the unity of the Western world will collapse, bringing down in its collapse both the structure of the United Nations and the hope of world peace.

OVERHEAD WIRING AN EYESORE

Sir: I notice that The Peterborough City and Suburban Planning Board was told by a prominent engineer that "Underground wires were still in the experimental stages and no practical solution had yet been found". This cannot be correct as stated, as there are no overhead wires in English cities. He must have meant that no solution had yet been found for doing the job at the same price as the overhead wires, an entirely different matter.

Just as workers in fish manure factories become accustomed to the terrible smell so we have become accustomed to the terrible eyesore of overhead wires. The present may not be the proper time to correct this defect but surely Canadian engineers are as smart as their European contemporaries, notwithstanding the Niagara Falls system, which was stated to have been condemned.

Yours truly,
TEMBO MAZAY.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted. But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me. Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee. (Isa. 49: 13-15.)

When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.

He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness: he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye. As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings: so the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him. (Deut. 32: 8-12.)

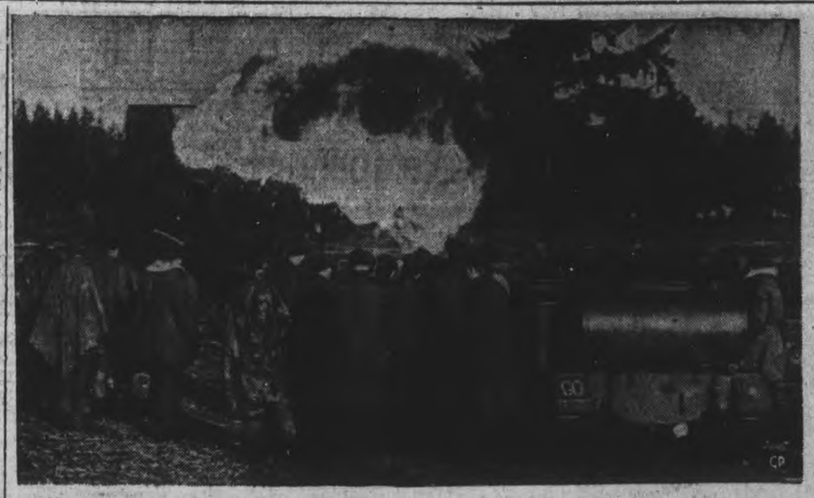
I will mention the loving kindnesses of the Lord and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses....Doubtless thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer; thy name is from everlasting. (Isa. 63: 7, 16.)

ARGENTINE END OF THE MEAT SITUATION



Believes Seaway To Start In '51

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Beverley Matthews, retiring president of the Toronto Board of Trade, said Monday he has learned "on very good authority" that there is a "50-per-cent chance" that international agreement on the St. Lawrence seaway will be reached this year.

"It is so obviously right and essential to this continent that it must be accomplished," he told the board's annual meeting. "We cannot wait and we will not have to wait much longer."

Commenting on Mr. Matthews' remarks, Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said:

"I have been greatly encouraged, the past few days, by statements from responsible persons such as Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Mr. Matthews and others, that agreement with the United States might be reached this year. I am going to Washington this week to discuss the project with U.S. authorities. When I was with them Jan. 4, they encouraged me to believe that to remove remaining obstacles would not be too difficult a task. I am pressing for action this year, because it will take five years to develop the power."

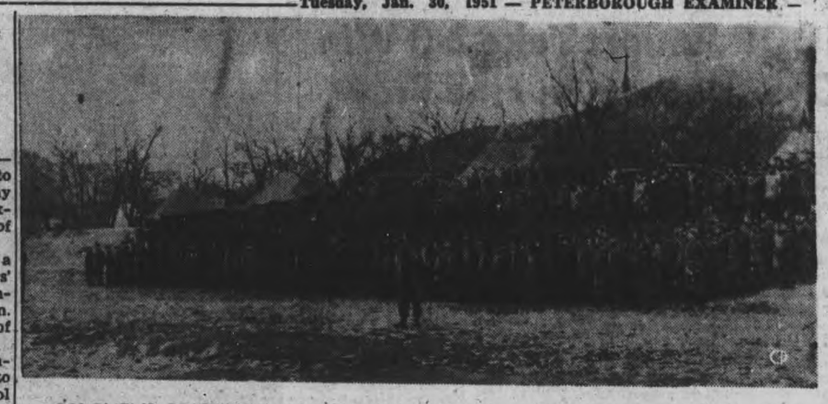
Urge Increases For Teachers

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Salary increases of from $200 to $700 were recommended Monday for Toronto teachers by a six-man committee of the Board of Education.



Their proposal, the result of a six-week study of teachers' salaries, goes to the board's finance committee for consideration. The boosts would cost a total of $2,318,000.

At present, public school teachers' salaries range from $1,800 to $4,000 and secondary school teachers have a minimum of $2,000 and a maximum of $4,500.

In the proposed scheme all teachers are put into six categories depending on education and experience and regardless of whether they teach in public or secondary schools.

Teachers who have attended normal school for one year would be in category 1. They would start at $2,000 and go up to $3,200.

For top category, teachers would need to be university graduates with one year at college of education or normal school and also holding a post-graduate degree. Their minimum would be $3,000 to $5,600.

Driver 47, Killed In Two-Truck Crash

WALKERTON, Jan. 30 (CP)—Harold Fritsch, 47, of Peabody, near Chesley, was killed Monday in a two-truck crash a mile north of Elmwood.

Fritsch was driving a truck laden with logs on a downgrade, police said. A northbound truck, driven by Wilfred Jillings, Ingersoll, approaching over a narrow bridge, skidded into the Fritsch vehicle.

The logs on Mr. Fritsch's truck slid forward, crashed the cab and pinned him against the windshield.

Want To Curb Paper Ownership

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30 (AP) —The government announced Monday it seeks "to call a halt" to an accelerated "tendency toward" concentration of ownership in the newspaper industry through business failures and mergers.

The government said its actions would be "in the interests of greater—not less—freedom" of the press.

The declarations were contained in a brief asking a speedy partial judgment in the government's civil anti-trust suit against The Times-Picayune publishing company.

The government argued that the effect of continuation of the company's forced combination advertising rate structure for the morning Times-Picayune and the afternoon New Orleans States "may be to put the Item out of business and thus destroy its entire interstate circulation."

The Item is a competing afternoon daily with a Sunday edition that appears on the streets on Saturday.

Today, the brief said, there are 830 fewer newspapers in the United States than in the peak year 1909, when there were 2,600.

Clean Own House First U.S. Congress Told

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP) —Representative Russell V. Mack (Rep. Wash.) told the House of Representatives Monday that the United States "must quit trading with the enemy" before it can tell other nations to halt the sale of war goods to Russia and her satellites. Mack said that during the first 10 months of last year "the United States imported $36,344,398 in goods from Russia and sold to Russia only $563,396 of American goods."

"By this trade," Mack continued "the United States supplies the Russians with about $3,000,000 a month in American dollars which the Russians spent to buy war goods from Britain, France and Belgium."

Illegal Strike Costs $2,100

THREE RIVERS, Que., Jan. 30 (CP).—Lucien Dufour, organizer for the United Textile Workers of America (AFL) Monday was fined $2,100 and costs, with the option of three months in jail, for having participated in an illegal strike at Grand'Mere, Que., last October.

Michel Elemond, another organizer, was fined $210 and costs, or a month in jail, on the same charge.

The 21-day strike took place Oct. 2-23 at the Textile Weavers Company plant at Grand'Mere, some 20 miles north of here.

Counsel for the two men announced that the decision would be appealed.

Doing Their Share

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—The conservative Daily Mail says today that the defence program announced by Prime Minister Attlee Monday robbed American extremists of their cry that the "United States alone is the defender of the free world." The British press in general gave overwhelming support to the new defence plan.

Doctor Paid $400,000 Insurance Indemnity

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30 (AP)—Lloyds of London Monday paid off a $400,000 indemnity claim to a Kansas City doctor who accidentally shot off his right foot last October.

The Kansas City Star said the payment is reported to be the largest single indemnity ever paid a living policy-holder for personal injury. And, the paper said, it may be tax-free.

Payment was made to Dr. Hugh C. Hamilton, an obstetrician. He took out the policy primarily to guard against possible loss of a hand—an eventuality that would have destroyed his means of livelihood.

The 45-year-old doctor started down his basement steps carrying a shotgun, stumbled and fell, discharging the weapon. The charge struck him i nthe foot and the foot had to be amputated.

To Allocate Metals

BALTIMORE, Jan. 30 (AP) — William H. Harrison, defence production administrator, said Monday basic metals will be under allocation by mid-summer. He mentioned steel, aluminum and copper specifically in an address to the Baltimore Association of Commerce. Harrison estimated there will be a 75-per-cent boost in the production of aluminum and a 12,000,000-ton increase in the production of steel in the next 12 to 18 months.

Expect 1951 Hunting To Be Good—Harkness

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Barring extremely cold and stormy weather before spring, hunting conditions in 1951 should be excellent, Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests' wildlife division, said Monday.

He said the winter so far had been good from the point of view of game development. Deer are in excellent shape. Pheasants are also thriving in the open winter.

In Southern Ontario, conditions have been good for the pheasant population, and no extra feeding has been required because of the light snow. In Algonquin Park, deer are reported as tame as usual but fatter and in better condition than in most winters.

Convicted of Advertising

IOOF Juniors Take 2-0 Win Over Rockets In Fine Fray

Belleville Rockets ran into Bun Kingdon's flying hockey Oddfellows on the crest of a new winning streak last night at Civic and finished on the short end of a 2-0 count in the all-important struggle for first place.

It was Oddfellows' third straight win, their second shutout of the season (both over the Quinte crew) and gave the Kingdon men 25 points to date, with 12 wins in 20 starts and one tie game. Rockets have 24 and Lindsay 23 as the mad race proceeds down the stretch to playoff time with excitement running high all over the circuit.

Goalies Star

Red Wasson emerged the individual star of the game with a magnificent display between the pipes with Bob Tripp at the opposite end scarcely less brilliant, having little chance on the two that beat him. It was a fine duel between the league's top custodians.

Despite 16 penalties by referee Wilson, the game was free of any unduly rough play. In the scoreless second frame, seven miscues occurred but for minor offences mostly, as the boys worked hard for the breaks.

Play opened fast in the first and at the one-minute mark, the top-scoring unit of West, Wyatt and Morrow swarmed into the rival end with fruitful results. Jim Morrow whistled a singing 25-foot portside drive at Tripp and Dean West deflected the biscuit in from just outside the crease. It was a pippin, to open the scoring.

Close Checking

From this point, however, the game developed into a close-checking duel that found neither team able to quite make the grade until the five-minute mark of the final frame when Don Clapper fired a short forward pass to Brian Robinson to the right of Tripp and the red-head made no mistake as he backhanded a beauty to the far corner to seal the fate of the boys of Meronek in the second lowest scoring game of the season. It was Brian's 13th goal of the season.

Rockets played five forwards in the final five minutes in an effort to penetrate Oddfellows' defence but the Links proved equal to any style of attack. If Rockets played shinny or hockey Links did likewise and there was a little shinny, too, in the second. The third chapter proved fastest of all as Rockets gave their all.

Oddfellows' defence foursome, led by Armstong and Dean Wasson, proved a tower of strength in front of the home cage with the front-line crew to a man toiling well, both ways. For Rockets, Ernie Trumble and Pete Green showed up well back of the blue line with Jack Murphy, Ross Mason, Duke Doran, Don Houle, Ray Carey, Harry Brown and Bill Strahan the pick of the forwards.

The teams:
Belleville — Goal, Tripp; defence, Turland, Mantle; centre, Houle; wings Carey, Brown; alternates, Desjardins, Doran, Gilmour, Mason, Strahan, Murphy, Green, Trumble.
IOOF — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Armstrong, Clapper; centre, West; wings, Morrow, Wyatt; alternates B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Stewart, Douglas, Buckton, Doris, D. Wasson, Shearer.
Referee—Wally Wilson. Linesman—Art Heal.

First Period
IOOF—West (Morrow) 1:00
Penalties—Wasson 2, Mason Doris, Mantle.

Second Period
No score.
Penalties—Wyatt 2 (misconduct). Murphy, Gilmour, Mantle, G. Robinson, Clapper.

Third Period
IOOF—B. Robinson (Clapper) .. 5:15
Penalties—Tripp, Shearer, Green, Houle.

Brintons Victorious

HASTINGS, Jan. 30 (ENS)—Brintons came through with a 4-2 victory over Norwood Combines in a rugged hard-fought TVL fixture played here.

The game still had two minutes to go in the third period when Coach Rod Webb of the Combines pulled his team off the ice, when he protested Referee Dick Ouimet's right to banish two of his players to the dressing room with major penalties and with but three minutes to go. He argued that the penalties must be served in the penalty box. Ouimet gave him two minutes to ice his team and when he failed to do so awarded the game to Brintons, and that started an uproar among the fans. It was a fast game.

Brintons—Goal, Byers; defence, K. Anderson, Berardi; centre, Eakins; wings, Lawson, Richlark; alternates, Reed, B. Anderson, Willshaw, McIndoe, Huard, Riches.

Brighton Horse Shares Honors

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Peter Aubrey, owned and driven by Harry Ingles of Brighton, and Sir Peter L., owned by Dr. V. L. Lougheed of Dundalk, Ont., and driven by Johnny Chapman, scored close decisions when they won a heat each in the classified pace, on Monday's program at Dufferin Park.

In the first heat Peter Aubrey attained a striking position early, forced the pace set by Matt McKinney while saving ground to the stretch where he was eased to the outside and wore down the leader in the closing strides.

Orphan Dick closed stoutly and finished third.

Sir Peter L., forwardly placed from the start of the final heat, was sent to the middle of the track for the stretch drive and responded well, disposed of the leading Matt McKinney and lasted long enough to withstand Peter Aubrey in a photo finish. Matt McKinney was third.

Day Time, owned by Frank Plaunt of Brantford, and driven by Jack Mullin, and Ray Harvester, owned and driven by Jack Bannerman, shared honors in the fourth when they won a heat each and placed third in the other.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Those bashing Queen's Combines of Kingston are here tomorrow night to resume their senior "B" feuding with the Eagles, and no love will be lost in this encounter. Queen's played it rough in downing Eagles in the Harty Arena last Friday, so the men of Magee will be out to show 'em up at Civic this scrap. But Eagles will have to hustle as they've lost several of their stars lately via the injury route —rotten luck at this stage of the season for the club and, certainly, for the players concerned. But they have the old fight and should take the tilt before a big crowd, as it shapes up as a rousing struggle.

* * * * * *

After tomorrow, the Eagles have only three more home games ere the schedule ends in four weeks. Then it'll be playoff time. Top two teams at the end of the schedule battle it out in a series—maybe three-in-five—with the winner stepping up to senior "A" and proceeding into Allan Cup playdowns, having no more interest in senior "B" play this season. But the loser of that series goes into senior "B" group finals 'gainst the winner of a semi-final series betwixt the third and fourth teams. Whichever club emerges then as senior "B" group champs heads into provincial "B" playdowns for the trophy now held by Brantford. That's the score.

* * * * * *

Most Prolific Scorer

Bill Crowley is probably the most prolific scorer in the circuit to date. He leads local snipers, in any case, having 57 points for Eagles in 25 games. Has 36 markers and 21 assists. Joe Rochetta is next highest for the team with 46 points, and then Bert Hill with 37. Andy Milne is coming up fast with 36, while Dootch Vitarelli has 32. Then, it's Freddy Mortimer with 26 and Keith Montgomery with two dozen. Bob Parnall had 26 in 22 games, but is out for the season now. It looks like Johnny Godfrey is out, too, having 10 points as a defenceman in 19 frays.

* * * * * *

Top lamp lighter for the Petes is Arn Dugan with 50 points in a fine showing for 26 games. He's off by himself in the scoring department, being a real opportunist—just as in lacrosse last summer. Big Jake Wade is next with 36, Chum Fryia has 34, then Junior West with 33, while Honey Tompkins is till batting well up with 30 points. Fred Garvey has clicked to date for 29 while Gus Leonard, in 18 games, has been good for two dozen points. All have scored but Drake Jopling, who is going good again on defence, and he has aided on five. Jim Millar hasn't been used lately but may see blue-line action again any time. The Petes are pretty well set on reserve power, whereas injuries have thinned the Eagles' ranks.

Grounding The Rockets

Bun Kingdon's junior IOOF-ers looked mighty impressive here last e'en in blanking Belleville Rockets 2-0 to take over top spot with 25 points, just one up on the Rockets, with Lindsay having 23. Goalie Red Wasson sparkled in the home cage, with Tripp in the other twine tepee almost as good. Dean West deflected Jim Morrow's shot into the mesh for the first goal, and then Brian Robinson clinched matters when he tallied a nice one from Don Clapper, son of big Dit. Whole team toiled hard and had to, as the Rockets made it a scrap all the way. Oddfellows are idle until next Monday when they trek to Oshawa.

* * * * * *

Campbellford edged Marmora 5-4 and Brintons beat Norwood 4-2 in TVL tussles last gloaming. No result at the moment on St. Peter's game in Stirling. With two minutes to go in Norwood, Combines left the ice when Referee Dick Ouimet chased a couple of players to the dressing room with majors. No good is ever served by a team leaving the ice too soon—redress may be sought much more effectively by launching a protest at the end of the game. Robbie Robinson was leading the northern division in scoring up to yesterday, according to TVL figures just out, the Campbellford puckist having 23 points, one more than Mason and three ahead of Cole of the same squad. Lawson led Brintons with 16, same as Stapley had for Stirling, while Ttrumble is tops for Marmora with 15. Webb has 14 for Norwood. None under 12 points is listed as yet. Games Wednesday: Norwood at Campbellford, Marmora at Stirling, St. Peter's at Brintons.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Syl Apps, then Toronto Maple Leafs great centre star, declared 11 years ago today that he would stand for election in the dominion general election. But as Conservative candidate he was defeated in his home riding of Brant in the federal election of March 1940, and five years later was defeated in the Ontario election. In 1947 he was appointed Ontario athletic commissioner and retired from hockey in 1948.

Rangers Beat Leafs

Rangers beat Leafs in their peewee puck tussle 7-5 with both sides showing good hockey most of the distance. Rangers had an edge for two periods but Leafs fought back hard in the third to score five goals in a matter of minutes. Bob Shaw got three for the Leafs with Playford and Longo getting one each. McFadden and Byers shone on defence. The whole Rangers' squad turned in a swell performance.

Seeking Captain Of African Team For Cricket Tour

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — Sport fans in South Africa are debating the problem of who will captain the Springbok team on its cricket tour of England next summer.

There are three possibilities, all well-equipped to lead the invasion — Dudney Nourse, Eric Rowan and Jack Cheetham.

Nourse, strong and serious, one of the world's great batsmen at 40 years, seems most likely to be favored by the selectors because of his wide experience. He captained South Africa in the last two test match series against England and Australia. He was deputy to Alan Melville when the South Africans last visited England in 1948.

But while his prestige as a batsman remains uimpaired, his ability as a captain is questioned. Critics say he lacks drive and imagination.

Nourse's critics point to his historic decision not to enforce the follow-on against the Australians in the second test match at Durban last season.

Other Choices

Rowan, now 41, this season successfully guided Transvaal to their first outright win in South Africa's Currie Cup competition in 15 years. He won a technical battle against Nourse in the Transvaal's first-inning win over Natal in a Currie Cup feature.

A shrewd tactician, quick to spot an advantage and ruthless in his efforts to drive it home, Rowan is small, wiry and cheerful. He is batting better now than ever and his 277 not out against Criqualand West set a batting record here.

Youngest of the three is Jack Cheetham, 30-year-old engineer. He proved his ability at the wicket last season, one of his two centuries being 271 not out. Cheetham may be chosen for the English tour to avoid the Nourse-Rowan deadlock, and he is also generally regarded as the man who will lead the South Africans in Australia in 1952-53.

Cheetham captained two elevens against the Australians and at Durban gained a draw with his formidable opponents. He lacks Nourse's experience and Rowan's driving force, but Cheetham is skilful on the field and very popular off it. With Nourse or Rowan—or both—to advise him he probably would succeed as a captain.

Peewees In Norwood

NORWOOD, Jan. 30 (ENS).—It was hockey day for the Pee-Wee League here Saturday with a double-header between Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks and also Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs. The Hawks were victorious over the Bruins by a score of 5-3.

The league schedule for the week of February 5 is: L.O.L. No. 2 vs S.O.E. No. 8; Legion No. 7 vs St. Lukes No. 1; Glens No. 6 vs St. George's No. 10; Quakers No. 4 vs Legion No. 5; Fire Hall No. 9 vs Legion No. 3.

At the Orange Hall St. George's had as their opponents Legion No. 5. The first game saw the Southenders go into the lead twice and the Old Sweats coming from behind tying it both times. The last time this happened was in the 8th frame and in the last four ends they outscored the Saints 5-2 to take it 12-9. The second game was reversed in favor of the Saints 12-7; although the Old Sweats tied it up in the early frames, the Southends packed their punch in five consecutive ends. The first game at the Fire Hall with the Quakers was the Full-O-Pep's team all the way by a score of 19-9. The second game was a closer one with the Smoke-eaters holding their opponents to singles when they tallied and it was the Fire laddies by a 12-6 score.

The Son's match against the Legionnaires was split, a game apiece. The first game went to the Sons 14-6 although in the early frames it was tied twice. The second game was tied up at 2-all in the 3rd frame and then the S.O.E. went into the lead by scoring two singles—but that was all they scored until the 11th end when they came back to garner a two, but they lost to Legion No. 3, 15-6. Legion No. 7 were at home against L.O.L. No. 2 and King Billie had the White Charger well fed and rested for this battle as they went into the lead early in both games and had collected sufficient to withstand the very strong finish by the Big Bens in both games. First game was 12-10 and second 12-all.

The Glens were visitors at St. Luke's and two good games resulted. The East City Midgets lost both games in the last four frames of each game by scores of 16-7 and 14-9.

The President Cup results are: St. George's lost the first game to the Quakers 5-6 but came back to eliminate the Full-O-Pep team in the next two games 10-3 and 12-1.

S.O.E. eliminated Legion No. 5 in two straight by scores of 10-3 and 6-3. L.O.L. No. 2 vs St. Luke's No. 1 have not played their series yet. Don't let this lag.

President's Cup 2nd round saw Legion No. 7 scoring a big 3 in the 8th frame to force two extra ends and they went on to defeat Glens No. 6 by 11-9 score—but the Glens came back to take the second game 14-4. They folded as the Big Bens scored a big 7 in the second end of the final game and the Glens were eliminated in that game 4-14.

St. George's No. 10 vs SOE No. 8 have to meet to conclude the second round.

The third round draw is: Winners L.O.L. No. 2 and St. Luke's No. 1 vs Winner St. George's No. 10 and S.O.E. No. 8, and final will be between the winner declared above against Legion No. 7.

The Gracie's Memorial Doubles draw for Wednesday, January 31 at Legion Hall is La Plante and O'Donoghue vs H. Lundy and S. Cummings also Craig and Bartley vs J. Wilson and Nice at 7 p.m. sharp. And at 9 p.m. McLean and Hopgood vs Sorrie and Gimblett Jr. also Robinson and McPhee vs A. Pilling and Thackeray.

McKee Rink Advances In Quebec 'Spiel

QUEBEC, Jan. 30 (CP).—Play in Quebec's 38th international bonspiel, mostly elimination rounds leading to the Lieutenant-Governor's event, hit full stride today with 120 games scheduled in four competitions.

The 120 rinks entered in the mammoth, involved multi-competition bonspiel got under way Monday with first-round battles in the Chateau International and Val d'Or events.

Two second-round games were disputed in each for rinks which received byes.

Losers in the first-round games started play today in the Seagram's bowl competition. Quarter-finalists in these three events will qualify to compete for the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy, emblematic of the curling show's international championship.

Play in the Holt-Renfrew competition also starts later today.

Four rinks from Toronto Granite Curling Club won their way Monday into the second round. Two of them—skip E. H. Pooler and skip Lorne Duguid—made it in the Chateau International, while L. E. Skinner and G. G. Plaxton won in the Val d'Or.

Lopsided Win

Plaxton's win was one of four lopsided scores registered. He whipped Beauharnois, Que., skipped by A. R. Turnbull, 16-2.

Toronto Royal Canadian, skipped by N. Findley, walloped Quebec Victoria No. 6, skip G. M. Suckling, 19-7, and Pictou, N. S., skip H. Max Russell, overpowered Quebec Winter Club, No. 3, skip Jean Royer, 15-2 in the Chateau International.

In the Val d'Or bracket, St. Stephen, N. B., No. 2, skipped by W. B. Buchanan, whipped Chicago No. 2, skiped by R. W. Wilde, 19-3.

Other Ontario rinks to advance Monday in the Val d'Or included Hamilton Thistle, skip A. R. Tarlton; Toronto Victoria, skip G. A. Scharfe; Peterborough, skip Dr. C. McKee; and Orillia, skip A. C. Baillie. None advanced in the Chateau International.

In second-round games for teams which received byes in each section, Wilf Samson's Quebec Jacques Cartier No. 7 defeated J. Daley of Westville, N. S., 9-6; and Dr. J. M. Elliot's Quebec Victoria No. 3 upset H. N. Ganong, St. Stephen, N. B., No. 1, 13-8 in the Chateau.

YUKON ERIC, above, who takes on Whipper Billy Watson in the main bout at the Brock Arena tonight. Another record crowd is expected to witness the match. In the semi-final Earl McCready will tangle with Abe Zvonkin while the opener will feature George Scott and Jack Wentworth.

Detroit Lead Threatened By Maple Leafs

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 (CP). — Although Detroit still is atop the National Hockey League, Toronto Maple Leafs are threatening to regain the spot they held earlier in the season. Leafs, 14 points behind Red Wings last week, today are but five points off the pace.

Montreal Canadiens remain in third place, but lost ground last week to the Leafs. Instead of the 13 points they were behind Toronto last week, a win, tie and a loss left them trailing Leafs by 16 points. Their performance allowed Boston Bruins to come within one point.

New York Rangers are in fifth place with 41 points and Chicago Black Hawks in sixth with 31 points.

Howe Ahead

In the individual scoring race, Detroit's Gordie Howe still leads the field with 55 points, made up of 23 goals and 32 assists, tops in the latter department. But Canadiens' Maurice Richard, inactive last week because of a leg injury, has been replaced in second position by Max Bentley of Toronto, who has 15 goals and 28 assists. Richard still leads the goal-getting department with 28 but is tied in third place in the points department with Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

Among the netminders, Terry Sawchuk of Detroit and Jerry McNeil of Canadiens lead with seven and six shutouts, respectively.

New York Rangers retain the dubious honor of being the most penalized team in the league with 581 minutes while Boston's Bill Ezinicki is the league's bad-man with 107 minutes off the ice.

Conick, Flick Share Honors

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Johnny Conick of the third-place Hamilton Tigers and Billy Flick of the last-place Kitchener Flying Dutchmen share top spot in the Ontario Hockey Association major series scoring lists.

Statistics released Monday night show each with 40 points. Conick has scored 13 times and helped out 24. In third position, with 17 goals and 21 assists for a 38 total, is Mickey Roth of Kitchener. Murray Comfort of Hamilton follows with 36 points—19 goals and 17 assists. Johnny Ubriaco of St. Michael's is fifth with 11 goals and 23 assists for 34.

Top goalie in the major series is St. Mike's Phil Hughes, with a goals-against average of 2.96.

In the OHA junior "A" race, Oshawa's Lou Jankowski is leading marksman with 76 points—40 goals and 36 assists in 35 games. Teammate Alex Delvecchio is a point behind with 34 goals and 41 assists. Next is Ken Laufman of Guelph with a total of 71. Erwin Grosse of Windsor is fourth with 66.

Setting the pace for junior goaltenders is Marlies' Lon Lockhart. He has allowed 89 goals in 29 games for a 3.07 average. Glenn Hall of Windsor has a 3.11 mark, Don Simmons of St. Catharines, 3.13.

Peterborough Rink Remains In Running

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Thirteen curling rinks remained in the running at the end of Monday's play for the Ontario Women's Tankard at Granite Club here.

Of the 13 seven are from points outside Toronto. Hamilton Thistles have two teams, Hamilton Vics, Lindsay, Peterborough, Oshawa and Midland one each.

Last year's winner, Mrs. C. S. Robertson of Toronto Granites, advanced to the eights but had a difficult time defeating the rink skipped by Mrs. S. Card of Kingston.

One of the most exciting matches was the one in which Mrs. D. Hastings of Midland scored three on the 10th end to defeat Mrs. R. Mcintosh of Bobcaygeon 13-11.

Thirty-six teams started in the bonspiel.

Minimum race purses in British Columbia this year may be $1,000.

"Horsemen cannot exist on anything less," president William Morrissey of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association of Canada told track operators at a conference in Vancouver Sunday.

"The cost of feed has soared in the last two years by 96 per cent," he said. "The horsemen are face to face with an economic crisis."

Last season Vancouver's minimum purse was $850 at Lansdowne and $950 at Exhibition Park.

Ontario Rural Hockey Association secretary H. D. Ovenden announced Monday that the ORHA executive had extended the deadline for declaration of league champions from Feb. 15 to Feb. 22. He further revealed that no players' certificates received after Jan. 25 will be approved. No further player releases will be granted.

Cases of misconduct penalties and of players interfering with an official during a game would be severely dealth with.

Dick Savitt, of Orange, N.J., captured the Australian singles tennis championship today by whipping Ken McGregor, Aussie Davis Cupper, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

A move to prohibit sports on Easter Sunday and on Christmas Day when it fell on Sunday was rejected Monday by the Civic Legislation Committee of Toronto city council.

"The people voted for Sunday sport—no exceptions should be made," said Alderman Alfred Cowling.

The committee agreed.

Ninety-two of the best young thoroughbreds in the United States, including most of the top-two-year-olds of 1950, have been nominated for the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes.

The list was announced Monday by the Westchester Racing Association. It includes George D. Widener's Battlefield, Joseph J. Colando's Uncle Miltie, and Greentree stable's Big Stretch—all important names in the big three-year-old classics to come. Battlefield was the 1950 two-year-old champion.

The date for the 1½-mile Belmont "Test of the Champion" has not been set, but is expected to be June 16, last Saturday of Belmont Park's spring meeting. It is the final number in the triple crown, following the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Louisville, and the Preakness, at Pimlico, Baltimore.

Misfortune dealt Hill Prince another blow Monday, eliminating him from Saturday's Santa Anita Maturity, world's richest horse race.

Christopher Chenery's prize four-year-old developed a severe cramp in his right hind leg after turning in a sizzling workout Sunday for the 1¼-mile classic.

With Hill Prince out of it, the Maturity now has a field of nine probable starters and a gross value of $181,700, if all go.

Pitcher Bob Feller has regained his old place as the Cleveland Indian earning mast wampum. The 32-year-old ex-fireballer signed a one-year contract believed to call for the same salary he got last year—an estimated $45,000 to $50,000.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler arrived Monday in Washington to put the finishing touches on a six-year, $6,000,000 contract for the rights to televise the World Series and All-Star games.

Chandler has been criticized by some people for signing a long-term contract with any industry which is growing as rapidly as television. These critics have maintained that in a few years the television rights must be worth far more than $1,000,000 annually.

But Chandler thinks he made a smart move.

"The deal we made couldn't be made today," he told a reporter. "I'm satisfied we made a wonderful lead for baseball."

Doesn't Expect Much Support

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — Prof. T. R. Loudon of University of Toronto said Monday night he didn't expect any help from other colleges in the fight to have Bob Phibbs of University of Western Ontario Mustangs ruled ineligible for intercollegiate competition.

Prof. Loudon said he expected he was the only member of the board of reference made up of representatives of McGill, Queen's, Varsity and Western to vote to brand Phibbs ineligible.

He added, however, that this fact did not alter his opinion that any member of the academic staff of a university should be prohibited from competing in intercollegiate sport.

The members of the board have been asked for their opinions on eligibility of Phibbs, a part time instructor at Western whose appearance in last week's Varsity-Western game brought a protest from Toronto.

Union President Denies Plans Drop Canadians

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP) — International President Emile Rieve of the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO) said Monday he wants to keep the union's Canadian members — not kick them out as a Montreal report said.

"This story has been spread before by the TWUA Canadian director, Sam Baron," Rieve declared in a statement. "It is not true nor has it ever been true."

The Montreal report, quoting an unnamed member of the union's Canadian staff, said Rieve had told Canadian officials of the union at a weekend meeting that "if he had any more trouble with the Canadians, they were going to get out of the international organization."

The Other Side

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 (CP) — Sam Baron, Canadian director of the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO), Monday night said charges by International President Emile Rieve that he was spreading false statements "are designed to prepare the way for final execution of his threat to oust me from the organization."

Mr. Baron was commenting on a New York report in which Rieve said Baron was spreading an untrue story that the international president wanted to throw the 20,000-member Canadian district out of the union.

"The president did not deny my direct charges (at a meeting here last weekend) that he had warned me that if the Canadian section created any trouble for him, he would throw it out of the union since it is of no importance to the organization," Baron said. "This fact can be confirmed by staff members who attended the Montreal meeting."

Gov't Studies Alarming Drop In Great Lakes Trout Supply

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP). — Ontario is co-operating with federal and U.S. authorities to find the reason for an "alarming decrease" of lake trout in the Great Lakes, Ontario Lands and Forests Minister Scott said Monday night.

In an address to the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, he said the lake trout harvest in Lake Huron fell from more than 2,000,000 pounds in 1936 to only 3,207 pounds in 1949.

Despite this, the value of all commercial fish taken in Ontario was $5,496,836 in 1949, an increase of 17.7 per cent over the previous year. Lake Erie produced 50 per cent.

Good progress has been made in culture and distribution of commercial and game fish in 27 provincial hatcheries. A new bass rearing station has been completed at Westport in the Rideau chain and will be in full production next summer. An extensive experimental feeding program will be conducted there in an attempt to raise the bass to larger size before releasing them.

During last summer adult small-mouth bass were harvested in several lakes over-stocked with under-size bass and redistributed to lakes in need of restocking.

"In lakes overstocked with stunted bass, removal of a part of the population to understocked waters and a follow-up study has shown promising results in an increase in the size of the stunted bass when transferred to new and suitable waters," he said.

He said no decision could be taken on the possible reopening of Ontario's moose season, closed for the last two years, until after a moose-population survey. A province-wide study of the deer population also is being conducted. In 1950, 15,000 non-residents and 80,000 residents purchased deer-hunting licences in Ontario and "one hunter in every three obtained a deer."

The minister disclosed that wild turkeys, once plentiful in Ontario, have again been planted in Western Ontario's Lambton County. The birds have been successful in rearing some young.

Wolf bounties paid in the year ended March 31, 1950, totalled $56,927 on 2,544 wolves. The previous year's totals were 2,727 wolves and $57,977 in bounties.

SENSATIONAL NEW MONEY SAVING Beatty AUTOMATIC WASHER

NOW HERE

It washes, it rinses, it damp dries, it pumps the wash water out, cleans itself, shuts itself off — AUTOMATICALLY. You put the clothes in and you take them out — your hands never touch the water.

Here at last is the END of wash day. Because you can put a load of dirty things in any time. Set the control, and RELAX.

It's so simple to operate that even a youngster could run it. Just ONE control to set and the washer does the rest.

A MARVELLOUS INVENTION

Come in and let us show you the marvellous "HYDROFLEX TUB" which enfolds the clothes when they are washed and rinsed and squeezes them "damp dry." See the "TOPFLOW" method of flushing suds and sediment out through the top so they are kept from resoiling the clothes.

DOES MORE — COSTS LESS

The Beatty Automatic washes the clothes cleaner and whiter — and uses hardly HALF as much hot water as other automatics. It is MORE PRACTICAL in many ways. It does not have to be installed — does not have to be bolted down — it is movable on casters so it can be run in and out of kitchen or bathroom. The cabinet is handsome as any piece of furniture and will "do you proud" in your kitchen.

COMES WITHIN YOUR MEANS

Because of its simple, sound construction, the COST of the new Beatty Automatic has been kept down. It costs less than others. The cost will be greatly reduced by the generous ALLOWANCE we will make for your old washer. And you can spread the balance out in easy monthly terms so low you'll hardly miss the money. Sure you can afford it! You can't afford to be without it.

PRACTICAL! EFFICIENT!

Here's the most efficient washing action in the world — it's the patented Beatty "human hand" agitator. It was long ago proven to be the most PRACTICAL.

The rinsing is done by the agitator, too, and many times more thoroughly than it can be done by hand or by any other method—gets clothes cleaner, whiter.

Trout was charged with breaking into the cottages owned by Robert Dudley, Frank Russell, Gordon Panter, Frederick C. Stamm, Wesley Gough, Wesley Clarence, and Keith Greenwood. Most of these cottage owners live in Toronto.

Flames Subdued 400 Castleton Residents Relax

CASTLETON, Jan. 30 (ENS)—The 400 residents of this Northumberland County village are breathing easier today, after an escape from flames that at one time threatened to engulf the entire business section. Fire that broke out shortly after 1 p.m. on Monday, destroyed a turnip-waxing plant and a bakeshop in the centre of the business section. Damage has been estimated at more than $10,000.

Nobody was injured.

The fire started in a waxing machine and a "blast of flame" forced the 14 workers, eight of them women, to run from the building.

By 2:30 p.m. Monday the fire was reported under control, and firemen from five neighboring communities had a hand in extinguishing it.

First on the scene was the Warkworth fire department, followed by trucks and men from Colborne, Brighton, Baltimore and Campbellford. Castleton is an agricultural village about 20 miles southwest of Campbellford.

Forced From Home

Forced from their home by the fire were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pomeroy and their four-year-old son Peter, who live above the bakeshop. They are living temporarily with Mrs. Pomeroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil May, in Castleton.

The waxing plant is owned by Ted Quinn, who started the business last fall and who ships the turnips to Cleveland for sale on the American market.

The Castleton Hotel and an adjoining barn were scorched by the flames, but did not catch fire.

J. R. Yardy, manager of the telephone office, said the turnip-waxing plant had "plenty of fire extinguishers" but that the workers had no chance to use them.

He said that Castleton got "wonderful response from our neighbors."

Accept Offer Of $70,000 Lower Of Two

Sale by the city of the vacant Nicholls Hospital property on Argyle St. to Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada for $70,000 was recommended to the council Monday afternoon by the committee of the whole. Every members was present. A bid of $75,500 from Bishop Gerald Berry was also received.

This meeting of the committee of the whole was held without press notice. It is understood that the agenda comprised at least six items of business.

It is also understood that some requested provision regarding a road at the hospital in the letter from Bishop Berry involved some item of cost affecting by a reported sum of several thousand dollars the net amount of his tender.

Pentecostal Assemblies were interested in the property last year when the council explored possibilities of sale when Civic Hospital was about to terminate its occupation of the old premises. Official estimate of value was then at a level which did not approach expectation in any of the bids that were proposed and considered.

Reported Last Summer

Rev. Fred H. Parlee of Peterborough Pentescostal Assembly, Water St., said today the project was virtually of the same scope as reported last summer.

It is planned to replace the Eastern Pentescostal Bible College in Toronto which is now conducted as a day school with faculty and around 150 students.

If the former Nicholls Hospital buildings, including the nurses' residence are acquired, the school will be converted to residential status. Attendance, Rev. Mr. Parlee said, might be from 150 to 200 when establishment here was completed. General purpose is to train students for the ministry, teaching of Sunday school and also for missions and home evangelism. The main course of study extends over three years.

Lease of Power Dam

Anonymous minutes of the meeting indicated that the committee also discussed the Canadian General Electric Company's lease of the power dam in the Otonabee river at the plant of the Utilities Commission. The committee recommended that a meeting be arranged with the Utilities Commission to discuss this matter.

It is understood that the attitude of the Commission is in favor of repossessing this comparatively small power unit. Lease to the company has been in two 20-year periods, the second ending at December 31, 1950. CGE pays an annual rental.

Firm Doubling

Canadian Timber Structures Limited, High St., were preparing today to raise the framework of a new building that will enable the company to double its present capacity.

The dimensions are 80 ft. by 100 ft. on concrete foundations already completed.

R. M. Peirson, general manager of the company, said today this enlargement was required to meet increasing volume of business. It is mainly a duplicate of the original building Timber Structures constructed on property bought from the city on the west side of High St., north of the CPR. City council has approved their application for a siding, spurring from the CPR east of High St.

Peterboro OPP Inspector Windsor Chief

Inspector C. W. Farrow, 49, in charge of No. 8 district headquarters in Peterborough, today was appointed Windsor's police chief.

The announcement, made by the Windsor police commission came a little more than three months after the dismissal of Chief Claude Renaud and Deputy-Chief W. H. Neale.

A report by two provincial police inspectors last September started an investigation that led to the dismissal of Renaud and Neale. Since then Provincial Police Staff Inspector E. V. McNeill, Inspector Farrow's predecessor at district headquarters in Peterborough, has been acting chief.

Detective Sgt. John Mahoney, 55, will be Inspector Farrow's deputy.

From 60 Applicants

The choice of Farrow and Mahoney was made from more than 60 applications. His appointment is the culmination of 27 years of police work.

The inspector expects to assume his active duties about February 12. This gives him a couple of weeks to wind up his administrative work and personal affairs in this city. His successor to No. 8 headquarters has not yet been named.

Charges of unchecked gambling, bookmaking and extensive racketeering led to a careful investigation of the Windsor police force and the subsequent firing of Renaud and Neale.

The promotion is a substantial one, but it is generally considered a difficult one because of the nearness of Detroit and Windsor's reputation as a "wide-open" city.

"Mixed Feelings

Inspector Farrow told the Examiner he was approaching the appointment with "mixed feelings." He was pleased that the police commission had chosen him but he was sorry to leave No. 8 district.

It is also a new type of police work to the inspector. His previous career was with the RCMP and the provincials.

"It's always hard to sever relationships," he said. "I've enjoyed it here in Peterborough. No. 8 district is one of the finest in the provincial police force. And the men are excellent."

Inspector Farrow started his police career with a three-year term in the "Mounties," serving in both Eastern and Western Canada and in the Arctic.

Windsor is well known to him. He joined the provincials in 1927 and was first stationed there, and in nearby Amherstburg, for seven years. His wife Aileen comes from Windsor and he has a number of relatives there.

Later he went to Brantford, Hamilton and Dundas. His promotion to corporal came in 1941 and four years later he became a sergeant.

During the years 1939-41 he was a lieutenant with the Dufferin-Haldimand Rifles. Then he transferred to the RCAF and was an administration officer on the east coast.

On Dick Murder Case

After a commendation for his work in the Evelyn Dick murder case, Hamilton, he was appointed district inspector and succeeded Inspector McNeill.

At an investiture held in the district headquarters building last September, he was presented with the newly-minted long service and good conduct medal. The investiture was conducted by W. H. Stringer, OBE, commissioner of police for Ontario.

The immediate need of Inspector Farrow and his wife is a home in Windsor.

Like hundreds of other citizens, Windsor's new police chief is tapping friends and enquiring "You don't know of a vacancy do you?"

Developing Deterrent Force To Prevent War Aim Of Canadian Defence

An outline of the aims and organization of the Defence Research Board was given to the Rotary Club Monday noon by Dr. O. M. Solandt, OBE, chairman of the board. At night Dr. Solandt spoke to the newly-formed United Services Institute on "The Effect of Science On the Future of War."

The Institute consists of ex-commissioned officers from the three armed services. For security reasons it was a closed meeting. One of Canada's top scientific experts on weapon development and future techniques of warfare, Dr. Solandt believes that psychological weapons may be more important than material ones.

Must Be Able To Win

"The whole aim of our defence effort in Canada is to develop a deterrent force and thus prevent war," he said. "However, should Russia start a war we want to be able to win it. And we can best do this by making what contribution we can to the free world."

Our ultimate aim is not to win any possible war but to "establish an order where people can be free and wars impossible."

He intimated that man was progressing sociologically. By giving up some measure of autonomy individual families had linked up to become tribes. And this has developed into the complex communities of today. Each step accompanied by some loss of individual autonomy. (Nobody likes parking tickets but we agree that they are necessary.)

"Material things are perhaps secondary to the psychological... We must convince the people of Canada, and of the Communist countries, that we have a better way of life. If we convince other people of this we will have reached our goal."

Board Formed In 1947

The Defence Research Board came into existence in 1947.

There are certain basic policies governing the makeup and activities of the Board.

The Board is separate from the National Research Council. It doesn't duplicate civilian research but concentrates on such things as weapon development and explosives which would be left undone if it weren't for the military.

With its limited budget of $10,000,000 a year the Board recognizes it cannot apply itself to all problems that arise. So it concentrates on problems of special concern to Canada or those that can be done better here.

"We concentrate on a small number and try to do first class work on them," said Dr. Solandt.

The Board works "in the closest possible collaboration with Britain and the United States." It works on problems of concern not only to Canada but also "the whole free world.

At present the Board is made up of 12 members. Dr. Solandt is the chairman. Others are the chiefs of staff of the three services; Dr. Mackenzie, chairman of the research council; the deputy minister of defence.

Representative of Industry

The remaining six are representative or men with special skills: Professor Otto Maas, chemistry; Professor Paul Gagnon, chemistry; Alan Cameron, president of the Nova Scotia Technical College; Brigadier Eric Wallace, industrial representative and an expert on radar research; Greville Smith, vice-president of CIL; and Professor Ray Farquharson, medicine.

Dr. Solandt mentioned two fields where Canada has made important contributions to military know-how.

One is the study of radio transmission and reception in the auroral belt, i.e. in the vicinity of the magnetic pole which lies just north of Canada. Radio transmission and reception in this belt is irregular because of peculiar ionosphere condition.

The only other place where a similar study could be made is northern Siberia.

"This is obvious a field in which the free world is interested," said Dr. Solandt, "and one that can only be pursued in Canada."

Another important contribution is the large field trials area at Suffield, Alberta. Between the years 1946 and 1950 this was the only field trials area for chemical and bacterial warfare in the "free world."

Dr. Solandt was introduced by Ross L. Dobbin and thanked by Ald. J. A. Dewart. President Hugh Waddell was in the chair.

Woman Struck, Injured Driver Charged

Hit by a car as she stood on the curb on George St. at Dublin St., Mrs. Robert Cutmore, 23, 588 Water St., was taken to hospital Monday night with head injuries.

Her injuries were described by Civic Hospital authorities as not serious and she was improving today.

Driver of the car, Adrian Devlin, 474 Park St., was charged in police court today with dangerous driving, careless driving and having liquor in his car.

Police said Mrs. Cutmore was standing with her husband on the southeast corner of the intersection. Mr. Cutmore stepped off the curb and then jumped quickly back to avoid being hit by a car travelling north on George St. along the gutter.

Mrs. Cutmore, who was said by witnesses to be still standing on the curb, was hit by the car.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum said Devlin had been drinking.

Two witnesses to the accident, Harry Keith, 629 Union St., and Percy Edwards, Lakefield PO, said the Devlin car had been following an erratic course in and out from the curb as it came north on George St. before it hit Mrs. Cutmore.

J. Devlin, 215 Dalhousie St., was a passenger in the car.

Constable Robert Menzies assisted in the investigation.

Report Festival Influencing Spring Styles

By BARBARA STEVENSON.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters).—The Festival of Britain, marking 100 years of progress since the great exhibition of 1851, is expected to be the dominant influence in the new spring and summer fashion collections in London.

A revival of the Victorian styles, so modernized as to be almost unrecognizable, will be emphasized by accessries, particularly embroidery, white frilling, nosegays of violets tucked into belts and necklines, and velvet bands on straw hats.

Wool with a silk finish will head the wool fabrics in popularity, and will be worn both for day and cocktail hours. Cobwebsheer cottons in original designs will replace many of the sheer wools previously shown, largely due to the tremendous increase in wool prices.

Lightweight worsteds also are being used, but the high price of these fabrics has affected their popularity. The famous British hard tweed is proving a good substitute, since it tailors well into straight lines.

Waterproof Fabrics

British nylon spinners are producing new fabrics which are perfect from a practical point of view, being uncrushable, waterproof, and in many cases stainproof. They all fold into a minute space, wash easily, require little or no ironing, and can be permanently pleated.

Suits both for country and town will keep the straight, slim silhouette, with jackets reaching well below the waist. They will depend for design upon crisp white touches and unusual leather belts and closings.

For evening wear starting at the cocktail hour, the slim silhouette will continue, with any fullness graduating towards the back.

The fashion picture as a whole is more feminine than last season, with the "little woman" look suggested by accessories—tiny wrist gloves, flowers perched on bonnets and lapels, lace touches at tailored necklines and tiny narrow belts to accentuate waist lines.

Say Battle of Bare Bosoms Being Waged On Bali Island

By RICK STEVENS.

SINGARADJA, Island of Bali, Jan. 30 — (Reuters). — It's nip and tuck whether a "cloth curtain" is to be drawn across the women of Bali.

The "battle of the bare bosoms" is in full swing, and if the modernists win there will be a general blackout of the most-admired female torsos in the world.

For centuries the belles of Bali have displayed their naked charms. Now, says a certain faction, it is time to cover up.

The campaign is being waged by the Young People's Movements who want to modernize Bali.

In the cities more Balinese women than ever are covering their breasts. They wear blouses, or modestly drape shawl-like wrap across themselves when visitors appear.

But in the more remote villages, the ancient custom still prevails.

As we motored through a small village, a Balinese official with me waved towards a group of women going about their work.

Quite Innocent

"You see they are quite innocent about their nakedness," he said. "If you make them cover it, you immediately make them sex-conscious and they begin to think of the body as something evil that should be hidden.

"Besides, it is more healthy for the body to be unclothed."

When the Indonesian President Dr. Soekarno visited Bali recently a woman leader urged all the Balinese women to cover their breasts.

She was gently chided by the President who said an official order was not the way to change a centuries-old custom. Educate the women slowly, he advised.

Balinese officials fear the tourist trade will decline if the curtain is drawn. They say the island will lose a lot of the sightseers that flock here with cameras each year.

Even now, tourists arriving by sea in Bali are greeted with a sign asking them not to snap blouseless Balinese women.

The last played in New York after a long run in London. Critics considered he excelled in works of a light, ironic vein.

Last year, he won the George Bernard Shaw 94th birthday prize for his play "Gog and Magog." He put the money up as a prize for a play competition in connection with the Festival of Britain.

DOROTHY DIX

Newcomer to City Urged To Join Clubs and Church

DEAR MISS DIX: Three months ago I came to this city as a bride from another state. An utter stranger. My husband is a very reserved type of man who does not make friends easily. He works for a large organization and has many associates whom he likes very much and who like him in return. Most of these men are married, yet none of them have brought their wives to see us. We have been to church several times, but we go and leave and have met no one at all. My husband and I love each other dearly, yet this continuous and unending diet of each other's society is getting under our skins. Situated as I am, I do not know what to do about it. Can you make any suggestions on the subject? YOUNG WIFE.

ANSWER: If in your old home you belonged to any sort of an organization with wide affiliations, such as the Junior League, or any patriotic society, woman's club or philanthropic organisation, write to your president and ask her to give you credentials so that you may join a similar organization in the city to which you have moved and which is to be your home. That is one way of getting in with the kind of people you would like to know.

Don't Just Drop In

Another way is to join whatever church you belonged to at nome. As long as you just drop into a church for a service as any passing stranger might do, you will have no chance of making contact with the members. But if you unite with a church you become one of the body, and if you show a disposition to take an active part in church work you will have no difficulty in making desirable acquaintances. Most communities are asking for volunteers for civilian defence; you will meet people this way too.

Don't feel hurt and offended because your husband's business associates have not brought their wives to call on you. It is only in small communities that that pleasant custom prevails. In large cities and in big organizations men keep their business and social lives apart so that the wives of even men who are friends often never meet.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 26, deeply in love with a girl who has very honestly told me that she has a past. The honorable attitude she has taken makes me love her all the more, but I am tortured by the memory of the other man. I try to dispel the thought of him, but it is always present. Can you suggest some way that will enable me to forget The girl is lovely and I know that she loves me.

PAUL.

ANSWER: Has your own life been so spotless that it has nothing in it that you would expect a girl to forgive and forget? Mighty few men are entitled to cast the first stone. Anyway, what the girl has done in the past is not so important to you as what she is in the present and what she is likely to do in the future. She has shown herself brave and honorable in telling you something that she need not have told you, and so I think that you need never fear that she will not be trustworthy.

There are girls who go wrong through the best that is in them. Because they love too much and are too generous to withhold anything from the man they love. These repent their wrongdoing in bitternes and tears, and once they have got back into the straight and narrow way no temptation will ever make them stray off it again. A man is safe in marrying such a girl.

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been exceptionally happy together. But we have a son who is a problem. He is nearly 24 years old and in perfect health. But he has no energy, no interest in anything and won't even try to amuse himself. He has always disliked school and made poor marks, though I sent him to various public and private schools. Finding he would not take an education I got him a job, but he would not work. I tried to interest him in games, but he was bored by golf and baseball and so on. He isn't bad morally. His only fault is that he will not tell the truth. What do you think?

A PUZZLED FATHER.

ANSWER: Evidently your son is not normal, otherwise he would at least be interested in amusinfg himself. It is a case for physicians and psychiatrists. Perhaps they can find out what ails him and correct it, or perhaps you will have to reconcile yourself to the fact that he is one of those unfortunates who will always be little boys and who will never be able to assume the responsibilities of a man or do the work of a man in the world.

Use New Methods To Meet Problem Of Delinquency

NEW YORK — (AP).—There is a new approach to the problem of juvenile delinquency.

The emphasis now, says the National Probation and Parole Association, is on early detection of maladjustment symptoms in individuals, and on work at top levels to build healthier and better communities.

The NPPA, which is a non-profit consulting and education organization operating through field offices throughout the country, keeps close track of such trends in its work of raising the standards in the whole area of delinquqency treatment.

In the old days, explained Will C. Trunbladh, executive director of the association, corrective treatment usually started after somebody caught little Willie setting fire to the house, burglarizing the neighborhood store, or chasing sister with a carving knife.

And then, because it was Willie's first offence, in the legal sense, he usually was forgiven, and sent home with a strict admonition to sin no more.

Questionable Pardon

"It was considered generous to pardon a first offender," Turnbladh said, "and frequently this was the worst thing that could have happened to a child. What they caught him doing was not by any means his first symptom of distress. Sending him home without punishment did not cure the trouble."

Today the effort is made to watch all children closely and move in with help when Willie shows the first signs of his inner distress: Great shyness and withdrawal, or aggression and bullying. Psychiatrists are almost unanimous in saying that extreme shyness is as great a symptom ot maladjustment as being an active pyromaniac—and easier to straighten out.

For a long time, the NPPA director said, the experts believed most juvenile delinquency could be traced directly to underprivilege homes. They cited poverty, poor environment and improper care as prime causes. But more recent and broader studies indicate that juvenile delinquency closely follows the population curve: the more people, the more young wrongdoers.

What's Right

A person you do not happen to like is being discussed when you are in a group.

WRONG: Say frankly how you feel about the person.

RIGHT: Keep your opinion to yourself, if it is likely to turn others against the person.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Doc certainly is busy these days!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

For Food Display Artists And Birthday Celebrators

The first two months of the year bring three birthdays in our family to be celebrated.

We all like this very much and I make capital of them by making gorgeous cakes so I will have more grist for this column-mill, and it gives me a fairly legitimate chance to boast.

Yesterday was Uncle Bill's birthday. Uncle Bill only visits us once per year at this time so we made quite a celebration of it.

This time the cake was a handsome high angel food with a brand new topping, and it is this topping and its possible variations that I am dwelling on today.

You have to have some chocolate sauce for this business so either buy one of those 6-ounce cans of prepared chocolate sauce or make your own, which is what I did. Now I have some leftover for another chocolate sweet I cream until it is as stiff as possible without making it turn into butter. Beat until as thick and creamy as possible one egg yolk and fold this carefully into the whipped cream. Next beat 1 egg white as stiffly as possible and intend to dream up.

Chocolate Sauce (ingredients for topping for birthday cake)

One-half cup cocoa, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and mixed together dry, and then ½ cup boiling water is stirred into them and it is cooked for 5 minutes over low heat. Chill thoroughly. (This has a dozen uses of course —chief of which is over ice cream or hot cottage pudding.)

Chocolate Whipped Cream Topping

Whip one-half pint of heavy fold it carefully in. Lastly fold in 6 tablespoons of the chilled chocolate syrup—6 level measuring tablespoonfuls. Do all of this beating and folding just before serving time—then spread it lavishly over the cake.

Our honored guest is in his early seventies so instead of trying to burn the house down with candles (and because this cake provided no toe-hold for them) we put one tall taper in a small candle holder in the well in the centre of the angel cake.

He loved it. It was just as much fun as a forest of candles; and the cake and topping are well worth the cost of the cream and careful handling. We served nothing else for dessert.

I used the same topping on a spongee layer cake with a lemon filling and I cannot tell you which was better. My next door neighbor, who is a cake specialist, descended on me for the recipe this morning, for in a not over-subtle gesture of neighborliness, I had sent Marianne over to their house with a piece of the cake.

I will give you the lemon filling in the event you want to try the layer cake version.

Lemon Filling for Sponge Layer Cake

Mix together ¾ cup sugar, 6 tablespoons flour, and shake of salt in top of double boiler; stir well, then add ½ cup hot water and stir over boiling water until thick, then cook 10 minutes stirring once. Pour this over one beaten egg and cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat, add 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons lemon juice and ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind. This is also delicious in a lemon jelly roll.

Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.

Spends Time Hunting Willows

PRESTON., Ore., Jan. 30—(CP)—E. G. Langs is a "willow prospector" for the Department of Veterans' Affairs. In 26 years he has travelled some 500,00 miles in pursuit of his odd occupation.

Mr. Lang's job is to pick willow trees which will make wooden legs for Veteran Amputation cases. Some "Amps" prefer the light wood even more than the wodern streamlined prosthetic appliances.

He figures he has supplied the D. V. A. and its predecessor departments with about 800 cords of choice willow. It takes him about 1,000 miles of "prospecting" to find one cord of suitable wood.

The trees must be more than 35 years old. The best samples he found have grown from "slips" imported from Ireland 75 years ago. The wood has to be straight, sound and reasonably free from knots. He supervises the cutting and won't touch a tree less than 10 inches thick. And, of course, he has to know a great deal about artificial limbs.

His prospecting job is only part-time. He gets his livelihood from a 300-acre dairy farm near here.

Peter J. Moloney Dies In Detroit

Peter J. Moloney, who recently died in Detroit, Mich., was the son of the late Eugene Moloney and his wife Agnes McAuliffe of Ennismore. He received his education at Ennismore primary and secondary schools and at Peterborough Business College.

In 1916 Mr. Moloney enlisted with the Royal Air Force and was severely wounded in France, receiving the Military Cross and a citation for bravery from the late King George V.

After his military service, Mr. Moloney went to Detroit and entered the lumber business, subsequently establishing the firm of the P. J. Moloney Lumber and Coal Company. He was a member of St. Mary of Redford Roman Catholic Parish in Detroit, Holy Name Society, Knights of Columbus, a past president of the War Birds of the RAF, and a member of the Lumbermen's Association.

Surviving are his widow Edith and five sons, John a Jesuit seminary student, James of the Sacred Heart Seminary, Paul, Perry and Lawrence, attending St. Mary's High School, Detroit.

Mr. Moloney also leaves three brothers and two sisters, Herbert, Eugene, and Harry of Ennismore, Mrs. E. O'Malley, Chicago, and Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, of Peterborough.

U.S. Scientists Have Busy Year Working On Hydrogen Bomb

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP).—One year ago tomorrow President Truman gave a momentous order to the United States Atomic Energy Commission: Get to work on the hydrogen bomb.

Today, with armed conflict raging in Korea and with a third world war a grim possibility, there is abundant evidence that the atomic scientists went to work with vigor and promptness.

But what progress they have made—how near they are to exploding the super-weapon that could level cities and wipe out armies—is a secret.

It's so closely guarded that the best-informed people "on the outside" don't even agree on whether the H-bomb ever can be developed.

Different Opinions

William L. Laurence of the New York Times, the only reporter allowed to see any of the wartime development of the atomic fission bomb, said in a recently-published book — "The Hell Bomb" — that the first H-blast may occur this spring or summer.

Yet David E. Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said only last week that there is "only a remote possibility" the H-bomb can be built at all.

The commission itself has a chance to give some official word in its semi-annual report, due Wednesday. But the odds are heavily against anything beyond the oft-repeated statement that the H-bomb is somewhere between the realm of the possible and the probable.

This much is sure: A lot of time, money and manpower are going into an all-out effort to make the bomb—lest the Russians make it first.

Know Basic Secret

They know the basic "secret." It long has been known to scientists everywhere that you can "blow up" hydrogen, with a tremendous release of energy; if you can build a fire hot enough. And the A-bomb, burning with a temperature upwards of 50,000,000 degrees fahrenheit, may provide the necessary fire to trigger it.

As for the technical know-how: the Russians learned a good deal—it hasn't been announced how much—from Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the British scientist who has confessed passing on to them top-secret data to which he had access as a trusted member of the Allied A-bomb team.

Fuchs' arrest and confession, coming on the heels of Russia's A-bomb explosion, came shortly before the U.S. hydrogen bomb program got rolling.

Today the program is rolling at a multi-million-dollar rate as a top priority part of the $1,277,000,000 atomic energy development plan for 1951-52, and new plants are being built and old ones expanded.

The day may be coming—if it is not already here—that an army massed to cross somebody else's border might be destroyed by a sheet of atomic fire before it could leave its own territory.

$500 Is Set As Quota For City In Canadian Citizenship Fund

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 — The appointment of H. L. Garner as the Peterborough regional chairman of the Canadian Citizenship Fund for 1951 was announced today by Anson C. McKim, national campaign chairman, Gen. H. D. C. Crerar, C.H., C.B., D.S.O., honorary president of the council, and Mr. Andre Taschereau, president. The council, a national voluntary organization which coordinates the work of scores of agencies concerned with the problem of citizenship, has set for the overall goal a total of $75,000. Regional chairmen in 43 principal centres from Newfoundland to British Columbia have already been enlisted and work is under way for the official opening of the two week drive beginning on February 5.

The Peterborough committee, under the direction of Mr. Garner, has been asked to raise $500 as its quota.

Mr. McKim pointed out that there will be no public appeal for funds. Regional chairmen across the country will approach a selected list of corporations and individuals who by virtue of their status in their own communities might be expected to take a lead in fostering the ideals of Canadian citizenship, its rights and obligations.

"With 450,000 new members in our 14,000,000 Canadian family since the end of the war," said Mr. McKim, "the task of stimulating good Canadian citizenship is a vast one. More than 250,000 Canadians come of age each year and it is imperative that we help them to an understanding of the true meaning of democracy, especially at a time when strong, subversive influencies are actively at work. Citizenship is a living thing and our youth and the newcomer must be trained for it.

"The council works in a positive way to combat subversion. It co-ordinates and directs the efforts of its member agencies so as to most effectively inculcate the idea of real democracy and to emphasize to all Canadians the responsibility of good citizenship."

Mr. McKim stressed the fact that the council has the full co-operation of the Canadian Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, educational authorities, veterans' organizations, service clubs, churches, labor, welfare and other important national bodies.

Members of the national organizing committee are P. S. Fisher, president, Southam Co. Ltd; R. C. MacInnis, director of public relations, TCA; and Hugh M. Wallis, president, Mount Royal Rice Mills.

Canadian Plays Chosen For Festival

By KAY REX.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP). — Canadian plays have been chosen by two Little Theatre groups for presentation at the 1951 Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival.

Brockville's Theatre Guild, a veteran troupe which last year won regional honors for a moving performance of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," will present the Canadian play, "Dark Harvest," at Kingston March 19-21.

The full-length prairie drama is by Albertan playwright Gwen Pharis Ringwood. With this production, the Brockville company stands a chance for the Sir Barry Jackson Trophy, awarded at the Dominion Festival for the best presentation during a regional festival of a play written by a Canadian. The Dominion finals this year will be held in London, Ont., in May.

One-act Play

Another troupe to seek the award will be a comparatively-young group, the Perth Thespian Society, with "Mac and the Atom" a one-act comedy-satire by Eric Nicol of Vancouver.

In producing a one-act play, the Perth group will seek regional honors alone. Only full-length plays are eligible for awards in the Dominion competition, although groups with one-act regional entries may be invited to perform.

Entries in the regional competition are not yet final and may be dependent on a sub-regional contest.

At least five other companies—from Ottawa, Peterborough, Deep River and Kingston—hope to vie for the trophies offered at this area's festival.

Actor Awards

Best-actor and actress awards are given annually. To the group with the best production of a full-length play goes the Davies Cup, awarded each year by Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard. The Fulford Shield, given by George Fulford of Brockville, is awarded for the best one-act presentation.

Peterborough Little Theatre plans to do Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," under the expert direction of Robertson Davies, playwright and editor of The Peterborough Examiner.

For the first time in four years the 53-year-old Queen's University Grama Guild of Kingston may have an entry, a one-act play the name of which has not yet been disclosed. However, the name of Queen's faculty players, faithful competitors of other years will be missing from the 1951 program.

GOING NATIVE—Firewood is scarce around the camp of the 2nd Battalion, PPCLI, in Korea. The troops cannot cut trees in the area and have to buy wood from the South Koreans. This Army photo shows Pte. Ken Brampton, of Vancouver, carrying a bundle of wood Korean-style.

Urges Jail Sentence For Game Violations

OSHAWA, Jan. 30 (CP). — Hon. Gordon D. Conant, former Liberal Premier of Ontario, Monday night suggested that "game hogs" who break Ontario's hunting and fishing rules should be sent to jail.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Oshawa Fish and Game Protective Association, he also urged enactment of adequate regulations to control the use of aircraft for hunting or fishing in the province.

The only way to deal with flagrant and deliberate violators of the game laws is to imprison them without option of a fine or in addition to a fine, said Mr. Conant, now a Master of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Detroit Council Runs Into Annexation Worry

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30 (CP) —Common council no sooner ordered a survey into the possibility of annexing near-by areas Monday when it ran into heated opposition.

Al Leggatt, supervisor of Redford township, told the councilmen that residents of the township would "bitterly oppose such annexation."

Councilman Charles G. Oakman had proposed a complete study as a step toward possible annexation of vacant land adjoining the city.

Attack Pests

SCUNTHORPE, England (CP) —North Lincolnshire farmers plan a spring campaign against crop-destroying rooks. They will use powerful jet fire-hoses directed at their egg-filled nests.

No Cost Agreement On Part Of Highway

ORILLIA, Jan. 30 (CP). —W. M. Fulton, inspector of surveys for the Ontario Highways Department, said Monday there so far is no federal-provincial agreement on the cost of "prior construction" on Ontario sections of the Trans-Canada Highway.

Part of the highway agreement provides that no work shall be done that affects a part of an existing highway, until the cost of prior construction has been determined, he told the Orillia Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Fulton said that shortages of steel and cement and possibility of new quotas and priorities mean that the federal-provincial highway agreement may have to be extended beyond its Dec. 9, 1956, termination date.

Group Influences World Business Trends

By FORBE RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Sometimes we almost despair that the world's peoples will get to know and understand one another. But the process goes on, and perhaps more progress is being made than we think.

One of the major parliaments of peoples, aside from the political level, is the International Chamber of Commerce. It is true that it is a gathering at the business level, really a parliament of business men, but the things they discuss affect all peoples everywhere.

They try, for instance, to bring about conditions which will encourage foreign investments, the flow of money among countries, recognized as one of the greatest needs in developing the resources of the world and advancing the status of backward peoples.

It sets up standard regulations and ethical business codes on commercial and monetary matters of daily concern among banks, exporters, importers, and other organizations; it touches about everything that affects the ordinary day-to-day relations of countries, aside from purely-political matters.

Meet Every Two Years

The Chamber meets in general congress every two years, with hundreds of delegates present from more than 30 member countries. But in between congresses the real work goes on.

Each country has its national council, and contact is maintained with other national councils and with what they are thinking, through International Headquarters in Paris.

By the time the congress meets there is a well-developed world business opinion on current problems, which is given form at the congress sessions; and plans are made for the next two years.

This is congress year again, and the meeting place is Lisbon, Portugal, the second or third week of June. The Canadian Council meets in Toronto February 15 under the chairmanship of it president, Gerald G. Ryan of Montreal.

The chamber, of course, has no legislative power itself, but it is influential in making representations to governments and to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. And its decisions as to standards and codes are influential in the business conduct of the world.

Hears Scratching Finds Wolf At Door

TORONTO, Jan. 30 —Lots of people think the wolf is at the door, these days of high prices, but Jack Hill of Ballantrae, near Musselman's Lake, is sure of it. He met the wolf face to face.

Hearing a scratching at his door, Hill went to investigate. A wolf bounded back when Hill flung the door open. Before Hill could reach his rifle, the animal had taken to its heels. Other residents of the area reported seeing tracks. The wolf, or wolves, are believed to live in the extensive reforestation projects near Vivian and south of Uxbridge.

Doesn't Like Price

REGINA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas Monday termed the recent raising of the initial price of wheat from $1.40 to $1.60 as unsatisfactory. Mr. Douglas said with "practically all" wheat being sold by the Canadian Wheat Board bringing $1.88 a bushel and up, the initial payment to farmers for their 1950 crop should be boosted to $1.75.

2 Communists Quit Party Revolt Against Moscow Tie

ROME, Jan. 30 (Reuters) — A serious split in the Italian Communist party was forecast Monday by the centre and right-wing press after resignations of two Communist parliamentary deputies.

The deputies, Valdo Magnani, 38, and Aldo Cucchi, 39, were widely reported to have revolted against the Italian party's submission to Russian directives.

The right-wing newspaper Giornale D'Itala said Magnani, professor of philsophy and Yugoslav guerrilla in the Second World War, resigned because of "the lack of liberty to express a personal opinion."

The independent Messaggero reported many more cases of "deviationism," but said the Communist party was trying to hush them up to avoid scandals.

First news of the break in the strongest national Communist party outside the Iron Curtain came Saturday night. It was regarded here as the most important secession since the war.

Both deputies represent constituencies in the "Red belt" industrial region of Northern Italy. Magnani was last week elected to the executive council of the party's provincial federation for Reggio Emilia, most powerful local group in the country.

Keep Silent

Italian Communist headquarters maintained silence, though it was reported a communique was being prepared.

The official Communist organ Unita does not appear Mondays and the pro-Communist Paese, most authoritative left-wing newspaper, described the resignations as "without importance."

But a Communist deputy, Leonilda Tarozzi, described the resignation of Cucchi as "a bolt from the blue."

Communist deputy Giovanni Botonelli commented: "It was a dagger thrust in the back. As a man he ought openly and loyally to have informed us first of his intention before taking this decision, especially n the present poltical situation."

Approve Extension

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)— A three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Law Monday won approval of the House Ways and Means Committee. The vote was 18 to 7. The law, which expires next June 12 unless Congress renews it, empowers President Truman to lower or abolish tariffs and other trade barriers in exchange for similar cocessions by other nations.

Dad shows 'em how...

Dad struts his stuff when the children beg for a backyard rink. Why, he's an old hand at it! A bit of healthful exercise, then he stands back proudly to eye his handiwork. Loud applause from the younger set rings in his ear!

Then Dad gets the urge to don his old skates. Before long, he's circling about gracefully, amid admiring stares from his astonished offspring.

Yes, it's all wholesome fun—the kind that means relaxation, lots of good fresh air, and healthy exercise for the whole family.

Randolph Scott Doesn't Like Any Publicity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30 —(AP) —Least known of the top 10 box office stars is a lanky, laconic Virginian named Randolph Scott.

Hollywood was mildly surprised when Scott placed 10th in the list of money-making stars for 1950. The guy does not appear in academy contenders or top-grossing pictures; instead he makes a steady string of modest outdoor attractions.

Furthermore, he upsets the filmland tradition by not appearing in night clubs or otherwise seeking to inject his name into the public prints. He is as close to being an enigma as one can be in this widely-heralded business. I talked to him about these aspects of his career when we met on the "Fort Worth" set, and he minced no words.

Doesn't Like Publicity

"Frankly, I don't like publicity," he remarked in a manner that was plain but not unfriendly. "I always remember something that David Belaso said and had incorporated in the contracts of his cars. His theory was 'never let yourself be seen by the public, unless they pay for it.'

"To me that makes sense. The most glamorous, most fascinating star our business ever had was Garbo. Why? Because she kept herself from the public. Each member of the audience had his own idea of what she was really like. Even today she remains an exciting figure.

"But take the other stars of today. There is no mystery about them. The public knows what kind of tooth paste they use, whether they sleep in men's pyjamas and every intimate fact of their lives. When I read publicity about them, I can tell just which press agent they employ. They've been using the same old publicity gimmicks for 20 years."

In The Red

Many of Scott's fellow actors have remarked to me that he is loaded with cash, largely because of the many independent deals he has made. The actor spiked this rumor.

"I'd like to show them my bank account, which is in the red right now," he answered. "Sure, I've made a lot of money, but nearly all of it has gone right to Uncle Sam.

"I tried to make a deal with the Treasury Department once. I told them if they would let me work for one year free of taxes, I would be willing to give them all the money I make for the rest of my life. Unfortunately, they wouldn't go for it."

GERMAN CHANCELLOR—First member of the new German consular staff to arrive in Canada is Eugen Lorz, chancellor of the German Consulate General, who arrived in Saint John aboard the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of France. He is shown aboard ship on arrival with his wife and daughter Miriam. The consulate will be re-established in Ottawa, and several senior officials will follow Mr. Lorz in a few weeks.

Lakefield Church Annual Meeting

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 30 (ENS).—Reports presented at the annual congregational meeting of the Lakefield United Church held on Friday evening indicated a year of progress in the Church's history, with practically all organizations showing an increase over previous records.

In a short address, the chairman, the Rev. W. H. Tonge, stated that a total of $18,611 had been raised in the church during the year. He also reported 30 baptisms, nine marriages and 16 funerals during the year.

The treasurer's report, given by Mr. George Spence, showed $5,511 receipts for the general fund and $8,518 for the renovation fund. The missionary and maintainance fund was marked by a substantial over-subscription when 131 per cent of the allocation, a total of $1,651 was raised. This report was presented by J. A. Porter.

E. Milburn, giving the report of the session stated that the church's membership had increased considerably over that of the previous year, with 61 new members being added.

Reporting for the board of stewards, E. H. Northey stated it would be necessary to make a second canvass of the congregation in the near future to wipe out the small deficit now outstanding.

A resume of the renovation program was given by Mr. Porter. This program included the shingling of the church roof, repairs to the windows, a new chimney, cement steps and walks, considerable electrical work, the insulation of both church and manse, a complete modern oil heating system, redecoration of the entire building, both inside and out and the installation of two washrooms. A modern kitchen with twin sinks, gas stove and steam cabinets was completed and new carpet laid in the auditorium.

Receipts of the Women's Association report, given by Mrs. E. Rath, totalled $907, and that of the Misisonary and Service Club given by Mrs. W. Whetung $768. A Thanksgiving dinner, served by all the ladies of the church added $448 to the renovation fund.

In presenting the report of the Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. C. S. Tanner reported a most successful year with $452 being sent to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Reports of the choir, Sunday school, pension fund, Mission Band, Young Adult Society, Young People's Society, CGIT, and the "Ding How" Boys were adopted as presented in the financial report.

The following appointments were made to the various boards; elders: Rev. W. R. Archer (honorary), Roy Kidd, Percy Darling and Mrs. C. S. Tanner; trustees: Wm. Fairbairn, S. Northey, Roy Brown and E. J. Millage; stewards: Ralph Jackman, Sandy Millage, Lynn Pratt and George Graham.

Prior to the business meeting, a dinner, prepared under the direction of the Women's Association, was enjoyed by all. The choir sang two numbers.

At the conclusion of the business period all adjourned to the auditorium where a film, "Youth For The Kingdom" was viewed.

WA Elects Officers

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 30 (ENS).—The annual meeting and election of oficers of the United Church Women's Association was held in the dining hall at the church. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated at the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Bert Robson; vice president, Mrs. W. Lewis; treasurer, Mrs. Bob Prentice; secretary, Mrs. Jack Henry; deaconess, Mrs. W. C. Inkster.

Groups 1, 3 and 4 reported each $100 made during the year. The missionary birthday box was opened and revealed $40.

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Detective Ian MacGregor was testifying against a thief, who was convicted, when another thief stole his overcoat from the lobby outside the assize court.

Trent River WI Plan Quilt For Competition

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 30 (ENS).—January meeting of the Women's Institute of Trent River was held in the community hall Thursday. Mrs. Harold Thompson was hostess and there were 30 members and visitors present.

Mrs. Harry Mann took the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. Earl Greenly.

The members were making plans for the quilt to be entered in the quilt competition at the District Annual.

A report was given on the weekly card parties which are well attended and held every Friday night.

Mrs. Harry Mann gave a demonstration on how to make a decorative door-stop out of a milk bottle, a rubber ball and a black ribbed stocking.

Mrs. Thomas Wright, program convener, presented the following program: community singing; readings by Mrs. Frank Openshaw and Mrs. Melville Wight; Mrs. Ross Pollock won the quiz contest.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mrs. Harry Mann and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin.

All Guilty Of Deception In Dress, Says J. Scott

By JACK SCOTT

I see where this character Prevedoros, "The Second-Hand Hero," is fined $75 in police court and I can't help thinking what a stiff rap that is for a guy who just wanted to be something that he ain't. It's a felony we're all guilty of one way or the other.

You probably read about Prevedoros' flight of fancy, a short hop that ended in an abrupt prattfall. He is a 22-year-old hack driver who served a snappy six months in the Royal Canadian Air Force as an aircraftsman, which is the lowliest rank in that service.

Seems Fearless Bob got to drinking with some of the boys, all veterans themselves, and the taller the drinks got the taller the stories go. This is just plain mathematics.

Fighter Pilot

Robert (so the evidence went) had cast himself in the role of a squadron leader fighter pilot and was in splendid form recounting his exploits in Burma and Europe.

"There I was," I can hear him saying, "nineteen thousand feet over Nagasaki, when all of a sudden 16 Jap Zeros come divin' at me out of a cloud. My guns had jammed. I figured, "This is it, Prevedoros!' I kicked my Spit into a quick barrel-roll, went into a screaming dive . . ."

As the evening wore on some of Roberto's audience began to intereject a harsh note of skeptictism and then Prevedoros did a magnificent thing. He went home, changed his costume and returned in the garb of a squadron leader, replete with the Distinguished Flying Cross and other decorations for valor.

In hardly any time at all Robert Prevedoros was in the clink.

The Masquerade

The newspaper accounts of the case leave a lot of questions unanswered. Robert had bought the uniform in a second hand store, he claimed, to wear while he was driving his cab. But there was no explanation about why he'd bought the medals or, for that matter, what they were doing in a hock shop.

It's aso baffling to read that Roberto's costume was something less than authentic. When the cops laid their heavy hands on Bob's epaulets he was wearing colored socks, a civilian shirt and brown shoes. (Real squadron leaders often wear even weirder outfits, but with an insoucience that our tinplate hero presumably lacked.)

The details of the case, however interest me less than the important principle involved, which is: When is a masquerade beyond the law?

All Deceive

Now, mind you, we don't want people going around pretending to be squadron leaders or generals. There are too many generals as it is. But we all practise some form of daily deception by our dress, whether we know it or not.

How many men do you know who get dressed up every morning as a Big Executive or in the uniform of the Successful Salesman (homburg hat, pinstripe, white shirt, etc.) or as the Casual Young Man?

In my own business alone I know of several lads who costume themselves each morning to face the world as The Cynical Newspaperman, strictly cases of false pretences. But they never get hustled off to the pokey.

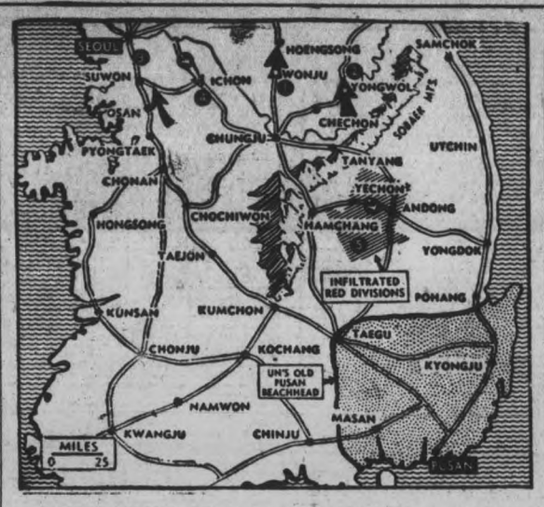
The fact is, there's something of the little boy in every man and getting "dressed up" is one way of expressing ourselves.

Robert Prevedoros obviously dreamed of daring exploits in the wild blue yonder. By donning the uniform of a squadron leader he gained altitude without leaving the ground. I wonder how many times he'd looked at himself in the mirror in the privacy of his own room wearing that outfit, before grain alcohol and the taunts of his listeners brought him out into the open.

In Real Life

That was Bob's only mistake. It is all very well to dream, to fancy yourself in roles of incredible bravery and recklessness, but, brother you keep such dreams to yourself or face ridicule and, perhaps, a $7 fine to boot.

Reminds me of a story told to me by William Saroyan. I was lucky enough to have lunch with Saroyan in London a few years ago. In the course of discussing his work I mentioned a scene in his book, "The Human Comedy" which had appealed to me greatly.



I'm kind of hazy now on the details, but in this scene a telegraph clerk hears some wonderful news of some kind. He rushes from his office and begins to run home, bearing the good news, whatever it may have been.

Kisses Girl

En route he passes a very beautiful girl waiting for a bus. The clerk stops, runs back, kisses the girl full on the lips, cries, "You are the most beautiful girl in the world!" and runs on.

It was as simple as that and yet it was a very beautiful scene, adding up all the exuberance and joy of a man who is in love with the whole, wonderful world. Saroyan has no false modesty. He agreed with me that it was a charming little bit. Then he began to laugh.

"I wrote that because it happened to me almost exactly that way," he said. "I'd sold my first story and I just had to kiss somebody. There was just one difference. In the book the girl is moved to tears. When I did it, in real life, the girl reacted instantly. As I ran on I heard her hollering for the police."

WONJU AGAIN—UN forces reoccupied Wonju (1) and pushed north almost to Hoengsong. Other UN troops swept through Yongwol (2) and an unidentified town south of Seoul (3). Red troops occupied Inchon (4), while elements of six Red divisions, which have infiltrated south of the UN defense line, are now operating around (5).

Friends Honor Springville Couple

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 30 (ENS) —The congregation of Springville United Church met Friday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Court Gibson and family who have recently moved from this community into Peterborough.

Rev. E. S. Linstead was chairman for a short program. With Mrs. Visee at the piano, the meeting opened with recitations by Gail and Sharon Lillico and Bill Whittington, Jack, Carl and Don Sargent provided musical numbers. Mrs. Dunford gave a reading "Three Pictures". Mrs. Bernard Preston provided a contest won by Mrs. Bert Visee, Mrs. H. Rowan and Mr. C. Gibson. M. H. Johnston gave an address.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Gibson and sons, Donald and Norman, were called to the front. Ray Wood read an address of appreciation and good wishes and Gordon McIntosh and Harold Rowan presented them with two occasional chairs; little Neil Cathcart and Keith Johnston presented Donald and Norman with belts and Joan Kemp presented a cup and saucer for Betty, who is ill. Bill Whittington presented a special gift from Miss E. Sheppard for Betty.

After the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows", Mr. and Mrs. Gibson expressed their thanks for the gifts. Following this, refreshments were served in the basement and a social hour was spent.

Mr. Harold Cathcart and Mr. Harry Tinney have arrived in Florida where they are spending a holiday.

Mrs. Fred Clarke has arrived home after a visit to western Canada.

Visitors Increase

LOUISBOURG, N. S. (CP). — The caretaker of the historic Louisbourg fortress reports that 282 visitors were registered in December, compared with only 17 tourist visitors in the same month of 1949. Completion of the Sydney-Louisbourg highway is thought responsible.

Charge Co-Op At Timmins Red-Controlled

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP). — A Toronto paper said Monday in a dispatch from Timmins, that the Workers' Co-operative of New Ontario is Communist-controlled and that most of its 60 employees are referred to as "revolutionary workers."

Its general manager, the newspaper says, is Garth Teeple, one of two men recently expelled from the Canadian Legion. The other is Adelard Houle, an official of the Communist-line International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Their expulsion was reported to have been the cause of Communist connection. Officials of Legion Branch 88 said a "directive" was issued by Legion Headquarters to refuse Teeple and Houle membership.

The paper says that the co-operative "had handled almost half the $25,000,000 of Canadian business—conducted under the special tax exemptions granted co-operatives—which has passed through Communist hands in Northwest Ontario in the last 20 years."

Doing Well

"The WCNO has enjoyed more than $12,000,000 worth of this business in that time, and a similar Communist-controlled co-op at the lakehead has done even better."

The Co-operative operates stores at Timmins, South Porcupine, Conraught, Kirkland Lake and Larder Lake, the paper says, plus a bakery at Timmins and a coal business at South Porcupine.

"Accountant of the chain is Ronald Buck, son of Tim Buck (Canadian Communist leader) . . . Among its educational directors have been (Ray) Stevenson, until recently full-time paid Communist organizer in Northern Ontario . . . and Mark Frank, parliamentary correspondent of the Canadian Tribune, Toronto Weekly. Frank was expelled from the press gallery at Ottawa by fellow newspapermen on a charge of distorting news."

Other officials also are Communists, the paper says.

"The concern employs more than 60 persons in its stores and bakery. It operates a fleet of 10 trucks. Some skilled tradesmen, such as butchers, are not Communists but most employees are classified as 'revolutionary workers' in the Co-op's own literature.

Secret Army Tests In North

OTTAWA, Jan. 31. (CP)—A secret air-ground military exercise to test the tactics, men and equipment Canada proposes to use to defend her northland was announced today. The Defence Department said it will be called "Sundog Two" and will be held in the sub-Arctic area north of Fort Churchill, Man., between mid-February and the first week in March, one of the toughest parts of the winter.

No non-military people will be allowed to witness it.

The announcement said the joint Army-RCAF tactical manoeuvre is a "small exercise which will test the effects of Arctic conditions on men and equipment provide staffs with training to meet the ordinary problems of airborne, air-transported winter operations."

The scope and size of the exercise will be minor compared to last year's American-Canadian Exercise Sweetbriar, held along the Alaska Highway. But its purpose is just as important.

That one was designed to test the problems arising from an enemy invasion through Alaska. This is designed to face up to another problem — that of small bodies of enemy troops which could land in the north to cause panic or to knock out military installations.

Units involved will come from RCAF and Army men earmarked to meet enemy attacks on Canada. The "enemy" force will be represented by men from the 1st Battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment. An air-transported company of the Royal Canadian Regiment, will act as the assault force assigned to destroy the "enemy."

Both units are with the regular force Airborne Brigade.

RCAF Dakota transport planes will fly the attacking force and supplies into the flat, bleak barrens and drop both troops and supplies in a parachute counter-attack. Both air and ground reconnaissance will precede the drop in an effort to locate the enemy.

Report Whole Of Canada Still Mammoth Ice Box

By The Canadian Press

Winter's icy hand rested heavily across almost all of Canada today. Only coastal British Columbia and the southern fringe of Ontario escaped sub-zero temperatures from which no immediate relief is in prospect. The sub-zero belt stretched from the Yukon — where it was 33 below at Dawson — across the Prairies, over Northern Ontario and Quebec and into the Maritimes.

Saskatoon, with 28 below, was the coldest spot in the Prairies; Port Arthur, 30 below, had Ontario's lowest temperature; Quebec's 24 below was the lowest reported for that province by the government weather office; Moncton's 22 was the lowest in the Maritimes.

The weather forecaster said prospects are that most of the country will have weather just as cold or colder than last night's for some days. Cooler air over BC and the Middlewestern States is expected to move eastward for another three days.

Only Temporary

The southern peninsula of Ontario can look for snow and moderating temperatures for a couple of days before th mercury pose dives again. In this section it was just above zero Tuesday night—three at Windsor and five at Toronto.

Winnipeg reported a break in the cold spell Tuesday when the temperature rose from an early-morning low of 26 below to seven below.

In northwestern Ontario, Fort William residents Tuesday shivered in 42 below-zero weather, lowest temperature recorded at the lakehead since 1883, when official records were first taken. At Sudbury it was 45 below, a Jan. 30 low for the nickel-mining city.

Wildcat Rail Strike Spreads To 8 Cities

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP) — A fast-spreading wildcat strike of railroad switchmen, the second in six weeks over an old wage-hour dispute, threatened today to disrupt rail transportation in the United States.

The unauthorized walkout, which started in Chicago and Detroit Tuesday morning, spread to eight key cities in less than 24 hours. The strike directly affected 18 carriers, but many other railroads were indirectly affected because of the tie-up of switching lines.

There were indications, a rail union spokesman said, the strike would start in other cities.

Two Children Attend Mrs. Sullivan's Trial

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Mrs. Marion Sullivan of Toronto today brought her two children to court with her when she went on trial for manslaughter in connection with the death of her lawyer husband.

With her 16-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, and her son, Francis, Jr., 21, she appeared at the winter assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court, clad in a mink coat, black straw hat, black woollen dress and black suede shoes.

Before taking a seat on the prisoner's bench, she chatted briefly with them. She faces crown allegations that she killed her husband, Francis J. Sullivan, 52, in a downtown Chateau Laurier bedroom early Nov. 18. He was beaten about the head and body.

Dog Saves Household

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 31 (CP).—A whining dog, which apparently sensed something amiss, was credited today with arousing a two-family household and saving seven persons from coal gas fumes. Shirley Jarrett, 18, awakened by the whining, thought the dog wanted to get out. She started for the door only to collapse on the stairs.

Atomic Report Shows Progress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP).—The United States Atomic Energy Commission reported "continued progress" today in the development of atomic weapons and said all its facilities are operating "at full capacity."

But on the details of its atomic bomb and other programs the commission, in its ninth semi-annual report to Congress, riveted the usual lid of secrecy.

It did not tell a thing about the hydrogen bomb, whose development was ordered by President Truman a year ago today.

One new disclosure in the report: During the last four years, 1,600 persons either have been refused access to secret atomic data or have left their jobs while under investigation.

The report said about 198,400 other persons were given clearance during the four-year period.

On the subject of atomic weapons, the commission said:

"Close co-ordination with the armed forces was maintained at all levels on the many matters of comomn interest such as research and development planning, weapons storage and field training.

Free Nazi War Criminals

Malmedy Massacre Men Spared From Gallows

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP) — American authorities today spared 21 German war criminals from the gallows, freed German steel magnate Alfred Krupp and restored his property rights in the multi-million-dollar Krupp industrial empire.

Those saved from death included six former Nazis S.S. troopers convicted of murdering U.S. soldiers in the infamous "Malmedy massacre."

Eight of the highest executives of the Krupp industrial empire also were freed in a sweeping review of all remaining U.S.-tried war-crimes cases. But U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy and U.S. military commander Gen. Thomas T. Handy confirmed seven death sentences, including four men convicted of slaughtering more than 1,000,000 Jews and gypsies, and of former S.S. Major-General Oswald Pohl, who bossed Hitler's concentration-camp system.

At the same time U.S. authorities modified many other prison terms imposed by American war crimes tribunals.

The new rulings followed special consideration of all remaining war-crimes cases, undertaken in the face of a growing German clamor against such verdicts.

Those saved from death had been in Landsberg prison under sentence for more than four years.

Gen. Handy's ruling saved from the gallows all the S.S. troopers remaining under death sentence for the "Malmedy massacre." This means that no German will be executed for one of the worst atrocities of the Second World War, when several hundred captured and unarmed U.S. soldiers and Belgian civilians were shot down in cold blood by S.S. troops in Malmedy, Belgium, during the Battle of the Bulge.

Today's rulings do not affect the cases of seven top Nazis, including former Deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, still in Berlin's Spandau prison after conviction by the International War Crimes Tribunal at Nuremburg.

Use Bayonets To Smash Chinese Line

Gun and Air Barrages Fail To Break Red Forces At Front

TOKYO, Jan. 31. (AP)—Advancing Allied forces attacked with bayonets and grenades today after thunderous artillery and air strikes failed to smash Chinese Communist resistance on the Korean warfront.

This was seven miles northeast of Suwon, on the east flank of the bloody western front just south of Seoul. Although the well-dug-in enemy failed to break under bombardment, a front-line officer said Wednesday's artillery fire "must have killed thousands of Chinese."

On the east coast, the US battleship Missouri, other naval units and carrier planes pounded Kosang, 45 miles north of the 38th Parallel. Kosang is 20 miles north of Kansong, blighted Tuesday in a similar attack by warships and planes of Task Force 77.

Landing boats circled offshore while rocket ships spewed deadly missiles on Kosong. But no landing was attempted.

There was no further word of naval activity on the west coast where the Canadian destroyer Cayuga has been participating with other UN vessels in bombardment of the Communist-held port of Inchon.

Minor Gains

In Western Korea, stiffening enemy opposition held the Allies to minor gains. Allied planes sighted 15,000 to 20,000 Communist troops near Konjian, a village nine miles northeast of Kumyangjang.

East of Kumyangjang a UN patrol ran into an unknown number of Reds three miles northwest of Sinchon Wednesday morning and routed them. Sinchon is about eight miles northeast of Yoju.

At 5:45 p.m. (3:45 a.m. EST) the enemy launched a 200-man counter-attack seven miles northeast of Suwon that was still going on at nightfall. Air observers reported the Reds had pulled out of some positions, but a spokesman said "there was generally no withdrawal".

Tremendous Casualties

The spokesman said he thought the 148th Chinese division, which had been opposing the UN advance on the western front, has been rendered ineffective due to the tremendous casualties suffered.

Turkish troops occupied high ground in their sector, without enemy opposition. Greek, U.S., and Puerto Rican doughboys, having earlier reached what seemed to be the hard core of Chinese resistance earlier in the day, were being sniped at from the rear by Reds who popped out of camouflaged foxholes.

British Showman Cochran Dies

LONDON, Jan. 31. (AP)—Sir Charles B. Cochran, one of Britain's greatest showmen, died today. He was 78.

The great actor-manager-producer, who presented such stars as Bernhardt, Duse, Sacha Guitry and Chaliapin, was scalded by hot water while taking a bath last Wednesday. He was unable to turn off the faucet and could not get out of the tub.

He was taken to Westminster hospital, where his condition slowly deteriorated.

Cochran made his stage debut as a small-part actor in New York in 1892 — in the 1890's classic "Around the World in Eighty Days." For three years he toured the United States with various companies, played with Richard Mansfield in New York and produced Ibsen's John Gabriel Borkman in 1895 before returning home to become one of Britain's leading theatrical figures.

He abandoned acting for producing, he said later, because he was a "bad actor."

Cochran launched hundreds of stars through his long career and estimated that his shows here and in the US had taken some $3,000,000 of the public's money. But at one time he was bankrupt.

Nab Thief Suspects

SARNIA, Jan. 31. (CP)—Three young men suspected of staging a lightning smash-and-grab robbery of $3,990 worth of diamond rings from the display window of a jewelry store here Tuesday night, were arrested early today as they fled the city in a taxi-cab four hours after the theft. Police said 10 of the 14 diamonds taken from the W. J. Millar store after the huge plate glass window was smashed were recovered.

GE-UE Contract Negotiations Start Thursday

Negotiations on the 1951 master contract between Canadian General Electric and the United Electrical Workers begin Thursday in Toronto.

Heading the Peterborough section of the joint negotiating committee will be George Wallace, 1950 vice-president of Local 524, UE, and president-elect.

The CGE chain of UE locals are asking for 25-cents-an-hour general increase and an extra 10 cents for day rate and other skilled workers. Peterborough workers are also aiming at a reduction in the work week from 43 to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay; the Toronto plants want a reduction from 42 to 40.

Other union demands are for union security, greater protection for piece workers, vacations with pay, shift bonus, a tightening of grievance procedure, and a health, wealth and pension plan paid for by the company.

The contract expires at the end of March.

Fire Destroys Hotel At Sorel

SOREL, Que., Jan. 31 (CP). — Fire early today gutted the Verdon Hotel in this St. Lawrence port and shipbuilding centre, and two guests were reported missing.

Police, however, made plain the missing guests are not being listed as dead.

Some 30 guests were in the hotel at the time and it was thought those missing might well have taken refuge in nearby homes.

Photographer Jean Desjardin described the scene like this, just as day was breaking:

"The whole inside is well burned out; there is only smoke there now."

Hampered by Cold

Bitter-cold hampered fire-fighting efforts but firemen managed to pour tons of water into the hotel interior and kept water flowing onto the ruins.

The hotel was a three-storey brick structure.

Firemen and police were unable to say how the fire started.

Despite temperatures of 15 or more below zero Sorel citizens gathered to watch the blaze, first reported about 2 a.m., and believed burned out or under control a little more than an hour later.

Records For 35 Years Lost In Lab Blaze

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Jan. 31 (CP)—Fire early today destroyed the Science Service laboratory at the Charlottetown experimental station. Included in the loss were records, some of them covering work in 35 years.

R. C. Parent, station superintendent, said $100,000 will not cover the loss.

The fire broke out in 13-below-zero weather. Firemen fought the outbreak in the two-storey wooden structure for an hour and a half before it became apparent the building was doomed.

Ease Wage Freeze

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The U.S. government today eased the wage freeze to permit all wage raises granted Jan. 25, or before, which apply to a pay period starting Feb. 9 or before. The action was taken by the wage stabilization board. Its order permits a wage increase of $1.60 a day for about 400,000 soft coal miners which takes effect Thursday.

UN Labels Red China As Aggressor

Don't Use Sanctions Leave Door Open For Peace Efforts

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Jan. 31 (AP)—The United Nations political committee labelled Communist China an aggressor in Korea at an emotion-charged session late Tuesday night, but left wide open what new steps, if any, to take against the Peiping regime.

Forty-four delegates including those of Canada, Britain, France, the Latin-American states and all of the Atlantic pact Allies, shouted "yes" as their names were called.

"I thank God," said US delegate Warren A. Austin, turning to embrace Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb. Jebb's last-minute support had swung many wavering countries into line.

Seven countries—India, Burma, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, White Russia and the Soviet Ukraine—voted "no." Afghanistan, Egypt, Indonesia, Pakistan, Sweden, Syria, Yeman and Yugoslavia abstained. Saudi Arabia did not take part in the vote.

Before the vote the committee trounced paragraph by paragraph an Arab-Asian call for a new peace appeal to Peiping. It never got more than 18 approving votes. Canada abstained from voting on the Arab-Asian proposal.

Tried to Halt "Disaster"

India's Sir Benegal N. Rau, who led the fight for its adoption, declared the Asian bloc had tried to halt what he termed the march to disaster, and its defeat would cut off all negotiations with Red China.

Asked by reporters what he thinks the next step in the Far East crisis wil lbe, Rau said:

"They (the majority) will have that headache."

This afternoon the Security Council voted unanimously to

Radioactivity Near Ottawa

CHALK RIVER, Jan. 31 (CP)—A report that radioactivity let loose by atomic explosions in Nevada has been detected near Ottawa is being checked by atomic scientists, officials here said today.

They stressed that there is only the slightest chance that human lives would be endangered and said the report itself, on inspection, may prove unfounded. The report, an official said, indicated there was no danger to humans.

The main interest, he said, would be to meteorologists since the report was that the radioactivity descended as invisible particles within a fall of snow on Monday.

He declined to say where the report originated in case, if proven false, it might embarrass the man who made it. He would only say the area was near Ottawa, 125 miles southeast of here.

The official said American authorities notified Canada the explosions were coming.

Four Cars Plunge Into River Crash Like 'Quake

THREE RIVERS, Que., Jan. 31. (CP)—Four spans of the one-third-mile steel and concrete Duplessis Bridge crashed with a thunderous roar before dawn today plunging at least four persons to their death in the St. Maurice River. The roar aroused hundreds of persons who thought an earthquake had struck the city at the confluence of the St. Maurice and St. Lawrence Rivers. They ran in bewilderment from their homes in 26-below-zero weather.

The few cars on the bridge at the time — 2:55 a.m. — were sent cascading into the ice and water carrying their drivers with them.

Mayor J. A. Mongrain, terming the collapse a "catastrophe" that "could have been avoided," called a special meeting of city council for this afternoon.

Four Killed

In mid-afternoon police said it was pretty well established that only four persons had lost their lives, although it was feared earlier the death toll would double that figure.

Three bodies had been recovered and the search continued for the body of Noel Doucet, iron foundry employee from Cap de La Madeleine, whose automobile was identified beneath the water.

The other dead: Henri Paul Gendron, taxi operator, Cap de La Madeleine; a man named Beaumier whose first name had not been established, and P. Fiset of Ville St. Laurent, a Montreal suburb.

Fiset's body was not recovered until nearly eight hours after the bridge collapsed.

Earlier reports were discounted that a man named Lemay and an unnamed traveller from Torono had been killed.

The bridge, each span 180 feet long, connects Three Rivers with its neighboring city of Cap de La Madeleine.

Sounded Like Earthquake

Residents living nearby said the bridge went down with such a noise they thought an earthquake had occurred. Some telephoned the newspaper Le Nouvelliste to see if that was the case.

As the spans fell, they tore out light wires and telephone cables.

Omer Cheney, visibly shaken after his close call, told how he was driving along on the bridge

U.S. Flier Smashes Ocean-Crossing Mark

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Airline Capt. Charles Blair, in a Mustang fighter plane, today smashed all records for a flight from New York to London.

Blair, a 41-year-old Pan American Airways pilot, streaked out of the darkness over London Airport just seven hours and 48 minutes after his dawn takeoff on the other side of the Atlantic.

His average speed for the nonstop solo trip of some 3,500 miles was about 450 miles per hour.

His "flying gas tank" — named Ercalibur the Third—left New York's Idlewild Airport at 4:50 a.m., EST, and was clocked in here at 12:38 p.m. EST.

Blair flew much of the way at an altitude of more than 25,000 feet.

He was pushed along by a tremendous tail wind which at times blew more than 130 miles an hour.

Quebec Suffers Fourth Great Bridge Loss

By The Canadian Press.

Today's collapse of the Duplessis bridge at Three Rivers, Que., is Quebec Province's fourth great bridge loss.

The first two were during construction of the now-world-famous Quebec cantilever bridge, 100 miles down the St. Lawrence river from Three Rivers, and just above the city of Quebec.

There, Aug. 29, 1907, more than 60 workmen were killed in a collapse of the southern portion of the bridge. Some 1,200 feet of steel and masonry fell into a twisted mass virtually instantaneously.

Then, nine years later, Sept. 11, 1916, just as the great central span was almost into place and the years-long project almost finished, this span slipped and 13 persons were killed.

Finally, what people began to feel must be a jinx bridge was completed without further mishap.

On April 21, 1869, the Miner Bridge at Granby, Que., was washed away with loss of 11 lives.

Niagara Bridge Falls

On Jan. 26, 1938, Honeymoon Bridge at Niagara Falls provided perhaps Canada's most spectacular bridge collapse, but without loss of life.

For days ice had piled up against the abutments and it was closed to traffic. Finally, with thousands watching from both the Canadian and United States side of the border, the 1,260-foot steel span, 175 feet above the riverbed, gave way and fell into the massed ice below.

$50,000 Blaze Destroys Hangar

SUDBURY, Jan. 31 (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the head office and hangar of Nickel Belt Airways on Lake Ramsay, a mile outside Sudbury's city limits.

No estimate of damage was immediately available but it is believed to be more than $50,000.

Provincial Constable Don Atam and Mrs. Atam and Mrs. Jack Taylor, who occupied two apartments in the building, were forced to jump from second-storey windows to escape the flames. All three were taken to hospital suffering shock.

Burning drums of oil illuminated the sky over Lake Ramsay. Two small Canuck planes in the hangar were burned, but valuable radio equipment was saved. Several larger planes parked on the ice in front of the hangar escaped serious damage.

Berserk Cow Battles To Draw

Offensive Strategy Baffles Captors 2 Hours

CALGARY, Jan. 31—(CP)—A berserk cow waged a two-hour battle with attendants at the Calgary zoo Tuesday before finally being subdued.

The whole thing started when the cow — Bossie — broke loose from the Calgary stockyards and raced a mile through city streets right to the city zoo on St. George's Island.

With tail flying and horns lowered for action, Bossie charged zoo attendants, trampled down fences and shrubs and terrorized most of the animals.

Attendant Mario Todesco narrowly escaped being gored when the beast charged him. Todesco clambered over a fence just in time, but the water bucket he was carrying was pierced and crumpled by one of the cow's horns.

Spotting Carmichael the polar bear in his cage, Bossie snorted with rage and charged the iron bastion. But Carmichael—safe behind bars—was ready for the attack. He thrust his razor-sharp claws through the bars and raked Bossie's hide.

Bossie then took refuge near the beaver pond to gather strength for her next attack. By this time reinforcements had arrived from the stockyards.

Renews Attack

Two horsemen, Tom Jackson and Billy Taylor, advanced sowly with lariats swinging, but Bossie went on the offensive again. She charged the horses, forcing them to rear on their haunches, and then raked a horn across Jackson's legs.

The cow retreated around the pond only to run into more opposition. Buster Undseth was waiting to rope her on the ground. But she bolted past him and made for one of the many reconstructed dinosaurs located on the island.

The pursuers finally managed to get some ropes around the fighting bovine and tie her to a steel fence. Bossie, however, snapped the ropes and took cover in a grove of trees.

Tries New Tactics

It took some prodding by stockyard and zoo attendants to get her out of the trees, but once she was in the open she came up with a surprise tactic—she flopped to the ground and wouldn't budge.

With more prodding the cow was brought to her feet, but still wouldn't surrender peacefully. She refused to walk up a ramp into a waiting truck.

Her captors finally tied her securely to the back of the truck and started back to the stockyards.

But Bossie wouldn't admit defeat, even to the bitter end. She was last seen leaving the zoo, being dragged along the pavement by the truck, her hooves braced firmly against the ground.

20 Pensioners Die In Fire At Rest Home

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 31 (AP)—Twenty old-age pensioners perished in a fire that roared through a rambling frame rest home Tuesday noon, and two more were near death early today.

The blaze apparently leaped from a basement clothes-drying room to the second floor while the 30 aged residents of the home, many too ill and feeble to move, lay in their beds awaiting lunch.

Fourteen were trapped in the flames and smoke that licked and billowed up stairways and air vents to encompass the rear of the building and its second floor, and leave it a charred shell.

Firemen and volunteers helped 16 others escape the building. Six of those rescued died later, five from burns and one from a heart attack.

Started In Stove

Police and firemen agreed that the fire probably started in a small sheet-metal stove in the drying room. At first it was believed the furnace had exploded. Later investigation showed the furnace to be virtually intact.

Operator of the McClary convalescent home was Mrs. Harriet McClary. She said:

"All of a sudden it sounded like an explosion in the rear of the building and the whole back end was enveloped in black smoke. Probably the furnace blew up. I don't know."

As flames roared from basement to second floor, the aged screamed for help. One pensioner, Henry Haywood 70, said he was lying down upstairs when he looked under the door. Suddenly he saw flames and smoke.

"I ran down the hall and warned the others," he said. "Then I put on my shirt, pants and socks but by that time the smoke and heat was so bad I went out the back window on a narrow ledge."

He held on for a short while before firemen "shoved a ladder under me and helped me down."

drop the Korean problem from its agenda.

Even Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin supported Britain's proposal to drop the item. But he stressed that his backing was motivated by a different reason.

He said the item had been placed on the agenda illegally, in the first place, because Communist China was not represented on the council and, therefore, should be stricken from the agenda.

Tuesday's resolution as adopted incorporated a Lebanese amendment to make clear that sanctions should not be recommended while a chance for a peaceful settlement exists.

This answered objections by Britain, which had feared that passage without this qualification might have trapped the UN in all-out war with China.

During the debate, External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson of Canada expresed the Dominion's support of the resolution because "We do not believe that by passing this resolution we are slamming the door to subsequent negotiations or that the government in Peking (Peiping) would have any justification for interpreting our action in this way."

Truman Gives Outline Of Big Tax Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP).—The outline of the biggest tax increase in United States history—reported at about $16,500,000,000 in two bills—was presented by President Truman today to Congressional tax writers.

In unveiling his pay-as-you-go plan to finance the huge defence effort, Truman made a bid for bi-partisan support. He invited the 10 Republican members of the House of Representatives ways and means committee to the White House, as well as the 15 Democrats.

Usually, only Democrats are invited to such previews of impending presidential recommendations.

Committee members were asked to keep secret everything.

Swine Breeders Plan Scholarship

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—In a move aimed at improved swine production, the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association Tuesday asked its executive to consider establishing a scholarship for research in swine nutrition and infectious diseases in hogs.

The move had the backing of all breeders at the annual meeting, and also of two professors from the Ontario Veterinary College and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. Dr. R. A. McIntosh of the Veterinary College, said the college was prepared to train a swine disease specialist and send him to other schools for further training if funds were available.

Prof. R. G. Knox, of the Agricultural College, said nutrition and breeding were important as well as study of diseases and that he hoped to see research carried into these fields. He added that he had been assured a piggery housing 40 brood sows would soon be built at the college for use in the study of swine nutrition and breeding.

Only the demands of the defense department and lack of staff could prevent this plan going into effect during the coming year, he said.

The association decided to name its scholarship, if approved by the executive, the R. W. Wade scholarship, in honor of the secretary of the association who died last year.

It was the seventh day of the Allied limited offensive, and the enemy was being hit by land, air and sea. The battlefield stretched 40 slushy miles eastward from a point north of Suwon and nine miles south of Seoul. It was strewn with approximately 3,700 dead Reds.

On the central front, the 10th Corps jumped off against the North Korean 5th Corps at daybreak Wednesday after mowing down counter-attacking Reds throughout the night.

Associated Press Correspondent William Waugh reported from Eighth Army headquarters that a doughty Turkish unit in the western sector beat off a superior force—3,000 Chinese Reds—in close fighting.

Crack Outer Crust

Waugh said Allied troops in the west cracked through the outer crust of Chinese defences and were nearing their main force. UN ground, air and artillery fire was taking a heavy toll of the Reds.

"This undoubtedly is their main line," a regimental commander said. One American unit advanced 3,000 yards before running into dug-in Chinese forces, backed by artillery, seven miles northwest of Suwon. UN tanks and artillery finally drove out the Reds.

Four miles west of Kumyangjang, an enemy battalion was engaged by an American force in bitter hand-to-hand fighting at noon Tuesday. The Americans forced the Reds to withdraw 500 yards to the northwest, and later repulsed a mild counter-attack.

A Greek unit of 200 troops, inflicted an estimated 600 casualties on a bugle-blowing enemy force of 3,000 Chinese seven miles northwest of Ichon Monday and Tuesday nights. The battle raged on Mount Tanggok. By noon Wednesday, estimates of enemy dead had risen to 1,191 in this sector. Mount Tanggok is between Ichon and Suwon.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said the Chinese hurled three separate attacks in battalion strength, about 1,000 men each, against Puerto Rican forces on the Allied western flank 4½ miles northeast of Suwon.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 — (AP) — The influence of parity prices, announced Tuesday night by the Agriculture Department, was clearly shown in a very active opening on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat and corn, in which parity was advanced between Dec. 15 and Jan. 15, opened firm. But oats and rye, in which parity was lowered, got off to an easy start.

Increased Taxes Seen Likely By Liberal MP

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Dr. W. H. McMillan, newly elected Liberal member for the Ontario constituency of Welland, said today in the Commons that Canada's defence program "obviously will involve greatly increased spending and therefore increase in taxation."

"Increased taxes are never easy to bear, but it will be the duty of . . . members to give consideration to the fair application of these taxes," he said in moving the traditional address in reply to the speech from the throne. The speech was read Tuesday at the opening of the fourth session of the 21st parliament.

Dr. McMillan said Canada must "immediately take her place in the increased rearming for defence." This was necessary not only for her own security, but for the collective security of all free nations.

Meet Obligations

"We commend the efforts of our land, naval and transport air squadron in the Korean war, and we are pleased to note that plans are under way to meet our obligations under the North Atlantic treaty by organizing an integrated force to serve under General Eisenhower in Western Europe," he said.

"To meet our obligations the government must have adequate authority from parliament so that they can arm for defence with the least possible delay. . . .

"We realize that our defence program must be integrated with that of our good friend and ally the United States of America."

Dr. McMillan, elected in a by-election last October to succeed the late Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, former Labor Minister, as Welland's representative in the Commons, paid tribute to the people of his constituency. He outlined the industrial, agricultural and other resources of the area.

The 57-year-old surgeon expressed the hope that "we will soon see the day when a contributory health plan will be available to all our people for the cost of major sicknesses and accidents." The Federal Government's program of national-health grants, inaugurated in 1948, was really the foundation of a national health scheme.

Four Cars Plunge

in his car when suddenly all the lights went out.

"Then in the glare of the headlights of my car I could see ahead of me nothingness, broken only by the bare piers of the bridge standing up out of the water. The roadway of the bridge was gone. I put on my brakes and stopped in time.

"All I could see was where the bridge had been."

Within a minute, taxi driver Maurice Roy, en route to Three Rivers from Cap de la Madeleine, had sent word over his taxi radio.

"I was very nervous and scared," he said, "I sent a message to my taxi dispatcher who called the police."

Taxi driver Jacques Faucher had an even closer call.

"I got the scare of my life," he said. "I was just coming off the bridge when I heard the noise. One minute less and I would have been right with those cars that plunged into the river."

Efforts Hampered

The bitter cold and the cutting off of the bridge lights hampered police efforts at determining damage, the number of cars lost and the loss of life.

In the early morning darkness newspaper photographers rushed to the scene, and beside the crumbled debris of a bridge that had been Three Rivers' pride, took pictures of the automobiles visible in the river, their headlights still on.

Each of the collapsed spans is 180 feet long and the crumpled section of the bridge dipped downward in the middle like some giant wedge, its ends still up at bridge height and supported by steel reinforcements in the concrete superstructure.

Not Near Cracks

Today's collapse appeared a considerable distance from the place where cracks were discovered last winter and repaired.

Leading the efforts to recover the bodies was Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers.

Crowds of people from Three Rivers and near Cap de La Madeleine flocked to the scene.

Despite the intense cold there were many offers to help, such as those from a group of foundry workers who attempted long before daybreak to raise one of the sunken cars after going out to it in a boat. Their efforts were in vain.

1951 Session Of Legislature Likely Lively

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — The curtain rises Thursday on the 1951 session of the Ontario Legislature with indications that the political action will be the sharpest in years.

The Progressive Conservative party under Premier Frost stands in little danger of defeat. It holds 53 of the 90 seats in a legislature whose makeup is unchanged from last winter's session.

However, the 21-man CCF opposition, led by E. B. Jolliffe, has served notice that it plans to carry the attack to the government on several issues. And the 13 Liberal members have gained a new and active leader, Walter Thomson, who has promised to lead his party "out of the wilderness".

Mr. Thomson represents the federal riding of Ontario at Ottawa. His party's legislature house leader will be its former provincial leader, Farquhar Oliver.

Probable Issues

The speech from the throne, to be read by Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson, will outline proposed government legislation and provide the springboard for debate on both sides of the house.

Among the probable issues are the Hope Report on Education, workmen's compensation, administration of justice and possibly farm and forest conservation.

Federal rent controls are scheduled to expire March 31, with the decision left up to individual provinces whether they wish to continue them. It is reported that the Ontario Government is preparing legislation to assume rent controls.

CCF leaders have said they will seek a standing committee to investigate law enforcement in Ontario. Mr. Jolliffe has charged that the Windsor investigation into law enforcement there slackened when it seemed that responsibility for conditions there "could be traced back to the attorney-general's department".

$5 Wage Raise Given Printers

TORONTO, Jan. 31 —(CP)—A weekly $5 wage boost, retroactive to Jan. 1, is provided in a new agreement covering some 750 mechanical tradesmen employed by the Telegram, the Globe and Mail and the Star.

The pact has been accepted by the membership of the Typographical and Stereotypers Unions and awaits ratification by the Pressmen's and Mailers' groups.

The newspapers agreed also to give an additional three per cent of minimum salary for every five-point rise in the official cost-of-living index above the level of last July. Other provisions of the agreement are three weeks' vacation after 20 years' service and payment by management of a maximum of 50 cents toward a hospital plan covering each worker and his dependents.

As a result of earlier negotiations, the work week is reduced next October from 40 to 37½ hours.

The $5 boost brings to $84 a week the basic wage of all printers, stereotypers, pressmen and mailers.

Emergency Controls

Parliament opened yesterday. The Speech from the Throne indicated that the Government would ask to declare that the international condition and the country's present defensive efforts have created an emergency situation in Canada. If an emergency is declared the Cabinet will have special powers to deal with defence and economic dislocations resulting from the re-armament. Among them will be greater powers to control production, prices and wages.

* * *

An emergency has been declared in the U.S.A. The President has special powers. He has appointed czars of this and that. Last Friday the great economic machine of the U.S.A. was placed under controls that affect every part of it. Canadians will be greatly concerned with their nature and how they work out in practice.

* * *

There are many similarities between the Canadian and American situations, but there are many differences, and these should not be underestimated when the Canadian Parliament gets down to the business of dealing with the situation. For instance, the United States is at war and now has a war economy. Canada is not at war. On paper it may be, as a member of U.N. and with a battalion in Korea, but it is not at war in the real sense that the U.S. is. The atmosphere of the U.S.A. is a war-time atmosphere and Canada's is not.

* * *

It does not follow, therefore, that Canada needs to panic into an "emergency" and corset herself with controls. Some controls are needed, but not necessarily the kind or degree of controls that the U.S.A. has now under its 'czars'. Nor need Canada rush headlong into them as the United States has done. Canadians will watch the results of the hasty improvisation in the U.S. and take leave to doubt the effectiveness of paper plans for the direct control of inflation without establishing indirectly through taxation, government economy and production, a balance between purchasing power and the supply of goods.

Diplomatic, Not Judicial, Atmosphere Needed At U.N.

The United Nations, in voting to indict Communist China as the aggressor in Korea, is repeating in a larger context what it said seven months ago, when the war in Korea started. Then, owing to the absence of Russia from the Security Council, North Korea was officially branded by U.N. as an aggressor against South Korea. When Communist China came to the aid of North Korea it was abetting what U.N. had already termed aggression. Therefore, Communist China is an aggressor in U.N.'s eyes. This is the official truth. In seeking to have China formally branded now, the United States has been trying to get this official truth made so plain that United Nations would be willing to take punitive measures against China, as they have done through U.S.A. leadership in Korea; punitive action like sanctions, blockades and even more.

Canada has not very cheerfully supported the United States' motion to indict China as an aggressor. But it has approved it with the qualifying Lebanese amendment, which makes considerations of sanctions secondary to efforts to negotiate a settlement of the war in Korea. The matter at stake is not the truth of the proposition that China is an aggressor, but the value of declaring this truth. It is not always well to tell the bare-faced truth. Sometimes it is diplomatically expedient to keep quiet. Is there anything to be gained, other than assuaging American anger—an important matter—by saying China is an aggressor, if the countries so saying are not prepared to do anything about it? Does Canada want to apply sanctions to China at the risk of incurring a third world war?

Canada is more interested in making peace than in making phrases about Chinese aggression. It is seeking along with most other U.N. countries, a negotiated settlement. The U.N. can be the medium of negotiation, instead of the voice of judgement. In the resolution to condemn China as aggressor, U.N. is judge, not diplomat. Writing on this page yesterday, Sebastian Haffner said: "If an open breach of the United Nations front is to be avoided, the first thing is for the Americans to consider whether their present resolution condemning China as an aggressor can be so amended as to restore a diplomatic rather than a judicial atmosphere to the relations of the U.N." Canada is supporting an amendment to put negotiation ahead of sanctions. It is this which U.N. needs now: to return to the role of diplomacy rather than to sit in the judgement seat.

John Bull the Beefeater

The British meat ration is now at its lowest point—almost half what it was at the worst period of the war. Because Britain will not pay the price for Canadian and South American meat the British people are undergoing real hardship. They are a meat-eating people; there may be some of them who will flourish on what amounts to a vegetarian diet, but vegetarianism does not agree with most people. The British are up against it.

Although we sympathize with them in their predicament we cannot agree that it is entirely necessary. The British are without meat because they will not pay the current price for it. Meat is expensive in Canada, and in the U.S.A., but as our governments do not do our family marketing for us we pay the price. For several reasons, some good and some bad, Britain will not do this; the British government is determined to have cheap meat or no meat at all. An understandable desire to conserve dollars dictates this policy in part; a socialist determination not to permit freedom in buying and importing has much to do with it also.

We wonder how long the British can stand it. Great benefits have already resulted from the new national health service, but the co-ordination between the national health service and the Ministry of Food seems to be faulty. People cannot be healthy if they do not get enough of the right kind of food. Undoubtedly Britain is spending huge sums on defence, but it is useless to equip a great fighting force if the men who comprise it are underfed. Health is to a great extent a matter of nutrition, and there is plenty of evidence that nutrition in Britain now is worse than it was in the bad old days when the poor ate bad food, but at least had a fighting chance of getting enough of it.

We are sorry for the British, but we doubt the wisdom of a government which takes long risks with national health.

Who Penalizes Thrift?

Several papers have quoted the following extract from The Printed Word, a privately circulated pamphlet which expresses conservative opinions current about seventy-five years ago:

> "The reward of thrift for the man who has paid his own way during his active life and put aside what he hoped would be enough to provide his own old-age pension, is the inflation forced upon him by government extravagance. His depreciated dollars not only do not give him the security for which he has toiled, but a levy is also made upon them to provide for the thriftless."

This appears superficially to be a shrewd piece of comment, for we all admire thrift and are angry with anything which discredits it. But The Printed Word is up to its old, disingenuous games when it lays all the blame on "government extravagance." Our government is extravagant in some respects, as this paper has pointed out, but its extravagance is not on a scale which could cause the present depreciation of the dollar. That depreciation is the result of several influences, none of which is completely under the control of this country. With inflation in virtually every country that Canada trades with, just how are we to escape inflation?

When it speaks of government extravagance, we suspect that The Printed Word is hinting at the social services which are now offered to Canadian citizens, and which were undreamed of in the days when its editors formed their opinions. These social services, we must point out, exist not because a wicked and wasteful government wants them, but because the people of Canada want them. And when a Conservative government comes to power in this country they will not reduce those services by one dollar. Private thrift may have taken a nasty knock during the twentieth century, but the people of Canada are, upon the whole, better off than they have ever been.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An old-timer is one who is ashamed to talk about the cold unless it is well below zero.

A Hollywood marriage is undoubtedly for better or worse, but it is rarely for good.

A professor in a school of dentistry wants to replace the present drill with a miniature sand-blasting machine. That's a change that will take grit.

Hollywood, we see, is complaining about the distortion of its films by Russia. May we put in a small peep about the distortion of life by Hollywood?

The Ottawa Citizen speaks of editorial writers as "those hybrid creatures who are partly reporters, partly preachers, partly agitators, and partly self-appointed judges." We protest that this is an inadequate definition of the qualities of a great trade: what about our ministry without portfolio in the Cabinet, our shadow-generalship, our professorship in the chair of general knowledge, our gift of prophecy, and our unrivalled ability to keep on with a subject long after everybody else is exhausted?

ON THE MARGIN

Superior Fiction

RIDE HOME TOMORROW, by Evan John (Heinemann).

WHEN Evan John was serving in World War II, he was stationed in the near east and had access to the battlefields and crumbling ruins that were once the Castles and Forts of the Crusaders. Being both a novelist and also a military historian he was sufficiently intrigued by what he saw to delve back into the history of the lesser known Crusades and produced this enthralling tale. It is told in the first person by Andres Vaeringer, a Norwegian who fled Norway at the age of seventeen under the misapprehension that he had killed his stepfather. In England he has quite a few escapades, one of which includes being captured by Robin Hood's men in the Forest of Nottingham. Later he joins the Crusades and arrives in the Holy Land. Here all is chaos. Baldwin the leper King is dying, and the Templer knights are trying to run things whilst Baldwin's sister Sibylla and her husband Gui are supposedly King and Queen. There seems to have been little honour or even common sense amongst those early settlers of the Holy Land, the only person capable of keeping his word at all being Saladin, the great Sultan. Andres, the hero, falls in love with a girl who marries a powerful Lord (one much older than herself), and Andres is glad of the opportunity to leave the Crusaders temporarily and serve in Constantinople. After many ably described horrors there he returns once more to battle the Saracens, a rather dismal business since he has already discovered the corrupt Templers are willing to sacrifice the entire Crusade for spite against Count Raymond, one-time regent of Jerusalem. This they eventually succeed in doing with the result that Andres' beloved Yvette is killed and he himself captured. What becomes of him after that I will not disclose. (Only reviewers are permitted to peep at the ending first.) The book is very readable and well worth reading.

The author desired to show that although to all intents and purposes the Crusades, as such, were a failure, as the first (recorded) attempt at colonization they were not wholly without virtue. I think he has succeeded admirably. Like all other 'Outposts' the Holy Land was a nest of jealousy, greed and intrigue—a condition always prevalent where there are too many kings and not enough subjects. Evan John seems to be a very able and thorough scholar and historian as well as an excellent writer so that one can be as sure of the accuracy of his detail as one can be certain of entertainment throughout the book. THE PARSON'S DAUGHTER AND OTHER STORIES, by Anthony Trollope (Folio Society).

IT is a measure of the enthusiasm for Anthony Trollope's work which is such an interesting feature of the present literary scene that even his short stories are being revived, and that such an organization as the Folio Society should think it worth while to bring out this very handsome volume of them. Nobody pretends that Trollope's short stories are among his best work; even by the standards of his day they were not exceptional, and in the light of the great advances which have been made in the technique of the short story since his death in 1882 these are very simple and plain-faced tales. But they have the quality which Trollope never failed to impart to his work—that strong air of probability, of convincing realism, of reasonableness, which is his great charm. Trollope never strained for an effect. He never tried to bamboozle his readers into thinking that his people were possessed of finer feelings, or greater villainy, than lay in the realm of every day experience.

Two of the stories in this book contain interesting villains. In "The Parson's Daughter" he is a Captain John Broughton, who becomes engaged to a girl who is in a humbler social state than he, and then causes her to break off the engagement by making her painfully conscious of the gap between them. Not very villainous, you say? No, but very probable, and when you read the story he seems quite villainous enough—far more so than most of the murderers in the detective stories. In another story, "La Mere Bauche," the villain is an ambitious mother who drives a girl to suicide in order that she may not marry a cherished son. That is villainy on a larger scale, but Trollope never makes Madame Bauche think a villainous thought—she is merely unkind and short-sighted. That is Trollope's field—the vein which he worked so thoroughly and successfully. He can give us people as they are; and that is bad enough, when we are made to see them with clarity.

This is a beautiful book, charmingly bound, handsomely printed and decorated with fine wood engravings by Joan Hassall. It is a pleasure to handle it, and the physical character of the book is cleverly wedded to the nature of the stories in it. And yet it costs only $3. Plainly the war taught the English a few things about the production of really fine books at a reasonable price which we would do well to learn in this country. Strongly recommended. R.D.

Predictions You Can Tie To

(Detroit Free Press)

Modesty among our prophets is in short supply. We suppose this is because the man who puts no limit to his soothsaying and delivers it in a loud, firm tone gets the big audience, and hence the magnificent weekly cheque.

Our credence, however, goes to the kind of fellow who edits one of the sundry dope sheets which come out of Washington. He says that 1951 will be historic. He also asserts that apart from this it "defies dependable predictions."

On both of these points we believe him implicitly.

For Warm Ears

(Lethbridge Herald)

There was a time when no man or woman over the age of 21 would be seen dead in earmuffs. The men wouldn't wear them because they didn't want their friends to think them cowards; the ladies because they didn't think they were stylish enough. Even children didn't wear them very often. Why should they, when toques were still the thing to wear?

Since the war, most adults have taken to ear-muffs in a big way. Children, who like to have the tops of their heads uncovered, have also taken to them.

Society, in other words, is changing. People are begining to care more for their comfort than they do for their looks or their pride. And it's about time, too.

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO ASPHODEL CRITIC

Sir: In reply to a letter in last week's Examiner: I feel as though someone should reply and straighten out some misleading statements made in Mr. Cardwell's letter. I don't think it would be fair to the ratepayers of Asphodel or the general public to have these statements go uncorrected.

It was stated we spent 40 thousand dollars for equipment for Asphodel township. There was in fact $15,000 spent on a grader and $1,750 for a truck. That according to my figuring amounts to $16,750. Where the writer got that fantastic figure is beyond me. There hasn't been $40,000 spent in Asphodel for equipment for the last 25 or 30 years.

We did not buy a new truck this year for the road overseer to drive around in, expressly. We are contemplating buying a spraying outfit which will be mounted on the truck and will be used for spraying of warble flies and roadside weeds, thereby saving the council a considerable amount of money.

The letter also gave the reader to understand we have a large truck which—using the writer's words "Is good for nothing." I would like to inform the writer that the so-called useless truck was purchased some years ago at a very low cost and has been used since for drawing gravel and particularly for snowploughing. You have the privilege of living on a county road—but if you were living on a township road as I am you would appreciate seeing that old broken down truck going by our gate with snowplow attached when the road was blocked.

In regard to our grader being too large for the township roads—the grader was purchased with the thought in mind to widen some of these narrow roads; and I must say there are several places in the township where the grader has done an excellent job of widening and levelling. There are 83 miles of road in this township and I don't believe there is a 50 ft. stretch anywhere that the grader couldn't go through with the blade down and crosswise of the road. Give our road overseer time and he will make highways of our worst swamp roads.

Taxes are high I admit. Your taxes are high and although a member of council, my taxes are high too.

Comparing our taxes with adjoining municipalities, I don't believe you will find ours any higher. I hope you appreciate the fact that you are living in a township which is debt free and with no burdensome debentures etc. All due thanks going to ratepayers and the efficiency of your council.

There should be no ill-feeling, Mr. Cardwell, over this letter, but I feel the ratepayers and the public in general should be correctly acquainted with the facts.

Sincerely,
J. MAX. SCOTT.

IS THE COUNCIL ABOVE THE FOG?

Sir: It seems from the report in the Examiner of the 23rd of January, that the City Council has decided to move the outside market "down below," and at once. Alderman Braund was asked what would be the cost of moving and he replied "practically nothing." Alderman Gillespie and City Engineer Chalmers stated that they "feel that hell will break loose if there isn't something for them down there."

What and where is "down there"? It seems to be the vacant lot on Rink Street, the west boundary being the Canoe Factory, the north boundary the Lacrosse Bowl and the south, Rink Street. This lot was filled in last fall with a clay fill and graded; a little gravel was sprinkled over the surface and levelled off. At present this is covered with snow, but when that melts it will be a mud heap if trucks, cars and people use it.

There are no buildings whatever on or near the lot, no shelter against the weather, no rest room or toilets and no weigh scales.

Is Alderman Gillespie the only member of the Council who realizes the condition "down below"? Is he the only one who respects the farmer and who has the courage of his convictions?

The Crown gave the Market Square, that whole piece of land bounded by George, Simcoe, Water and Charlotte Streets, to Peterborough for the use of the farmers. The City Council plans to take it from the farmers and send them to a muddy lot having no accommodations whatever. Why is this being done?

For 119 years the farmers have been true to their trust, working faithfully and bringing their products to the market where they receive a just payment for their labours. Here the farmers meet the city people in a friendly, business way and this intercourse has done much to promote friendliness and understanding between city and country people. The Crown had the long view; it could see that this market would make a very definite contribution to the development of the Peterborough district. The farmers and their customers have carried on a successful business for more than a century.

Has the Council been true to its trust? This property, consisting of the whole piece of land bounded by George, Simcoe, Water and Charlotte Streets, was given for a market and the Lieutenant-Governor appointed the town council from year to year to look after the administration of this property forever.

The Council has allowed the erection of stores and other buildings on this land, and the revenue from them has been used to finance the city, instead of using them to erect proper market buildings and to improve market conditions. I claim the Council has been unfaithful to its trust all through the years.

Now, the present Council wants to take away this little vacant square of land; it wants to get rid of this outside market. I believe the Examiner reported last Fall, that the Mayor stated in Council that a move "down below" would mean the end of the market and to this remark Alderman Braund said "Who cares?"

Why is this one member of the Council so determined to eliminate the market? Several excuses have been given, but I suggest that the only reason is that Mr. Braund wants to take from the farmers this opportunity of meeting the public, of displaying their fresh home-grown produce, and selling their products at retail prices. I believe there are more than a hundred farmers who sell their own produce on the market, contrary to Mr. Braund's statement in The Review of Jan. 11, when he suggested that "not more than 25 per cent. of those who sell on the market produce their own goods".

All farmers know they could not live on the wholesale price the merchants would offer them.

Should a whole community of farmers and customers be sacrificed for the benefit of a few people? Has the Council completely forgotten that democracy stands for government of the people, by the people, for the people".

"God give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honour; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demogogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
In public duty and in private thinking!
For while the rabble with their thumb-worn creeds,
Their large professions and their little deeds
Mingle in selfish strife; lo! Freedom weeps!
Wrong rules the land, and waiting Justice sleeps!"

Yours truly,
G. N. MONCRIEF.

"I guarantee my pills, gentlemen, to make you very, very ill for your medicals."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord, and against his anointed, saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us. He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision....

I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee. (Ps. 2: 2-4, 7.)

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3: 16, 17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him....And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world....And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. (I John 4: 9, 14, 16.)

"Atlantic Provinces"

(Toronto Financial Post)

Quiety and gradually certain official reports from Ottawa are using the term "Atlantic Province" to replace the time honored "Maritime Provinces." The entry of Newfoundland into Confederation, apparently, is the reason. It will be interesting to see whether the new description proves generally acceptable.

"Atlantic" is certainly a much more accurate description of this section of Canada. Actually, of course, eight of the 10 provinces of Canada touch salt water and are therefore entitled to the claim of being maritime. But no matter how confusing it is to an outsider, the term "Maritime Provinces" to an average Canadian has meant Prince Edward Island, New Bruswick, and Nova Scotia only.

Normally one would expect some opposition to a change like this in an area so intensely proud of tradition. But loyalty is to the individual province rather than the region.

Roseneath Man District Fairs Sec.-Treasurer

ROSENEATH, Jan. 31 (ENS)—C. W. Varcoe, Roseneath, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Fairs Association, District 3, at the annual convention held at Belleville on Friday. The following officers were elected: President, D. A. Reynolds, Picton; first vice-president, Earl Dennyes, Belleville; second vice-p esident, Gordon McCubbin, of Warkworth; district director, Sidney Fitzgerald, Shannonville.

Dates were set for the fall fairs. A motion regarding the raising of admission fees for rural fairs was defeated in the district, but it was left to each society to set its own admission.

Included among the guest speakers at the convention were S. A. Lashley, Toronto, assistant superintendent of Agricultural Societies of Ontario; Benjamin Bleeker, Holloway, president of Ontario District 3; Mrs. F. H. Henderson Napanee, immediate past president of the Ladies' Division; Mrs. W. A. Hume, Campbellford, first vice-president of the Provincial Board.

Typical Shipment

HALIFAX (CP).—Typical of Maritime exports was the cargo on the steamship Canadian Cruiser on her latest voyage to the West Indies. She carried Newfoundland fish, Prince Edward Island potatoes, New Brunswick lumber and Nova Scotia apples.

OUT FOR VENGEANCE—Vowing to kill 180 Koreans to avenge the death of his brother, Roy Shadrick, right, of Skin Fork, W. Va., is sworn into the Army by Capt. Robert Cashman in the Cincinnati, Ohio, recruiting office. The brother was Pvt. Kenneth Shadrick, 18, first U.S. soldier to be killed in Korea. Five-foot-two-inch Roy, 26, was turned down by the Army as underweight. He went on a week's eating spree and finally made the grade. He aims to kill 10 Koreans for every year of his late brother's age.

Nazi General Kurt Meyer Appeals For Clemency

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—One of the most controversial figures of the Second World War—Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer—may yet be granted an early reprieve from his life sentence in a Canadian penitentiary.

It was disclosed here Tuesday that the former German SS (Elite Corps) commander has appealed to the Canadian Government for clemency. The appeal, in the hands of the justice department, is being studied by department officers has not, it is understood, yet reached Justice Minister Garson.

Meyer, Canada's only major war criminal, is still young at 38. He has been working as a librarian in New Brunswick's Dorchester penitentiary.

In December, 1945—just over five years ago—he was convicted before a Canadian military court at Aurich, Germany, of responsibility for the deaths of 18 Canadian prisoners-of-war at his headquarters in Normandy in June, 1944. He was sentenced to death, despite his acquittal on charges involving another 30-odd Canadians who were killed in incidents at that time.

Shortly afterwards, however, he appealed the sentence—seeking mitigation, he said, because of his wife and five children.

Widely Criticized

Commutation by Canadian military authorities to life imprisonment in Canada was widely criticized at the time and became a matter of hot controversy in Canada. Meanwhile, late in April, 1946, Meyer was whisked aboard the Aquitania and secretly escorted to Dorchester penitentiary.

Since his arrival there, he has been posted in the penitentiary library, where he is reported as having made considerable strides in the English language and to have relaxed his original ardent beliefs in Nazism.

Opposing views on the case of Meyer—whose career was packed with action in many theatres of the Second World War—became apparent from the time of his trial.

At his trial he was defended by Lt.-Col. M. M. Andrew of Stratford, who attempted to show that the prosecution's charges were based on hearsay evidence.

Chief prosecution officer, Lt.-Col. Bruce J. S. Macdonald of Windsor, said following the commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment that Meyer might one day be hailed as a new feuhrer by the Germans.

Dangerous Man

At that time, Col. Macdonald said that Meyer would perhaps serve no more than 10 or 20 years of his "life" term and still emerge a young man. He added that "Meyer is a dangerous man from the standpoint of the future of the world and his future should be watched closely".

A report Tuesday night from Moncton, N.B., said that a German-born naturalized Canadian, F. M. Lichtenberg, has been largely responsible for Meyer's case being reviewed by the justice department. Litchtenberg was described as the only Canadian civilian permitted to visit the former panzer general.

The Moncton despatch also quoted Lichtenberg as saying that Meyer keeps in close touch with the international situation. He is an avid reader and keen student of world conditions, and his experience as commander of a panzer division against the Russians in the Second World War has given him a keen insight into Soviet military strategy.

Evacuation Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP).—Plans to move thousands of federal workers out of the capital to nearby areas of Maryland and Virginia as a security precaution were outlined in detail by the government Tuesday. Under the plans, which require Congressional approval, the entire headquarters office of the atomic energy commission would be moved, along with half the state department personnel and part or all of a number of other government agencies. The idea is to present a less concentrated target in case of war.

Has Good Time

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31 (AP).—A young Canadian army private after three months of high adventure which he said included free trips all over the United States on Air Force planes, was jailed Tuesday on charges of entering the country illegally. Police who arrested Hugh D. Dolman, 18, said he told them he had been AWL since Nov. 1, 1950, from his home base, Curry Barracks, Calgary. They quoted Dolman: "I lied to the Canadian consulate here. I told them my leave papers and personal belongings had been stolen, and they gave me a sort of paper which took care of everything."

Report Wholesale Price Index Has Climbed To New Peak

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP).—Price climbs swept the entire wholesale field in Canada in December, boosting the wholesale price index by 1.7 points to an all-time high of 175.7 from 174.0, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday.

Most pronounced, said the bureau, were price increases for antimony, tin and solder. Large gains were made, too, for fresh meats, livestock, unmanufactured leather, hides and skins, oils and fats, wool blankets, carpets, raw wool, worsted yarns and rayon.

The wholesale index is based on 1936 prices equalling 100. It indicated what price trends may be ahead for the official cost-of-living index which in November advanced 0.4 points to a peak of 171.1 from 170.7.

Wholesale price increases over November said the bureau, were recorded in each of the eight main sub-group indices. Largest gain was a gain of 3.3 points for non-ferrous metals.

Building Up

In a separate index on wholesale prices for building materials, the bureau reported advances for both general and residential materials. Sharpest rise was in the roofing material field.

December's sub-group indices, with those for November in brackets:

Vegetable products, 149.9 (149.1); animal products, 186.3 (184.0); textile products, 199.8 (197.7); wood products, 215.3 (213.4); iron products, 191.1 (189.6); non-ferrous metals, 179.7 (176.4); non-metallic minerals, 143.6, (141.7); chemical products, 132.4 (130.8).

The index for wholesale farm product prices touched 144.3, up 1.8 points from November, but down 3.5 points from December, 1949. The field products index stood at 104.2, compared with 103.5 in November and 128.2 in December, the previous year.

The bureau's index of general building materials, on the base 1926 equals 100, rose 2.3 points in December to 235.2 from 232.9 for November. This compares with 1950 peak of 237.1 for September, and 200.1 for December, a year earlier.

The composite index of residential building materials, on the base 1935-39 equals 100, rose 1.8 points from 261.2 for November to 263.0 for December, making a total 12-month increase of 36.8 points from 226.2 for December, 1949. Increases in December were recorded in seven of nine indices of principal components, the remaining two being unchanged. Sharpest rise was in the roofing material index from 222.5 to 234.9. The index of cement, sand and gravel moved up from 134.8 to 136.0, lumber and its products from 385.5 to 387.8, plumbing and heating equipment from 189.7 to 190.7, paint and glass from 181.2 to 182.1, lath, plaster and insulation from 120.0 to 120.8, and other materials from 191.7 to 192.3

Concert Interrupted

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Jan. 31 (AP)—A concert by the Dutch radio's philharmonic orchestra under the direction of the Dutch-born German conductor, Paul Van Kempen, was interrupted Tuesday night by tear-gas bombs tossed from the audience. Four performers were overcome. A doctor and four students were charged with having released the gas. Van Kempen has been accused of having collaborated with the Nazis in the Second World War. His engagements in The Netherlands have brought many protests.

Offers Control Centre

TORONTO, Jan. 31—(CP)—Provincial Secertary Welsh, Ontario civil defence co-ordinator, said Tuesday night the Lands Department has offered its control centre at nearby Richmond Hill for use in the civilian defence scheme for the Toronto area. The Richmond Hill control centre is the key station for the department's far-flung air and forestry service controlling a network of more than 65 stations in Northern Ontario. It can also be brought into radio connection with the provincial police system.

Truman And Pleven Pledge No Compromise On Aggression

By EDWARD E. BOMAR.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP). President Truman and French Prime Minister Rene Pleven wound up their two-day talks with announcement late Tuesday night of a pledge to bar compromise with aggression by either Soviet Russia or Communist China.

A formal communique said they agreed that "aggression must not be rewarded or the menace of aggression appeased." Authorized American officials said this ruled out any idea that France might join in a Korean settlement on Red China's terms or knuckle under to Soviet pressure for a "neutral" Germany.

The two leaders said at the same time that they favor efforts to bring about an "honorable settlement" in Korea. They promised, too, that the United States and France would neglect no "genuine opportunity" to settle international disputes by negotiations.

Truman and Pleven ended their top-level exchange of views late Tuesday with a third session of nearly 90 minutes at the White House. Shortly before midnight they issued a communique which stressed that the U.S. and France see eye to eye on major current problems of dealing with Communist aggression in Europe and Asia.

Pleven stayed over in the capital today to attend luncheon arranged by Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle. He plans to leave Thursday for Ottawa.

The net effect of his visit, American spokesmen said, has been to clear away doubts and misunderstandings which had developed in recent months between Paris and Washington.

The United States was reported reassured as to French determination to remain firmly in the North Atlantic defence lineup. Pleven may have had his confidence strengthened in the consistency and reasonableness of American intentions.

What is Canada's Largest Flesh-Eater?

Strange as it may seem, it is true. This mammal is thought to live entirely on the flesh of seals and other warm blooded creatures. The diet of most other whales is comprised of certain types of tiny marine life.

Nothing is stranger than nature . . . and nothing is more enjoyable. We must all help protect it by promoting conservation within ourselves, and amongst others.

Whip, Yukon Draw Again In Main Pro Grapple Tussle

A pair of draws—which doesn't seem uninviting in this weather, at that—has been the result of the last two matches between Whipper Bill Watson and Yukon Eric in their pro mat headline bouts at the Brock. They did it again last night, being even according to Referee Bunny Dunlop at the end of regulation time, and the crowd seemed evenly divided. Half booed and half cheered. A good-sized crowd took it in despite the sub-zero temperature. Lord Athol Layton dropped around to challenge the winner.

Whip, at 238, took the first fall in slightly over 16 minutes from the 276-pound Alaskan. He used a flying head scissors to pull Eric back into the ring after tossing him over the hemp. He was taking quite a beating from big Eric, who played it rough most of the way, but turned the tide with his speed by ducking a chest smash in the corner to shake loose and go after his tormentor. Eric was stronger but Whip had the ring experience and speed when it meant straight grappling. They staged a hard bout.

Evened It Up

Eric won the second fall in 17 minutes when he got back into the ring in time to beat the count after both were out. The Whip had again forced the huge lumber-jack out and tried again to pull him back with his flying head scissors, but this time Eric braced himself to take the Whip and sling him out, then scrambling back as Dunlop counted. It was a hard go with Watson even slugging back as Eric got away with hard smashes and choke holds, the referee trying hard but usually without success to pull him off the ropes when they mixed in corners. Many fans claimed Dunlop gave the Whip a fast count on the fall.

It went to a time limit draw with the champion having a big edge in the third round. He used a punishing armlock—at times a part hammer lock—for some 12 minutes and even tried his "whip" hold but found Eric too heavy to fling around easily. When Eric had a breather between armlocks, he slugged Watson around but the Whip plunged in and did some elbow-smashing, too. The ref was caught once under them on the ropes to the enjoyment of the fans. The champ had it pretty much his own way all through this part but couldn't make the big fellow quit and the gong beat him.

A Come-Back

Earl McCready, 244, made a ring comeback here in the semi-final and proved too much for Abe Zvonkin, weighing 236, who took the "ham" out of Hamilton in this showing. The ex-gridder did a lot of strutting and acting, but little wrestling, and was no match in mat work for ploughing-in McCready. Abe did get in some rough stuff to prolong matters, but the huskier and ring-wise Earl hadn't too much trouble. It wound up when Abe shoved both Earl and the ref out of the ring, and Dunlop took exception to the extent of disqualifying Zvonkin as fans in general cheered. It was a fair tussle.

George Scott, 220, and the 222-pound Jack Wentworth went to a 30-minute prelim draw after a bout filled with action. They opened it fast and came off the ropes once with a series of flying tackles to chase the other. Jack had too much savvy for the other but ran into a courageous grappler who was fast and willing. They had a tough series of exchanges and Scott tossed the other from the ring. Wentworth came back to really rough it and it was a ding-dong affair, in and out of the ring, at high speed to the limit, with Scott carrying the mail but having to settle for the draw.

PCVS Cagers Ready For Triple-Header

The big games of the 1951 basketball season are scheduled for the PCVS Garnet and Grey teams this Friday night. The senior "A", junior "A" and bantam "A" teams are hosts to Oshawa's new collegiate, Central.

A win for the Oshawa team in the senior game would mean curtains for PCVS this year; the first time that the local seniors would not be in the COSSA playdowns in several years.

The Central cagers with one-hand shot artist Murray Corse, and dribbler Ralph Riseborough have swept 14 straight games so far this year, exhibition and league. Three weeks ago they edged PCVS seniors in Oshawa 46-38.

Might Be Difference

That loss may make the difference this year. If PCVS wins Friday night at the PCVS gym, a senior "A" lakeshore playoff between Central and PCVS will have to be played before February 16, otherwise Central will enter COSSA semi-finals.

The junior series in the "A" branch is nearly all PCVS. They walloped Central in Oshawa 52-17, and OCVI here 39-15. This series seems to be decided in favor of PCVS. Central and PCVS play the second game of the triple-header here this Friday night.

Anything can happen in the bantam "A" series with OCVI, Central and PCVS. The locals, under Zoltan Temesy, have eked out two wins, over Central 17-12, and over OCVI 22-17. Central bantams and PCVS open the Friday night games here at 6:30.

Ice-Fishing Good On Lake Simcoe

SHANTY BAY, ONT.,—(CP)—Men, boys, women and even children go ice-fishing these wintry days on Lake Simcoe, about 70 miles north of Toronto.

They catch 20 to 30 whitefish a day, sometimes as many as 50, and sell them at 35 cents a pound. Once in awhile, a fisherman lands a good-sized lake trout.

The fishing is done from wooden huts on the ice. Each hut holds two or three persons and is warmed by a tiny woodstove.

Through a hole in the ice, 100 feet or more line is lowered to the bottom of the lake from a stick that tilts when a fish strikes. On the end of the line are hooks baited with frozen minnows.

Hundreds of huts, clustered in areas where the fishing is known to be good, dot the surface of the bay. Most of them are occupied by district residents but some are rented to sportsmen from Toronto and other centres by owners who find they can make as much money by renting as by fishing.

English Cricket Team Wins By 152 Runs

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 31 (Reuters).—The English cricket tourists whipped South Australia by 152 runs today to mark up their sixth victory of the tour.

The Marylebone Cricket Club held the initiative throughout the game. South Australia with six wickets in hand this morning, faced a consistent, aggressive English bowling attack.

The victory should give the English cricketers a lift for the next test, beginning Friday on this same Adelaide ground.

Australia has already won the first three out of five tests and therefore what amounts to the world cricket championship, but in the tradition of the game the remaining two tests will be played.

Scores: MCC—first innings 211, second innings 220. South Australia—first innings 126, second innings 153.

Omemee Hawks Lose

OMEMEE, Jan. 31 — (ENS)—Omemee Black Hawks lost to Highland Creek in an 8-5 battle on Omemee ice. Omemee appeared the better team through the first period and the start of them second, but were outplayed from then on. The second period was a dizzy one, with both teams milling around in the region of the Omemee goal.

Omemee's forward line went good, especially Parker. Although he only bagged one goal, he made every move count. Jamieson scored twice with assists from Deyell and Armstrong, and the Crawford boys each got a goal with Armstrong and F. Parsons assisting.

Fitzsimmons starred for Highland Creek, with three goals unassisted. Kinner, Buxton and Walker also gave a good account of themselves, especially Walker.

Omemee — Goal, Fisher; defence, Parsons brothers; centre, Parker; wings, R. Crawford and O. Crawford; alternates, Jamieson, Deyell, Armstrong, Evans, H. Fox, D. Fox.

Highland Creek — Goal, Doyso; dwefence, Keler, Brown; centre, Walker; wings, Smith, Lee; alternates, Cruickshank, Kimmer, Buxton, Moon, Clements, and Fitzsimmons.

Referee—R. Bell. Linesman—C. Brooks.

Confeds Win, 3-1

Confederation beat Queen Alex 3-1 in their senior School Hockey League encounter yesterday at the arena. Miller, Floyd and Corner counted the goals, with an assist going to Goldie. Whitton tallied a third-period goal for the losers. Morris, Little and DuMoulin stood out in the neat game between well-matched teams:

Queen Alex: Morris, Baker, Jackson, Druce, McClennan, Macklin, Hewitt, Whitton, Brown.

Confederation: Mein, Miller, DuMoulin, Goldie, Floyd, Brown, Simmons, Linsey, McIntosh, Hunt, Chesher, Graves, Chamberlain, Little, Wright, Corner.

Referee—H. Currie.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Senior "B" hockey returns to Civic Arena at 8.30 tonight when Queen's Combines play the Eagles. It doesn't look as if the fifth-place Combines are going anywhere this year, but they're making it pretty rocky for some of the other squads. Including the second-place Eagles whom they beat in Kingston last Friday. And roughed up in the process. They may be repaid in kind tonight if they want to lay it on. Eagles have to keep hustling to keep their position, as the schedule has a month to go yet, and Mick Magee's men have run into a raft of injuries lately. They'll be battling tonight and the tilt should be a hot one.

Prexy Clarence Campbell of the NHL made an interesting remark the other day after fining and suspending Lindsay and Eziniki for their fight in Detroit—when Ezzy got much the worst of it. Campbell said: "We want to stamp out the use of sticks. We're not so concerned with fists. Fighting is not encouraged but it is tolerated as an outlet for the high spirits in such a violent contact game." He also criticized the linesmen for not getting in there and trying to break it up ere injuries occurred. So, fellows, if you must mix it, fists are tolerated but no stick swinging. But protect yourself, in any case.

PMHA-ers Winding Up

There'll be four Peterborough Minor Hockey Association games on tap tomorrow eve starting at six in Civic Arena. They go like this: Trojan bantams vs. St. Peter's, Trojan midgets vs. the Martin-Hewitt boys, Empress bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, and SPS midgets vs. Marines. That winds up the bantam and midget schedules. No juvenile games listed until next Wednesday when that schedule will finish. That's the way we have it in our books, anyway. Refs are Leggett and Lawless till nine, and then MacNamara and Romhayi. Playoffs start shortly, as well as the OMHA playdowns, this association being affiliated with the provincial body.

No less than 11 local basketball teams see action this Friday on many fronts—and probably the OABA hoopsters will have a few games the next night. In girls' play, it's Normals vs. Neill's at eight Friday p.m. in the YW, followed by an important clash betwixt Nurses and Grads. Two PCVS lasses' crews are off to Port Hope. Same evening sees SPS seniors at Kitchener for the Catholic Conference opener with St. Jerome's, while the three PCVS "B" boys teams trek to Lindsay for a triple-header. At the Collegiate that night, Oshawa Central teams tackle the PCVS bantam, junior and senior "A" squads in group competition, opening at 6.30. The senior "A" locals must win to stay in the lakeshore race.

Looks Like A Tie Sale

It was colder than the wife's feet last gloaming but a hefty gallery (many from out of town) took in the top pro mat bouts here. And many cheered for Yukon Eric, despite some rough stuff he pulled in going to another of those draws with Whipper Watson. Eric is just a big simple country boy who doesn't know his own strength—and he appears to be getting bad ideas from these city slickers, especially those in the wrestling game. The Whip is as good as ever and has quite a fan following. He hustles all the way and doesn't do any hamming. Abe Zvonkin tried to, but Earl McCready was too good for him in the semi-final. The prelim was a dandy with Wentworth and Scott finishing in a time limit draw.

* * * * * *

Minor hockey teams here will enter OMHA playdowns in "A" series, and this setup will be announced shortly. Port Hope and Lindsay are in "B" playdowns. In juvenile "C", Lakefield goes against Fenelon Falls, while Hastings, Havelock, Marmora and Tweed are in a group. Midget "C" finds Madoc, Stirling and Tweed grouped up, while Campbellford goes against Lakefield. In the bantam "C" setup, Tweed meets Madoc. Marmora plays Stirling, Lakefield tackles Campbellford, and Otonabee Wolves of Keene have a bye into the second round. Juvenile "D" puts Norwood into a second-round bye, while midget "D" has Flinton vs. Hastings and Bobcaygeon meeting Haliburton. There are many other teams, but we just mention those in this district.

Great Drawing Power

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CU).—The drawing power of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League was demonstrated at Varsity Arena Tuesday. A practice session drew a crowd of 1,500 — mostly university students — each of whom paid 25 cents for the privilege of watching the Blues and Whites play to a 3-3 tie with Coach Joe Primeau refereeing. The $350 taken at the gate goes into a university fund for purchase of books and medical supplies for two colleges in India and Pakistan.

Lindsay Rink In Semi-Finals

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — Three Toronto and one Lindsay rink reached the semi-finals in Tuesday's play of the Ontario Women's Tankard.

Today, last year's champion rink, skipped by Mrs. C. S. Robertson of Toronto Granites, will meet Mrs. H. R. Reive's four from Toronto High Park and Mrs. L. E. Wooley's crew from Toronto Granites meet Lindsay's Mrs. L. Walker.

In the consolation semi-finals Mrs. T. Doughty of Peterborough meets Mrs. C. B. Schmidt of Kitchener and Mrs. C. Elliott of Woodstock opposes Mrs. C. Millar of Kingston.

In Tuesday's matches Mrs. Reive defeated Mrs. M. E. Baseman of Hamilton 16-7 when a tense even eight end struggle broke wide open on the ninth end. Mrs. Reive counted a five on the ninth and four on the tenth.

Mrs. H. G. Gorrie of Hamilton Thistles put up a stout battle before bowing to Mrs. Wooley in the quarter finals. The Granite rink was leading 6-4 coming home but in a knockout session Mrs. Gorrie failed to stay in after chipping out one of Mrs. Wooley's two counters with her last stone. Mrs. Gorrie's rink previously had defeated Mrs. J. N. Godfrey of Royal Canadians 10-9 after an extra end.

Havelock Beats Keene In Minor Puck Frays

HAVELOCK, Jan. 31 (ENS).—Two hockey games were played in the Havelock arena Monday between the Keene Bantams and Midgets and the Havelock boys. The locals had the edge on the play throughout both games to win. The score in the first game in the Bantam schedule was Havelock 9, Keene 3, and in the midget schedule Havelock 11, and Keene 2. The last game was rough, six penalties being handed out and in the third period with only four minutes to go M. McCabe of the Havelock Midgets was badly injured when he was hit over the head with a stick and several stitches were required to close the cut. He was attended by Dr. D. J. Holdcroft.

Buchanan and McMullen of the Bantams shared top honors, each getting three goals and two assists. Next was Clifford Chase with a goal and two assists. T. Kennedy and B. Revoy each got a goal. B. Heron accounted for two goals and J. McCarthy one for Keene.

Havelock: Goal, P. Adams; defence, B. Revoy, S. Sayers; forwards, B. Buchanan, C. Chase, K. McMullen; alternates, K. Johnson, C. McMullen, B. Hayes, D. Ruttan, T. Kennedy, A. McArthur.

Girls' Cage Schedule

Now into the second half of the girls' city league basketball at the YWCA. Neills' lasses have a strangle-hold on first place. The Nurses are situated in second place with a slim margin separating them from the third-place Lindsay Grads.

Neills' are expected to extend their winning streak this Friday night when they meet Normals who are cellar-dwellers. The second game of the weekly double-header features the Grads and Nurses, a combination of the former Nurses' senior and junior teams. A win for the Grads would put them within striking distance of second place.

Here and There In Sport

National Hockey League records Tuesday show that 17 rookies are eligible for the Calder Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to "the player selected as the most proficient in his first year of competition in the National Hockey League."

They have all played 20 or more games. Any player who had played less than 20 games is believed to have little chance to win the award.

Montreal Canadiens boast five of their players in the rookie category: Tom Johnson, Vern Kaiser, Paul Masnick, Gerry McNeil and Bud MacPherson. Detroit has four: Marcel Pronovost, Terry Sawchuk, Clare Raglan and Vic Stasiuk. Next comes Boston with three: Lorne Ferguson, Ross Lowe and Max Quackenbush. Rangers have two, Jack Evans and Reg Sinclair, as have Toronto with Danny Lewicki and Al Rollins. Chicago has only one eligible, Hugh Colfin.

Three of these rookies, Sawchuk, McNeil and Rollins are goalkeepers; Lowe, Quackenbush, Colfin, Pronovost, Raglan, Johnson, MacPherson and Evans are defencemen; while Ferguson, Stasiuk, Kaiser, Masnick, Sinclair and Lewicki are all forwards.

A sports Hall of Fame for Toronto city hall was suggested to the board of control Tuesday by Ald. Ross Lipsett. He thought a corner of the building could be set aside where pictures of Toronto teams or persons who won either Canadian or international championships could be hung.

Frank (Blinky) Palermo, boxing promoter and manager, Tuesday was found guilty and fined $500 on contempt charges.

Palermo was accused of refusing to answer questions put to him by the grand jury investigating rackets in the Philadelphia area.

Palermo is the manager of world lightweight champion Ike Williams and Arthur King of Toronto, British Empire 135-pound titleholder.

The world lightweight boxing champion, Ike Williams, and Joe Miceli, New York welterweight, Tuesday agreed to meet in a 10-round non-title fight Feb. 12.

Williams and Miceli have split even in two fights—both in Milwaukee. Miceli won the unanimous verdict in their first clash and Williams took a split decision in the second.

The New Yorker recently scored a nine-round knockout victory over Arthur King, British Empire lightweight king and stablemate of Williams.

English boxing promoter Reg King said Tuesday he will offer "well over £3,000" ($8,600) to the winner of the world featherweight title bout in New York between champion Sandy Saddler and Willie Pep.

King wants to match either Pep or Saddler against the winner of the Feb. 26 British Empire featherweight title bout between champion Ronnie Clayton and Al Phillips.

Pep and Saddler originally were scheduled to meet Feb. 23 but the bout has been moved back to a still undetermined March date.

CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

WHEN Rudyard Kipling dubbed Canada 'Our Lady of the Snows', he was describing the Dominion as it was some fifty or sixty years ago. With the first fall of snow in late October or early November, the hills and valleys of Ontario were at that time transformed into a season-long winter wonderland. Since those bygone days, organized winter sports have expanded on a country-wide scale. Skiing resorts have become big business, and equipment and ski-instruction have been constantly improved. The only phase of skiing that hasn't developed with the years is the production of that all-necessary commodity . . . SNOW!

Begin Young

The experts state that the ideal time to join a ski club is at the age of six months. According to Mr. Norman Gilley, Manager of the Toronto Ski Club, many of their members register their children with the Club immediately after the birth notice appears in the newspapers. And since the Club has at present over six thousand members, this practice ensures a constant flow of new blood.

The youngsters are encouraged to ski at the early age of three. Wearing miniature skis, the buttons perform on the 'flats' until they gain sufficient skill to outdo their elders, (usually at five years of age). They then take to the senior slopes in order of difficulty.

Being kids, the young beginners have a strong hero complex and, when they see Daddy zooming down a slope with one ski tucked firmly behind his neck while balancing precariously on the other, they stand breathless with pride. The staring eyes, the groping hands and the terrified yell, as he disappears into a snow bank, only add to Junior's appreciation of skiing and, in particular, of his favorite 'expert'.

The Army Way

Though we ourselves took up the sport at a more advanced age, we always believed that we were a better than average skier—that was until we volunteered for a ski-course in the Army, back in '42. The experience turned out to be anything but a winter frolic. Using narrow, cross-country skis, we were told we must wear our regulation army boots. We also had to wear steel helmets and full military regalia, including rifles strapped across our backs. All in all, about forty pounds of cargo.

When on skiing exercises, we followed one another in line and tried to avoid sudden stops. Stopping suddenly was a particular hardship because a steel helmet did little for your nose when a nine-pound rifle bounced across your back, smashed the tin roof over your eyes and buried it in your bugle. When this occurred, the soldier usually disappeared into the nearest snow drift, like a three-wheeled tractor out of control.

During the last week of the army ski-course, the survivors were taught the finer points of rope-skiing—behind a speeding jeep. Speeds up to thirty and forty miles per hour were average, depending on how quickly you wished to reach the hospital. We also had the privilege of building an all-night bivouac of pine boughs in sub-zero weather. In the morning, twenty soldiers of the King, frozen almost solid (while melting snow to make coffee), stilted around in an effort to 'live off the land'. At our lowest ebb, four Boy Scouts armed with penknives could have beaten us all. Any similarity between Army and civilian skiing, I can assure you from experience, is purely coincidental.

Coming Events

Skiing enthusiasts are looking forward to the following (provided, of course, King Winter supplies the needed white stuff): February 3rd and 4th—Ontario Provincial Junior Meet, Huntsville. February 4th—Men's B & C Jumping and Cross-country, Cedar Springs, Hamilton. February 10th and 11th—Ski Patrol, Cedar Springs. February 17th and 18th—Southern Ontario Ski Zone Senior Meet, Collingwood and Midland, Ontario.

Spitfires And Biltmores Play To 3-3 Overtime Tie

By The Canadian Press.

Two of the hottest teams in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A loop met Tuesday night and after 70 minutes of hockey they both skated off with their "hot" reputations more or less intact.

The leading Windsor Spitfires, in a game at Guelph, and fourth-place Biltmores played to a 3-3 overtime tie. Both teams have only lost one game in the last nine.

Goalie Glen Hall, second among the league's netminders in goals-against average and tops in shutouts with five, stood the Spitfires in good stead as they dug in a little deeper atop the OHA heap. He kicked out 43 shots compared with 26 by Cliff Hicks in the Guelph nets.

The ones that did get by him—there was no scoring in overtime—were fired by Ron Murphy, who scored one of his two goals while Hall was stretched flat, and Gerry Theberge.

Erwin Grosse, Bill Johnson and Willy Hass scored the Windsor tallies.

Drop Teepees

In the other junior contest Tuesday night the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's defeated St. Catharines Teepees 6-2 in St. Catharines.

Bob Sabourin paced St. Mike's with two goals while Art Clune, Bill Dineen, Danny MacDonald and Joe McCann got a marker apiece. Skip Teale and Billy Young scored for the fifth-place Teepees.

The game was a rough, tough spectacle with 27 penalties, 13 in the last period. At one time the penalty box held eight players, the same number as were on the ice.

Orders Arrest Ezzard Charles

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31 (AP).—Municipal Court Judge Ralph Kohnen Tuesday issued a capias for the arrest of heavyweight boxing champion Ezzard Charles—because of a traffic violation.

A capias is a court order for arrest.

The capias was issued after Charles failed to appear in traffic court Dec. 3 to answer a charge of operating his automobile with only one licence plate.

Charles was reported Tuesday at his home to have gone to Texas "on a business trip." He will be gone 10 to 15 days.

Softball Association Will Meet March 22

HAMILTON, Jan. 31 — ((CP) —Arrangements for the 29th annual meeting of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association were announced Tuesday by Secretary Frank Feaver.

Regularly held over the Good Friday weekend, the sessions will commence on March 22 and continue to March 24.

General meetings will be held at the Hotel Kerby, Brantford, on Thursday evening and Good Friday afternoon. A record attendance of 400 delegates is expected to attend the Good Friday session.

U.S. TEAM DEFEAT DUTCH

The Bates hockey team from Lewiston, Me., Tuesday night defeated a Dutch national team reinforced by two Canadian players, 8-5.

Bates, the United States contender for world hockey honors, lost 11-1 to Lethbridge Maple Leafs—Canada's entry—last Saturday.

Medical Advance Notable In 1st Half Of 20th Century

Progress in the medical and public health fields in the first half of the 20th Century probably surpassed the achievements in those spheres in the other 19 centuries combined.

As a result, in nations where modern medical and public health standards pertain, expectancy of life at birth has greatly increased. For instance, in Canada in 1901, the life expectancy of the average male at birth was 48 years, females 51 years. Today male babies can expect to live exactly 17 years longer, to 65, while girls can hope to reach the age of 69, an increase of 18 years.

This is spectacular, in view of the fact that historians estimate that the prehistoric inhabitants average lives of only 18 years—citizens of the Roman Empire, 2,000 years ago, could hope for an average life of only 22 years—and people in the middle ages had to be content with a 35-year life span.

Among factors in this 50-year march of progress have been improved knowledge of personal and public sanitation, advances in improved methods of storing and handling foodstuffs, and a greater understanding of health and medical matters by the general public. Health education methods have improved and become more intense.

Virus Research

Then there are the achievements of medical science—discovery of insulin for diabetes, toxoid for diphtheria prevention, vaccine for whooping cough prevention, and the antibiotics which have made germ life hazardous. Practically all virus research has been done since 1900.

Methods of diagnosis and treatment in many diseases have improved tremendously. For instance, the incidence of tuberculosis dipped, and will drop more with the help of streptomycin and BCG, the latter a preventive.

And, with medical science continuing its good work, it may not be too much to hope that in the next five, 10 or 25 years equally spectacular preventives and cures will be produced for cancer, arthritis and the various virus and other problem diseases. Discovery and development of Cortisone and ACTH should prove helpful in more than one field.

Ask Frost Tighten All Liquor Outlets

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Premier Frost was asked Tuesday to tighten liquor laws and close all liquor outlets near churches, schools, universities and hospitals.

The suggestions were contained in a letter sent Tuesday to the premier by 17 conveners of church committees in central and southwestern Ontario.

The group also asked for restriction of current construction of liquor outlets and a ban on building of new ones; a 10.30 p.m. closing hour for liquor outlets (some now are open until 2 a.m.); and establishment of a central control for liquor law administration.

Gov.-General Supports Health Week

In a special National Health Week message to the people of Canada, the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, appealed to citizens of the nation to become members of the Health League of Canada, the voluntary health education association which annually sponsors the Health Week observance, which is being held in Peterborough in the week beginning next Sunday.

Viscount Alexander, patron of the Health League, said he hoped many would join the league in order to develop an informed public opinion in favor of preserving health throughout the entire year.

Viscount Alexander's message:

"As patron of the Health League of Canada I appeal to everyone to support wholeheartedly the 7th National Health Week.

"This week is being sponsored by the league in co-operation with all departments of health throughout Canada.

Our aim is to emphasize the vital influence that preservation of individual health has on the progress of our country.

"For this we need the help and support of each and every Canadian.

"I also bring to your attention the efforts we are making to stimulate interest to increase the membership of the league. Consequently, I hope that many more of our citizens will become members of the league in order to develop an informed public opinion in favor of preserving health throughout the entire year."

Canada Fights Venereal Disease

Leadership in combating venereal disease in Canada is provided by the Department of National Health and Welfare through the National Venereal Disease Control Program under which all effective measures directed at the elimination of VD are stressed.

One of the major features of the program at this time, states Dr. B. D. B. Layton, Chief of the federal department's Venereal Disease Control Division, in a special National Health Week message, is the grant to the provinces in excess of $500,000 to assist in their respective VD control programs.

In addition to the coordination and integration of provincial activities, VD educational and informational material for both the medical profession and the public is produced and distributed at the national level. A register of ex-service personnel syphilis documents is maintained and the Quarterly Statistical Report on Venereal Disease in Canada is prepared. An essential feature of the national program is the maintenance of close liaison with provincial VD control bodies and for international purposes close liaison is also maintained with the VD Control Division of the World Health Organization.

The Quarterly Statistical Report, begun five years ago, presents incidence figures on venereal disease provided by provincial health departments to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This report is distributed to provincial health departments as well as to other interested agencies and it represents the most complete compilation of such figures available for Canada. During 1949, 25,598 cases of venereal disease were reported throughout Canada. As compared with the previous year, this was a drop of 1,893 cases, an improvement of seven per cent.

Does Nursing Need A Face Lift?

Does the present pattern of nursing education need extensive revision? The old system filled the bill 50 years ago but like hospitals constructed in that day, and now outmoded, does not nursing education also need a "face lift"?

In a 1951 National Health Week mesage, the Canadian Nurses' Association says the Demonstration School at Windsor, Ont., is one new pattern that the Association and the Canadian Red Cross Society have been sponsoring. Another pattern is presently evolving at Toronto Western Hospital. These two schools have applications from more students than they can accommodate. Both of these experiments were made possible by private financial assistance.

Shortage Persists

Still the shortage of nurses persists. The emphasis on health for all the people of Canada by the Dominion and Provincial governments, by labor leaders, and other organized groups, has given great impetus to the development of health programs. These health programs cannot function without nurses. Where are these nurses to come from? Nursing is already attracting a high percentage of high school graduates. We are told, however, that a sizable group of young Canadians do not finish high school. Would financila assistance on the high school level make available an increased potential nurse population?

On the other side of the picture, has organized nursing analyzed nursing activities and is graduate and student nurse power being used to the best advantage? The Canadian Nurses' Association has been urging an extensive study of this very problem. This needs money too.

What is everybody's business is nobody's business. Is Mr. John Public sincere in his demands for more nurses and nursing? If so, is he prepared through his elected representatives to provide money to support nursing as he now does teacher education, medical education, etc.? Is it not time for him to declare himself?

Industrial Medicine Makes Fine Progress

A highlight among achievements of medical science in the first half of the century was the progress made in industrial medicine in the last 25 years, states Dr. Fred Cruickshank of Toronto, a member of the Industrial Health Committee of the Health League of Canada.

In a special 1951 National Health Week message Dr. Cruickshank says that advancement in this field was largely the result of two world wars with their home-front stress on industrial production. When it was realized that an unhealthy worker was not a productive worker, industrial medicine really began to come into its own.

Today, through the combined efforts of organized medicine, labor and management, the average worker in Canada is able to enjoy a measure of health and well-being that was not always the lot of his father.

The forces of industrial hygiene at present are going all out in an effort to keep pace with the nation's advance in industrial strength—in an effort to provide industry with healthy workers. Management, through its many organizations, such as the Canadian Manufacturers Association, has entered wholeheartedly into the program which seeks to provide medical services for all.

This appreciation by industrial leaders of the value of health maintenance and healthful environment in their factories has done much to improve Canada's industrial efficiency.

Dr. Cruickshank said the Health League of Canada has done much in bringing medicine and industry together, and by its continuous campaign in the industrial and other health fields seeking health for all Canadians.

Says Conscription Not Needed As Yet

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—The world outlook does not call for compulsory direction of manpower in Canada, Labor Minister Gregg said Tuesday night.

He made it clear this is the government view both for civilian labor and recruiting for the armed services, in the light of current world prospects.

But he warned that the manpower situation would be changed if the world situation "became much more dangerous." In that case, Canadians should be ready for "more drastic defence requirements."

Barring that eventuality, Mr. Gregg said, "the sources of labor that can be drawn upon should be ample to meet our over-all manpower requirements for 1951."

Seventh National Health Week

Why Health Week In Healthy Canada?

As nations go, Canada can be considered to be a comparatively healthy nation, with excellent health departments supported by all levels of government—federal, provincial, and municipal—doing good jobs. These departments spend millions to prevent disease and to care for those suffering from various illnesses.

Then there are the voluntary associations, mostly educational in their scope, which spend time, effort and money to keep the people informed.

However, much of this money and effort is wasted because of ignorance and apathy on the part of the general public—with many persons either too lazy or too careless to do anything about maintaining or improving their own or their community's health conditions.

Much illness is preventable — illness which causes human and economic waste — but such ailments continue to take toll. Diphtheria and whooping cough are preventable, yet there are still deaths from both — early diagnosis would save much suffering and many lives in the cases of tuberculosis and cancer, yet there are sufferers who fail to take the necessary early precautions.

Most people today know about diseases caused by nutritional deficiencies and about rewards in health and welfare that fall to those who eat balanced meals. However, many of them cannot be bothered to make the effort to break away from their old habits —they refuse to act wisely even though they know the facts.

Again proper rest and relaxation are necessary to good health, yet many people drive themselves, either at work or at play, until they are exhausted, leaving themselves easy victims of disease.

That is why an event like National Health Week, the seventh observance of which is scheduled for February 4 to 10, is important. This "Week" is purely a health education project sponsored by the nation's leading voluntary health education association — Health League of Canada — in co-operation with health and education authorities throughout the nation. It is designed to emphasize the facts about health and disease in an effort to create a lasting understanding in the public mind.

It is true that every week should be a Health Week, but it is obviously impossible to wage such an all-out publicity effort in favor of health every week, so such a campaign has to be confined to one week a year.

Medical science and the official health departments are doing their jobs — it is up to the public to co-operate, and to take advantage of the preventive and diagnostic facilities now available in this war against disease. These preventive and diagnostic facilities are useless if the public doesn't make use of them.

DOCTOR TO SPEAK—Associate physician at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, Dr. Elizabeth Chant Robertson, BA, MD, PhD, will address an opening meeting of Health Week next Monday evening at the Empress Hotel. Dr. Chant-Robertson is a nutritions and child health expert, is clinical advisor in the University of Toronto, nutrition advisor for CBC programming, a child health editor of a Canadian magazine, and has published several books. One is "Fundamentals of Health," soon to be issued for use in high schools. Dr. Chant-Robertson is married to Hartley Grant Robertson and has two children.

Martin Stresses Need For Health

National health standards in Canada are now generally higher than ever before, states Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare, in a special National Health Week message. He stresses, however, that in "these days of special problems, we should pay special attention to health, because without it in abundant measure we cannot carry out the tasks that lie ahead."

Mr. Martin's message:

"At all times a nation needs healthy citizens. In these days of special problems, we should pay special attention to health because without it in abundant measure we cannot carry out the tasks that lie ahead.

"During National Health Week, sponsored by the Health League of Canada, everyone is asked to consider their own health and that of the nation. In this week each one of us should review our personal program to maintain or to get back our heritage of good health.

"As far as the nation is concerned, we have good reason to be proud of recent progress to overcome ill-health and health hazards in Canada. Our national health standards are now generally higher than ever before. Governments at all levels, voluntary health agencies and Canada's health workers are all collaborating in impressive advances in this field of human welfare.

"We must never be complacent about our success, however. We must be ever vigilant to protect our health and that of our neighbors. Once again I am glad to endorse National Health Week and to call on you to do your part to honour its purposes."

Turn To Plums

KENTVILLE, N. S. (CP). — Annapolis Valley fruit growers may soon see the valley hitching its wagon to a revived and non profit-bearing plum industry. R. D. Bligh, senior horticulturist of the Federal Experimental Station, says the transition period for plum-growers to rebuild their industry has arrived.

Tainted Food In Peterborough Ruled Out By 1850 Act

The Town of Peterborough was incorporated in the year 1850 by virtue of the Baldwin Act. This Act provided by one general law for the erection of Municipal Corporations in Upper Canada and came into effect the First day of January, 1850.

Consequently, at the close of 1949 this municipality had been in existence for 100 years and with the beginning of the year 1950 commenced its second century.

One hundred years ago there was apparently no municipal agency concerned particularly with matters pertaining to public health. Old records show that there was provision for the appointing of such civic officials as pound-keepers and fence viewers, but there is no mention whatsoever of a medical officer of health. However, certain protection was granted the public as evidenced by the following:

"By-law No. II — To provide in certain cases for the better government for the Town of Peterborough. Passed February 11, 1850."

"Item 3. And be it enacted that any person offering for sale within the limits of the said town, any tainted or unwholesome meat, fish, poultry or other articles of food, shall forfeit the same and be liable to have the same seized and destroyed by the proper officer."

"Item 7, Enacts that any person who knowingly adulterates any wheaten bread made for sale shall forfeit the same and be liable to a further penalty of not less than five shillings for each and every offence."

"Item 13, Enacts among other things, that no person shall cause or create any public nuisance by the use of materials emitting offensive or unwholesome smells or shall throw or deposit on any of the vacant lots in central situations, streets, thoroughfares or any other public places of the said town any dead carcase of any animal or any ordure, rubbish or other offensive matter, etc., etc., etc. A penalty is provided of not less than five shillings for each and ever yoffence."

A search of the records does not disclose the appointment of a medical officer of health until 1896 when John Clark, MD, was appointed to that post at the handsome and generous salary of $100 per year. From that time affairs of public health in the municipality were administered by various local practising physicians, employed on a part time basis. However, on August 1, 1934, the Department of Health became operative on a full time basis with the late Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the local Board of Health and Dr. G. Murray Fraser as Medical Officer of Health. Dr. Fraser left in 1938, and a succession of doctors on a pro-tem basis filled the position until the appointment in 1943 of the present MOH, Dr. R. A. Kelly.

Aggressor Label May Cause War

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31 — (ENS)—Branding Red China an aggressor would probably cause war, Mrs. W. W. Marjoribanks, president of the women's section of the United Nations Association in Canada, told the Campbellford Rotary Club Monday.

Mrs. Marjoribanks returned recently from Lake Success and Flushing Meadows where she attended sessions of the UN General Assembly and the Security Council.

She said the UN should "not be bullied by the US into branding China and so causing a third world war. This (bullying) can be blamed on her youthful arrogance and domineering way."

In closing her talk, Mrs. Marjoribanks said: "Have faith in the UN. With Nehru (of India) and Pearson of Canada at the helm, I'm sure our ship will sail into peaceful waters."

She was introduced by Bert Taylor and thanked by N. A. McColl.

77 Newspapers Cost 5 Cents In Canada Now

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—The once-common three-cent daily newspaper has almost vanished in Canada. Now a nickel is the usual price.

In a review of newspaper price increase in the last year, the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association said today that 77 of 91 Canadian dailies now sell at five cents a copy, 11 more than a year ago. Ten sell at four cents, compared with 18 at the beginning of 1950. A year ago nine sold at three cents—now only four do.

The CDNA said higher production cost, mainly for newsprint and labor, led 28 dailies to boost circulation rates during the last year. Twelve raised the single copy price to five cents. Twenty boosted the carrier delivery price —15 raising it to 30 cents a week, one to 25 cents and four to $1.25 a month. Two raised its Saturday prices. Twelve announced higher rates to mail subscribers and eight boosted trade or wholesale prices.

Most of the increases were in Ontario, where 15 dailies raised rates. There were four in the Maritimes, four in Quebec, four in British Columbia and two in the Prairie Provinces.

Reds Put Bite On Scott Call Him $200 Hatchetman

By JACK SCOTT

Trouble with putting your hand through the bars of a bear's cage to offer a peanut is the ever-present possibility that the bear will take the hand rather than the peanut.

I offer this morsel to Confucius today because I've just been bitten. Not by a bear, but by some Communist minded gentleman with sharp little fangs, and the experience is something new for me.

As some evidence of how they think, the episode may be of some passing interest. It requires, first, a little background.

On January 12 I filled this space with a column called "The Big Choice." This was a case history of a friend of mine I called "Jay."

Minor Tragedy

I thought Jay's story was minor tragedy. Still do. He was, in effect, blacklisted for his politics.

Jay is a free lance writer. When he attended the Warsaw World Peace Conference he was told by the editors of a certain magazine (his chief source of income) that they would no longer accept his work.

"The Big Choice" Jay had to make was to continue his writing career or to follow wholeheartedly (and openly) his political convictions. He chose the latter and I recorded my respect for the integrity of a man who would do this, whether I agreed or not with his views.

This column could obviously be misinterpreted as pro-Communist. Several of the letters I received criticized me bitterly as a "fellow traveller." But those who knew the facts conceded that it was a reasonable, if sympathetic, recording of Jay's personal war with the times.

Did the Communists accept this peanut? They did not. They went for the hand.

Letter Writer

Jay's own response was to attack me bitterly. By linking him with the Labor-Progressive Party, he claimed, I had undermined his work with the Vancouver Peace Assembly.

He had made his choice, he said, not for political reasons, but to toil for peace. Now, when he spoke for the Peace Assembly, his hearers might doubt that he spoke as a true-blue, unbiased lover of peace and wonder if maybe he didn't speak instead merely as a lover of the Soviet.

So much for that. I was disillusioned by Jay's reaction to my column. I was even less prepared for the reaction from another quarter.

The January 19 edition of The Pacific Tribune, a lousy, abjectly party line weekly, carried a letter from Gordon Martin, of Nanaimo, with the heading "Portrait of Presstitute; Scott Deserve Scorn of Every Honest Man."

Gordon Martin, of Nanaimo, is a young air force veteran and Communist who was denied the right to practice law in this province by the Benchers of the B.C. Law Society.

This column took the lonely and decidedly unpopular stand that Martin should not be barred for political reasons. In fact, I was the only commentator in any of the three daily papers to take this position and I still take it.

Thus Gordon Martin had some reason to respect my opinion and the right this paper gives to its columnists to call the shots as the see them.

Martin, instead, wrote The Tribune a venomous and infantile diatribe which The Tribune was obviously only too happy to run (alongside an advertisement for a Lenin memorial meeting). The word "presstitute" was The Tribune headwriter's own idea.

Confused

As a man who had taken a good deal of scorn for supporting Martin in his fight against the benchers I was naturally confused to find that it was being scorned now from the other side. Surrounded, by gad!

At various points throughout his charming letter Martin calls me "repulsive," "this dwarf," "a specialist in confusing decent, peace-loving people," "capitalistic hack," "small in the mind" and suggests that I am the "high paid stuff" who acts as a hatchet-man for "the bosses under capitalism."

Martin guesses I haul down $150 or $200 a week as the price of my integrity. The estimate, I am sorry to inform him, runs a little high.

Communist Weakness

This sort of attack is one of the great weaknesses of the Communist movement in this country. I have a good many acquaintances who are about as far left as you can go. Without exception, they resort to the ready assumption that every man who doesn't agree with them is not merely a fool, but dishonest.

In the Communist thinking there is no room for examination of an issue from all sides. If you happen to oppose them you are automatically a "tool of the capitalistic bosses." And every Communist knows when he's opposed. The Tribune lets him know.

The curious fact is that I can't seem to work up any anger over this ungentlemanly clubbing with words. I feel only deep pity for a guy who always seemed to me to have some intelligence, but resorts to hysteria instead of reason when confronted with another man's opinion. I feel this for Jay, as well, and I hope he comes to his senses.

Still, a fellow doesn't want to get bitten twice. There'll be no more peanuts, boys.

PANCAKE DAY finds this junior chef prepared. — LEFT: "Batter must be 'just right'." CENTRE: "Mustn't let 'em burn!" RIGHT: "Who say men can't cook?" Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 6, traditionally a day for pancakes is going to be celebrated in high style by this young man. He doesn't see why Mom should have all the fun of making pancakes, so he's pitching right in and from the look of things he's having himself a swell time into the bargain. In that picture at RIGHT he's thinking "Wow, are these ever good . . . made 'em myself you see!"

Grippe Peak Passes

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., Jan. 31—(CP)—A wave of influenza, or grippe, which affected about 20 per cent of the population here, appears to have passed its peak, health officers said Tuesday. Nearly all the cases were light.

Scientific Experts To Meet At Western

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 31 (CP)— A three-day conference of leading European and North American scientists in the field of physics of the upper atmosphere will be held at the University of Western Ontario here in July, Dr. A. D. Misener, head of the physics department, announced Tuesday.

The meeting will draw physicists from Norway, France, England, United States and Canada. It will be sponsored jointly by the United States Air Force, Cambridge Research Laboratories and the university's department of physics.

Dr. Misener described the proposed gathering as a "high-powered conference of experts." It will be attended by approximately 25 scientists investigating the nature of the aurora borealis or northern lights.

Teach People To Talk By Burping

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Demonstrations of one of the older forms of communication—talking by burping—are being given here.

Otolaryngologists — specialists in the branch of medicine relating to the ear, nose and thoat—on the staff of the University of Toronto medical faculty have taught this odd way of talking to more than a score of patients whose larynxes have been removed.

Removal of the larynx—the voice box—is sometimes necessary when the throat has been attacked by cancer.

The function is being demonstrated to 35 eye, ear, nose and throat specialists from across Canada attending the fourth annual refresher course sponsored by the university's faculty of medicine.

Before the method was developed, victims of throat ailments whose larynxes had been removed either had to remain speechless or use an artificial larynx.

The new method is to have patients taught to force air into the stomach, then push it through the throat in the form of a belch, while forming words with their mouths. They have been able to achieve a highly-intelligible degree of speech by the method.

The artificial larynx contains a reed through which air from the lungs is blown. The outlet of the artificial larynx is in the mouth where the user forms the words he wishes.

Only one of the patients under the care of the Toronto doctors uses this method. Because of the nature of his ailment he cannot trap the air needed to use the newer method of speech.

Businessmen Plan To Discuss Part-War Setup

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Business prospects in the "part war" economy ahead will be examined in a number of conventions scheduled for February.

The Canadian Retail Federation meets in Montreal Feb. 5-7 with the slogan: "Faith in the future—150,000 Canadian retailers look ahead."

The Ontario Retail Hardware Association meets in Toronto at the same time and expects more than 5,000 delegates from coast to coast, with 160 manufacturers showing their wares.

The Canadian Paint Varnish and Lacquer Association gathers in Montreal, Feb. 7 and has a program particularly concerned with conversion of industry to defence production.

The Ontario section, Canadian Association of Textile Colorists and Chemists, meets in Hamilton Feb. 3, with the association's president, Mayor P. H. Boivin of Granby, Que., guest speaker at the annual banquet.

Business on a world scale will be considered by the Canadian Council of the International Chamber of Commerce in Toronto, Feb. 15—in some ways a tune-up for the congress of ICC in Lisbon, Portugal, in June.

Aid By Immigration

N. S. Robertson, president of North American Life Assurance Company, suggests that Canada can help Europe by taking more of her people.

Canada, he stated at the company's annual meeting, is inadequately populated for proper development and defence, and so needs increased immigration. At the same time Europe would be saved some of the hardships of over-population.

He termed his suggestion a "Marshall plan in reverse" and said in part:

"Instead of sending help to Europe, let us bring European peoples here where they can help themselves and us and when they would more easily be absorbed into our national life than perhaps at any other time in the last 100 years." He urged that the plan be a long-term one with a larger target than 150,00 immigrants a year.

FIRE VICTIM—Mrs. Gus Elms is led from the scene of a fire at Corner Brook, Nfld., in which her husband and two young daughters were burned to death. Mrs. Elms and her mother-in-law jumped from a second-storey window to escape. Mr. Elms handed a son Derek, to safety, and then returned to the burning room in a vain effort to save the girls. Mrs. Elms is assisted by Salvation Army Major C. Hickman.

Red Chinese Smuggling Opium To Collect Foreign Exchange

By WILLIAM PARROTT

HONG KONG, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—The Chinese Communists appear today to be engaged in the wholesale export of opium as a means of acquiring foreign exchange.

It is common knowledge here that the Peiping Government, while claiming to suppress the traffic within China, is deliberately sending hundreds of tons abroad every year.

Hong Kong is the main distribution centre for this trade. A group of Communist agents here are reported to arrange sales and delivery to buyers in many parts of the world.

Individual seizures of opium in Hong Kong during the last 12 months have ranged in quantity up to 50,000 ounces.

Reports reaching here indicate that the Chinese Communists have long used opium as a means of obtaining arms and foreign exchange. When they were confined to remote Yenan during and after the Second World War, they are said frequently to have secured weapons from corrupt Nationalist generals by this means.

Under Army Protection

Reliable reports say current shipments of opium originate in Yunan and Kweichow Provinces. The drug is transported to Wuchow under military protection. From Wuchow, it is sent to Hong Kong and Macao.

Production and sale of the drug is a state monopoly under the special Trade and Production Control Bureau. This bureau is said to have established offices in the various opium-producing areas of China.

A huge margin exists between the price which the bureau pays the producer and that charged the dealer abroad—and the consumer.

A big percentage of this margin goes into the coffers of the Peiping Government, although those who handle the trade outside China also draw large profits.

Great Secrecy

Risk of imprisonment and confiscation of consignments makes necessary the utmost secrecy. This correspondent, while gathering information on the subject, was twice warned not to pry too deeply into the smugglers' activities.

One usually well-informed source told me that the amount of opium ready for export at principal centres some weeks ago was: Tientsin, 400 tons; Canton, 200 tons; Hankow, 180 tons.

Hong Kong, with its numerous outlying islands and with scores of Chinese junks arriving and leaving every day, is a smuggler's paradise. Authoritative circles here say that it would take an army of revenue officers to stamp out opium smuggling in the colony.

ControlDemands Swamping MP's Mailboxes

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP). — A postcard lobby calling for price-rent controls is swamping the mailboxes of members of parliament as they begin a new session.

One of the heaviest mail lobbies in Canada's history, the union-sponsored blitz is sending post-cards streaming into the parliament building at a rate that has reached 8,000 a day and is getting higher.

With parliament having sat just two days, some members already count their cards in the hundreds. By the time the postman has staggered in with the last bale, some 500,000 may have gone through the members' postoffice.

Labor Bodies Active

The lobby has been drummed up by central labor bodies with a combined membership of about 1,000,000 workers to reinforce their demand for renewal of price controls and retention of rent controls, due to expire in the federal field April 30.

The bodies are the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and the Dominion Joint Legislative Committee of the Railway Transportation Brotherhoods.

With the mail still snowballing, some members Tuesday started to work answering the stacks of postcards. It looked like a heavy week for parliament's stenographic and postoffice staffs.

Latest Red Extortion Racket

Chinese With Relatives In Canada Target

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP)—Three methods said to be used by the Chinese Communist government to extort money from Chinese with relatives in Canada were listed Tuesday by W. C. Wong, editor of the Shing Wah News here.

Mr. Wong, secretary of the Chinese Community Centre, said letters have been coming from relatives of Toronto Chinese asking for money. The requests are said to have been directed by the Chinese Communist government.

Mr. Wong said the methods used were:

1—Chinese families under Communist rule are forced to buy government bonds. If they refuse or have no money they are arrested. The only way out is to write to Canadian relatives asking for financial assistance.

2—Chinese families with Canadian relatives have their taxes increased with the reason given that the family has a rich relative in Canada.

3—Taxes are imposed because a Canadian Chinese has tried to bring his family to Canada or has visited relatives in China. If the taxes are not paid, a member of the family is jailed.

Letters from inland China have been brought to the Shing Wah News, a daily newspaper published for the Toronto Chinese community, Mr. Wong said. Excerpts from some of these letters which asked for money have been printed, the first about three months ago.

In Winnipeg, Charlie Foo, prominent member of the Chinese community here, said Tuesday he knows of several instances where money sent to relatives in China has been confiscated by the Communist government.

Sixty Workers At City Hall Shiver In Cold

If you think it's a bit cool around the edges coming to work these mornings, how would you feel about working outside all day in the elements, say, like the 60-odd workers on the new city hall?

They are a hardy crew. On the north side of the T-wing a group of stonemasons were sweating it out on the walls of the cell-block-to-be. On the ground floor, it was cooler in the cooler, than in the partially enclosed basement below.

In fact, stonemasons wait for the weather to warm up a bit in the mornings, but lose no time. They start in the basement, building up tile wall partitions until about 10:30 a.m., and then go "upstairs" to the main and second-floor wall work, both stone and brick.

Hot-mix mortar containing calcium chloride is dished out from a master mixing machine to heated trays. Blazing coal braziers stand everywhere on job locations over which the stone or brick to be put in place is thoroughly heated. While this is going on the stone already in place is heated with hand blowtorches to bring it to approximately the same temperature as the mortar and the new stone pieces being readied for fitting.

The coldest working spot is on top of the cupola where carpenters have no heating aids. The wind is cold and cruel up there, and foreman Walter Johnson says that the today's damp, snow-carrying wind makes tougher working conditions than when the wind blows dry and colder from the west.

The only respite against the elements for the carpenters on Tuesday morning and today has been that they started two hours later until the weather "warmed up" a little.

Plumbers and steamfitters are regarded by fellow-workers to have the softest working conditions on the job, down in the partially warmed basement, among the pipes and boilers.

All workmen questioned boasted that they had worked on much colder jobs. In Peterborough it was the new Civic Hospital. Others from Northern Ontario had experienced far more frigid conditions on various building contracts. Stonework superintendent Kenneth Mackenzie thought that a couple of jobs last winter in Kingston were much harder to take. As far as he was concerned, his work program was going along smoothly here.

Paralleling the old saw about the upper berth being lower than the lower because it is higher, it's cooler in the new city cooler than charity is said to be colder.

Albert Bonney Chairman Of Engineers

Albert Bonney of the Quaker Oats Co. was named chairman of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the branch's annual meeting Tuesday night. J. P. Watts of the CGE was named secretary-treasurer.

They replace 1950 chairman J. M. King and secretary-treasurer Gordon Herzog.

Douglas Laird, assistant general secretary of the institute, told the 100 branch members that the institute's membership had increased by 1,700 in 1950 and predicted membership of 22,000 in the near future.

Training Tradesmen

Speaker for the evening was Jack Morris, manager of the engineering division of Courtauld's Limited of Cornwall, who told members of a scheme his firm developed after World War II for training tradesmen. He said the scheme was open to employees from 21 to 45, although few men over 40 had entered it.

As the plan started late in 1948, said Mr. Morris, there have been no graduates yet. The training period was two-and-a-half years long, and broken into five six-month periods. In each period, the apprentice learned a different phase of his chosen trade.

Mr. Morris was introduced by Albert Bonney and thanked by chairman J. M. King.

Others elected to the executive were: R. T. Bogle, Garth Wade, Larry McKeever, C. B. Muir, Albert Dryan, Gordon Herzog, Hubert Sills and Frank Polk.

$3,500 Placed In Estimates For New Sheet Metal Shop

The advisory vocational committee is recommending to the Board of Education that it set up a sheet metal shop in the vocational school. This was decided at a meeting of the committee Tuesday night. To pay for it the committee is including $3,500 in its estimates which must still be approved by the board. This accounts for most of the $4,046 increase in the vocational school's requirements this year.

In 1950 the committee estimated it would spend $24,240, but spent $22,043.73. The 1951 estimate is $26,090.

Until new accommodation can be found the sheet metal shop, will be in part of the auto shop now used for night-school plumbing.

B. W. Switzer, director of the industrial department, told the committee that the industrial department has been overcrowded for three years. And an even greater enrolment is expected at the opening of the next school year.

He recommended the setting up of the sheet metal shop and the hiring of an additional instructor in order to reduce the size of classes in the other shops.

The sheet metal shop was preferable to any other considering the interests of both the school and the community, said Mr. Switzer. He outlined this preference as follows:

1. It will remove the load from our present loaded shops. It can be used as a related shop for all grades and courses.
2. It can be used as a special shop for the two-year and industrial groups.
3. The job outlets appear excellent in both industry and the service sheet medal trade.
4. Facilities for welding or plumbing could be added later, when suitable premises are found.

Commercial Estimates

Henry A. Toole, head of the commercial department, brought in a budget of $1,475. This compares with a 1950 estimate of $1,520 and an actual expenditure of $1,393.

Several committee members congratulated Mr. Toole on his low budget but enquired if he thought it sufficient for a sound commercial training.

"If we got more equipment would it atract more pupils?" asked Arthur Pitchford. "I understand there is an insufficient number of commercial pupils so far as industry is concerned."

"That's not the reason," replied Mr. Toole. It's the extremely high wages offered by industry to students—even those without specialized training. The unions have been pushing up the plant wages and the other wages haven't caught up."

There was no further comment.

A breakdown of the 1951 advisory vocational estimates follows: night school salaries $14,000, vocational science $310, home economics (day) $1,365; home economics (night) $225, drafting $350, electric shop $740, machine shop $1,250, woodworking $800, commercial $1,475, motor mechanics $1,900, miscellaneous $100, plumbing night school $75, sheet metal shop $3,500.

Got Wrestling Idea

Eric Little of Havelock paid 75 cents to see a wrestling match at the Brock St. Arena Tuesday night, but he paid $12.50 to take part in a wrestling match of his own.

He picked Constable Louis Rodreque to wrestle with. He pleaded guilty in police court today to causing a disturbance.

Crown Attorney John A. Brashaw, KC, said Little was drunk and when the constable "tried to quieten him, he tried to wrestle with the officer, but he picked the wrong man".

Car Skids Into Train Driver Escapes Injury

A car slid into a CPR engine at 8:20 p.m. Tuesday. The driver, James K. Hargreaves, Monaghan Rd., failed to see the engine until he was 15 feet from the tracks where they cross Monaghan Rd. near Romaine St.

He put on his brakes but skidded on into the train which consisted of 20 box cars, 16 of them empty.

Engineer Howard Johnston, RR 10, Peterborough, said he was operating the train south-west about four miles an hour with his headlight on and the bell ringing.

Considerable damage was done to the old model car. Hargreaves was alone in the car and suffered no injury. Constable Dennis Traynor investigated.

Farrow Takes Over Windsor Job Feb. 12

WINDSOR, Jan. 31 (CP) — Inspector C. W. Farrow of Peterborough, appointed yesterday as chief of the Windsor police force, will take over his new duties Feb. 12.

Inspector Farrow will take over from Acting Chief E. V. McNeill, who has served since the Windsor Police Commission retired former Chief Claude Renaud. McNeill, an OPP inspector, was put in charge until a new chief was appointed.

Detective sergeant John Mahoney, who was appointed deputy chief yesterday, takes over his new duties immediately.

$19,500 Required From City For Recreation

Peterborough's recreation commission will ask the city for $19,500 for 1951. Tuesday night at a special budget meeting the commission set this year's operating costs at $23,500. From this amount will be deducted a grant of $3,500 from the province, miscellaneous receipts of $195 and the balance on hand of $306.18.

In 1950 the commission received from the city $17,789, the commission's budget for the year totalled $21,085. With grants and other receipts the income for the year was $24,722.50 while the expenditures were $24,416.22, leaving $306.18 in the bank.

Playgrounds, swimming, craft classes, skiing, boxing and adult education will cost $9,375. The playground supervisors account for the largest expenditure of $5,500. Playground supplies are estimated at $750, and the uniforms $125.

Less will be spent on the craft classes, only $500 being set aside. During 1950 this section went into the red by $122.64. Swimming will be $1,200; the ski school $250; Ashburnham hall $600 and boxing $200, all the same as last year; adult education is $75 less for $325.

Administration costs will increase for the commission has set aside $6,125 as compared with an expenditure of $5,287.95.

The director's salary was increased $500 to $3,400. Other chief items under the administration were $1,300 for the office secretary's salary and $550 for travelling expenses and car allowance for the director.

When the budget was first tabled the allowance for grants to organized clubs was $2,000 but on motion of Ald. Harold Rehill this amount was cut to $1,500. All the grants to such groups as the minor baseball league, minor lacrosse and the minor hockey association will be decided at a later meeting.

During 1950 the commission spent $2,081 at the Dixon house. This year's budget allows for $700. The nursery school's budget is $1,800. The Burnham community hall recently brought under the commission will receive $100.

The Peterborough Citizens' Band will cost $3,400. A motion by Ald. James Gillespie that this amount be cut to $2,800 the same amount as 1950, was defeated.

New projects amounting to $400 and convenion expenses to $100 were small separate items.

President Selby Rickard announced that the annual photo exhibit of the Peterborough Camera Club will be held at the Public Library from Feb. 3 to Feb. 17.

Failure Of Human Element Said Responsible For 85 Per Cent Of Accidents

Individual drivers learning that they are taking on a responsibility to others as well as to themselves when they climb behind the steering wheels of cars it what will stop accidents. Thus declared Arthur Rowan, director of the accident records and statistics division of the Department of Highways to members of the Peterborough Automobile Club Tuesday night at an annual dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel.

Promote Safety Consciousness

This year the department intends to concentrate on extending further its work in promoting safety consciousness in communities by encouraging local safety organizations and through automobile clubs.

Mr. Rowan said his division had on file records of 314,000 accidents, of which 12,000 involved deaths and 125,000 involved injuries.

Eighty-five percent of those accidents, he said, involved "failure of the human element." Irresponsibility was one of the chief ways in which the human element fell down.

Many suggestions are put forward to solve the accident problem. One is that drivers be re-examined. The department has re-examined some 150,000 drivers partly to determine what effect this would have in improving driving.

Fail To Apply Fundamentals

These re-examinations have shown that drivers don't get into accidents because they don't know the fundamentals of good driving. It is because they fail to apply those fundamentals.

There have also been suggestions that medical examinations would cut out many of the incompetent drivers. But in smaller centres this solution fell down. Doctors often failed to make honest reports of the ability of their patients to drive.

The reason was the doctors were under a social pressure because they had to live in the community and were in daily contact with the men they were called upon to examine.

Many time the department has received two opposite reports about the same man.

Another reason why medical examinations were not a complete answer was that superficial examinations failed to uncover conditions such as epilepsy which can be the most dangerous weakness in a driver. Epilepsy was particularly dangerous because the victim seldom feels the attack coming on until too late.

Engineering is thought by many people to be the solution to traffic accidents, the speaker said. But where engineering may almost eliminate one kind of accident, it does not take care of all types.

The Queen Elizabeth Way for instance, with its wide boulevard between the two lanes of traffic has almost wiped out head-on collisions and sideswipes. It has not stopped drivers wandering off the road, crashing with other cars travelling in the same direction and other types.

He said unquestionably such roads are safer, but a perfect road was beyond reach because of enormous costs.

Limit To Enforcement

Stricter enforcement of traffic laws has been put forward as another solution. But, said Mr. Rowan, there was a definite limit in how much strict enforcement would cut down accidents.

If, for instance, police began hounding drivers on the main streets, motorists would take to back streets where on streets not designed for heavy traffic, accidents would increase.

The Department of Highways, he said, was trying to influence drivers by making them more safety conscious through advertising via press, radio, billboards and other mediums.

Safety campaigns were put on in schools.

The department was also trying to influence accident repeaters, older drivers, fatal accident drivers and inexperienced drivers who get into difficulties by interviewing them personally. But this was an enormous task. About 300 accidents were added to the records every day, part of 700 cases added involving traffic convictions and other categories.

Mr. Rowan was introduced by Major Hugh A. Lumsden, Hamilton, president of the Ontario Motor League, and thanked by Stan Darling.

$500 Paid Back On Ball Lights

In spite of the short baseball season under the lights the Riverside Park lighting fund will repay $500 to the city. At a special meeting of the recreation commission Tuesday night R. E. MacDonald, treasurer, reported a balance of $998.51. The remainder, $498.51, will be kept in the fund for expenses to start the 1951 season.

At first $800 was suggested but later the $500 adopted when Ald. James Gillespie said that "would be fair".

The senior baseball club in its effort to secure the lights collected from firms and individuals $15,183 which it turned over to the Recreation Commission. In the 10 games played under the lights the Commission collected 25 per cent of the gate receipts or $1,232.08. Total receipts for the lights thus were $16,415.08.

In its agreement with the city when the lights were placed the commission paid to the city from the donations $15,000 and additional expenses for tickets, watchmen, repairs to PA system and Utilities Commision for cost of power brought the expenditure to $15,416.57 leaving a balance of $998.51. Power costs for the 10 games were $299.52 or $5 less per game than had been estimated.

Two Larger Buses Added To City Fleet

Two new diesel 36-passenger buses were added Tuesday afternoon to the Peterborough Bus Lines' fleet of 27 buses. Two others are on delivery and are expected to arrive soon. Each bus costs $18,000.

The new buses will be checked during the week before they will be placed in operation.

The public will notice several new features: the buses are hydromatic and the exit doors are controlled by the treads. The bus is eight feet longer.

Two Men Fined $150 Each For Taking Bets

Charged jointly with keeping a common betting house at the Lewis Grocery store, 125 Rubidge St., Jack Lewis and his employee, Lawrence Wright, pleaded guilty and were fined $150 and costs each in police court today.

Lewis said he had started taking bets on horse races after men from the nearby CGE plant dropped in to phone bets from his store. Sometimes they would ask Lewis to phone if they did not have time.

Lewis then began taking bets as a convenience to his customers and because it helped trade.

It was the first time either had been charged with such an offence.

Asked by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, Lewis said he took a cut on the bets he took, but took none of the losses.

Two other men also charged with keeping a common betting house, Ronald Horton and Neil Harrington, were adjourned to Feb. 7.

First Visit November 24

Constable Wesley Miller of the anti-gambling squad Provincial Police, said he first visited the grocery store Nov. 24. He asked Lewis if it were "okay to put an occasional bet with him." Lewis said it was.

At noon Nov. 27 Constable Miller went into the store again and placed a $1 bet on Tickout running in the second race at the Bowie race track near Baltimore in Maryland. He said Lewis marked something on a piece of paper and put it and the money in the till.

A few minutes later a Mike Rogers came into the store, took some money and slips of paper out of his pocket and gave them to Lewis, who put them into the till.

Eleven more times up to and including Jan. 13 the constable placed bets with Lewis. Each time Rogers came into the store and handed over money and slips to Lewis.

Overhead Conversation

On various occasions the constable overneard scraps of conversation which seemed to be concerned with horse race betting.

Corporal Arthur K. Collins of the anti-gambling squad, testified that about 2.55 p.m. Jan. 13, he went into the Lewis grocery store and saw Wright there alone.

Wright came toward him and as he did, picked up a pad near the telephone and turned it over.

Racing Slip

The officer picked up the pad and saw what looked to him to be racing slip. Two names were written: Millrest and Sweet Talk. Opposite the first name was marked 2 1 X and opposite the other 2 X X.

To him this meant that someone had bet $2 on Millrest to win, $1 to place second and nothing to place third.

He said he identified himself to Wright and asked him to turn out his pockets. From his pockets Wright produced another slip. From his shirt pocket and a coat hanging up came two more slips.

Wright called Lewis by phone and Lewis came to the store immediately. Lewis told the policeman he owned the business and that Wright was a clerk in the store.

He made no comments when asked about taking bets.

Under the counter, the officer found a copy of the Daily Racing Form for that day. He said slips showed good bets, but he considered the amount of betting small.

Mr. Bradshaw said "healthy" bets were placed with Lewis although only a small number of slips were found.

He asked that the accused be given jail sentences but agreed when the magistrate said he would give them fines.

High Rail Rate Alarms Farmers

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31—(CP)—The Manitoba Federation of Agriculture and Co-operation said Tuesday that farmers are critical of high railway wage rates and can't absorb higher freight rates without increasing their produce prices.

Delivering the federatoin's annual statement to the provincial government, president G. F. Habing said farmers are not satisfied that "either the railways or their employees are living up to their responsibilities to the general public."

"We want to know what measures the (railway) companies and workers are taking to increase their efficiency and productivity," he said. "There are wage rates affecting certain classes of labor so high that few farmer-owned organizations could pay them and remain in business."

THE STONE OF SCONE recently stolen from Westminster Abbey was allegedly spotted by the Kingston Flying Club recently. G. R. McGregor, president of Trans Canada Air Lines, who learned to fly with the Kingston Club, was presented with the "stone" after he addressed the club. Whether or not it was a chunk of limestone from the Scottish highlands or merely part of the rock strata laid down by the ancient seas which covered the Kingston area millions of years ago, McGregor was stuck with it.

Prince Hoping Rita Will Return To Films

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika Jan. 31 — (AP) — Prince Aly Khan indicated Tuesday he is in favor of his actress wife going back to work. Pausing here on an East African tour with the former Rita Hayworth, the Prince said it would be "a grievous waste of the princess' wonderful talents" if she retired from the movies now.

Hold Hearings February 15

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 — (CP) — A French government board investigating the crash of a Canadian plane that killed 58 persons in France Nov. 13 last will arrive in Montreal about Feb. 15 to hold hearings in Canada, Transport Minister Chevrier announced Tuesday.

The minister said hearings will be held in Montreal and Quebec City, on dates to be announced later.

The plane—the "Canadian Pilgrim"—crashed into the French Alps while carrying Canadian home after a Roman Catholic Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome. It was operated by Curtiss-Reid Aircraft of Montreal.

Believe New UK Defence Bill Heartbreak For Labor Party

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Jan. 31 (CP). — Britain's big new defence bill seems to have come as a heartbreaking blow to a substantial section of the parliamentary Labor party.

While Conservative critics contend that Prime Minister Attlee's £4,700,000,000 three-year program is too little and too late, some of the prime minister's own supporters apparently regard it as too much and too soon.

It was obvious, as Attlee gave the House of Commons his diagnosis of what rearmament will mean, that few Labor backbenchers were happy about it. Usually when Attlee finishes the members in the bleacher seats are enthusiastic. This time they remained silent.

There were a few Labor protests. Emrys Hughes, always to the extreme left of the party, talked of a costly and ruinous arms race against Russia. Victor Yates, a pacifist, asked whether Attlee was aware that a considerable number of people, and not necessarily Communists, would be "horrified" at the Prime Minister's statement.

Have Harder Time

It's difficult to judge the influence of these elements. They have been there since 1945 and they have not yet caused a real break in the party. But it is certain that Attlee will have a harder time talking them into the new program than he will have convincing his parliamentary opposition.

The fact is that Labor hardly seems at its best as a war party. It has always been proud of its strong humanitarian bias and for the last five years has been preoccupied with the peaceful revolution that brought about the welfare state.

Now that the government officially recognizes the need for a semi-war economy, there may be a growing tendency in the country to look to the Conservatives for leadership.

Public patience appears to be exhausted with those who dwell on the past and fail to recognize the present dangers.

Criticize Government

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP). — Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, introduced in the House of Commons Tuesday night a motion criticizing the government for lack of coal production in the state-owned mines. Debate will start Thursday. Prime Minister Attlee may decide to accept the motion as one of censure. If he does and he is defeated, he and his cabinet will resign.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special-Purpose Menus "Dear Old Liver Problem"

The doctor of a friend of mine has been advising her to eat liver for years—for anemia. She has made valiant efforts to do it, but cannot like the stuff. She doesn't even like calves' liver—and cannot afford it, so that's that.

I have given her every liver recipe in my cook books and files, but until I concocted this one I am exposing to you today, she could not like any of them. I was overjoyed when she called me from her on-the-farm home joyfully yodelling "They are wonderful. Bon and the kiddies like them too." For a moment I didn't catch on to what she was so happy about—and then remembered our dear old liver problem.

Here's the dish that took so much thought and that received so much grateful praise.

✧ ✧ ✧

Potato and Liver Pancakes
Creamed Green Beans
Scalloped Tomatoes
Lemon Sponge Pudding
Coffee

Directions

Potato and Liver Pancakes: Put ½-pound sliced pork or baby beef liver in a little boiling water, put on cover, boil up once, turn off heat and let liver poach until juices are set—about 4 minutes. Lift from water, let cool a little then put through fine knife of meat grinder. Put it through again but this time put through with it what will amount to 1 teaspoon raw onion (one thin slice), and 2 peeled raw potatoes cut in chunks. Drop into this ground mixture two eggs and beat until well mixed then add 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper (if you have a grinder) and ¼ cup of top milk or cream. Drop from tip of tablespoon into bubbling butter on hot griddle, flatten out with bottom of turner, and brown on both sides—giving them about 4 minutes in all—for those raw potatoes have to get heated through and cooked. Doesn't it sound crunchy and good even on paper?

✧ ✧ ✧

For the Scalloped Tomatoes you need about 1½ cups buttered crumbs; half of them to line the bottom and sides of a buttered baking dish and half to go on top of the tomatoes. Mix with a No. 2½ can of tomatoes 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Carefully pour this in the crumb-lined dish and sprinkle remaining buttered crumbs over.

Lemon Sponge Pudding

One cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, pinch of salt, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup milk, rind and juice of 1 large lemon, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten. Sift the sugar, flour and salt together and stir the egg yolks into them. Add the milk, lemon juice and rind, beating well. Melt the butter and add. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into buttered baking dish and stand it in pan of hot water. Bake 45 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Serve very cold.

Old-Type Kitchen In Modern Dress Fine Living Room

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO —(AP)— The spacious old-fashioned kitchen has been put into modern dress.

A model of what its designers call the "New World Kitchen" was shown here during the International Home Furnishings Market. Designed and built by the General Electric Home Bureau, it is an example of how the kitchen can be made into a comfortable "indoor-outdoor" living centre for the entire family.

There are no walls between the kitchen, dining area and living room. The combined space measures 23 by 50 feet. It is divided into three principle areas.

At one end is a 13 by 15-foot kitchen-laundry. This is arranged so that the homemaker can move easily from one homemaking task to another.

The kitchen is centred by a "U" shaped island bar. This is fitted with a soda fountain, undercounter dish washer and food serving facilities.

The bar is flanked on two sides by mental cabinets equipped with doors that lift like miniature overhead garage doors. Appliances are hidden in the centre counter unit. They are rolled into the working area of the adjoining dining space.

Novel Table

The dining area is located in the centre of the room. It is built around a table that can be used for dining, children's games or card playing. A turn of a crank changes the position of tri-cornered panels. Each is surfaced with appropriate covering.

A built-in writing desk and book case fits into the half-wall beside the versatile table.

The fireplace sets on a raised hearth and faces diagonally into both the dining and living areas of the room.

The living area is two steps down from the rest of the room. It is surrounded on three sides by glass exterior walls.

A special feature of the all-in-one room is the lighting. The entire ceiling is crossed by redwood beams. Above this fluorescent lamps are fitted, giving even distribution of light.

Combined with bedrooms and baths, the open living area is designed to complete an attractive and functional house.

Main speaker was Miss Nel Schell who outlined the economic life in Holland, her native country. "Immigration to Canada from Holland is a necessity" on account of the over-population" said Miss Schell. "Canada offers a bright future and the people are most hospitable." She then remarked on the great sacrifice such a move is for the Hollanders, especially the women who are unable to mix freely because of the language and social customs and thus become lonely. She said it is considered disgraceful in Holland to work in a factory but the immigrants soon learn to adjust themselves to the situation here. Sister Gonzaga, president, was in charge of the meeting. The program was arranged by Miss Bernadine Snider and lunch was served under direction of social convener, Mrs. Florence Rundle.

Many fine gifts were presented to this popular community couple to show the esteem in which they are held in the district.

Herbert Jackson, 75, and Martha Jane McElwain, both of Emily, were married at the bride's home on January 30, 1901, by the Rev. Richard Rowe of Bethel United Church, a church they have both attended from early childhood. Mr. Jackson brought his bride home to the farm where they live now and where he was born. The groomsman, Harry McElwain, the bride's brother, and maid of honor, Mrs. Joseph Mann, both attended Tuesday's celebration.

There are four sons in the family, Harry Jackson who lives at home and operates the farm, Clifford of Peterborough, and Donald and Kenneth, both of Oshawa. There are also 11 grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are tireless workers at the Bethel United Church. She is a life member of the Women's Association, and he, a former member of the choir, has been a teacher and Sunday School superintendent for more than 40 years.

The couple received their friends during the afternoon and evening and in the interval there was a family dinner party which 40 attended.

The gift from the sons was a combination radio, and from the sisters, nephews and nieces a gateleg living-room table. The congregation of Bethel United Church presented Mr. and Mrs. Jackson with a tri-lite floor lamp, magazine rack and end table, and the people of the community gave them a dining-room gateleg table. There were a number of gifts of flowers received and many cards."

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe Named President WMS Presbyterial

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society was held in George St. Church on Tuesday with morning afternoon and evening sessions, with the president Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings in charge.

The organist of the church, Charles Allen, opened the sessions with a 15-minute prelude of organ music. Opening worship service was led by Mrs. E. Johnston and Miss M. Bowers of St. James' auuxiliary.

Mrs. E. H. Brown, president of George St. Auxiliary welcomed the delegates.

The courtesy committee appointed was Mrs. Herrington, Mrs. Husser and Miss M. Bowers. Nominating committee, Mrs. H. Tremaine and Mrs. E. DeNure. Mrs. W. R. Young gave the report of the nominating committee.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris introduced the speaker, Dr. Winnifred Thomas, LLD, well known general secretary of the Dominion board of the Women's Missionary Society for the past eighteen years and author of the auxiliary page in the Missionary Monthly.

"What forward step have we taken in all branches of our work?" Dr. Thomas asked. "Your convention theme is, 'Sharing our missionary conviction with others.' We associate the idea of sharing the giving of money. As a society, we share our knowledge of God with others, our faith in God.

"Our great task is to reach those people outside the church and to enlarge that circle of people within the church who believe in missions.

"We must have clear and deep convictions through Bible study and prayer. The practise of the presence of God will strengthen our enthusiasm. Every time we have a dull meeting we are disloyal to the cause of missions. Only one-quarter of the women of the United Church are members of the WMS."

Dr. Thomas stated that couples' clubs have quadrupled during the past four years. The future of the nation depends on these groups, upon young people and children.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. A. Scriver, showed that a total of $11,235.81 had been raised but the Presbyterial was $360. short of the allocation. Last year the allocation had been raised and more money had been raised this year than in 1949 which was most encouraging.

A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. H. G. Todd, Mrs. H. Murduff, Miss Mary Morton and soloist Mrs. D. Jackman of Knox Evening Auxiliary, which brought the morning session to a close.

Dinner was served to the delegates by the George St. Auxiliary. At the noon hour, greetings from the Peterborough Presbytery were brought by the Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's Church.

The afternoon session was opened by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president of the Bay of Quinte Branch WMS.

Trinity Afternoon Auxiliary led in opening devotions when Miss Myrtle Sargent, Mrs. W. Head and Mrs. F. Horton took part.

The appointment of delegates to the school for leaders was left to the sectional vice presidents to arrange their own delegates and to finance them.

The resolutions committee appointed for 1951-52 was Mrs. C. M. Scott and Mrs. W. R. Philp. Delegates appointed to conference branch were Mrs. E. DeNure, Miss M. Bowers and alternate Mrs. H. T. Rehill.

The afternoon address was given by Miss Cora Kilborn, missionary on furlough from Chengtu hospital, West China.

Dr. Thomas installed the following slate of officers for 1951:

Advisory board, Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris; past president, Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Peterborough president, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Hastings; sectional vice-presidents, Mrs. Young, Mrs. B. Preston, RR 3, Peterborough, Mrs. E. Milburn, Miss Helen Tedford, Cottesloe; recording secretary, Mrs. B. Gordon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. A. Atkison, treasurer, Mrs. A. Scriver; secretary christian stewardship, Mrs. A. S. Williams; secretary mission circles, Mrs. G. Hill, RR 8, Peterborough; secretary affiliated CGITs, Miss Gladys Langton; secretary associated members, Mrs. H. Tremaine; secretary mission bands, Mrs. W. F. Donaldson; secretary baby bands, Mrs. W. R. Philp; secretary supply, Mrs. F. Milburn; secretary community friendship, Mrs. James Hampson, Bethany; missionary monthly and world friends secretary, Mrs. R. Parnell; christian citizenship secretary, Miss Anne Jamieson; press secretary, Mrs. J. H. Lewis, RR 4, Peterborough; literature secretary, Mrs. A. J. Noftall; librarian, Mrs. W. H. Morton; candidate adviser, Miss Constance Wagar.

The secretary of Mission bands Mrs. W. F. Donaldson presented awards to the following Mission Band leaders: Knox for 12 years continuous operation, Trinity for 11 years, Springville for 7 years, Norwood for 5 years, Havelock for 5 years, Millbrook for 4 years, Lakefield 4 years and Fairmount 2 years.

The ladies of George St. Evening auxiliary served a very lovely supper.

During the supper hour, greetings were brought from the Rev. A. Mathews, minister of the entertaining church and also from Mrs. Carman Bell, president of the Womens' Association convention.

Charles Allen and the George St. Choir led in the evening service of music and song. A trio composed of Mrs. Jas. Goldie, Mrs. C. Carson and Mrs. R. Aspinall sang two numbers. The service of worship was led by Mr. Mathews of George St.

The offering was received by C.G.I.T. girls and their leader Miss Marian Brown dedicated the same.

Dr. Thomas, was special speaker for the evening session.

She opened the address with the words "Advance Thy Church Oh God throughout the coming year, as wide as the world and as broad as human need."

It was a tiny group who set out and launched their advance explained Dr. Thomas. Paul and Barnabas set out to tell others about Christ. When the Roman Empire collapsed it was the Christian church that remained. It was about three centuries after the Protestant Reformation that the church caught the vision.

It is true she said, that the church is the only world wide development today. All down through the years the church has advanced.

The candidate advisor Miss Constance Wagar gave a splendid report of her activities in this great work. The programs which were used at Presbyterial were compiled by Miss Wagar.

The report of the courtesy committee was given by Miss M. Bowers.

Mrs. C. M. Scott extended an invitation to Presbyterial to meet in St. Andrew's church next year.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. W. Craik in a setting of white 'mums and ferns. Organist Mrs. C. Renaud played the wedding music.

A gown of white slipper satin with a rhinestone embroidered yoke was the bide's choice. The skirt was made very full over hoops at the sides and the sleeves were long and pointed at the wrists. She wore a veil of French lace and carried a bouquet of red roses and 'mums. She was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor was Miss Leona Thompson, bridesmaid Miss Beryl Rusaw and flower girl Patsy Anderson, cousin of the groom. Miss Thompson was in a frock of pink organdy over taffeta; Miss Rusaw, sister of the bride, in pale blue moire taffeta, and the flower girl wore old rose corded pink taffeta. Women Choose Plain Dress Parliament Opening Quiet

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—Year after year tradition dictates the form the opening of parliament shall take, but it is ever glamorous, ever colorful, ever full of expectancy. The ceremony Tuesday varied not a whit from that of the past few years, but still there hung over the Senate's red chamber the feeling of anticipation when the opening salvo of guns was heard on Parliament Hill.

The chamber was filled with the Diplomatic Corps, Privy Councillors, and their wives, judges and their wives, senators and their wives, wives of members of the House of Commons, clergy and deputy ministers.

Hats Hint Of Spring

In the galleries and the anterooms were other distinguished guests, waiting for the procession to arrive in the Senate chamber

Children Should Contribute To Provide Home for Mother

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: There is no loneliness like that of old age. The feeling of not being wanted or needed any more hurts. Nowadays children take the attitude that they owe nothing to their parents. Maybe that is true. When children are grown and living their own lives, in their own way, and Father is gone, what can Mother do? She has given all to her children and there is nothing for her to do but wait for death. It is no more for her happiness to live with her children than it is theirs for her to live with them. She would love her own little place, with her books and a cat and an old friend, but she has given everything to her children and has nothing left, so what?

OLD MOTHER

ANSWERR: I think you are wrong in saying that the young people of today do not feel that they have any obligation toward their parents. Look around you and see in how many homes there is an old mother or an old father being tenderly cared for by a son or daughter.

Some Sacrifice For Parents

Look at the young girls who work all day in offices and stores and almost all of whose earnings go to the support of their parents. I get thousands of letters every year from young people who are in love and who want to marry, but who are putting off their wedding day because they have an old mother or father to care for. It is the exception and not the rule when children turn their backs upon their parents.

But you are right in saying that children do not want their parents to live with them. The reason for this is perfectly obvious. No old person, especially a mother, can keep her fingers out of her children's pies if she lives with them. She is simply bound to interfere in everything that goes on, from raising the children to the strength of the breakfast coffee. That doesn't make for peace and harmony.

I often think if people saved more of their money for their old age instead of spending it on their children as they went along it would be best both for themselves and the children in the long run. Barring this, one way in which a family can meet this problem is for all of them to chip in and give mother an independent home of her own, no matter how humble.

DEAR MISS DIX: Would you advise a girl to marry a man while being in love with another man? Could she find happiness in such a union? The first man has better qualities than the second, but the girl is content only when with the second man.

MARCIA

ANSWER: Certainly not. Such a marriage could bring a girl nothing but misery and disaster of an uncongenial marriage because the secret of happiness in marriage is an automatic cure for an old love; that there is some magic in the marriage ceremony that changes a person's tastes and affections and inspires them with love for the one they marry. Nothing could be farther from the truth. If a man or woman are not in love before marriage, there is small chance of their falling in love with their husband or wife after marriage.

Nor will marriage blot out all consciousness for the old lover. On the contrary, the very knowledge that she has burnt her bridges behind her and that she has no right to think of him will make her regret her decision and throw in a glamor about him that will fan her passion for him. It isn't fair for a girl to marry one man when loving another.

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a woman do who has a husband who lolls around the house all day long playing solitaire from sun up to sunset; who seems only to care to eat, sleep, read; who is always going to do things but never does, when there is a young son to be educated, when the home is in debt, when the wife has done everything she possibly can to support the family? That is my fix and I don't know the answer.

MARGARET

ANSWER: There are only two things she can do. One is to refuse to support her lazy, good-for-nothing husband any longer, and turn him out of the house. The other is just to accept the situation and quit worrying over it and regard him as a piece of household bric-a-brac.

What's Right

You are tempted to ask another woman a personal question, such as whether or not she dyes her hair, how much she weighs or how old she is.

WRONG: Go ahead and ask her.

RIGHT: Resist the impulse, since she will probably resent having to answer the question.

"WOMEN OVER 35 CAN LOOK YOUNGER!"

says Helena Rubinstein

"YOUR HUSBAND LOOKS AT YOU WITH NEW INTEREST"

use ESTROGENIC HORMONE CREAM faithfully

Estrogenic hormones are the most effective agents yet discovered for helping women look younger! Even if your face and throat have already become old-looking through neglect, take heart! Locked in rich Estrogenic Hormone Cream are natural estrogens, the most effective aids known to beauty science for warding off signs of age and helping restore youth-giving substances. As your skin absorbs the natural estrogens, you recapture that lovely young look. At night, use it on age-revealing face and throat. Or, if you prefer, use Estrogenic Hormone Oil which contains the same precious properties. In the morning, use the oil as an invisible day-long beauty treatment.

In our hearts memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true,
There's not a day dear parents,
We do not think of you.
—Very sadly missed by their daughter and family.

COONES — In loving memory of mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Coones, of Apsley.
Their life is a beautiful memory,
Their death is our silent grief,
They sleep in God's beautiful garden
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
So we leave them in God's keeping,
The rought road safely o'er.
And our dear ones we loved so dearly
Have only gone before.
—Ever remembered by daughter Clara.

DE NOBLE—In loving memory of Mrs. Teresa DeNoble, who passed away one year ago today January 31st, 1950.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
In our harts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true,
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have sufered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
May her soul rest in peace.
Perpetual light shine on her.
—Always remembered by her children.

DE NOBLE—In loving memory of my dear wife, who passed away January 31st, 1950.
I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss her more,
As I walk through life alone.
Sleep on, dear wife, and take your rest,
I miss you most, I loved you best.
—Sadly missed by your husband.

FALLIS—In loving memory of our mother Isabella Fallis, who passed away January 31, 1950; and also our dad, Johnston Fallis, who passed away Dec. 27, 1937.
Not just today but every day
In silence we remember,
—Ever remembered by their family.

FONTAINE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Angus Fontaine, who passed away January 31, 1948.
Time speeds on, three years have passed,
Since death its gloom its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will
His vacant place there is no can fill.
Down here we mourn but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

JACKMAN — In memory of Mrs. George Jackman, who passed away three years ago today.

JACKMAN—In loving memory of Mrs. George Jackman, who passed away January 31, 1948.
Her weary hours and days of pain,

And in our aching hearts we know
She has found sweet rest at last.
—Ever remembered by Iva and Joe

JACKMAN—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. George Jackman who passed away January 31, 1948.
Three years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.
—Sadly missed by husband and family.

JAMES—In loving memory of L/Cpl. J Stanley James, who died of wounds seven years ago today, January 31, 1944, buried in Ortona River Cemetery, Italy.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Ever remembered by father, brothers and sisters.

Re-elect S. Adamson Committee Chairman

Stanley Adamson was re-elected chairman of the Board of Education's advisory vocational committee Tuesday night. He was returned on the second ballot.

The committee consists of 12 members, its composition fixed by statute: chairman of the board, a county representative, a separate schools representative, three other members of the board, three from local employers and three from employees.

Employer and employee representatives are from plants that would eventually employ vocational school graduates. And they keep a careful eye on school training to ensure that it incorporates the latest techniques and equipment.

The Board of Education cannot arbitrarily cut the estimates recommended by the advisory and vocational committee. It can only hand them back for review if they seem too high.

Following is the complete committee: Stanley Adamson, chairman; Dr. Ralph Honey, choirman of the board, W. B. Gordon and Mrs. Paige Rowell, the two other board members; Fred Agnew, county representative; M. J. Collins, separate schools representative; representing employers: Ian McRae, CGE; Paul Irwin, Irwin-Godson; Robert Maybee, Peterborough Lock; representing employees, Arthur Pitchford, Quaker Oats; Paul Irwin, Irwin-Godson; and Clarence Porter, Outboard Marine.

Industrial Art Volumes Given To City Library

A collection of books on industrial art and design in manufactured products is on display at the Public Library this week. These books were sent to the library by the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa, to complete the local library's collection of books considered basic in this field.

The gift was made in conjunction with a contest being sponsored by the National Industrial Design Committee, Ottawa, and open to all Canadians.

The contest is based on the theme of a good design for any manufactured object for use in house or garden, or for any accessory to the house which is a part of normal living requirements. The contest is divided into two classes—Class A: Products made basically of aluminum; Class B: Products made basically of wood.

First prize of $2,500, second prize of $1,500, and third prize of $1,000, will be awarded in both classes. The contest ends March 15. Additional information may be obtained at the library.

A total of 40 public and university libraries in Canada have received books to bring their collection in industrial design up to date. As a result of these gifts, it will be possible for hundreds of aspiring designers who wish to enter the contest to obtain the background information they need.

Report Reds Attack Island Off Foochow

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 31 (CP)—Nationalist China's defence ministry today reported that Chinese Communist troops Sunday attacked Tasigyang, a tiny island off the mainland port of Foochow.

The ministry said the Reds engaged in serious fighting with the Nationalist guerrillas holding the island but the outcome of the fight was not known.

Tasiyang, also known as Atlantic island, first was attacked by the Reds last August. They withdrew after remaining in possession only a few days.

Like other islands off the mainland, Tasiyang is outside the United States seventh fleet defence zone embracing Formosa and the Pescadores.

Women Choose

led by the gentleman usher of the Black Rod. The scene was quiet, yet colorful. Many of the dresses were in dark shades, but the red carpet and red chairs formed a bright background, and the hats with their fruit, flowers and feathers gave a hint of spring. A few sighed for the days of the evening gowns worn at three in the afternoon, but many expressed the hope that the much more sensible afternoon dress will remain the accepted costume.

Her Excellency was a queenly figure in a floor-length fitted gown of Royal blue, fashioned with a black drape caught in a large bow at the side. Her matching felt hat was trimmed with a large ostrich feather and diamond brooch. She wore a string of pearls.

Miss Anstice Gibbs, lady-in-waiting, wore fine black wool and pale pink reveres. Her small black hat was trimmed with pink feathers.

Wears Black.

The wives of cabinet ministers were seated at the right of the throne. Mrs. L. S. St. Laurent had the place of honor. She wore black silk crepe with a corsage of orchids. Her hat was black, trimmed with egret feathers.

Mrs. George Drew, wife of the Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, chose navy blue with a white feather off-the-face hat and gardenia corsage.

The seats to the left of the throne showed the interested diplomatic codps in the ceremony. All wer there, Begum Mohammed Ali wife of the Pakistan high commissioner, was a brilliant figure in her white sari with fuchsia sequins and sequin bag. Mrs. P. K. Banerjee, wife of the acting high commissioner for India, wore an emerald green tissue sari, trimmed with gold braid, and a yellow blouse.

Only a few such as the Italian Ambassador's wife, Mrs. Mario Di Stefano, showed hats which could be called frivolous. Hers was a frothy toffee straw worn with a beige creep gown.

Startling Exceptions.

However, there were some startling exceptions. One woman chose a flame-colored tailor-made garment. It was a perfect match for the scarlet tunics of the RCMP guards standing at attention in the crowded public galleries.

The Finnish minister, Urho Toivola, was there with his bride, who wore a black velvet dress with white trim at neckline and black hat. The wife of the American ambassador, Stanley Woodward, also chose black. Lady Clutterbuck, wife of the United Kingdom High Commissioner, appeared in a brown ensemble complete with brown accessories.

Speakers Entertain.

Following the ceremonies in the Senate Chamber receptions were held by both speakers. In the Senate Speaker's Chambers, Hon. Elie Beauregard and Mrs. Beauregard welcomed a large number of guests in a room filled with flowers. Mrs. Beauregard wore a brown taffeta dress with brown straw hat. Hon. Ross Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald received in Commons Speaker's Chambers, but for the past two years these rooms have been too small to hold the crowd and the guests move into the railway committee room for refreshments. Mrs. Macdonald wore a smart black suit of Belgian cloth with a black velvet hat, pink blouse and black shoes. Among the guests in these colorful receptions were Mrs. John Bracken in an American Beauty crepe, with velour hat to match; Mrs. J. M. MacDonnell, black crepe trimmed with matching taffeta, a green velour hat trimmed with green feathers, and black bag, shoes and gloves; Mrs. Gordon Graydon, wife of the member for Peel, black faille, with white lapels, white straw hat.

Children's Aid Head Reports On Washington Conference

A detailed report on the Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth was given by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society, at the meeting sponsored by the Elizabeth Smellie Branch 452 of the Canadian Legion held at the YWCA Tuesday night.

The conference, held in Washington, D.C., from December 3 to 8 last year was attended by 300 international observers as well as delegates from every section of United States. Observers from 41 foreign countries included 64 from Canada.

Miss Young explained that invitations to the Canadians had come through the Canadian Welfare Council, and were originally issued by President Harry Truman.

In her account of the activities and speeches at the conference, Miss Young stated the central theme was a study of what would best further the development of a healthy personality in a child.

"One of the most amazing characteristics of this assembly," Miss Young observed, "was the complete submergence of professions. Every profession was represented, but "all lost their identity in this search for what was best for children."

Major Theory

One of the major theories upheld at the conference was that an individual had to pass through eight phases of sense development before maturity was reached.

The firstt hree she outlined in detail: the sense of trust which usually occurs in the first year, the sense of autonomy, the sense of initiative.

The remaining five phases are sense of accomplishment, 6-12; the sense of identity, 12-18; the sense of intimacy, the parental sense and the sense of integrity.

Miss Young explained that these characteristics should develop in the child at the proper period of his life or his later life will be handicapped. This development must be helped by encouragement and guidance from adults, especially parents in the early years.

Important Needs

Some of the more important needs which were brought before the conference were: the need for more basic mental hygiene knowledge, more and earlier parent education and the need for more well-trained and emotionally stable people to give parents guidance.

One of the major problems faced at the conference was the situation in which children felt they are not understood and are let down by parents. Adults are not giving the right leadership to children. Taught idealistic rules of behavior, children become confused when they are faced with adult behaviour that exemplifies the exact opposite to what they have been taught to believe is right. Examples of this are war, racial discrimination, and the competitive methods of "modern materialism."

"The highlight of the conference," Miss Young said, was President Truman's address." She stated that he stressed the importance of proper parental guidance and the role of religion in the life of the child.

Concluding, Miss Young contended that perhaps the greatest lesson learned at the conference was the importance of and need for intelligent teamwork among professions in the adult world to help children achieve well integrated personalities.

Miss Young was introduced by Mrs. M. J. Swanston and thanked by Mrs. C. G. Collins.

Church Plans To Observe Golden Jubilee

The annual vestry meeting of All Saints' Anglican Church was held on Monday evening in the Parish Hall. In the absence of the rector the chair was occupied by a former rector of the parish, Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto.

The vestry clerk, T. Pitchford, absent through illness, minutes of the meeting were recorded by Miss Maconomy.

The people's warden, T. Griffin, referred to the illness of the rector and a prayer was offered by Canon Paterson for his speedy recovery.

The year's work was reviewed in the rector's report and tribute was paid to all who assisted in making 1950 such an outstanding era in the history of the church. Attention was drawn to the decoration and repainting. This is now complete and paid for, largely due to the efforts of the Church Women's Year. Since the society was formed, over $15,000 has been subscribed through the efforts of its members.

The rector reminded the vestry that next year will mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of All Saints' Church. On January 2, 1902, the church was set aside as a separate parish. Plans will be made to celebrate the anniversary fittingly.

T. Pitchford was re-appointed vestry clerk.

The financial statement was presented by T. Griffin showing the church free of debt. The mission account also showed the allotment being paid in full. All other financial statements were very satisfactory and were received with great satisfaction by the vestry.

A very satisfactory report was given by W. H. Jackson, envelope secretary.

V. Hill was re-appointed rector's warden; E. Searight was elected people's warden.

Lay delegates to the synod were appointed as follows: T. H. Boddy, F. Warren, M. Patterson, G. Millen, and T. P. Hooper. L. Mason and J. Gatfield were appointed as alternates.

Members of the parish council are: T. Griffin, D. Raine, G. Moucks, J. Howard, Doherty, R. Gamble, F. Patterson, S. Ray, W. Langan, R. Pulford. The rector's appointees will be announced later.

W. H. Jackson was re-appointed envelope secretary by acclamation.

Auditors appointed for 1951 are A. Dryland and G. Millen.

Mrs. Moucks and Mrs. Fitzgerald were elected as representatives to the board of Anson House.

Mrs. Roy Price was elected as church representative to the Bible Society.

Reports of the various church societies were presented by the following: Junior Women's Auxiliary, Miss Georgina Hutchinson; Girl WA, Miss Betty McClausland; Afternoon WA, Mrs. Thackeray and Mrs. Ray; Evening Branch WA, Mrs. Searight; Little Helpers, Mrs. C. Dobbin for Mrs. Edgar; Sunday School, S. Townsend; Women's Church Year, secretary Mrs. Cooper, treasurer Mrs. Cook; Women's Friendly Group, secretary Mrs. Watkins, treasurer Mrs. Thackeray; choir, George Chandler; junior choir, Mrs. Howard; Chi-Rho, Miss Eleanor Carroll; Chancel Guild, Miss Rose Williams.

Letters of thanks and appreciation are to be sent to Archdeacon Robertson and the rural dean, Rev. Walter Gilling, for their kindly help to the rector during his illness.

Congratulations are to be sent to Rev. Horace Ashmore on his recent appointment as Canon of St. Alban's Cathedral, Prince Albert, Sask. As a memorial to the late Bishop Fuller, it was decided to send to Canon Ashmore, a Kodachrome and Film strip projector to help them in their work. The machine will be equipped with a Coleman lamp.

Arrangements are being made to provide the rector with a full-time assistant to help in Secretarial work and also in visitation. Miss Grace Tucker is being asked to undertake this important work.

A presentation was made to Mrs. Howard for her work with the Junior choir.

Marwood Patterson has been appointed licenced lay reader by the bishop of Toronto. He was presented with his diploma, scarf and medal.

Appreciation was shown to T. H. Boddy by the presentation of a small table. Mr. Boddy has been a great help to All Saints' Church for many years.

T. Griffin moved a vote of thanks to Canon Paterson for his help in taking care of the Vestry Meeting, also for looking after both services on Sunday.

Christians Carry On Church Work In China

"Christian missionary work is finished for the time being in West China, but the church will never die, because Chinese Christians are still there carrying on our work." These remarks were made by Miss Cora A. Kilborn in her address at the Tuesday afternoon session of the 26th annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society held at George St. United Church.

Miss Kilborn who is a missionary of the Peterborough Presbytery, returned from Chengtu, the capital of West China, in August, 1950, where she has spent approximately 18 years.

Basing her address on her work in West China, Miss Kilborn described the changing conditions that had taken place after Communistic infiltration into this district.

Period of Tension

"It was a period of great tension and uncertainty during the turnover from the Nationalist to the Communistic regime," stated Miss Kilborn. "There was relatively little fighting and at first the Communists were polite and there was none of the expected looting. However gradually hardships were imposed on the missionaries as well as the wealthier Chinese and the farming classes."

In her outline of these hardships, Miss Kilborn stated that growing taxation reduced many Chinese to deplorable states. Personal belongings had to be sold to obtain money for food. As well as taxation the people were forced to buy bonds and homes were investigated by spies to discover the owners potential bond purchasing power.

"The first hardships suffered by the missionaries was the complete curtailment of movement," stated Miss Kilborn. "Missionaries were forbidden to travel and as a result unable to visit mission posts, schools and clinics."

"No hindrance was put in the way of holding church services, but church executives were forbidden to hold meetings," explained Miss Kilborn. "Neither was Christian teaching in the schools forbidden, but there were so many classes of Communistic indoctrination in the schools that there was no time left for voluntary religious classes such as ours."

It was because of these almost unsurmountable conditions Miss Kilborn stated that the missionaries in this district have become discouraged and downhearted. They feel that they are not doing any good and the policy of gradual withdrawal of all missionaries from that field has been carried out.

Miss Kilborn also gave a description of the United Church mission and hospital and various mission stations in Chengtu and district. She explained that the United Church had been responsible for 10 of the 60,000,000 people in West China.

"Our church can be proud of our record out there since its beginning in 1891," stated Miss Kilborn. "There has been amazing expansion in all three of its fields of work—evangelical, medical and educational."

Born In Meaford

Miss Kilborn was born in Meaford, Canada and educated in this country where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree and also graduated as a registered nurse. Her parents were Dr. O. L. Kilborn and Dr. Reta Gifford Kilborn who spent many years as missionaries in West China. Miss Kilborn first went to West China in 1926 where she worked at the Women's Hospital until 1938.

In 1944, she returned to China and was connected with the University Hospital of the West China Union University. Here, she was superintendent of nurses and was in charge of 40 graduate nurses and in addition taught student nurses.

Miss Kilborn was introduced by Mrs. C. M. Scott.

Church Holds Annual Meeting

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 31 (ENS) Springville United Church congregational meeting was held Friday in the church basement. A pot luck supper preceded the business meeting.

Clifford Johnston, treasurer reported a balance on hand of about $750. Mrs. H. Rowan, for the WA, reported a balance of more than $500 and the WMS and the Mission Band also met their objectives. Mr. Cecil Neals gave the M. and M. report which showed an increase of $102. over last year for a total of $338.

The Young People's Union had a balance of $55. after giving $25 to missions, and the Married Couples Group reported having purchased hymnaries for the church, made a contribution to the church and contributed to other charities. The Sunday school report indicated that contributions for the year were increased as compared to 1949. The Sunday school gave $40 to missions and $50 to the redecoration of the church basement.

Officers for the year 1951 are: elders, A. Preston, S. Connel, M. H. Johnston, and B. Elliot; stewards, Bruce Sargent, Clifford Johnston, Walter Bowles, Robert Armstrong, G. McIntosh, C. Neals, H. Rowan, M. Cathcart, W. Brown, F. Elliot, F. Stevens, M. Morrison and H. Young.

A unanimous vote of appreciation was extended to the minister and his wife Rev. E. and Mrs. Linstead.

Story Called 'Fantasy'

PARIS, Jan. 31 (Reuters). — A French foreign office spokesman Tuesday described as "utter fantasy" reports that Russia will propose a "non-aggression" pact to France and Italy. He said French foreign office quarters think these rumors, current for some time in northern Italy, came from the Communist-sponsored "partisans of peace" as part of an attempt to split the nations of western Europe.

Producers Oppose Cheese Requisitioning

LISTOWEL, Jan. 31—(CP)—If the federal government decides to requisition cheese for export again this year, it will meet opposition from producers in this district.

The Listowel Chamber of Commerce Tuesday indicated it would prefer a different method of marketing cheese than through the government. A committee of three—W. W. Pratt, S. J. Coghlin and C. W. Bamford—was appointed to watch the situation closely.

One of the things cheese producers here object to was the sale to the government at low prices and the resale by the government later at much higher prices.

Student Newspapers Vanish Off Truck

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31—(CP)—The 5,000-copy edition of the University of Manitoba's bi-weekly newspaper disappeared Tuesday.

Distribution of the "Manitoban" started in routine fashion with a delivery truck dropping bundles of papers at the usual points. But the bundles were snatched up again by a car convoy following behind.

Students were inclined to blame engineering college men who they said were attempting to regain face.

The newspaper had given prominent play to Friday's "kidnapping" by medical students of six beauty contest co-eds bound for an engineering dance. The medicos took the girls to a downtown night spot, dined and danced them and held their own beauty contest. They freed the girls in time for them to arrive at the engineering dance after it was over.

Doesn't Miss Life In Movies

By BOB THOMAS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 31 —(AP)— One of last year's prize movies pictured a faded film star who was embittered about the fall from fame. The mayor of this desert resort is a prime example to debunk that movie's thesis.

He is Charles Farrell, the heartbeat of 20 years ago, when he co-starred with Janet Gaynor in such hits as "Seventh Heaven." Charley is just as handsome as ever, but he is greying now and sports a stylish moustache.

Charley isn't the kind to mope over his memoirs and bemoan lost glory. I found this out when I asked him if he ever missed the movie life.

"Good heavens, no," he replied. "I do a few radio and television shows to work out whatever ham is left in me. So I don't miss acting.

Besides, he's too busy. He spends a great deal of his time operating his Racquet Club, favorite desert hang-out of the Hollywood crowd. His own tennis game keeps him occupied (and his stomach flat). And he has the very real duty of functioning as mayor of Palm Springs.

Annual Presentation

This haven of stage and screen stars was host to the first annual presentation ceremonies for the world film favorites, as chosen by the Foreign Press Association of Hollywood. Winners this year were Jane Wyman and Gregory Peck.

The press group hopes to make the selection an annual affair to rival the film festivals in Venice and Cannes. Plans include showing the best movies of all countries, with the winners being voted by newspapermen. As yet, the scheme is getting no co-operation from the Hollywood officialdom.

ONTARIO TO TAKE OVER RENT CONTROLS

PREMIER DUPLESSIS of Quebec has blamed the collapse on Wednesday of the $3,000,000 Three Rivers Bridge (RIGHT) on sabateurs. The bridge, which bore his name, had nine spans, and four of them collapsed, carrying four to their deaths in the river below. At LEFT is shown a section of the collapsed bridge. Connecting Montreal and the City of Quebec, it was considered a great feat in engineering and was opened in 1948. At the time of its construction, which was under the supervision of the Quebec Government, the Opposition made charges of faulty construction.

Hope Ottawa Will Change Its Policy

Hydro To Modernize Rural Telephones; Building Shortages

TORONTO, Feb. 1. (CP)—The Ontario Government will introduce rent controls in the province when federal controls expire at the end of March, it was announced today in the Speech from the Throne Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson read to the Ontario Legislature.

The 2,200-word speech, outlining legislation to be introduced at the Legislature session which opened today, expressed the hope that the Federal Government would reconsider its decision to abandon rent control. If not Ontario would step in.

The speech forecast a new role for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, which now generates and distributes power. Legislation was planned to enable hydro to consolidate and modernize rural telephone lines, using hydro system lines and facilities where possible.

Through the speech ran constant references to the crisis in world affairs and the growing demands of Canada's defence program.

Need Controls

It urged control of the "inflationary and other destructive influences of these conditions." The Ontario government would do what it could to restrain them but it "expresses the hope that the government of Canada will formulate and implement such comprehensive direction of our economic policies as will preserve effectively the security and sound economy of our great nation." Ontario would help in any such program.

Ontario viewed with apprehension the federal government's intention to abandon rent con-

Nevada Centres Shaken By Third Big Atomic Blast In Week

None Of Citizens Excited At Bright Flash, 'Quake

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 1. (AP)—The third atomic blast in a week lit up the pre-dawn sky northwest of here today. One witness described it as "like a huge flash gun" which photographers use. An atomic energy spokesman confirmed that it was the third atomic test at the sprawling 5,000-square-mile test range near here. This makes it No. 12 in the list of atomic explosions set off since the first at Alamagordo, NM, July 16, 1945. The AEC spokesman would give no details of what sort of test took place. There has been much speculation that the government is testing a variety of atomic weapons besides the bombs which hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 and brought the Japanese war to an end.

A reporter said "there was a quick, blinding flash which outlined the hills north of town. The flash tapered off to a rosy hue and then disappeared. Six minutes later there was a rumbling noise which shook houses and rattled dishes."

The flash occurred at 5.48 a.m. Pacific Standard Time (8.48 a.m. EST).

Some 300 miles west at Los Angeles, an observer reported seeing a flash in the sky to the east of the mountains.

Weekend Blasts

The 10th and 11th blasts occurred last Saturday and Sunday here, both shortly before 6 a.m. The Sunday detonation was much more intense, awakening many residents of this gambling and resort community.

Surveys determined that there was no radiation damage from the weekend tests. The entire area was monitored carefully.

Most witnesses agreed that the flash today was about equal to Saturday's and not so strong as Sunday's.

There was little excitement along the brightly-lit streets where gambling runs wide open all night.

At one spot, a man ran into the street crying, "It's the A-bomb," but otherwise business went on much as usual.

See Party Purge

ROME, Feb. 1. (Reuters)—Continued signs of rebellion within the Communist Party are expected to lead to a general party purge when Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti returns from Moscow some time this month. Two Communist members of parliament who quit the party in the last week — Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cucchi — are said to be working on a statement to present to Togliatti. Communist chiefs met Wednesday and were said to have examined the "deviationism" of other Communist members of parliament.

Neglect Boy, 5 Parents Jailed 2 Years

SUDBURY, Feb. 1 (CP). — A young man and wife today were sentenced to two years in penitentiary for endangering the life of their five-year-old son through neglect.

"Even animals fight to death to preserve their young," Judge J. M. Cooper told Florence Wood, 25 and Victor Wood, 27.

They were charged with putting the life of Richard Alexander (Ricky) Wood in danger by neglecting, refusing or omitting to provide him with food, care, lodging and medical attention.

Neighbors gave evidence at the three-day trial that the child foraged in garbage cans for food and was frequently bruised from beatings he received.

"You even neglected to avail yourselves of assistance which society has put at your disposal to preserve the health of your child," the judge said. "This I cannot understand."

Mrs. Wood covered her face with her handkerchief and sobbed in the stilled court room as sentence was passed. She is expecting a third child.

French-U.S. Troops Trapped By Chinese

TOKYO, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the war front.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defence line south of the Han River. The Han flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A United States 10th Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours, in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in", a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point less than 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles eastward, an American tank-led task force jabbed 2½ miles into Wonchon, but then withdrew. Wonchon is three miles east of Suwon.

5-Mile Front

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

Near the junction of the western and central fronts French and American elements were reported earlier Thursday to have rammed into blazing Red counter-attacks near Chipyong, 12 miles north of Yoju.

This central front location also is 18 miles northwest of Wonju. The enemy poured out of hideouts to strike the American-French force on three sides. The Reds were at first described as 3,000 shouting North Koreans, but an Allied spokesman said they were two regiments of Chinese.

(A regiment normally is 3,000 to 5,000 men, but the American-French outfit may not be at so great strength).

Heavily Defended

Substantiating evidence that the UN advance had bumped into principal enemy defences, a division staff officer told AP Correspondent Jim Becker:

"When you find mines, artillery and an enemy as solidly entrenched as these are, the chances are good that you have hit his main lines."

For the third straight day Chinese artillery hit U.N. lines in what was described as a moderate barrage. Mortar shells burst in allied positions.

Turks in the Anyang area routed the Reds out of their holes with bayonets, a spokesman said. Probably a Chinese battalion was bloodied. Front-line officers said more than 400 Red bodies were left in the muck.

Associated Press correspondent Stan Swinton said some Chinese

31 Lost On Planes

LONDON, Feb. 1. (CP)—Two planes with a total of 31 persons aboard were reported missing today in widely-separated parts of the Atlantic Ocean. A Portuguese army plane from the Lagens base in the Azores crashed into the sea after takeoff Wednesday night, killing all 14 aboard. An Icelandic Airways plane, with 17 passengers and a crew of three, disappeared in a blizzard early today. It was believed missing between the Icelandic capital of Reykjavik and the Westman Islands.

4 On Plane Lost In Bush

TRENTON, Feb. 1. (CP) — Two RCAF search planes took off today to hunt for four persons aboard a bush plane missing since Monday in a wild area of Northwestern Quebec about 200 miles north of Ottawa.

The single-engined privately-owned Beaver aircraft disappeared on a flight in the area between Lake Abitibi and Lake St. John. It carried Pilot J. Comtois, a co-pilot also named Comtois, and a sick Indian couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Nebush.

The plane was due at Oskalano, 100 miles east of Senneterre, Que., at 4 p.m. Monday. A Dakota and a Lancaster bomber took off here in a snowstorm to start the search. The Dakota carried a para-rescue team.

The search planes also took emergency food supplies. Their crews were to keep in touch by radio with each other and with the RCAF bases at Trenton and at Rockcliffe near Ottawa.

A helicopter stood by here, ready to join the search.

RCAF stations at Camp Borden and Centralia were notified that their planes might be needed.

The missing plane has been unreported since Monday. It took off from Lake West Wanippi to pick up two sick Indians for a flight to Oskalano, 100 miles east of Senneterre, Que.

A radio message from the pilot at 3 p.m. Monday said the plane was due at Oskalano in an hour.

When it did not arrive, no alarm was felt at first, as the plane carried a good supply of food, warm clothing, a sleeping bag and a tent.

UN Assembly Votes 44-7 Tag China Aggressor

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 1 (AP).—The United Nations Assembly voted overwhelmingly today to tag Communist China as an aggressor in Korea, but a warning by Britain to go slow on sanctions raised a big question as to the next step.

The Assembly vote was 44 to 7—the same as the ballot in the political committee Tuesday night. The five Soviet bloc countries were joined by India and Burma in casting the opposing votes. Eight countries abstained and one—Saudi Arabia—was recorded as not participating.

Today's action brought to an end the present phase of the diplomatic battle which was touched off by a report from Gen. Douglas MacArthur 12 weeks ago that the Chinese Reds had intervened in the Korean conflict.

Assembly Resolutions

1. Decided that Communist China engaged in aggression in Korea.

2. Requested a committee on collective security to study what to do about meeting this aggression, but to hold up its work if a good offices committee reports progress on a peaceful settlement.

3. Approved creation of the good offices committee to consist of assembly president Nasrollah Entezam of Iran and two others whom he will name.

4. Called on the Peiping regime to withdraw its nationals and forces from Korea and to stop fighting U.N. forces.

Eight Families Flee Flames

MONTREAL, Feb. 1—(CP)—A fire of unknown origin which started in a hardware store on Laurier Avenue in the east end early today drove eight families from their flats above the store. Some had to escape by ladders.

First estimates of damage were in the neighborhood of $100,000. The building, constructed only a year ago, was a total loss.

One fireman was slightly injured.

The blaze started soon after 1 a.m. EST, and as the flames raged out of control three alarms were sent. Residents in an adjoining building were warned to be ready to leave their dwellings, but firemen were able to confine the flames to the hardware store and the apartments above.

Snow Storm Snarls Traffic Hundreds Left Stranded

By The Canadian Press

A two-day snowfall snarled traffic in parts of Southern Ontario today. Trains and buses ran late and in the Toronto area motorists were stranded by the hundreds in drifts which clogged suburban roads.

The snow storm reached over into Quebec. But across Canada, winter's chief discomfort came from extreme cold. Sub-zero temperatures prevailed during the night on the prairies, in Northern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Coldest spot reported was Armstrong in Northwestern Ontario where the thermometer sagged to 46 below.

Tough weather lay ahead for Eastern Quebec and the Maritimes. A rain storm, carried by a mass of cold air, skirted Southern Ontario and headed for the east. The weather forecaster looks for milder weather across the country by tonight.

Ontario's big traffic jam was in Toronto and its suburbs. Traffic slithered along at a snail's pace, particularly in the morning rush hour. The Ontario Motor League added five operators to its telephone switchboard to handle emergency calls from motorists. They were coming at better than a one-a-minute pace.

The Canadian National Railways transcontinental train from the west ran almost eight hours behind schedule and the Canadian Pacific's transcontinental was two hours late. Both had long runs in sub-zero weather before hitting the Southern Ontario snow belt.

Trans-Canada Air Lines cancelled a flight to Windsor because of weather conditions. Other flights were late.

Main Ontario highways were in good shape and buses operated, although they were behind schedule.

New Cold Wave Sweeping U.S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1—(AP)—The winter season's coldest and stormiest weather showed no signs of abating today. In many parts of the United States it got worse.

Fresh blasts of cold air struck over western and mid-continent areas. Snow, sleet and rain pelted wide sections of the east and south. More than 80 deaths were attributed to the storm. Communications were snarled.

Texas took another beating from the wintry elements. Losses to livestock and to the citrus crop were estimated in the millions of dollars from the season's worst storm and cold.

New cold air masses pushed across the Canadian border today, sending temperatures to as low as 35 below zero in parts of the Rocky Mountain region and to near 30 below in the north-central states. Skies generally were clear over the western half of the country.

Freezing rain and sleet whipped over an area from Louisiana and Mississippi northeastward into Tennessee and Kentucky. Snow fell in the areas north and west.

Abandons River Dip 25 Degrees Too Hot

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1 (AP)—Dave Nichols changed his mind about swimming in the Allegheny River Wednesday. On account of the heat, he said.

Nichols, an agent of the Loyal Order of Moose, calls himself "The Human Polar Bear." Each year he takes an icy dip "to show the value of keeping fit."

The weather man predicted sub-zero weather Wednesday. Dave got ready for his wim. A break in the cold wave shot the thermometer up to 25 degrees.

"Too hot," said Dave, tucking his swim suit back in the mothballs.

Arrest 12 Juveniles Wrecking School

HAMILTON, Feb. 1—(CP)—One of the worst cases of vandalism in many months—the smashing and attempted burning of a Roman Catholic church-school on Parkdale Avenue south—was reported cleaned up by two detectives today with the apprehension of a dozen juveniles, ranging from eight to 13 years old. All admitted taking part.

Det. Sgt. John Freeborn and Det. Gerald Reed, who rounded up the youthful gang, said seven boys will appear in juvenile court. Five others, too young for court treatment, will be punished by their parents.

Vandalism at the new building was reported by a construction worker. He said $800 damage was caused as the boys slashed four tarpaulins over new cement with knives, burned six others, cut telephone wires, smashed tool box locks and stole tools.

Flares were also stolen and found damaged.

Foulkes Named Top Official In Defence Dept.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton announced today that Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes is being named the top military official of the entire defence department as permanent chairman of the chiefs of staff committee.

He will be succeeded as chief of the army's general staff by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simmons, 47, present head of the National Defence College.

Gen. Foulkes, because of seniority, has been acting as chairman of the chiefs of staff committee for five years, but the new move appeared to be in line with

No Alternative To Arming Europe, Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress today there is "no acceptable alternative" to American help in rearming Eprope.

Eisenhower, chosen to head the Allied defence forces against Russian aggression, publicly joined the debate over committing United States troops to those forces with an address to an informal joint meeting of the Senate and House of Representatives.

He argued:

"We must give Europe assistance not only because there is no acceptable alternative, but because if we were left standing alone, isolated in a world of Communism, our system would wither away."

Eisenhower told members that their decisions on defence co-operation with Western Europe would determine the course of civilization and whether free governments will continue to exist.

Just back from a tour of Europe, Eisenhower said there is no question of Western Europe's desire to resist aggression.

Have Spirit

"There is a spirit to resist," he said. "There is a determination to do their part — to take the risk."

He said, too, that Europe's greatest need now is not American soldiers but equipment which he said must be delivered in quantity and quickly.

As to transfer of American troops to Europe, Eisenhower said that should be done in a ratio to what the Europeans themselves provide.

He sketched briefly conditions in individual European countries as he said he found them.

He said there is "no question" that France has "determined to face up to the threat of Communism from within and without."

And he said he found the same spirit in Belgium, Holland and Denmark.

"There is no question about Norway's determination to resist to the point of destruction," he went on.

Stiffening Attitude

He said he found in Rome a stiffening of Italian morale and efforts to make that country's defence force more efficient.

Eisenhower said he did not want to speak now about the military potential of Germany.

He said the diplomats must come up with a political platform for Germany which gives that country equality before any of its military units could be used in an international defence force.

He said while it would be "false and idle to say there does not exist a spirit of pessimism and defeatism" in some quarters in Europe, he feels there has been a "rejuvenation" in Europe's morale.

Plan Payments For Ex-Chief

WINDSOR, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Attorney-General Porter has agreed to sponsor legislation to enable Windsor's Police Department to make annual payments in lieu of pension to former Police Chief Claude Renaud and former Deputy W. H. Neale. This announcement was made to the Board of Control meeting by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

The mayor said this assurance was given to Judge Archibald Cochrane and himself on a recent trip to Toronto.

Pensions for the two former police offfcials were discussed by the board, but no action was taken. The question will be discussed again at next week's meeting.

Both officials were retired by the Police Commission.

At one point in the meeting, the board voted in favor of giving the two men the pensions they had earned to date. In the case of former Chief Renaud, the monthly pension would be $65, out of a full pension of $182 which he would have received six years from now on his normal retirement date, had he been employed until that time.

Maids Tried 7 Times To Clean Hotel Room

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 (CP) — Chambermaids testified today in the manslaughter trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan that the Château Laurier hotel room in which Mrs. Sullivan's husband died Nov. 17 had been checked seven times that afternoon and evening and each time found "double-locked."

The testimony was given in the second day of the trial of the 48-year-old Toronto woman on a charge that she killed her husband, Francis J. Sullivan, 52. An original charge of murder was reduced to manslaughter at a preliminary hearing.

Bernadette Pare, chambermaid on duty on the hotel floor from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST., Nov. 17, said she visited the Sullivan room about 2:30 p.m. when she inquired whether the occupants wanted the room made up, a man's voice answered her:

"No, never mind."

Noella Andre, another chambermaid, said she checked the Sullivan room six times during the evening of Nov. 17 and each time found the indicator below the door knob showed that the door had been double-locked from the inside.

Sabotage Blamed By Duplessis For Bridge Crash

QUEBEC, Feb. 1. (CP)—Premier Duplessis Wednesday blamed sabotage for the collapse of the $3,000,000 Three Rivers Bridge which bore his name. He told the Legislative Assembly his information about the bridge was incomplete because of disrupted communications but there was reason to believe sabotage was responsible. He said the government will conduct an inquiry and take whatever action is necessary. A public inquiry will be ordered if justified by preliminary investigation, the Premier declared.

The Union Nationale Government leader noted that the bridge was an important link in the Montreal-Quebec highway system and between the neighboring industrial towns of Three Rivers and Cap de la Madeleine.

To Establish Responsibility

"Acts of sabotage are occurring almost everywhere," said the Premier. "They are due to certain subversive elements. We will conduct an inquiry to establish responsibility and if it is necessary to take proceedings, we will take them."

"We have suspicious and serious presumptions," he said.

The bridge disaster was the main topic of conversation around the Legislative Buildings. The three-year-old structure was an object of pride in government circles and was the subject of debate in the Legislative Assembly last year when fissures appeared after a February cold snap.

Shortly after Premier Duplessis who sat rigid at his Legislative Assembly desk, rose to make his statement, legislature members in various parts of the House obtained newspapers with pictures of the wrecked bridge spread across their front pages.

Premier Duplessis expressed sympathy to the families of the victims.

The death toll in the tragedy so far is four.

Companies Solvent

He then declared that the companies that built the bridge were solvent."

"The government will see to it that those who assumed responsibilities take them."

The Premier recalled that the Quebec bridge, in its time a wonder of engineering, had collapsed in 1907 and 1916 with loss of some 100 lives.

He read to the House a telegram sent in 1907 by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was prime minister of Canada, to the mayor of Quebec.

It said: "I pray you to express to the citizens of Quebec and to all those who lost relatives and friends my profound sympathy in the horrible disaster which occurred last night. It is the duty of all to keep courage. We must return to work to repair the damage and continue the project with energy."

Premier Duplessis said that the Laurier telegram might well be employed today.

Engineers On Scene

Many theories have been advanced as a likely cause of the bridge failure—in Toronto, one engineer said metal contraction due to cold weather could have been the reason—but recovery of the sunken spans seemed necessary before the reason could be determined finally.

The Dufresne Eingineering Company of Montreal constructed the bridge, the Dominion Bridge and Iron Company supplying the steel. Engineers from both firms were on the scene awaiting recovery of the collapsed sections, those nearest to the Three Rivers end of the bridge.

Will Introduce Seaway Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP).—A group of 22 United States Senators arranged for introduction today of legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The bipartisan measure has the approval of President Truman. In recent messages to Congress he has emphasized that the development is "urgently" needed to further the defence effort.

Senator Theodore Green (Dem. R.I.), in a prepared Senate speech said:

"We who now offer this (bill) do so with the conviction that the course of events has, after many years, made the benefits of the dual-purpose project apparent even to the most skeptical and has so increased the urgency of our realizing those benefits that the proposal will receive the Congressional approval which it has so long and so vainly merited."

He said the project "must be built" as a strategic requirement of national security and the continental defence of the United States and Canada.

Joining with Green in the introduction were 11 other Democrats and 10 Republicans.

2 Provinces Accept Ottawa Plan

Say Pension Program Can't Begin Till Total Agreement

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP) — Only two provinces — Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island — have agreed so far to constitutional amendments that would allow the Federal Government to inaugurate a contributory old-age pension program and permit the provinces to enter the field of indirect sales taxes.

This was disclosed Wednesday in the Commons when Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled correspondence exchanged with the 10 provincial governments. Ontario and Nova Scotia suggested changes in the wording of the amendments drafted by the Justice Department. Other provinces said they would study the amendments and reply later.

All provinces must agree to the amendments before the government can go ahead with proposals made to the Federal-Provincial fiscal Conference last month.

At the conference, the federal government said that if the provinces agreed to a constitutional amendment it would inaugurate a contributory pension plan under which pensions of $40 a month would be paid to all 70 and over regardless of means. It also offered to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of pensions to the needy between 65 and 69.

At present pensions of $40 a month—in some provinces a bit more—are paid to those 70 and over who can prove their need. The federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost and the provinces the remainder.

Need More Revenue

Some of the provinces felt they could not shoulder the additional burden that the federal program would place on them without additional sources of revenue. They asked to be allowed to enter the indirect sales-tax field, exclusively in federal jurisdiction now.

The draft amendment would allow the provinces to collect an indirect sales tax of up to three per cent of the sale price of an article. The tax would not apply to goods sold for shipment outside of a province. It would require the provinces not to discriminate against goods or retailers from outside their boundaries.

The correspondence was tabled by Mr. St. Laurent shortly before two members, elected in by-elections last October, moved and seconded the traditional motion calling for adoption of an address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Debate will be launched today by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. He will be followed by Prime Minister St. Laurent, M. J. Coldwel, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

In moving the motion, Dr. W. H. McMillan (L-Welland) said he hopes Canada soon will have a contributory health plan to help people meet the cost of major sicknesses or accidents.

abandoned their empty guns and fled before an American tank-led task force which swept into Wonchon, on a lateral road running east from Suwon.

American infantrymen, Swinton said, captured 44 important hills during the day as the western front was pushed forward from half a mile to 2½ miles, against waning Red resistance.

The battlefront now runs roughly on an east-west line five miles north of Suwon.

Farther east, another American unit captured a 1,371-foot mountain from which the Chinese had been harassing U.N. soldiers.

Strike Suddenly

Three thousand North Korean Reds streamed out of hideouts to strike French and U.S. troops in a three-pronged assault near Chipyong, 12 miles north of Yoju, near the junction of the central and western fronts.

Late in the day a 10th Corps spokesman said the enemy attack was under control, with allied troops using deep foxholes dug and abandoned by the Reds. But the attack was still continuing and U.N. elements were being hit on three sides.

American pilots reported many Reds withdrawing across the Han river ahead of the allied drive. Later it appeared that at least some of these were not retreating but were hastening to the area of Thursday's counter-attack.

The Han river flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul, former South Korean capital. The takeoff of the renewed allied advance was from positions within nine miles of that city.

Hopes To Return

While the battle raged, Korean President Syngman Rhee declared:

"I hope to be back in Seoul soon."

The 75-year-old president also predicted that "the war is already coming to an end," presumably because the Chinese Communist soldier "is fighting without spirit. He has no purpose for which to sacrifice his life."

Seven Chinese Communist soldiers surrendered under a white flag Thursday. They were the first in the current offensive. The Reds said they were from a newly-committed reserve.

In the west, resistance to the U.N. advance sharpened. Puerto Ricans on the western flank moved forward at dawn after an all-night artillery bombardment of enemy lines, moving deeper into the main body of Chinese resistance massed near the Han.

Screaming "Manzai, manzai," wildly-leaping North Koreans launched their counter-attack in the central and western fronts' junction area at 5 a.m. This assault was made in the region immediately southwest of Sinchon, a point north of Yoju reached by allies forces Wednesday.

Beat Off Attack

U.N. troops beat off this first attack, centred near Chipyong, but a new one started at 9 a.m. Associated Press correspondent William C. Barnard said the Reds came over a mountain and hit allied artillery from the rear.

Both sides rushed in reinforcements.

At 11:30 a.m., more than 3,000 Communists hit the Americans and French. They struck from the north, east and west.

If the enemy withdrawal across the Han were to prove a retreat rather than a reinforcing move, many Chinese and North Korean Communists would be in a poor tactical position, with the unbridged, thawing river and a short plain behind them. Thousands would be out in the open and at the mercy of allied planes and artillery.

Correspondent Swinton reported that a U.N. tank task force ran a gauntlet to enter Wonchon. American soldiers were making "grudging advances" against intensified Chinese opposition and infiltration attempts.

Swinton said the main Chinese defence line uncovered by the allied attack showed that Red defences had been hastily erected since the U.N. withdrawal south of the Han. The strong points were deep foxholes and log-covered dugouts.

On the western front, the allies pounded the Chinese all Wednesday night with artillery. A U. S. 9th Corps artillery officer said the corps had fired 40,000 rounds of ammunition since the offensive was launched last week, killing about 1,700 Communist soldiers.

Seven hundred to 900 guerrillas were reported operating in the area with a North Korean battalion of 850 men. A corps spokesman said the guerrillas threaten the main U.N. supply route running through a pass between Yongpyong and Mungyang.

the American step making Gen. Omar Bradley over-all head of all the American forces.

Mr. Claxton said the reason for making the change "was the increase in defence activities particularly those having to do with co-operation with other countries under the North Atlantic treaty which has been requiring more and more of Gen. Foulkes' time.

Co-ordinating Job

An order-in-council passed today says Gen. Foulkes, 48, will be charged with the job of "co-ordinating the operations and training of the Canadian forces."

Mr. Claxton said:

"The work of preparing fully correlated defence plans and ensuring the utmost co-operation and co-ordination between the services now requires the services of a chairman who is not an integral part of one of the forces nor particularly responsible for its administration."

Gen. Simonds will be succeeded at Kingston by the RCAF's Air Vice Marshal F. R. Miller, operations and training chief for the Air Force and one of its top brains.

Gen. Foulkes was born in England and joined the regular army as a young man. He rose to command both a division and a corps overseas in the Second World War. It was he who accepted surrender of the 25th German army in The Netherlands in 1945.

Railroad Strike Spreads Across U.S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1 (AP).—An unauthorized strike of railroad switchmen highballed across the United States today, putting a brake on the country's rail transportation.

The wildcat walkout over an old wage-hour dispute, appeared more critical by the hour, hitting directly against 33 railroads in 18 major cities. It started three days ago.

Scores of other carriers felt the impact of the fast-spreading work stoppage. So did other industries. Thousands of non-railroad workers were made idle by the strike.

The government moved to end the strike. So did officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. But, as they acted, new stoppages were reported.

Follows Pattern

The strike appeared to be following the pattern of the crippling strike of six weeks ago which in three days nearly paralyzed movement of passengers, freight and mail in many parts of the country. That walkout ended only after intervention of President Truman and court action.

There was no indication that President Truman personally planned to intervene this time.

The army, which is technically in charge of American railroads, said it is planning action to deal with the walkout.

As the strike grew, the government sought court action to end it. The government also, through the defence transport administration, ordered the railroads to embargo freight which should not be moved through yards tied up by the walkout.

At the same time, the railway express agency clamped an embargo on rail-express shipments between 14 northeastern states and the rest of the country.

Holding Hands

Her husband showed no emotion. The two were holding hands as they left the prisoner's box and were led from the court room.

Judge Cooper told Wood that if he had the authority he would give him a lighter sentence and order him whipped so he would get out sooner and work to support his children. The maximum penalty under this section is three years in prison. It does not provide lashes.

"The state lays down certain moral codes which its subjects must observe," the judge said. "Failing to do so certain penalties are prescribed. Without these moral codes, we would rapidly degenerate to primitive laws where the survival of the fittest would prevail.

"You are degenerated to even a lower state. Even animals fight to death to preserve their young."

Judge Cooper expressed the opinion that a maximum of three years in prison was low, compared with a maximum of seven years in prison for ordinary theft and up to life, including lashes, for robbery with violence.

"You have robbed a defenceless child of his worldly rights, food and medical care," the judge declared.

trols. It hoped that the present emergency would lead to a change in policy.

Shortage of construction materials, a result of the demands of national defence and essential industry, led the Ontario government in the last year to suspend construction of planned public works. The difficult situation was expected to continue.

Shortages Hit Houses

House-building in the province also reflected material shortages. In the last year some 36,000 housing units were started but the carryover of unfinished units rose from 23,000 at the end of 1949 to 28,000 at the end of 1950.

"National direction of these materials to projects of priority is wholly desirable and indeed essential, and sight must not be lost of the relationship between the need for manpower and the provision of homes for that manpower."

In a time when the world should be at peace it was frustrating to be forced to consider protection from the effects of aggression. But conditions made it imperative to prepare for national defence and the Ontario government was organizing civil defence in the province at the request of the federal government. Every co-operation would be given to create a volunteer force for protection.

Good Financial Position

Inflation had created difficulties for all forms of government in Canada. However, the financial position of Ontario municipal governments was strong. Their net debt of $260,000,000 or $64 per capita last year compared with $446,000,000 or $188 per capita in 1932.

Since 1944, provincial subsidies to municipalities had risen from 17 per cent of the municipal tax levy to 44 per cent although municipal assessments had increased by more than $4,000,000,000.

At the last federal-provincial conference Ontario had agreed to a proposal for old age pensions at 70 without a means test; and pensions for needy persons from 65 to 69 years of age. The province would introduce complementary legislation as soon as federal legislation was available.

Lack Opportunity

Amplifying the proposal to have hydro enter the rural phone field, the speech said telephone systems in the rural areas lacked the opportunity of keeping up with technical developments. The government or its agencies now operated three telephone systems in the province—the Ontario Northland Railway's efficient trunk line system, in North-Eastern Ontario; the Department of Lands and Forests' province-wide wire and wireless network; and Hydro's private system. The proposed legislation would enable Hydro to assist and extend the rural systems.

Within the last year Hydro had expanded its electrical power generating capacity by more than 600,000 horsepower. Continuation of its program would give the system dependable power resources of more than 4,000,000 horsepower by the end of this year. More than 300,000 rural customers now received hydro power. Plans for expansion would be given to the legislature.

Make Progress

The last year had seen great forward steps in the field of conservation and flood control. Construction had been started on the Fanshawe dam and reservoir on the Upper Thames River at a cost of $4,000,000. Ontario, the Dominion and municipalities were co-operating in the project. Flood control projects had been completed at Ingersoll and Long Branch. Other work in progress included a diversion project at Brampton, the Luther Marsh dam on the Grand River and work in Kent county.

There was a pressing need for highway expansion and modernization. Motor vehicle registration had passed the 1,000,000-mark. Highways had to be built to stand heavy traffic demands and had to be safe for travel. Shortage of materials might affect work in the next year.

Ontario experienced great industrial expansion in 1950. More than $500,000,000 was invested in new manufacturing plants and equipment. This included more than 60 new industries and resulted in demand for 65,000 new workers. Value of mine production amounted to more than a third of a billion dollars. Ontario industry now employed 1,500,000 persons.

No Mention of Report

In its review of education, the speech made no mention of the Hope Royal Commission report which was issued in December after more than five years study of the provincial educational system.

Educational conditions were good and were improving, said the speech. School enrolments rose by 27,000; new school accommodation was provided for 36,000 at a cost of more than $30,000,000; 287 more candidates than last year entered teacher training.

School grants this year would be larger than last year's $42,500,000. Grants were being distributed on a new basis which extended more aid for capital expenditures and avoided sudden and drastic changes from variations in assessment, population or school expenditure.

5. Affirmed the determination of the U.N. to continue its action in Korea to meet the aggression.

6. Called upon all states and authorities not to help the aggressors.

Just before the vote, Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb urged the assembly to concentrate on seeking a peaceful settlement in Korea and to go slow on sanctions against the Chinese Reds.

The most important task of the U.N., Jebb said, is to study all possibilities for a peaceful settlement, leaving sanctions until last.

"Sanctions should not be applied by this assembly for a long time," he said.

No Statement

Police said that 30 minutes after the blast they had received no calls from citizens, already taking this sort of thing in stride.

Many people said they felt the vibration but did not see the flash.

In Washington, the A.E.C. declined to discuss the blast in any way.

Repercussions from the shock took six minutes to reach here, which would put its centre about 70 miles away. The 5,000-square-mile bombing range starts about 40 miles northwest of here in desolate desert largely cleared of its few prospectors and other residents.

The range embraces parts of four counties.

A.E.C. chairman Gordon Dean said Tuesday that no details will be released of the Nevada experiments because "we don't want the nature of these tests or their success, or lack of success, known to the Russians."

Dollar Climbs

MONTREAL, Feb. 1 (CP). — The American dollar today opened at 5⅝ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1-16 higher than Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.05⅝ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95-1-16, up 3-16.

Gangway Falls 16 Killed In 50-Ft. Drop

BELFAST, Feb. 1—(AP)—A gangway leading to a ship collapsed Wednesday night, killing 16 workers and injuring 48 others.

The workers, crowding ashore at the end of a shift, fell 50 feet. Some were thrown into the water and others on the pier beside the ship, the Juan Peron, which was being outfitted as a whale factory ship for an Argentine firm.

The ship is a vessel of almost 30,000 tons. It is the largest of the type ever built and is designed to operate as a ordinary tanker during the closed season on whales.

It was the worst shipyard disaster in Belfast history. Eyewitnesses said the scene was heart-rendering, with cries and groans coming from men crumpled up on the wharf. Many of the injured suffered broken legs in the fall from the long, narrow gangway.

There was a loud crack when the wooden gangway parted. Most of those who fell were painters. Some escaped serious injury because they fell on the bodies of others. One youth saved himself by catching an air line leading from the ship to the dock.

Weeping wives and mothers gathered outside hospital gates. Many collapsed as the names of the dead were announced.

MARCONI
Father of Radio

As you sit around your radio tonight cosily listening to a favorite program, give a thought to the pioneer who made it possible—and especially to that young Italian who, stationed at Hospital Point, Newfoundland, one day in the year 1901, received the first wireless signal ever to be transmitted across the Atlantic.

The young Italian was Signor Guglielmo Marconi. His aerial was a kite string of steel wire. He wore ear phones attached to a bit of crude apparatus, and he was listening for a signal from his transmitting station in Poldhu, England. Finally the signal came. It was only the letter "S"—merely three dots in Morse code — but it was epoch making.

Marconi profited by the discoveries of others. The story of radio really begins with a young German scientist named Henrich Hertz who first discovered, in 1887, the waves—since called Hertzian waves—which are the foundation of wireless communication. Hertz learned that these waves travelled with the speed of light (186,000 miles a second) and could pierce thick walls.

That was as far as he got Marconi put the discovery to practical use. What are these mysterious waves that bring us speech and music at the twist of a dial? Science answers that they are very similar to light rays, the only essential difference being in their frequency or rate of vibration. The effects of light waves are visible to us because we have eyes that are attuned to them.

Toronto Man Freed On Theft Charge

COBOURG, Feb. 1—(ENS)—A charge of theft against George Ambrose, of Toronto, was dismissed in county court by Judge M. A. Miller on Wednesday. Ambrose was charged with theft of a sum of money over the value of $25 from Albert Weir on Oct. 13 last year, at Roseneath.

Main witness was the complainant, a man of advanced years, who said that the accused was one of five men who came to fix his chimney last year on the morning of October 13 and that afterward he discovered several hundred dollars missing from his desk.

"In this case it all comes back to the identification made by Weir. There is no doubt that Weir knew Ambrose and recognized him but there is some doubt that he recognized him from the visit in the morning alone or that he was the man who had been there at night. Weir is an honest man but appeared badly confused and what he said at the preliminary hearing does not agree with what he said here today. I am satisfied that he was robbed and by people connected with the chimney repair crew. Under the circumstances, I must dismiss the charge," said Judge Miller.

Weir testified that on October 13 last year, Ambrose called at his house with a crew of workmen to solicit the job of repairing his chimney. They painted the chimney and put a cement top on it and charged him $170 for the job. Weir said that he paid Ambrose the money from his bedroom desk.

At the hearing, the complainant said there was about $900 in the desk but at the preliminary hearing, estimated it at $700. Around midnight, the same date, he was awakened by two men, one of them Ambrose and another one who had fixed the chimney that morning. They told him they wanted to see the oil furnace and all went down cellar, the other man went upstairs. On his way to bed again he noticed that his desk had been broken into and several hundred dollars had been taken.

Clarence Lockhart and James Thompson of Roseneath said they saw a car in Weir's yard around midnight, Oct. 13.

Ambrose was arrested at Winnipeg and brought back to Cobourg by Provincial Constable W. Baluk. Hibbard was never located.

Truck, Car Collide

A truck and a car skidded into each other at London and Downie Sts. late Wednesday afternoon, doing some damage to the car, but little to the truck.

Albert Millard, 482 Cameron St., was driving the car west on London St. The truck driver, Patrick Killen, 350 Dublin St., was driving north on Downie St.

Both drivers said they put on their brakes, but skidded on the icy surface into a collision.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

Bethany Vestry Reviews Year

BETHANY, Feb. 1— (ENS) — The annual vestry meeting of St. Paul's Anglican Church, was held at the rectory on Monday evening. Rev. T. S. Gault led the devotional period and gave a brief report of the work of the year which included four baptisms, one marriage, three burials and eleven candidates for confirmation. Two events of outstanding importance had taken place: the sunday school was reorganized and given a new lease of life under the capable leadership of H. F. Rayson and a loyal band of teachers and officers; also, a junior auxiliary had been organized through the efforts of Mrs. J. J. Hamilton and the leadership of Mrs. H. Rayson and Mrs. M. Smith. Mr Gault expressed his thanks and appreciation to the Wardens and all members of the Congregation who had worked so faithfully throughout the year.

Robert Read, People's Warden gave the financial statements, showing a balance on hand of $392.57.

H. F. Rayson reported a successful year for the Sunday school, with a balance on hand of $19.23, an average attendance of 30. Their activities had included a Sunday School picnic, a Christmas party and boxes sent to sick members during the term. Dianne Bigelow and Howard Morton held the highest attendance record and were given a prize.

The work of the newly-organized Junior Auxiliary was given by Mrs. H. Rayson and Mrs. Mervin Smith, who reported 14 members between the ages of six and twelve. The interest shown by the children has been most encouraging. The first meeting of the month takes the form of a study and devotional lesson and the second is craft work, the object being to send parcels or donations to the missions. Their financial report showed a balance on hand of $7.22.

The work of the Women's Auxiliary was reported by Mrs. J. J. Hamilton. Ten meetings were held with an average attendance of fourteen. Receipts were $719.08 and xpenses $534.18, leaving a balance of $184.90. Over seventy pounds of clothing was sent to the Church Relief Abroad fund and a bale valued at $25.95 sent to the Auxiliary house for Missionary use. Socks were donated to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund; $150.00 was given to the church wardens; $5. to aid in the work of the Sunday School Van workers in the Western provinces; $6. towards the new Church Sign Board and gifts were made to the Bishop's Messengers at Swan River, Manitoba to be distributed at Christmas time to children in remote districts. The sick and shut ins were remembered during the year. Funds for this work were raised by holding a supper and bazaar, making and selling a variety of articles, donations, payment of fees and talent money by the members.

A most successful year was reported by Mrs. Earl Smith for The Ladies Guild. Their total receipts were $725.25; expenditures $214.34, leaving a balance of $510.91. Their funds had been made by making quilts, a Play, Strawberry Festival, Thanksgiving dance, sale table at the bazaar, the sale of greeting cards. The balance on hand will be used for the welfare and maintenance of the Church.

Robert Read was re-elected as people's warden; Miss Laura Morton as secretary; Allan Gribble, aduitor; Mrs. Alice McGrath, organist; Wm. Phillips, sexton; Robert Morton, lay delegate to the Synod. The rector's warden will be announced later. Mr. Read and Mr. Gribble were appointed as a committee to purchase an electric motor fo rthe church organ. Necessary repairs are to be made on the furnace in the church .

Reds Blamed For Trouble In Coal Mines

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 1. — (Reuters). — Foreign Minister Percy Spender today said Australia faces "a Communist conspiracy" in the coal miners' decision to stage one-day stoppages starting next week. The miners are protesting a recent wage award.

As the miners' central council threatened to extend the strike, Spender said that "continued defiance of the law can no longer be tolerated." The Government would not be deterred by threats in its determination to uphold the arbitration system.

Unless the "conspirators" are dealt with, he said, Australia's economy will be destroyed.

The miners' central council decided on the one-day-a-week stoppages Wednesday. Today it threatened to make it two days a week if the government takes legal action against the union leaders.

The council's strike decision followed similar action by rank-and-file mass meetings in protest against a recent ruling by the coal-industry tribunal ruling. The ruling said that wage rises of up to $4.48 a week should be conditional on the miners' working 10 full days every two weeks.

The tribunal banned stoppages last week. The miners face six months imprisonment or a $250 fine if they ignore the ban. The govrenment has also threatened to invoke the Crimes Act., which would mean that troops could take over the mines.

The Proposed Provincial Sales Tax

We return once again to the topic of the proposal to amend the B.N.A. Act in such a way as to legalize a new, indirect provincial sales tax. We have discussed this matter in these columns before, but it is of such importance that we make no apology for recurring to it. Let us say at once that we are against it. Unquestionably the provinces must have some way of raising the revenue they need, but there is already a federal sales tax of 8 per cent. and the additional provincial sales tax of 3 per cent. would mean that two authorities were taxing in the same field—a condition of affairs which we consider wrong. And because the tax would be collected from the vendor rather than from the purchaser it would be an indirect tax—a turnover tax on gross sales. Indirect taxes are dangerous because they are not seen. It is proper that a citizen should be taxed; it is important that a citizen should be aware of the fact every time he pays a tax; when a tax is hidden it is altogether too easy for injustice and discriminatory taxation to establish itself. And it is far easier to allow an unjust tax to establish itself than it is to persuade a government to take it off again.

* * *

As matters stand at present, provinces may impose a direct tax on sales; a direct tax is one in which the purchaser knows that he is paying a tax every time he pays it. Such taxes already exist in Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Quebec, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. Such taxes serve to raise necessary revenue; why then should these taxes be hidden by placing the responsibility for payment on the vendor? The provinces have said that the change would make collection simpler and cheaper. But there are things even more important than simplicity of application to be considered when a tax is levied. It is a fact that if a housewife pays one dollar, and an extra three cents tax for an article, she knows that she is paying a tax; but if the matter is put in the hands of the vendors, she may find herself paying one dollar and five cents for a dollar article, and all that she will know about the matter is that her cost of living has risen. We do not imply that merchants are dishonest in this respect; we do say that a hidden tax encourages rises in the cost of retailing and consequent rises in prices for which it does not, entirely account.

* * *

Furthermore, the provincial sales tax would be in effect a tax on a number of other taxes. All goods now bear the 8 per cent. federal sales tax; many goods also bear federal excise taxes. The proposed 3 per cent. provincial sales tax would be reckoned upon these as well as upon the actual manufacturer's cost of the article. In some places it would be reckoned upon a provincial or municipal consumer's tax as well. This business of taxing taxes cannot be defended. It is no excuse to say that revenue must be collected somehow. Good ends do not justify bad means, and the taxing of taxes is an abuse, capable of leading to other and worse abuses. It is a maxim of good government that taxation must be kept as simple and direct as possible.

* * *

There is a strong probability that the proposed provincial indirect sales tax will come to nothing. It is linked with another proposal that the federal government should take over responsibility for old age pensions. The federal government has said that it will not approve of either amendment to the B.N.A. Act unless the provinces are unanimous in asking for both. But the provinces are not at one in their desire to make old age pensions a federal care, and this lack of unanimity may kill the proposed sales tax. As we consider it a bad tax, we hope that this will be the case.

Trans-Canada Highway Needed More Than Ever

There is some talk that the Trans-Canada highway project may be shelved again, because of the need for men and materials for munitions. This is false economy. From a military, national defence point of view the highway is more urgently required than ever before. Even in the economics of defence the Trans-Canada's completion is essential as an alternative means of moving goods and supplies. It is to be hoped that the talk of shelving the highway is empty rumour. Military planners themselves should be the most strenuous objectors to dropping the project or going slow on it.

There is much to be done. In the first place, Quebec and Nova Scotia have not yet agreed on terms by which the highway would pass through those provinces. The Trans-Canada is a joint provincial-federal effort and there will be no cross-Canada highway until Nova Scotia and Quebec do come to terms with Ottawa, as the other provinces have done. Secondly, there is the actual condition of the road, or projected road; the amount of work to be done.

The highway will be some 4,975 miles long, as planned now. Less than half (2,208 miles) is already in existence and paved, and even these miles are not all first class highway. The unpaved parts total 2,767 miles. The largest chunk of this is in Ontario where 956 miles have to be constructed. The next largest job to be done is in Newfoundland, where 570 miles of highway are scheduled for building.

After the signing of the agreement early last year, each province under treaty had a program of work for 1950. In all except Newfoundland these programs have been nearly completed. Now in this year there should be not only work planned on the same scale as last year; the pace should be accelerated, so that the highway will be completed ahead of schedule—now a ten-year plan. It is work of extreme national importance.

Peterborough has of course a special interest in the Trans-Canada, for it will pass through this centre. Considerable work was done last summer and autumn on Number 7 east of the city (Number 7 lies on the Trans-Canada route) and this work is continuing. Number 7 northwest of the city is in need of attention, and we have still to see any plan by which the Trans-Canada will be carried through or around the city.

Don't Monkey With Massey Hall

At a recent meeting of Toronto's Board of Control a gentleman named Alderman Fishleigh suggested that Massey Hall be destroyed, and a "modern music centre along the lines of Rockerfeller Centre in New York" be put in its place. The Massey Foundation is to be approached about it.

We hope the Massey Foundation tells the Toronto Board of Control to go jump in the lake. Massey Hall, acoustically considered, is one of the finest auditoriums for the performance of music on this continent. Such acoustical perfection would be difficult—perhaps impossible—to recapture. Having a hall which is famous for its acoustics, Toronto would be wise to keep it.

Massey Hall is not modern, and its interior is decorated in a style which impresses the modern eye as amusing at a first glance. But one grows fond of it. Those Moorish arches, and those sweeps and whorls of decoration have a fine quality of their own; in another twenty or thirty years Massey Hall will have passed from the state in which it is merely old-fashioned into the blessed state where it is a quaint survival; then every effort will be made to preserve it. A hall designed in the modern style would not, in all probability, be more beautiful, and it might begin to look old-fashioned in twenty-five years; much modern design during the present century has not stood the test of time; look at most buildings built in 1925 if you doubt it.

Lastly, Massey Hall has tradition. Virtually every great performer of the past sixty years has appeared there. It is linked in the minds of Ontario concert-goers with innumerable great occasions. The echoes of past greatness linger in those curious arches, and the echoes of the great ones of our own day kiss and commingle with them there. It is Canada's finest concert hall, and he who seeks to tear it down is a vandal.

Hard Times In China

Mao, Communist war-lord of China, has established firmer control over a greater part of China than any other war-lord in the last hundred years. But the China he rules is a broken, torn country. It was at war with Japan from 1931 to 1945, and suffered civil war from 1945 until last year when Mao completed his conquest. Thus the country has been ravaged by war, its people decimated, and its productivity plagued. This has been in addition to the usual catastrophes of crop failures and flooding and epidemics.

That is the country which Mao and his Communist government have now to operate in competition with the West. Out of this situation they have to bring order and stability, both economic and social. The national economy is shockingly dislocated and desperate efforts have had to be made to curb inflation, rebuild production and feed the people. These efforts are not entirely successful.

The regime has had difficulty in weathering several crises. Early last year, for instance, as the New York Times recalls, "a social crisis was compounded by the lingering effects of the devastating droughts and floods of 1949, incredibly heavy Government financial levies and an over-monopolization of trade by the state companies." Last March thousands of Chinese starved, shops closed, peasants rioted, public granaries were looted, and Red political agents assassinated. The Government was forced to ease its political and taxation measures. China is still teetering on an economic and social brink.

Is this the China that would willingly make war with the United States?

Big Brother Is Watching You

by
G. E. R. GEDYE

THE late George Orwell was painting a horrific fantasy of the future when in his novel "1984" he created a super-totalitarian state whose inhabitants were ever conscious of the eyes of their dictator upon them. "Big Brother is Watching You" was the poster reminder that spurred them to new endeavour. But Hungarians shivering before the empty grates of 1951 are already being offered serious Communist testimony to the miraculous effect of Big Brother's steadfast gaze.

"SZABAD NEP", official Communist Party organ in Hungary has published a long article by a coal miner explaining how he became a Stakhanovite, or "shock worker". It started when he challenged a more powerfully-built colleague "Karolyi" to hew more coal than himself. "I found it hard going from the first day", he writes. "I realized that usually I had worked only with my two arms, allowing my shoulder-blades, loins and legs to do too little. Now I put every ounce of weight in my body into the work. We began to cut more coal." But when evening came, I found Karolyi had beaten me. He had started putting the main burden of the stroke alternatively on left and right arms.

"Next day I had another idea. Formerly, I used to pause for five minutes at the end of an hour's hard work, if my muscles were tired and aching, and then work on until I was again exhausted. Now I brought to bear on my task what I had learned in long-distance running. After a time the runner feels his heart pounding, his lungs bursting, his legs as heavy as lead. But if he keeps it up these symptoms of exhaustion slowly pass and he can run on. I applied this to coal-hewing. My arms seemed to be dropping off from exhaustion but I worked on, giving myself no respite. But when evening came, Karolyi had beaten me again.

"DISGUSTED, I went home with the veteran miner Varju and told him my story. 'Who is watching you from the coal-face?' he asked. 'You know what I mean'. I did know—the black coal face shows the miner many pictures. I often saw my mother there, watching me toiling. Now I saw only Karolyi.

"Varju took a red book from a drawer. It was 'Stalin's Life'. 'Have you read and understood it?' he asked.

'Of course', I replied.

'It is of him that you must think. His face should look down on you from the coal face—his, and no other's. 'He loves you, he loves us all. You will see that you will achieve your task like greased lightning'.

"I never closed an eye that night, but read Stalin's life until dawn."

✧ ✧ ✧

"WHEN I went to work I was neither sleepy nor tired. When we started cutting the coal, he was watching us from the coal-face. He stood there in his blue uniform; when I was weary, he reproved me. When the work went with a swing, he said nothing, but went on watching. I could see from his smiling face how he loved us and how happy it made him to see us at work. This time I had beaten Karolyi. He invited me to the House of Culture and asked me how I had managed it. 'Think of him all the time', I said, 'as you work. He should look down also on you from the coal face. His work was harder than ours'. And so Karolyi and I both became Stakhanovites."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT it is not only Big Brother who watches the worker in Communist Europe today. An Austrian delegate to a recent trade union conference in East Germany brought back a revealing document which has now appeared in the Social-Democrat organ, the Vienna "Arbeitezeitung". It is a "control sheet" from the Erfurt Repair Works in East Germany, an individual report, to be completed by the workshop "observer", on each worker placed under observation. Here are some of the 34 points that have to be reported on.

No. 1, Time lost waiting for instructions.
No. 2. Time lost waiting for tools.
No. 5. Time lost laying out tools.
No. 10. Time lost receiving pay.
No. 11. Time lost by interruption by foremen.
No. 12. Time lost by interruption by other workers.
No. 14. Time lost by attending to personal necessities.
No. 15. Time lost by fetching food.
No. 30. Time lost by arriving late.
No. 31. Time lost by stopping shift too soon.
No. 32. Time lost by unauthorized prolongation of intervals.
No. 33. Time lost by introduction of intervals.
No. 34. Time lost by private talking with other workers.

Then comes the reckoning, with spaces for "total time lost", "exact time actually spent at work", and "total lost time to be debited."

It seems that the Big Brother's steadfast gaze sometimes needs to be supplemented by less mystical observation.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

The Slow Driver

(Buffalo Courier-Express)

Public opinion in New Jersey appears to have focused resentfully on the motoring creep who delays long lines of cars by driving too slowly. A bill introduced in the state legislature calls for a $50 fine or a 15-day jail sentence for the offence.

The creeper makes himself a nuisance the country over, particularly in milder weather when traffic grows heavier. Slow to respond to a horn signal to keep to the right, he causes special trouble on roads wide enough for only two cars, making it dangerous for others to pass him.

The vehicle he operates at a snail's pace is likely to be dangerously antiquated. The creeper figures prominently in the class of motorists, unpopularly known as "Sunday drivers." No one should be allowed to impede highway traffic with impunity.

HE-MAN

A meek-looking little man who had paid $50 for a course on will-power met his old instructor.

"Well, Mr. Smith, I see the course has been successful," beamed the latter. "You are master of everything. You can control your wife now, can't you?"

"Well—er—" stammered Mr. Smith, "when she throws pokers and things at me I am—er—now able to say, 'Stop it, please!'"

Letters To The Editor

ORIGINAL SIN

Sir: It is regrettable that one who does not know God and is opposed to Him, should try to answer religious questions, as Alpha did in your issue of Jan. 26th re original sin.

God made Adam and Eve perfect human beings with absolutely free wills, and when the devil tempted Eve, she chose to eat the forbidden fruit, and gave to Adam and he also ate, and so they got to know evil, and that knowledge of evil has enslaved the human race ever since. That is original sin, and no one is free from it.

The devil's first attempt to turn man from God was by casting doubt of God in the human mind and that is exactly what he is doing today. Making men doubt the holy Bible, and the divine birth, the miracles, and the atonement, and he is doing a good job.

When men called on the Lord in sincerity and truth in the last war, what a wonderful deliverance was given them, but we soon forget. God is the same loving Father of His children today and is waiting to be gracious to us, but so long as we turn our backs on Him, He cannot succour us.

We cannot expect success in our war efforts or our assemblies so long as we ignore the Lord of Hosts.

God grant that our eyes may be opened before it is too late.

What a comfort it is to turn to your Bible Message, it is always so helpful.

MRS. R. BONNEY.

Havelock, Ont.

DISPUTES RIGHT TO BROADCAST

Sir: I always understood that before one could broadcast a talk over the air, that the script had to be submitted to the radio station for aproval. This precaution is to guard against slanderous or lying propaganda being sent out.

Tell me, Mr. Editor, is the radio station held accountable to anyone in this regard? We have the I.U.E. on the air now, daily, and of all the lying stuff they are sending out, beats everything I have ever heard, and what's more, CHEX knows it's lies. Does this station mean to say that it does not know that the I.U.E. interferred with the G.E. workers' negotiations last year? Yes sir, it knows all about it and can't pass it off by saying 'The opinions expressed are those of the speaker, and not necessarily those of this station'. The fact that these few racketeers are once again trying to hinder and spoil our dealings with the G.E. should raise every worker and make them run the gang out of town.

After the exhibition of deceit and fraud disclosed last year at the board hearing, why should the I.U.E. expect any G.E. worker to listen to their broadcasts? Not for me thanks.

DISGUSTED G.E. WORKER.

ED. NOTE: CHEX complies with the regulations laid down by the CBC governing broadcasts on public questions and controversial matters.

The Silver Town

(North Bay Nugget)

Here in the North, the spotlight of good fortune is again focused on Cobalt...the colorful mining town which refused to die when silver prices collapsed back in the hungry '30s. The good fortune is, of course, the announcement that silver has jumped from 80 cents to 90 cents an ounce on the New York market, and that cobalt and base metals are also on the upswing.

It would appear that after several false starts, Cobalt is definitely forging along the comeback trail. And, among students of the North's evolution, the far-famed Silver Town "has it coming". The discovery of silver at Cobalt in 1903 forged the key which opened the wealth of Northern Ontario. It is fitting that Cobalt should be a part of its present progress.

Reports stated that a $5,000,000 smelter may be erected near the town to process cobalt ore and its attendant by-products. The American Government claims that mines in the Cobalt camp are capable of supplying sufficient ore to produce 750,000 pounds of vital cobalt metal each year. And with increasing mine development—there are six producers in the camp now—and higher silver and base metal prices, the town's future looks bright.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity.

And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people. There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath, loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. (Luke 13: 11-17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort: who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God. (II Cor. 1: 3, 4.)

Who Are Worst Drivers?

(Edmonton Journal)

This is the age of surveys; and a large American insurance company has used this method to settle an ancient argument—which class of people are the worst drivers?

The company has gone through the records of 1,500,000 of its policy-holders, classified according to their occupations, to find out which group tended to have the most automobile accidents. The results—which it is suggested, are equally applicable to Canada—are rather surprising.

The group with the best safety record consists of "county agents," farm demonstrators and extension workers. Second best were "proprietors, managers and financial officials," who apparently carry business caution into their driving. Third, rather unexpectedly, come airplane pilots. Fourth are farmers.

Engineers, government employees, barbers and oil workers have reasonably good records. Housewives are away down on the list—23rd to be exact. Law enforcement officers place 31st; though this may not be a fair comparison, since policemen often have to take chances in line of duty.

It is when we get into some of the most respected professions, however, that we meet with really bad driving. Doctors place next after policemen; they too can plead the "emergency call" defence. But it is with dismay we note that reporters and editors rank 40th in the list. At that they are ten places ahead of lawyers and clergymen.

The very cellar of bad driving is occupied by a curiously mixed group of occupations including "students, military personnel, travelling salesmen and recreation workers."

AN OFFICIAL SOVIET PHOTO AGENCY says these are a group of American soldiers after being captured by Chinese Communist forces fighting in Korea.

Lake Will Cover Town In Australia Soon

SYDNEY, Australia —(CP)— Jack Adams is 93 and lives in the little town of Jindabyne in the heart of New South Wales mountains.

He saw the town born in the early 1870s. He is a hale and hearty old man and he expects to see it drowned below 200 feet of water before he dies.

For that is Jindabyne's fate. In a few years it will be flooded to become part of the great artificial lake that will be a key part of the Snowy Mountains hydro-electric scheme.

Burst of Prosperity

But before it drowns Jindabyne is having a burst of prosperity it has never known before.

Already 500 men are busy round Jindabyne on preliminary survey work. In three more months 2,000 more will arrive and they will be followed by thousands more.

And so Jindabyne flourishes. It's a little town—60 houses, a church, a little "pub," a post office and a couple of stores.

For its years of existence it has served a prosperous but sparsely populated grazing area.

Jindabyne is the only township within reasonable distance of the camps where thousands of men will work to provide Australia with water for the parched inland and power for industries.

Find Land Sale In Bermuda Thorny Problem

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, —(CP)—Bermuda's legislators are sharply divided on whether foreign companies should be allowed to own land in the colony which has an estimated area of 21 square miles.

There has been more than one heated debate on the subject in the 36-member House of Assembly. Latest controversy centres around a petition by the American International Company to acquire property in Pembroke parish for use as offices because it is expanding its business. The property is 1½ acres.

The House by a majority of 12 to nine agreed to grant the petition provided the company did not buy more than one acre of land. A private bill must be passed to enable a foreign company to own land in the colony.

Hon. Henry Vesey, chairman of the Trade Development Board, emphasized there was only a limited amount of land in Bermuda and the use to which it is to be put should be that most advantageous to the population generally.

H. St. George Butterfield urged Bermudians not to sell their birthright for a "mess of pottage." A woman member thought the company should rent premises.

On the other hand, Edmund Gibbons said members should do everything possible to increase the company's type of business in the colony.

A motion by Mr. Butterfield that the company's petition should not be granted split the house 11-11 and was only defeated by the chairman's casting vote. The granting of the petition subject to the one-acre limitation was then passed by 12 votes to nine.

Eagles Smear Queen's, 14-2 In Senior "B" Hockey Fray

Humbling Queen's Combines of Kingston 14-2 here last night, the Eagles tightened their grip on second place in the OHA Senior "B" group standing and gained ample revenge for a defeat at the hands of Queen's last Friday. Only a small crowd saw the speedy, clean fray, the visitors drawing three of the four penalties handed out. Minus four of their regulars, the Magee men switched positions, with Andy Milne doing double duty as centre for two lines.

They swept to a 7-0 lead in the one-sided first frame, threw in three more without a return in the middle chukker, and had a 4-2 margin on play during the closer third. The reverse pretty well means curtains to the Combines on making a playoff berth this season.

SWELL EFFORT — Speedy Andy Milne turned in a dandy chore for Eagles last night, being in on six goals as they trounced Queen's 14-2 here in a senior "B" puck waltz.

Milne Starred

Andy Milne sparked the Eagles' attack with four goals and two assists in a fine showing. Doug and Freddy Mortimer also shone with four points apiece, and Joe Rochetta had three. Lally Lalonde and Jim Munroe were each in on two, as singles were notched by Reg Stewart, Keith Montgomery, Al Burns, and Dootch Vitarelli. Don Murray and Wagar got the losers' goals in the third, Dunn and Latimer each earning an assist.

Milne scored early on F. Mortimer's passout and after Battochio served a tripping penalty, D. Mortimer counted from Milne. Battochio was off again for holding when Milne rapped in Burns' pass. Later, Milne hit the mark once more alone. Doug Mortimer slipped one by Boivin from Rochetta in a scramble and the latter made it 6-0 then from Munroe on a sharp angle shot. Stewart got the last counter of the stanza with Vitarelli and Munroe aiding.

Kept Trying

Queen's pressed for a space in the second, with Don Murray and Dunn coming close. Montgomery's screened shot beat Boivin. Burns went over for cross-checking but was back when Milne skirted the net nicely to slap home the cookie. Fred Mortimer got another at the finish. Don Murray broke the goose egg in the third on a screened shot at defence, Dunn and Latimer building up the play. Doug Mortimer got it back neatly from Fred Mortimer, and then Rochetta added one from Lalonde. Fred Mortimer rammed one in on a backhander from Doug Mortimer and Milne. Lalonde's hot angle shot ended the Eagles' scoring. Latimer returned from a sentence for using a broken stick and Wagar tallied the final goal. Teams:

Queens. Goal, Boivin; defence, Battochio and Bender; centre, Wagar; wings, Klym and R. Murray; alternates, Ohlke, Shepherd, Latimer, Graves, St. Pierre, Wilde, D. Murray and Dunn.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery and Burns; centre, Milne; wings, D. Mortimer and F. Mortimer; alternates, Rochetta, Vitarelli, Stewart, Greenlaw, Coombs, Munroe and Lalonde.

Lots Of Cage Action On Tap For Weekend

Thirteen local basketball teams are scheduled for league games over the weekend both in the city and out-of-town. On Friday night five games will be played at the YWCA and the PCVS gyms while six games will be played in Port Hope, Lindsay and Kitchener. Two intermediate games form Saturday's program at the YMCA.

Fred Allore's St. Peter's High seniors will open the Ontario Catholic Athletic Conference basketball Friday night in Kitchener meeting St. Jerome's College. This is the Conference's first year in basketball and includes only senior teams from St. Peter's, St. Jerome's, DeLaSalle and St. Michael's.

PCVS' senior and junior girls' teams will meet the Port Hope High girls in the lakestore town Friday night. Wins for both teams would give them a three-straight record, winning previous doubleheaders from Bowmanville and Cobourg.

"A" Teams Here

At PCVS Friday night the "A" cage teams are hosts to Oshawa Central's senior, junior and bantam teams. A win for the PCVS seniors is a "must." The other two games are expected wins for PCVS.

Jack Cullis' "B" teams from PCVS, the seniors and juniors, along with Zoltan Temesy's bantams, will be in Lindsay for a Friday night tripleheader. This "B" grouping winds up next Friday night at the PCVS gym in return games with Lindsay.

In the weekly girls' city league doubleheaders at the YWCA Friday, Neill's meet Normals in the first game and Nurses play Lindsay Grads in the second.

Gord McIntyre's Marines, leading the lakeshore intermediate "B" league, are hosts to Port Hope Saturday night in the YMCA. Attempts are being made to have Bowmanville intermediates play the Clapper's Bruins in a preliminary game.

Brintons Victors By 9-5 Score Over St. Peter's

HASTINGS, Feb. 1 — (ENS) — Brintons added another win to their string last night, taking St. Peter's 9-5 on Hastings ice.

Except for the odd St. Peter's flurry, Brinton carried play all the way, and only the fine goaltending of Gratt kept the score out of double figures.

Lawson fattened his average with four goals and an assist, while Anderson came up with three goals. Parsons and O'Connell were top men for St. Peter's with a goal and two assists apiece.

Brinton Carpet — Goal, Byers; defence, Riches, Berardi; centre, Reid; wings Willshaw, B. Anderson; alternates, Eakins, Lawson, Richlark, Huard, McIndoe.

Rural Loop Standing

KEENE, Feb. 1 (ENS)—Standing of the teams in the Otonabee Rural League with about half the schedule complete is:

	W	L	Pts	F	A
Keene	4	0	8	13	7
Hiawatha	4	1	8	26	5
Downers	3	1	6	21	8
Indian River	2	3	4	13	16
Assumption	1	4	2	12	20
Westwood	0	5	0	7	36

With Westwood and Assumption playing better every time out it looks like a hot battle for that fourth play-off spot leaving Keene, Hiawatha and Downer's fighting it out for the top spot.

Two peewee games this week resulted in Team No. 2 defeating Team No. 1 by 4 to 3 and tieing with Team No. 3, 1 to 1. Godfrey, Pete Nelson and Geo. Edwards were the choice of their respective teams in these two.

Rural League Thursday—Indian River at Hiawatha at 7 p.m., and Westwood at Keene at 9 p.m. The peewees play a doubleheader starting at 12.00 Saturday.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary downed King George 10-3 in a senior School Hockey League fray at Riverside yesterday. Cliff Morgan got three goals, Don Friar and Jack Dafoe each counting two and aiding on a pair, with George Putnam, Dick Horton and Ed. Deal getting singles. Two assists were notched by Ray Brady. The losers' goals were by P. McIlmoyle, G. Harding and G. Dack. Fighting penalties were drawn by Deal and Mc Ilmoyle, and high-sticking ones by Friar and Roote. Teams:

Queen Mary—Friar, Dafoe, Morgan, Deal, Brady, Horton, Boyre, Reynolds, Putnam, Harris, Deck.

King George — Roote, McIlmoyle, Barker, Atkinson, G. Harding, Dack, McKenzie, Butcher, Rogers, P. Harding, Roberts, Johnston, Ellis.

Referee, D. T. Crawford.

Marines' Cagers Take Easy Win In Oshawa

Ted Payne's 26-point effort Wednesday night enabled the Marines intermediate "B" team to win its sixth straight game in the lakeshore league. Payne sank most of his points in the second half against Oshawa Irish in the Motor City, Marines coasting in 55-39.

Although Marines were ahead throughout the game, they had some trouble in the first as the Irish juniors held the locals to a two-point lead, 22-20 at half time. Jim Thorburn and Bill Dadson, who was moved forward for this game, sent in the first half points as Doug McPherson and Fred Plato, at guard, set up fast-breaking pasing plays from the rebounds.

Broke Loose

"Nipper" Payne then began to break loose and didn't finish until his total was 26. McPherson and Plato continued to feed the three forwards, Thorburn, Dadson and Payne, and this steady attack broke down Oshawa's defensive system. Mroczek topped the Oshawa cagers in both halves.

Payne's 26 points was tops for the night to boost his average up to 19 points a game for the six so far this year. Oshawa's Mroczek divided 22 points in the two halves to lead the Irish offensive while teammate Fry had eight. Thorburn with 11 and Dadson with 10 were other leading scorers.

Lineups:

Marines (55) — Thorburn 11, Payne 26, Dadson 10, Plato 5, McPherson 3.

Oshawa Irish (39)—Mroczek 22, Phillips 6, Gedge 1, Booth 2, Stuck, Sarnosky, MacInally, Harrell, Fry 8.

Hastings Triumphs

HAVELOCK, Feb. 1—(ENS)—The Hastings juveniles triumphed over Havelock at the local arena on Tuesday night by a score of 12 to 1. There was fast skating throughout but it seemed an off-night for the Havelock boys and they were unable to click. It was also a rough game. J. Ruttan of the Havelock team was injured early in the third period and had to receive medical attention.

Bill Laing, star player for the local team, scored the Havelock goal to keep up his reputation of being a goal-getter in every game he has played. J. Chase was given the assist.

Stevenson and Isaac were high scorers for Hastings, accounting for half of the score by getting three goals each.

Hastings — Goal, Montgomery; defence, B. Wilson, R. Isaac; forwards, P. Stevenson, A. McMillan, J. Herrington; alternates, W. Dodds, D. Colby, B. Cobblelick, D. Bethune, D. Condon, R. Chambers, McMillan.

Havelock—Goal, J. Southward; defence, J. Laing, B. Pollock; forwards, R. Pollock, B. Laing, J. Chase; alternates, G. Bales, J. Thompson, K. Nobes, A. Patterson, A. McLean, G. Heath, J. Ruttan.

Rare Birds

NANAIMO, B.C. — (CP) — A small flock of rare trumpeter swans is spending the winter near here, being fed by game warden Henry Greenfield. The trumpeters, largest fowl on the continent, feed mainly on seed.

Pheasants Stolen

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Someone evidently stole five rare pheasants from the Greater Niagara Boating Club's bird pen in Chippewa Creek. The birds were being kept for liberation in this area next spring. A reward of $50 was posted for information leading to the capture of the thieves.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Next senior "B" puck tilt here is tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Kingston Nylons oppose the top-place Petes, and the Partis-Catlin-Gerow gang, trying to catch the second-place Eagles ere schedule's end, will give it all they have. They feel that second slot is the best place to finish, but will have to dislodge Eagles first. A win tonight for Nylons would be a big help to them. The Petes aren't being pushed around by anyone these days, and it shapes up as a nifty hockey number. Two fine goalies, Harding and Udall, will be strutting their stuff in this encounter, and the game should draw a big crowd.

Jack Park in the London paper has a good point. He says fans pay to see two full teams in hockey action. But penalties quite often mean the difference. When teams are well-matched, one can't afford to have a player or two sitting in the sin bin while the other squad (at full strength) gangs up, frequently scoring one or two goals. He wonders if a penalty shot rule could be adopted and a free shot given any team fouled. In football, illegal play is penalized by the loss of yards. Basketball gives free shots on fouls. A penalty in hockey not only hurts the whole team but isn't quite fair to fans, either.

Big Lacrosse News

Our senior "A" lacrossers have named Don Crowe as coach for this year, with Pup Curtin manager and Red Creighton aiding on both jobs. That's a swell setup as we see it. Three valuable guys in there to handle the playing end of it. Both Pup and Red have lots of experience, and Crowe should be a first-rate coach. He knows lacrosse thoroughly—as well as hockey and football—and he has had plenty of executive experience. A fighter who can do the things he tells his men to do—and do them extra well — he is liked by all. We'll have more to say on him again soon.

Prexy Bob Peirson has a solid executive this year, including: Ernie Braund, Mick Magee, Howard McLean, Paul Irwin, Dr. Herb Young, Pete King, Ken Kingston, Walt Murphy, Harry Yudin, Doug Miller, Red Creighton and Pup Curtin. They're figuring on half a dozen proven stars in addition to the pick of last year's club—and they are definitely Mann Cup minded. There's quite a scramble on now to grab aces off other clubs, so no names can be published for a little while as to transfers, etc. It appears, though, as if the large, faithful OLA fan following here will be rewarded in '51 with a strong contending senior club.

Like Tennessee Waltz

It's rather hard to figure how Eagles lost to Queen's just last Friday and then pasted the whey out of them here last eve, 14-2, shy several regulars in this senior "B" tango. Played rings around 'em last p.m., but then Queen's tried to play hockey this time instead of using their sticks for carving purpose—and also there was a pretty competent referee in charge. The men of Magee looked good from the goal out. Doug Mortimer teamed up with Andy Milne and brother Freddy Mortimer on one line and they accounted for a raft of goals. Andy was the star of the game with a great effort as he played centre on two lines, Eagles being short a centre. Lalonde is coming along okay, Monty can really stickhandle, while Burns and Munroe are looking good on defence. They earned the win easily.

* * * * * *

As for Eagles' injuries, Bob Parnall is home now for a month. He's in a big cast but is expected to be as good as ever within four months, and that's good news after his bad RCAF accident. Johnny Godfrey won't play again — and fans will miss seeing this grand defenceman in action.. The doctor says his eye should be pretty fair in about six months, but may take two years to be perfectly well. A tough blow to a good guy. Bill Crowley's injured hip is expected to keep him out perhaps two weeks yet, we hear, while Bert Hill hopes to be ready for action again in about a week with that bad leg of his okay. We believe Gus Leonard of the Petes is ready for play once more.

Pull Goalie Out At Finish Hurricanes Tie Hawks 5-5

By the Canadian Press.

Generally the coach of a losing hockey team, if he pulls out his goalie in the dying seconds of the game for an extra forward, gnashes his teeth in despair as opposing wingers flip another counter into an open net.

But occasionally that extra man on the attack pays off and Wednesday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game at Waterloo was one of the times.

Coach Bob Kinnear of the last-place Waterloo Hurricanes had the satisfaction of seeing the strategy pay off but the best his team could do was salvage a 5-5 draw with Galt Black Hawks.

Kinnear pulled goalie Bob Shropshire with only 27 seconds remaining and Doug Warner scored from the face-off to earn the tie. The teams went scoreless in overtime.

Galt goal-getters were Ken Wharram, Len Cooke, with two, Tony Poeta and Garth Boyce. Ron Murphy, Claude Watters, Reg Campbell and Buddy Evans got Waterloo's other counters.

Lose Jones

Waterloo, who have taken a kicking in 33 of 39 games this season, lost the services of defenceman Ben Jones who suffered concussion and a bruised shoulder in a tumble into the boards.

In Barrie, the runner-up Flyers climbed within a point of the league-leading Windsor Spitfires by downing Stratford Kroehlers 9-2. Stratford remains in eighth place.

Don Emms, Doug Towers and Real Chevrefils were all two-goal men for Flyers while Leo Labine, Bill Hagan and Jim Morrison got one each. George Aitken and Larry Lemenchick scored for Stratford.

Toronto Marlboros, in third place, kept pace with Flyers by defeating Oshawa Generals 6-2 for the Generals' fourth straight loss. Marlboros took a 3-1 lead in the first period and stretched it to 4-1 in the second.

Parker MacDonald and Eric Nesterenko each counted twice for the Dukes with Dan Windley and Don Maxwell getting third period tallies.

Alex Delvecchio and Lou Jankowski got the Oshawa markers. Delvecchio also got an assist to tie Jankowski for the league's scoring honors.

In the only major series game Hamilton Tigers, with veteran Johnny Conick showing the way, defeated Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 9-2. The victory increased their third-place lead over the last-place Dutchies to three points.

Star centre Johnny Conick scored three goals and assisted on another. Paul Miocinovich and Tom Smellie scored two apiece and Harvey Fraser and Claire Shillington sniped a goal each.

Buffalo Nips Hornets 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons marched further ahead in the eastern division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night, nipping Pittsburgh Hornets 3-2 to increase their margin to 16 points over the second-place Hershey squad.

Procedure was reversed in the western section, however, as the last-place St. Louis Flyers outfought the league-leading Cleveland Barons to chalk up a 5-2 victory.

In other games, Providence Reds downed Indianapolis Capitals 6-2 and Springfield Indians shaded Cincinnati Mohawks 4-3.

At Buffalo, Bisons' defencemen racked up all three goals.

The Bisons surged ahead 3-0 on tallies by Lloyd Finkbeiner, Bob Blake and Rolly McLenahan. John McCormack broke through Connie Dion at 8:40 of the third period while the Bisons' Gordon Pennell was in the penalty box, and Ray Hannigan scored for the visitors at 12:45.

Mrs. T. Doughty's Rink GetsConsolation Event

By HERB. MARTIN.

When there are more curling consolation events to be won, it will be Mrs. T. Doughty's rink that will do it. After losing their first game on Monday morning in the Ontario Ladies' Tankard, they went ahead and won five straight games to take the consolation event—and that makes three consolations that Mrs. Doughty's rink has won in the last three weeks. This is no small feat when you consider that in all these contests you meet the very best lady curlers. Besides winning the trophy, donated by Mrs. E. Northey, past president of the ladies' association, each member of the rink received an English crystal bowl. The rink:

Mrs. J. Green, Mrs. L. Browne, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. T. Doughty, skip.

Don Crowe To Coach Petes In Senior Lacrosse Group

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club in the OLA senior "A" series will be coached this year by Don Crowe. This announcement was made yesterday by president Bob Peirson, who said Pup Curtin would manage the Petes and Red Creighton would have the dual role of assistant coach and assistant manager. These points were decided at a recent meeting of the club directors.

Other appointments confirmed for 1951 were that of Jack Gainey as publicity manager, and that of Walt Murphy and Ken Kingston as senior club representatives to the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association. A full-time coach will be named for the PMLA probably within two weeks.

Half a dozen new players are expected with the Petes this year, Mr. Peirson indicated. They are proven stars, whose names will be made public when they have taken up residence here, all having promised to play for the Petes this coming season. Don Ashbee and Bob Thorpe will be back, and it is likely that Jerry Fitzgerald will return to Peterborough when the college term is over. Don Crowe may act as playing coach, at least when needed.

Athletic Star

Crowe starred for years here in lacrosse, football and hockey before being transferred by the CGE Co. to Toronto. He will probably have a cottage near Peterborough this summer and be available for all games, Don having checked thoroughly into the matter before accepting the responsible job of coaching the club, which might well be a Mann Cup contender. Pup Curtin is considered a first-class man to manage the team, and he knows the game thoroughly. The experience Red Creighton had will prove valuable to the Petes in his dual position.

This year's executive is: President, Bob Peirson; vice-president, Ernie Braund; secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Howard McLean; directors, Paul Irwin, Dr. Herb Young, Pete King, Ken Kingston, Harry Yudin, Doug Miller, Walt Murphy, Red Creighton and Pup Curtin. Improvements will be made in the spring at Miller Bowl, and more seating accommodation is likely to be provided at the southend of the place.

Toronto Sends McCormack To Pittsburgh

By VIC MORRIS, JR.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs gave lanky Johnny McCormack a unique wedding present when they sent him downstairs to their American Hockey League farm club, Pittsburgh Hornets.

The penalty-killing ace of Leafs marched to the altar Tuesday and the team's brass announced Wednesday that he would go to the minors to strengthen the Hornets, who recently lost their top scorer, Rudy Migay.

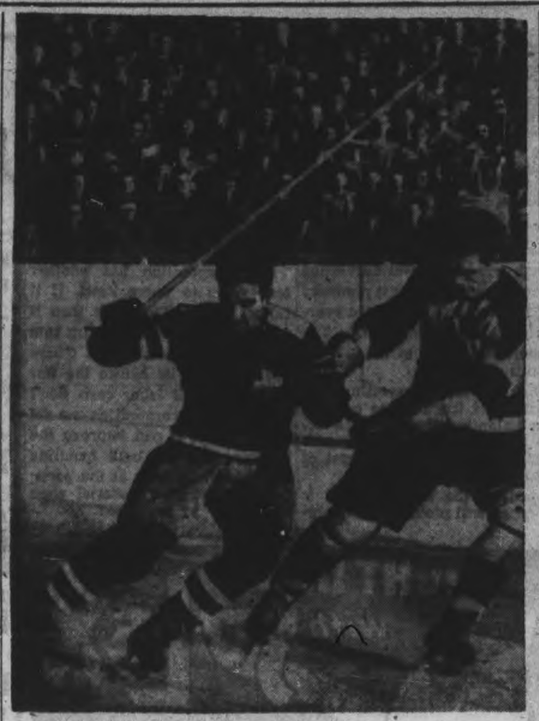
Speculation is that the bridegroom was demoted for getting married in mid-season without permission. However, it's felt that the Leafs may recall McCormack before Feb. 15—the last date on which National Hockey League teams may call up players from the minor leagues.

McCormack's wedding came as something of a surprise to his team-mates. They knew he was to be married but thought he would wait until after the hockey season.

All six teams swing into action again tonight, and three of them will be jockeying for positions.

Montreal Canadiens play hosts to the Leafs, New York Rangers clash with the Red Wings at Detroit, and Boston Bruins meet the hapless Black Hawks at Chicago.

The Habs will be out to protect their two-point margin for third place while the Bruins, two points back of Montreal, will be striving to keep New York Rangers from moving into fourth place. The Hawks are gunning for their first victory in 22 games.



Detroit holds a five-point lead over Toronto for the league leadership.

Port Hope Swamps Pickering College

NEWMARKET, Feb. 1.—Trinity College School of Port Hope displayed a potent scoring punch here Wednesday afternoon, to swamp Pickering College Firsts, 15-3, in a Prep School exhibition hockey contest. It was the second loss of the season for Pickering.

Curly Wright spearheaded the TCS attack with four goals and two assists. Gord Currie turned in a hat-trick performance. Eman Newcombe, Bob McDerment and Crick Ketchum were two-goal men. Bill Church and John Long completed the TCS scoring with singles.

Dave Stewart was the pacesetter, with Pickering College rifling in two goals. Don McMillan counted the third.

McKee's Rink Wins 1st Round In Omega Battle

QUEBEC, Feb. 1 (CP).—Play in minor curling competitions continued today in Quebec's 38th International Bonspiel after teams reached the semi-finals in three major events.

Later today, teams will play second-round games in the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy, emblematic of the international championship in the multi-prize, week-long bonspiel.

Possibility of an all-Maritimes final in the Chateau International developed in Wednesday's play as teams reached the semi-final round.

At Edmundston, N. B., No. 1 rink, skipped by E. J. St. Pierre, reached one semi-final bracket and now will meet Dr. J. M. Elliott, Quebec Victoria No. 3. In the other semi-final section, Halifax No. 3, T. A. Snow, will clash with Toronto Royal Canadian, N. Findley.

The semi-final in the Val d'Or is an all-Quebec race with Quebec No. 3, P. Ruel, meeting Quebec Etchemin, No. 3, G. Lemieux. The other pair are Bourlamaque Sigma, D. Brundage, and Quebec No. 3, E. Dussault.

First-round play in the Lieutenant-Governor's event, open to the eight teams which reached quarter-final play in the Chateau International, the Val d'Or and the Seagram's Bowl, started Wednesday.

Among the winners were three Maritime foursomes, Snow, St. Pierre and Bridgewater, N. S., Irving Hebb. Orillia, Ont., A. S. Baillie, won a first-round battle, while Quebec teams won in five other matches.

The Omega-International competition for teams eliminated in earlier competition got under way Wednesday. Four rinks which received first-round byes played their second-round games. Fredericton, N. B., No. 2, Tom Hall, and Quebec No. 4, Col. A. De M. Bell, both moved into the third round.

Four Ontario rinks won their first-round Omega International battles—Toronto Granite No. 2, L. E. Skinner; Peterborough, Dr. C. McKee; Ottawa, Sam Paquette, and London, Ont., No. 2, J. A. Wright.

Stewart Appointed To CTA Executive

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Thorncliffe Raceway will be forced to cut purses 50 per cent if the Toronto harness course is not granted night racing this season, the Canadian Trotting Association was told on Wednesday night at its annual meeting.

Thorncliffe, which distributed $200,000 in purses last year in 42 days of afternoon racing, has applied for another 42-day meeting starting July 3. The track management, however, is applying for night racing. The dates and type of racing must be approved by the Ontario Racing Commission, a government-appointed body.

H. E. Hatch of Maple was re-elected president of the CTA at Thursday night's session. J. T. Beaudoin of Thetford Mines, Que., and J. H. Lock of Toronto were re-elected vice-presidents.

Executive members are: J. W. Brown of New Liskeard, Dr. C. H Heslop of Milton, Hugh Stewart of Peterborough, and Messrs. Hatch and Lock.

Salary Cuts?

An authoritative source reported Wednesday that owner Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals seeks to cut the salary of two of his front line stars—outfielder Enos Slaughter and second baseman Red Schoendienst.

Slaughter, these reports say, has been offered a contract calling for a cut of 25 per cent, a reduction estimated at $6,300.

Saigh also has drawn a balk from Schoendienst on a reported contract calling for a 14-per-cent salary reduction.

Believes Tommy Greatest Soldier Of All

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP). — Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial general staff says the British soldier is the greatest fighting man of them all.

"The greatest soldier I have met—and believe me I have met a lot of all sorts—is the ordinary British soldier," Sir William, himself a veteran of fighting in 12 countries, said in a broadcast tribute.

"The British soldier isn't braver than other soldiers, but he is brave for a bit longer, and it's that bit that counts."

Sir William—known as "Bill" to the troops he commanded in Burma during the Second World War—spoke Tuesday night in the final broadcast of a BBC series, "The Mark of Greatness." Other speakers had singled out individuals; Sir William said he would settle for a group.

He said the distinguishing qualities of the British soldier are discipline, bravery, endurance, adaptability—and gentleness.

"It may seem strange to talk of gentleness as a soldierly quality, but it is—and he has it. Time and again the British soldier has combined real toughness and hardship with gentleness to the weak, the defeated, the unhappy. Our bitterest enemies would rather be occupied by British troops than by any others."

Gives Illustration

Sir William illustrated what he had in mind:

Salt humor: "The British Grenadier at Fontenoy, who, as the French presented their muskets for a devastating volley, intoned: 'For what we are about to receive may the Lord may us truly thankful,' was a brother to the shivering British fighting man crouching under a Korean blizzard, who exclaimed: 'I wish to heaven the Iron Curtain was windproof'."

Endurance: Sir William told how, leading a battalion which was hard pressed and apparently cut off, he pushed through a shattered trench, "as frightened to go back as to go on." Then he heard an agitated voice proclaiming another enemy attack was coming.

"There was a pause," Sir William said, "and then one of those dreamy west country voices drawled: 'Aw, don' ee worry. Us'n'll beat they.' I had found the Glosters."

Can Charge Boat Men With Reckless Driving

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP). — An RCMP spokesman said Wednesday that motorboat operators can be charged with reckless driving or speeding under Federal legislation.

He said the charge can be laid by any police officer or civilian and that the Canada Shipping Act provides for fines up to $200 for reckless operation of boats on resort lakes or rivers.

The statement followed demands by municipal officials in the Muskoka Lakes resort area for provincial legislation to curb reckless boat operation and speeding.

Barbara Stanwyck Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1 (AP)—Barbara Stanwyck sued Robert Taylor for divorce Wednesday, complaining that she is tired of "being a long-distance telephone wife."

A spokesman for the actress amplified:

"They never could get together. They were always separated by a studio gate, a mountain or an ocean."

Miss Stanwyck charged cruelty in her suit.

He said Ontario will take the bulk of farm labor and Quebec was expecting to receive 500 Italian farm workers.

Australia Finds Pigmeat Scheme Costly Failure

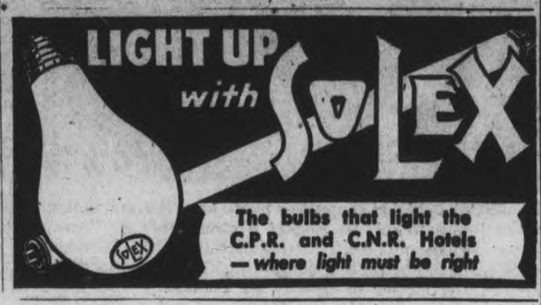
By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia —(CP)— Britain's Overseas Food Corporation has spent £2,000,000 ($4,700,000) and three years on a plan to produce pigmeat in Queensland. Now it finds none has been produced, and is turning to cattle.

Three years ago the OFC and Queensland's Labor government put up the money for the project known here as the Peak Downs scheme. Britain put up £1,500,000. The Queensland government was mainly interested in developing some of the 25-inch rainfall central country; the OFC in starting a huge farm which would evenutally turn out 500,000 pigs for Britain.

Nearly three of the seven years of development are up and now the Queensland - British Food Corporation has decided to defer pig-raising and switch to cattle fattening. Already the corporation has 17,000 cattle grazing on its 700,000 acres. To offset criticism of competitive buying of store cattle on a limited market, the corporation has started breeding its own animals.

Like the groundnut in East Africa, sorghum (cereal grain) in Queensland was going to be the magic crop. Like ground nuts, nearly everything went wrong. For the first crop, the corporation planted 22,000 acres in 10 days, an unheard-of feat. But that summer of 1948 was the driest for 60 years and then early frosts struck the total crop of 30,000 acres. The 1949 yield was only 316,000 bushels, worth £109,000 at ports, or £22,000 less than it cost to produce.



Lower Acreage

Last year's crop of 66,000 acres struck a long and wet harvesting period. In spite of this it produced 1,250,000 bushels, about the average yield from private farms. The corporation hopes to break even on this crop.

But the long harvesting and shortage of tractors has cut this year's planting of sorghum to 60,000 acres, far below the area needed to produce the target of 7,500,000 bushels.

Most of the sorghum that is produced will probably go to pig-raisers in other parts of Queensland and to pig farms in Britain. Only progress in producing Food Corporation pigs is a proposal that this year 800 store pigs should be turned loose on an experimental 640 acre plot to feed on growing crops. The corporation hopes that this way it can turn out cheap pig meat.

The corporation has another four years to prove itself. If it cannot deliver the goods then it will probably be broken up into individual farm holdings. There are three big ifs before the test can succeed: if labor costs don't rise and if the corporation can get more men if it can improve the railways and get bulk handling grain facilities built at the ports; and if Australian material costs don't rise any more.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The National Boxing Association Wednesday listed four principal contenders for the welterweight title in the event welter champ Sugar Ray Robinson wins the middleweight crown next month.

The NBA ruled recently that Robinson will lose his welterweight title if he wins the middleweight championship from Jake Lamotta in Chicago Feb. 14.

The welterweight contenders were listed as Kid Gavilan of Cuba, Billy Graham of New York, Charlie Fusari of Irvington, N. J. and John Bratton of Chicago.

Arch Hindman, NBA president, made the announcement at his home here. He said the fighters were chosen after a conference with Fred Saddy, chairman of the NBA ratings and championships committee.

An elimination tournament will be ordered by the NBA if the welterweight title is vacated.

The Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday paid a bonus of some $50,000 to sign Ben Tompkins, University of Texas junior rated by owner Bob Carpenter as a "great prospect."

Tompkins will leave school to join the Phils. Carpenter said the 21-year-old youth was signed to a contract with the Phils' Class B farm club at Wilmington, Del., of the Interstate League.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League returned Jackie Gordon, stocky centre, to Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League Wednesday.

Gordon, called up twice within two weeks from Cincinnati, filled in when the Rangers lost Edgar Laprade and Nick Mickoski through injuries. Mickoski suffered a dislocated right shoulder and Laprade a broken leg.

Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, the two Australian youths who wrested the Davis Cup from the United States Wednesday won the Australian doubles title by defeating veterans John Bromwich and Adrian Quist in a torrid five-set marathon, 11-9, 2-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Nineteen countries have challenged Australia in the 1951 Davis Cup series.

So far no entry has been received from Sweden, winners of the European zone last year.

Wednesday was the official closing date for entries but entries will be accepted by mail or cable today providing challenges were sent today.

Horse Breeders' Society Elects Officers

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—J. W. Brown, of New Liskeard, president of the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, Wednesday told the annual meeting the standard-bed in the last three years has regained its place as Canada's leading breed.

Mr. Brown was re-elected president for a second term. H. A. Dickenson, of Mount Hope, Ont., was re-elected vice-president and H. B. Watson, of Toronto, is secretary.

Directors are: H. B. Biggar, Fruitland; R. Todgham, Chatham; E. W. Fawm, Mitchell; Hugh Proudfoot, Fort Colougne, Que.; Hon. W. Earl Rowe, Neaton-Robinson; Dr. C. H. Hislop, Milton; Alex Parson, London; John Lock, Toronto; B. H. Soper, Smiths Falls; Dr. J. S. Ferguson, Chatham; H. E. Hatch, Maple, and E. R. Macklin, Burlington.

Mr. Brown said that until 1948 thoroughbreds held a numerical advantage in Canada but that year 506 standard-bred foals were registered at Ottawa compared with 496 thoroughbreds. In 1949 the figures were 605 and 507 and last year, 644 and 517.

Seventy per cent of the standard-bred registered were bred in Ontario.

New 'Toy Gun' Aims to Save Downed Airmen

Air Force crews in training near Omaha, Neb., are trying out the USAF's new "survival rifle" shown here. Weighing only three and a half pounds, it is 33 inches long when assembled, ready for use, as seen at bottom. Disassembled (top) for inclusion in a one-man survival kit, it is only 14 inches long. The rifle holds four cartridges in the clip and one in the chamber. It has proved remarkably accurate in hunting small game, main food source for stranded airmen. At right, winter-uniformed Cpl. Harvey J. Mathis, of Oglethorpe, Ga., shows how rifle looks in use.

Mayoral Regalia To Be Featured In UK Festival

LONDON —(CP)— The Lord Mayor's gilded coach, with his colorful robes and insignia of office, will be on view at the Guildhall later this year, as part of the city corporation's contribution to the Festival of Britain. It will be the first time they have been shown in public.

Among half-a-dozen robes worn by the Lord Mayor, which visitors will see, will be the crimson, velvet coronation robe and the black robe used on occasions of national mourning.

The insignia will include the pearl sword which the King touches at Temple Bar, on Fleet Street, before entering the city proper. Also on view will be an 18-inch pearl mace, whose staff is believed to be of Saxon origin.

Get Close-Up

Visitors will be able to get a close-up of the Lord Mayor's famous coach which once a year trundles from the Guildhall to the law courts in the Strand. It is noted for its exquisitely-painted panels and ornate carvings.

The city's plans also provide for a pageant of Britain depicting 19 centuries of life in London. The corporation, however, has decided that the exhibits will not be confined exclusively to history, art and tradition. The assistance of business firms and financial institutions, such as the Hudson's Bay Company and Lloyd's, has been sought in showing visitors the city as a "working centre."

Damage to city buildings by wartime bombing and the scheme for reconstruction, will also be illustrated with models and site plans.

Ontario Offers Booklet On Province's Advantages

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP). — With the slogan, "In Ontario Your Plant Will Grow," the Ontario Trade and Industry Branch has issued a booklet outlining the advantages which the province offers.

In the words of Planning Minister Griesinger, who writes a foreword, "the booklet is frankly aimed at manufacturers now considering a branch plant in Canada." He adds:

"Because of Ontario's remarkable industrial development in the past decade; because of its unique proximity to the largest market in the United States; because of its central location for obtaining raw materials and delivering finished products, it suddenly finds itself producing 50 per cent (by value) of Canada's manufactured goods. In a year, its factories pour out goods worth $6,000,000,000 . . . .

"It is probable that the province will eventually rival such industrial giants as the Midlands of Britain and the Detroit-Cleveland area in the United States."

Give Extracts

Here are some extracts from the text of the booklet, signed by F. J. Lyle, director of the Trade and Industry Branch:

Ontario has the most home consumers of any Canadian province—a population of 4,512,000.

Farm income is currently $1,050,000,000 a year. Mining production last year was valued at $323,300,000. A single year's pulp and paper production was recently worth $271,000,000.

In number, Ontario factories are about 40 per cent of the Canadian total. The province has attracted more than 350 new plants since the end of the Second World War.

Tonnages of bulk freight (through inland waterways) exceed the volume of shipping through the Suez and Panama Canals combined.

The booklet, attractively done and well illustrated, deals with markets, skilled labor, transportation in its various forms, materials, power, and services for industries.

Reject Cocktail Bar

Official count of the ballots will be completed Friday but unofficial results had "no" votes on the cocktail lounge question outnumbering the affirmative 608 to 425. On the question of dining lounges, the vote was no, 594; yes, 435.

Nehru Attitude Criticized Over Pakistan

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP). — A British peer said Wednesday that world opinion is definitely against India—and Prime Minister Nehru in particular—in the dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir.

Lord Vansittart, a man who loathes Communism and doesn't hesitate to say so, wrote in the Conservative Daily Telegraph "It is time for someone to say flatly that Mr. Nehru's attitude and his professed aims flatly contradict each other."

The Conservative peer, who was chief diplomatic advisor to the foreign office from 1938 to 1941, said it seems strange that Nehru should have so much conciliation for Communist China and so little for a fellow state in the Commonwealth, Pakistan.

Britain and other Commonwealth countries have been scrupulously neutral in the three-year-old dispute over Kashmir. Lord Vansittart, notably outspoken, is the first prominent public figure to take sides.

Other Opponents

Editorial opinion has also been against India. Reports during the recent Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference that Pakistan had accepted three possible solutions to the conflict, while India rejected them all, provoked criticism of Nehru by two Conservative newspapers, the Daily Telegraph and the Yorkshire Post.

The Economist, an independent weekly publication, commented that "in the eyes of the world he (Nehru) is giving an excellent imitation of a man with a bad case."

One frequently-voiced argument is that Nehru is inconsistent in seeking to solve the dispute on a political rather than religious basis. Kashmir, like Pakistan, is predominantly Moslem. Critics claim that Nehru did not apply the same formula in the case of Hyderbad.

Plan Affiliation

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 1 (CP) — The Ontario Turkey Association at its annual convention Wednesday voted to affiliate with the Poultry Producers' Institute of Canada. Kenneth Small of Wardsville, said the institute plans to establish an office in Toronto and appoint a secretary-manager who also will serve as organizer. William Mero of Maidstone was elected president.

Reds Use Danube To Get Propaganda To Yugoslavia

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

BELGRADE, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Danube was a blue and romantic stream to Johann Strauss, but Stalin and his Balkan satellites have made it red—at least politically.

The river is a vehicle for a constant stream of hate propaganda against Yugoslavia's Premier Tito.

In 1951 the member countries of the Communist Information Bureau (Cominform) sent hundreds of bottles and sealed tins floating down the Danube with anti-Tito propaganda leaflets urging Yugoslavs to revolt. Russian and satellite barges traversing the river dumped hundreds of pounds of similar leaflets on the Yugoslav banks.

Cominform shipping continues throughout Yugoslavia's 214-mile stretch of the river because Tito has said he will not resort to shutting off the stream, a vital artery to his hostile neighbors.

Describes Trick

The trick of using the Danube —and other rivers—to carry Cominform propaganda into Yugoslavia was decribed by Petar Stambolic, president of the provincial government of Serbia, in a recent speech to Serb parliament.

He said:

"The propaganda pressure on our country is becoming fantastic in its stubbornness, volume and the methods employed. But its effect is nil. Propaganda material is smuggled across our borders secretly at night and left in the frontier zones. This is done by their (Cominform) border troops or by especially-trained agents. These 'propagandists' frequently use firearms in their work."

Stambolic also claims that Soviet and other Cominform diplomats still stationed in Belgrade toss leaflets in the strets from their automobiles.

The Yugoslavs confiscate and burn this material as fast as they can. But they haven't the facilities for jamming the hostile Cominform radio, which has poured a day-and-night stream of anti-Tito invective into Yugoslavia since the country broke with the Cominform in 1948.

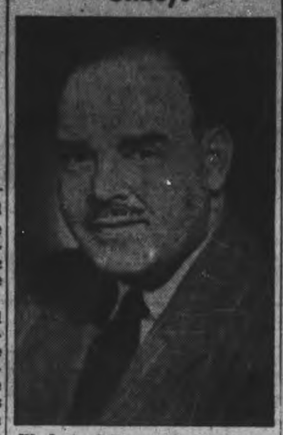
Liberal Charges Too Little Steel Used On Bridge

JOLIETTE, Que., Feb. 1 — "There was too much grease and not enough steel—those were the words widely used in the province about that bridge," Quebec Liberal Leader Georges Emile Lapalme said here Wednesday.

"I do not believe a single word that was said about the sabotage," said Mr. Lapalme. "There was no explosion." He was commenting on the sudden collapse early Wednesday of the Duplessis bridge at Three Rivers, which Premier Duplessis said he suspected was the work of subversive elements.

The contract for the bridge was made without public tenders, continued the Liberal Leader. The contract was written "in secrecy in the Cabinet office," he said.



Repairs Poor

"Last winter the bridge collapsed partially and Mr. Duplessis said a steel beam had weakened," he said. "I travelled over that bridge many times last summer and the repairs were going on then. But I was told that the bridge would totally collapse because the repairs were not strong enough."

Mr. Lapalme said that the contract between the construction company and the government provided that everything would be under the supervision of the government, even sub-contracts. He believed last winter's repair job was a sub-contract.

"Wednesday night," he said, "we had a cold wave and I heard that the weakened steel had retracted and broken."

Candle Business Booms In Britain

LONDON —(CP)— Business is booming in Britain's candle factories.

Recent power cuts have sent housewives scurrying to buy emergency supplied and manufacturers are being swamped with orders for replacements stocks. One firm was so rushed for orders, it continued working throughout recent power cuts, by the light of its own product.

The electricity problem this winter has been the severest since 1947 and British women are feeling the pinch in more ways than one.

Inside the home it's just too bad if they depend on electricity for light, heat and cooking. Many also find they have to leave the hairdresser with hair still wet. The electric driers have been cut-off. Others have left in tears with their hair in a half-permed tangle.

"It's ruining business," said Joe Eaton, secretary of the North-West Federation of London Hairdressers. "Appointments are being cancelled wholesale."

Need Lumber Urgently

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 1—(CP).—Shippers reported Wednesday that the United Kingdom, in desperate need of British Columbia lumber, has offered to pay rail freight to the Atlantic seaboard to speed shipments from here. The shipments to Britain have been delayed by a shortage of ship bottoms here.

Making Test Case On City Bylaw

Garageman Required To Have Licence For Used Car Lot

An attack was started today in police court on the validity of a new bylaw requiring owners of used-car businesses and public garages in the city to have a licence from the city.

Nick Peconi, Lansdowne St., was charged with operating a public garage without a licence.

He was prosecuted under a by-law passed Aug. 8, 1950 and amended the following December.

No Licences Issued

Acting for Peconi, Alex L. Elliott, KC, said to Deputy City Clerk Harry Hamley: "There has been no licence issued to anyone under this bylaw."

"No, I guess that's right," said Mr. Hamley.

He said Peconi had made an application for a licence but had been turned down apparently because his lot on the north side of Lansdowne St. West of Armour Rd. was in a residential zone in the city plan.

He added that Peconi had submitted a petition signed by a number of people that they had no objection to Peconi operating a used car lot in the neighborhood.

Bylaw Not Approved

Mr. Hamley said a zoning bylaw had not yet been approved by the Department of Municipal Affairs. A zoning plan of the city prepared under the Ontario Planning and Development Act had been approved by the department three or four weeks ago.

The plan was not necessarily prepared in conjuction with the proposed bylaw, said Mr. Hamley.

He said that the city had the right to withhold granting a licence until it received the recommendation of any committee or planning board.

Police Visit Lot

Constable Gordon Trennum testified that Nov. 23 he and Constable Dennis Traynor had visited Peconi's car lot and interviewed Peconi.

There were about 20 cars and seven trucks on the lot. Peconi showed them a provincial licence to operate a used car lot on a highway. He also admitted that the cars on his lot were for sale.

On another visit Jan. 3, he told them that he was in the used car business and had been selling a few cars.

Peconi said he had moved to the lot May 1, 1950. He bought a house and about one acre of land for $9,500 and another eight and a half acres for $6,000. He admitted keeping used cars for sale.

Application Refused

He did not at first know that he had to have a city licence to operate a used car lot. But later he applied for a licence. Oct. 16 he received a letter from city clerk A. E. Outram advising him that the city had turned down his application.

He phoned the city clerk and was told the reason for the refusal was that his lot was in an area zoned as residential.

But said Peconi there are few houses in the immediate vicinity and many places of business, including a service station, a wood working shop, a beauty parlor, a junk yard, a planing mill and others.

Chief Constable John Thompson testified he had been asked to make a report on Peconi's character and his report had been favorable.

Mr. Elliott and city solicitor Wilfrid F. Huycke KC who is prosecuting attorney were asked by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC to present written arguments and the case was adjourned to March 1.

What! Bridge Playing Allowed

Peterborough's Publi c Library Becoming One Of City's Busiest Community Centres

What! bridge playing in the Public Library! Wednesday night the sacred sanctum of Peterborough's scholars was invaded by 40 students of the card table.

Librarian Bill Graff reported that this was the first time in the history of the institution that bridge has been played under its roof. The card-players were all enrolled in the bridge course—one of the interest groups of the So-Ed program sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA.

The library walls were actually reverberating Wednesday night. In addition to bridge players the Kiwanis Key Club held a meeting; recorded music could be heard coming from the music appreciation class; Spanish conversation from the Spanish study group, and the ways and means of contending with the present high cost of living from stretching your dollar class. The latter three groups were also part of the So-Ed program.

So there it was—culutre, high finance, language study, bridge playing and a club meeting as well as the usual number of evening readers all in the same building. "It was quite an evening," Librarian Graff commented this morning.

Expect Registration Of 200 At Social Education Series

There were 170 in attendance at the opening program of the Social-Education series Wednesday night at George St. United Church, the YMCA and the Public Library. Quirt McKinney, a member of the committee, said today he expects the registration to reach 200.

Last year the program was held at the Normal School but the committee has tried to centralize its location in the three downtown buildings.

Guest speaker was James Wharry, vice-president of the Quaker Oats Company, who recently returned from a trip around the world. He gave an illustrated talk on "Seeing the World." This portion of the program was held in George Street Church.

Drop One Group

The So-ed members then moved to the library or the YMCA for the nine interest groups. Only one group, the drama workshop, failed to have sufficient enrolment to warrant a class. This group will be dropped.

The largest group was the modern dancing, held in the YMCA with Miss Louise Colley, of Barrie, teaching the tango, waltz, rumba and fox trot to 40 people. At other So-Ed programs the group will be directed by Mrs. Sophie Zakos and Ian Clark. Miss Colley later conducted the last part of the night's program in the YMCA gym, a play party featuring folk and square dancing.

The bridge interest group in the library, conducted by William Durant, has 36 in attendance.

Thirty "grabbed their partners" in the square dancing class at the YMCA directed by Mrs. J. W. Freestone. Other groups were music appreciation, 20, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, at the library; elementary Spanish, 12, with L. W. Copp, at the library; stretching your dollar, 15, with Mrs. Lyda Telford, at the library; and golf, 20, with Joseph Watson, at the YMCA.

The art of canoeship caught the interest of 12 people. This group is conducted in the YMCA pool with four canoes under Fraser Wade, YMCA physical director. More canoes are to be added to the class.

Approve Plan To House Wallis' Art

Famous Collection Of Sculptress Designed For City

Approval of City Council's proposed care and display of her sculptured art which she has offered to Peterborough has been received from Miss Katherine Wallis, who is now residing in California.

Official concern about the responsibility involved in acceptance of Miss Wallis' gift to the city of her youth caused extended hesitation in the preliminaries of correspondence.

Another detail that is in process of arrangement is connected with transportation of the works Miss Wallis is presenting to Peterborough.

Meanwhile, the Council has enlisted the co-operation of the Board of Education, Public Library trustees, Women's Art Association, in the plans for display which were reported to Miss Wallis by the City Council. Her recent reply ensures the delivery of the sculptures, some of which are understood to be destined for Peterborough's new city hall.

Cardinal Griffin Seriously Ill

LONDON, Feb. 1 (Reuters).—Roman Catholic officials today called for prayers for ailing Bernard Cardinal Griffin, 51-year-old Archbishop of Westminster, whose condition was reported worse.

A letter sent today to all the clergy of the orchdiocese also disclosed that the cardinal was anointed last night as "a precautionary measure."

Cardinal Griffin was in Peterborough in the fall of 1947 with Cardinal Gilroy of Australia and James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto. The three had been attending the Marian Congress in Ottawa before their visit here.

Cardinal Griffin, regarded as one of the leading experts in the country on canon law, was only 39 when he became Auxiliary Bishop of Birmingham in 1938. He succeeded the late Arthur Cardinal Hinsley as Archbishop of Westminster in 1944.

In 1949 he spent three months in hospital for nervous exhaustion and since then has suffered from high blood pressure.

Six Careless Counts Adjourned In Court

Six charges of careless driving were called in Police Court today and all six were adjourned to later dates.

About half were adjourned because they were making their first appearance in the court and the policemen and Crown witnesses were not on hand. This is the normal procedure because summonses go out in the mail to drivers charged and they have the option of filling out a written plea of guilty in some cases or are required to appear in court in person.

In any event, a date is set for the hearing.

On the others the accused persons were not prepared to go ahead with the case, and were given adjournments to later dates.

Charged were Miss Alice Johnson, J. C. McGrath, Wilfred Perry, Stewart Harding, Herbert Robitaille and E. Blewett.

Duel Challenge Taken After Face-Slapping

ROME, Feb. 1 (Reuters) — Deputy Enrico Mattei today accepted a challenge to a duel from colleague Florestan di Fausto to settle a bout of face-slapping they had in the chamber of deputies two days ago.

It started over an article in a Milan magazine which di Fausto thought was written by Deputy Mattei. Di Fausto wrote a stinging reply.

Mattei pounced on him in the chamber Tuesday and landed a couple of resounding smacks on the face.

The seconds met today and decided on swords but announced no time or place. Duels are illegal in Italy.

Industrials Steady At New High Level

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—Industrials steadied at their new high levels as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Following six sessions of advance they climbed strongly at the opening and levelled off. Papers, steels, utilities, constructions, foods, textiles, refining oils and liquors showed a majority of gains. Agricultures and retail stores eased and banks and manufacturing companies were mixed.

Consolidated Smelters, a feature issue for the last few sessions, was again in the spotlight in the mixed base metal list, jumping $2.25 to $143.25. Noranda was also strong with a $1.50 gain, and East Sullivan, Falconbridge and Waite Amulet were ahead. United Kuno Hill, Sherritt Gordon, Quemont, International Nickel and Steep Rock eased fractions.

Western oils were mixed. Home Oil, National Petroleum and Federated Petroleum advanced while Anglo-Canadian, Central-Leduc, and Royalite declined. Price changes were small.

Senior golds were mixed and narrow. Junior producers eased pennies.

8 Guard Posts Clipped Off In Truck Crash

Harry Albert Mason, 33, of 62 Murray St. escaped without a scratch early today after he lost control of his truck on Highway 7, east, and clipped off eight guide-rail posts.

Mason told provincial police that he was driving his panel truck toward Peterborough at 3.30 a.m. today. He was just rounding a curve, 11 miles east of the city, when he saw the headlights of an oncoming truck.

He said the combination of strong headlights and their reflection on the blowing snow caused him to lose sight of the highway. Out of control his panel truck slewed across the highway to the south side, knocked off five guide posts, continued along for another 339 feet, once more crossed the highway and knocked off three posts on the north side.

The strong cable strung on the posts is credited with saving Mason from crashing into the south ditch. His truck stopped on the north shoulder after clipping off the eighth post.

The truck received $175 damage, including two crumpled fenders and a damaged steering sytem.

Provincial Constable T. H Armstrong investigated.

When the officer told him to stop kicking the door, he answered he would kick the door as long as he wanted to and when he wanted to.

He pleaded guilty.

St. Laurent's Birthday

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent celebrated his 69th birthday anniversary today, but as far as he was concerned it was just another work day.

Mr. St. Laurent had no special plans for celebration. He will attend today's sitting of the Commons and will join in the throne-speech debate.

It is expected that Liberal members of parliament would mark the occasion by placing a basket of roses on the prime minister's desk at the House opening.

Citizens Honor C. S. Cummer Retiring Manager Of Bank

One hundred and eighty people paid tribute Wednesday night to C. S. "Charlie" Cummer, retiring manager of the Bank of Montreal's city branch, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the city at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Cummer came away with a new golf bag and a new set of matched clubs, with which he promised to do his "spring plowing" — in Florida.

He left, too, with the tributes of a half-dozen of his friends fresh in his mind. They spoke of his "deserved popularity," his friendship, and the many people and organizations he helped in the 31 years he has been in Peterborough as a bank manager.

Tribute From The Bank

J. S. Bolton, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, said that Peterborough and its "people were well served by Mr. Cummer. He had confidence in the integrity of people." His bank bcame known as "Cummer's Bank."

Former mayor James Hamilton said: "We have known of many of the kindnesses he has done. Everybody in Peterborough pays tribute to Charlie for these things. He's a man who's going to be missed."

City's Tribute

Mayor M. J. Swanston said: "We have all benefitted by the work Charlie Cummer has done in the city. He has been a friend and an inspiration to us all."

Then the mayor presented Mr. Cummer with the golf clubs and bag, and the assembly sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

"I don't think I can find words to express my appreciation," said Mr. Cummer. "But I do want to thank you all very sincerely for this dinner and this gift."

Mr. Cummer started in the banking business in Meaford in 1906, became accountant of that bank, opened a branch in London, worked in Lucan (near London) for some time, and in 1919 came to Peterborough as manager of the Merchants' Bank.

His career as a banker ended officially Wednesday.

Others who spoke at the dinner were T. J. Carley, KC, Ald. Doug Miller and Ald. E. C. Braund. Jack Hendry sang two songs, "I Love a Lassie" and "She's the Girl For Me." The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon said grace.

Candlemas Day

Nine Times Out Of Ten Groundhog Wrong

By JIM ENGLISH.

Candlemas Day, February 2, when the groundhogs give wrong information about winter and spring, is going to be a bust this year. The information comes from a "usually reliable source" who still wears his straw hat in mid-winter.

We found him the other day, just after he came out of hibernation because of the mild weather. He was sitting in front of his shack on the river road, throwing rocks at some pigeons for reasons known best to himself and the pigeons.

Looks For His Shadow

Traditionally, the groundhog appears sometime on Candlemas Day and looks for his shadow. If he can see it, tradition continues, the winter will run for another six weeks, and if he can't see it, there will be an early spring. Nine times out of ten, he is wrong, and groundhogs generally come in for a lot of criticism about this time of year.

The groundhogs have formed a union, according to this old party, and he knows all about it. He went into details over a glass of applejack.

"There ain't gonna be any groundhogs stick their necks out this Candlemas, come any kind of weather. They're fed up." He punctuated his pronouncement with a dip into the applejack.

Terms Laid Down

"Oh, I know all about it," he said. "I been talkin' to Lenora. They've formed a union. Better treatment or no appearance, that's what they're talkin' about. They figger these one-day stands aren't bad if they're treated right, but they ain't.

"They're agin' this shadow business. Get treated like little tin gods for three days a year and then get cursed and shot at the rest of the time by the farmers and anybody else with a gun.

"No percentage in it, they say. And they're right.

"Got talkin' to the secretary of the union. They call it the Natural Born Weather Predicters Union, and ther's locals clean across the continent."

Wore Nifty Mackinaw

He stopped long enough in his chatter to take off his mackinaw and flag it at some pigeons that were hovering too close. The mackinaw, by the way, is a nifty little yellow and blue plaid number.

"Anyhow, this secretary says he's gonna call a strike. Like I said, they want better treatment or they don't come out.

"Another thing they don't like is these photographers and reporters comin' around askin' questions and poppin' flash bulbs in their faces. A groundhog's got his rights, just like anybody else.

Fondness For Publicity

"But there's maybe gonna be a split in the union. There's a bunch of young groundhogs like the publicity. Figger maybe they'll get to Hollywood or some place like that.

"The old fellas are the ones who want to strike. They're pretty well fed up. Only come out for this shadow business because they figger it's custom. Then they get blamed for six weeks more winter, and they just don't like it.

"So, they reckon they'll strike if they can get the vote out all right. Gonna ask for a little more respect and a little less criticism. Can't blame 'em. You know they're tender-hearted little critters."

The old fellow took another slug from the applejack glass.

"So, if you're out lookin' fer groundhogs come Candlemas, don't be surprised if you don't see any. And don't say I didn't warn you."

Suggests Pooling Farm Efforts

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 1 (CP)—Canada and the United States could "revolutionize" agriculture on this continent if they took the trouble to co-ordinate efforts and pool results, Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Canada's Agriculture Minister, told Michigan State College Wednesday.

Such a step also would greatly assist the movement towards a higher standard of living for the peoples of the world, he said in an address prepared for delivery on the college's Farmers' Week program.

He reviewed the production of the two countries and said Canada's problem was to find markets for surpluses of wheat, cheese, pork and cattle products. The natural market for wheat and cheese was the United Kingdom while that for cattle and beef was the United States.

He expressed belief that Canada's livestock industry had benefited more recently than any other part of Canadian agriculture because of the United States market.

They were all charged following a provincial police antiing a provincial raid on a Charlotte St. room Jan. 13.

Museum Declines Grisly Weapons

HUDDERSFIELD, ENGLAND, —(CP)—Arrows steeped in the rancid heart of a human being — "the most deadly poison known"— are gathering dust in a Huddersfield home. The owner can't give them away.

Also on the shelf are nine-foot-long hand spears, draw-bows for shooting poisoned arrows and fighting clubs barbed with shark's teeth.

All are part of a collection of cannibal weapons offered to a local museum by councillor J. A. Brook, who as a young man gathered the exotic loot in the Solomon and Gilbert group of the South Sea Islands.

The museum turned down Brook's offer, saying it wasn't quite what the founders had in mind.

Raids By Wolves, Dogs Blow To Sheep-Raising

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Despite increasing wool and lamb prices, raids by wolves and roving dogs still are making sheep-raising a hazardous undertaking in Ontario, the Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association was told Wednesday.

They voted to have representatives confer with fish and game authorities on methods of eliminating wolves and wild dogs.

Then they shell, wash and double-check the peas for tenderness, and quick-freeze them before they lose a whiff of their farm-freshness! And the work, time and money they save you! . . . It's always just right—always wonderfully flavourful and satisfying. And when you want your Blue Ribbon Tea at its flavourful best —be sure to do this:

Do You Feel A Little Dizzy when you think of the high food prices today? Well here's a budget-wise buy that helped immensely to restore my equilibrium! . . . Try CANNED SALMON! It's not only economical—(no waste — all food!) . . . it's delicious! Try this economical Canned Salmon Loaf:

1 lb. Canned Salmon, flaked
1½ cups milk
½ cup bread crumbs
3 eggs, separated
2 tbspn. lemon juice
½ tspn. lemon rind
salt and pepper

Scald milk, add crumbs and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water (double boiler) for 5 minutes, still stirring. Cool slightly, stir in fish, seasonings, lemon juice and rind and finally fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into well greased dish, set this in hot water and bake for ¾ hr., in 350-375 deg. F. Serves 4.

A-a-hhh! The Luxury of relaxing in a warm, fragrant bath after a hard day's work! My favourite "bath companion" is that brand new, grand new C-I-L SPONGE! Its velvety texture when wet is so soothing — it's kind to the tenderest skin . . . even baby's. And so clean! . . . just wash it in a jiffy under the tap. Another thing you'll like about it is its durability. But to discover the carefree convenience of a C-I-L Sponge . . . the best thing is to try it yourself. These sponges are far from expensive and they make my cleaning job easier! Find them — in six convenient sizes — at your favourite drug, department, hardware, variety or grocery store. And be sure to look for the C-I-L label — it's your assurance of quality.

Tonga Preparing To Observe 50th Anniversary Of British Amity

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — While dynasties have been falling all over the world, a monarchy has been growing steadily stronger in the South Pacific in the little kingdom of Tonga. Even more novel in the modern world is the fact that Tonga, a British protectorate for 50 years, is satisfied and does not want its relations with Britain to be changed in any way.

Tonga is preparing to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the ratification of its treaty of friendship with Britain on Feb. 16, 1901.

In a statement on the treaty, the country's ruler, Queen Salote, says: "For the people of Tonga it has proved to be a blessing, as, with the knowledge during two world wars that we have been protected by Great Britain, her dominions and her allies, we were able to proceed in security with our normal life. At the same time, I am proud to say that my country has been able to render assistance to the cause of freedom.

"It is my sincere hope and wish that the very pleasant and happy relations which have existed for the past 50 years between Great Britain and my kingdom of Tonga will continue undisturbed."

Manages Own Affairs

Tonga has its own postage stamps, passports and currency. It manages its own affairs entirely except that under the treaty with Britain it has agreed to accept the advice of a British consul and agent in its relations with other nations. The consul also approves the appointment of Europeans selected for service with the Tongan government and advisors on financial matters.

Otherwise the 45,000 Polynesians in the 150 atolls and islands which make up the kingdom of Tonga, or the Friendly Isles, are governed by a British-type constitution with a royal dynasty, a cabinet, privy council and elected parliament.

Queen Salote has been on the throne for 33 years, though she is still only 51. Her personal popularity is immense and the celebrations of her 50th birthday last year were marked by remarkable demonstrations of loyalty and affection. Finely proportioned to her exceptional height of six feet, one inch, she is every inch a queen, gracious and gentle in manner and stately in bearing.

She is a direct descendant in the 21st generation of a distinguished chief who founded the Tui Kanokubolo dynasty about 1610 and is the great-granddaughter of King Tupou I who introduced the existing pattern of democratic monarchy in Tonga in 1875. The Queen jealously guards the existing democratic constitution.

Fond of Auckland

Queen Salote speaks English with perfect accent and idiom. She pays regular visits to Auckland, NZ, where she lives quietly and unpretentiously and is now so well-known that Aucklanders treat her as one of themselves.

The heir to the throne, Queen Salote's elder son Prince Tungi, has recently become prime minister after serving an apprenticeship in other ministerial posts. A massive man of well over 300 pounds, he is a shy, scholarly person. Educated in Australia, he has a law degree from Sydney University.

Its mild, healthy climate, free from malaria, well-run civil service, low taxation and freedom from dissension make Tonga indeed a happy country to live in. Every man on reaching the age of 16 is allocated by the crown an area of about eight acres on which to grow crops and a small town lot to build a house. On his eight acres he can grow sufficient to provide for his family and have a little over for pocket money. There is no question of a housing shortage when coconut palm and other native plants provide an inexhaustible supply of building materials.

But to those who are already thinking of packing for Tonga, it should be mentioned that the Friendly Isles welcome white people as holidaymakers but not as permanent residents.

SOUTH PACIFIC MONARCH —Queen Salote is the well-loved monarch of the Kingdom of Tonga in the South Pacific, a British protectorate for 50 years. The 51-year-old, six foot, one inch queen is proud of the tiny country's ties with the Commonwealth, which she has strengthened in her 33-year reign. She is a direct descendant of a distinguished chief who founded the Tui Kanokubolo dynasty in about 1610. Due largely to her efforts, Tonga lives up to its alternative name —The Friendly Isles.

Elected President

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—F. G. Muirhead of Winnipeg Wednesday was elected president of the Canadian Shorthorn Association. Vice-presidents are K. E. Deacon of Unionville, Ont., and D. J. MacKinnon of Carsland, Alta.

Face Highest Taxes

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—Controller David Balfour told Board of Control Wednesday that Toronto is faced with spending that will require the highest tax rate in the city's history. The top rate in recent years was 38.3 mills levied in 1948 on an assessment of $998,616,896.

Keep Tab On Tibetans

NEW DELHI —(CP)— Hitherto exempt from registration of foreigners' rules Tibetan nationals residing in India must now obtain certificates and incoming Tibetans in future will be required to obtain entry permits at border points.

Higher Coffee Prices Prove Big Help To Brazil

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

If your morning cup of coffee costs more than it used to—well, you're helping out Brazil, if that is any comfort.

For, as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development comments, Brazil's balance of payments position has greatly improved during the last year, principally because of the rise in coffee prices since 1949.

Total exports are running at record levels with dollar proceeds improved to a point relieving Brazil's former shortage of dollars. She now has a substantial surplus in her trade with the United States and American armament expenditures will probably stimulate Brazil's export of iron ore and manganese.

The bank makes its resume in connection with its recent increase by $15,000,000 of the previous $75,000,000 loan for expansion of electric power and telephone facilities of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co. Ltd., which has its head office in Toronto. It is expected that $12,000,000 of the new loan will be used to purchase equipment in Canada.

South Africa's Outlook

Another of the bank's recent loans was $50,000,000 to the Union of South Africa: $30,000,000 for electric power and $20,000,000 for transport facilities.

In addition, the union has arranged, through a New York firm, for the private replacement with eight large American commercial banks of $10,000,000 of the Union's promissory notes, as well as a $20,000,000 revolving credit with such banks, which replaces a revolving credit of similar amount.

Commentng on this, Eugene R. Black, president of the International Bank, says:

"This is the first occasion where there has been simultaneous participation by the private financial markets in meeting the captal requirements of our member countries and one which is most gratifying to us."

The bank has indicated to the union government that it is willing, in principle, to entertain further applications for loans for future acceptable productive projects.

Urges Conscription

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A spokesman for the Toronto District Council of the Canadian Legion said Wednesday the Legion has sent a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent urging immediate and total conscription. The measures were to "offset the menace of Communist aggression." "Protests over Canada's weak and inadequate defence situation are coming into Legion headquarters from groups all over Ontario," he said.

Jets Encounter Strange Weather

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—You'll find strange new weather when you fly as a passenger in jet planes at heights up to eight miles.

Invisible, meandering tongues of air moving up to 100 miles an hour dart through bigger air currents going only perhaps half as fast. Called jet streams, they may be 200 to 300 miles wide, and 1,000 miles long. Weather men carefully map them, for they can send planes into a bumpy dance.

Ordinary headwinds will range up to 150 miles an hour. From takeoff to cruising level at 40,000 feet, the weather outside may change 200 degrees in 12 to 15 minutes.

Engineers are planning jet transports for 40,000 feet, where jets can get high speed at the least spending of fuel. Jet fuel is cheap, but is used up fast, so winds have to be charted carefully in advance.

One Problem

One problem is sudden turbulence and winds in clear air, which pilot's can't see. The plane gets a sudden jolt, and may bounce up and down with short, sharp hammering sensations. Pilots say it feels like driving a car fast over railroad ties.

The jet streams cause one type detected and mapped in advance, so jet pilots can avoid them.

These air streams occur at 10,000 feet, but more often at higher altitudes. They may be formed by the confluence of two masses of air, one polar, one tropical. They may flow several thousand miles.

High - altitude temperatures must be plotted accurately, for temperature affects the speed of the jet.

At 40,000 feet, you'll find temperatures never higher than about 40 below zero. Cabin temperatures will have to be adjusted quickly from takeoff to cruising height.

But you'll be above thunderstorms or milky weather. Thunderheads may reach up that high, but the clouds will be ice-crystal, not super-cooled water.

of turbulence. But they can be

Restaurant Burns

KINGSTON, Feb. 1—(CP)—An explosion ripped apart a charcoal broiler Wednesday and caused fire which gutted the Town and Country restaurant. Damage was estimated at more than $5,000.

Need Standard Price For Milk

NORWOOD, Feb. 1 (ENS)—All milk in Ontario should be pooled and paid for at the same price. This was the conclusion reached at the Killarney Corners Farm Forum which met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McMillan on Monday evening.

A premium for high quality milk would encourage the production of milk free from sediment and harmful odors. Buyers of milk should do the grading and also bear the cost.

The president, Ross Legge, presided over the discussion period with Mrs. Arnold Baptie as secretary. The hostess served lunch.

Hire Handicapped People Martin Urges Employers

gen—MARTIN URGES—

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A man's ability is far more important than his disability, Health Minister Martin stressed today to the National Conference on Rehabilitation of Handicapped Persons.

Employers, he said in a speech prepared for delivery, need to be educated about the value of handicapped workers, because "our handicapped are needed in the labor force more today than ever before."

"Employers should hire handicapped persons—not on humanitarian grounds, but because it is good for business.

"They should be reminded that a physical handicap is not necessarily a job handicap. No one is perfect — everyone has a deficiency of some knd. A man's ability is for more important than his disability."

Urges Co-ordination

Speaking generally on the aims of the conference, the Canadian health minister said its most useful accomplishment "would be to encourage the integration and coordination of existing services in order to ensure that the considerable monies now being expended for Canada's disabled are used to best effect."

The delegates from all parts of the country might find a way to bring existing programs and services into a closer working relationship. At the same time, planning should be correlated for maximum coverage and effectiveness.

Dissability, Mr. Martin said, involves many things—mental and social and physical. Consequently there must be a varety of rehabilitation services.

"An important element of any successful rehabilitation program is public education. Crippling is emotional as well as physical. The way people feel towards them has a great deal to do with the readjustment of the handicapped.

"Curiosity, pity, dislike, oversolicitousness, fear, repugnance—all these are wrong attitudes towards the disabled, who respond best to sympathetic understanding. . ."

Accept Offer

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Employees of the Continental Can Company in Toronto and suburban New Toronto at a meeting Wednesday night accepted a company offer of a 16½-cent general wage increase, retroactive to Jan. 1. The agreement was signed in New York by representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL). It runs until April 15, 1953, with provisions for a wage re-opener in April, 1952.

Angry Greeks Ask Reform In Civil Service; 'Fed Up'

By SAM MODIANO

ATHENS (Reuters) — Greeks are getting fed up with the unnecessary red tape, inefficiency, laziness, arrogance and corruption of their civil servants.

A Liberal member of parliament, Constantine Bellas, summed up the general attitude of the man-in-the-street in a recent article denouncing the "Mandarins" of Greece. This powerful group of top officials, he said, has so far obstructed the much-needed reform of the state machinery planned by the government.

Indignation has lately reached such a pitch that a few weeks ago a citizen, in a letter addressed to an Athenian newspaper, threatened to "turn Communist" if that was the only way left to cause the government to carry out the urgently required reform and purge of the various civil service departments.

Inefficient, Lazy

In his article, Bellas cited striking instances of inefficiency and laziness among civil servants.

In Macedonia, he said, the farmers are already olowing their fields and fertilizers are badly needed. So he complained personally about the delay in their arrival.

"Do not bully us, we are working on it," came the reply from the head of the department concerned. "The fertilizers will reach the villages some time or other."

Examples of red-tape are reported day after day.

Queue For Hearings

Citizens, entitled to call on public departments during only one hour, three times a week, start queueing outside the ministries from early in the morning. After waiting for hours, they are often turned out by an indolent official who either requires other documents, or explains with a fatalistic gesture of the hands: "We have been so busy, you know. Your case will be dealt with in time."

A relative in the United States sent a woman some phials of streptomycin. In vain, the pale-faced woman produced certificates from doctors and welfare organizations certifying to customs officials that she had tuberculosis and badly needed the medicine.

"I am not sure yet that you will not sell the streptomycin on the black market," a customs official stated after hours of questioning and examining.

"Return the parcel to the sender; I prefer to die rather than start dealing again with your administration," the woman delcared. Then she collapsed.

"It's The Law"

When asked to explain the reason for such bureucracy, the civil servants argue that they "are acting in accordance with the laws." If anything is wrong, they say, it is the law and not the civil service.

But the real difficulty goes back to the fact that in Greece civil servants are, by law, permanent employees and cannot be dismissed except by an intricate process which may last for years.

Not only their legal "immunity" but also powerful influences resulting from their political affiliation add considerably to the difficulties of removing them from leading posts.

Since 1945, every prime minister on taking office has pledged himself to change this state of affairs. But so far, the Greek Mandarins have always discreetly, but successfuly, undermined the government's plans.

N.Z. Legislators Without Jobs Get $900 Year

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—(CP) — Twenty-three New Zealand legislators whose jobs have disappeared through the abolition of the chamber in which they sat are to be paid $900 a year though they no longer have any parliamentary powers. They are members of the Legislative Council, the Upper House of New Zealand's parliament, which officially ceased to exist at the end of the year.

The 23 members, appointed before the National Party government took office a year ago, will receive $900 a year for the unexpired balance of their term of office as compensation. The normal hornorarium is $1,125 a year. Members are appointed for seven years, but all those affected have held office for at least a year and only a few appointed shortly befcre the new government came to power will qualify for compensation for as long as six years.

Twenty-nine members of the Legislative Council appointed by the present government will not receive compensation. They are popularly known as the "suicide squad" because they were appointed with the specific duty of carrying out the government's policy of abolishing the Upper House. In this they met the united opposition of the old members, irrespective of party affiliations, but the government appointed sufficient new members to outvote the old guard.

The government, which held that the Legislative Council was performing no useful function, promised to compensate the old members for the premature termination of their term of office.

The House of Representatives which has 80 members, is now the only legislative body in New Zealand. It is possible, however, that an elected Upper House may eventually be created to replace the former government-nominated one. A constitutional reform committee, consisting of members of the House of Rperesentatives and former members of the Legislative Council, has been given the task of taking evidence on possible alternatives to the former Upper House as a safeguard against hasty or ill-considered legislation.

Whatever the recommendation of this committee it is likely that New Zealand will continue for some years with a single-chamber parliament. Another committee is examining during the parliamentary recess the changed procedure that will be ncessary.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Pancakes For All Ages Ready For Shrove Tuesday

Testing and tasting pancakes for this piece on them for Shrove Tuesday has knocked my diet into a cocked hat. What some people will do for love or money.

But what I will do when Pete, with his insatiable appetite, has gone off to college I don't know.

Just as he was pressing his fork through a "Stack of Wheats" slathered in butter and maple syrup, Davy sauntered into the house. Davy is seventeen and is always addressed, rather solemnly, as "Old Man." Naturally, he helped with the tasting too.

You may not be 16 or even 17 but if you are a finicky eater I think you have some fun ahead of you making up these various pancakes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Buttermilk Pancakes

These are given priority over sweet milk pancakes because they are tenderer.

Two and one-half cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1⅞ cups sour or buttermilk, 1 beaten egg, 1 or 1½ tablespoons melted shortening or butter, 1 or 3 teaspoons sugar. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Stir in the milk slowly then the beaten egg. Add the melted shortening and beat hard for 1 minute. If using a soapstone or aluminum griddle these do not require greasing. If using iron griddle grease it as lightly as possible, for excess grease means smoke in the kitchen and less delicate cakes. Have griddle very hot. If batter is mixed in a pitcher, and if you work skillfully it may be poured onto pan in 3- or 4-inch rounds. By the time the last one is poured, the first one may be puffed and full of holes and ready to be turned. Serve as soon as second side is browned.

Variations: Use brown sugar or molasses instead of white sugar. Use part sour cream instead of all buttermilk.

Sweet Milk Griddle Cakes

Use sweet milk instead of sour or buttermilk as in above recipe and use 5 teaspoons baking powder instead of any soda.

✧ ✧ ✧

Old-Fashioned Raised Buckwheat Cakes

(Don't shy away from these for they are quite simple. They must be started the night before needed)

Dissolve one-half cake of yeast in 2 cups of water that has been boiled and cooled to lukewarm—that is slightly above the temperature of your wrist. When yeast is dissolved sift into this yeast water 1½ cups buckwheat flour, 3 teaspoons white or brown sugar (do not omit sugar as it is necessary to make cakes brown), ½ cup white flour, 1 teaspoon salt, and stir out all the lumps and let stand, covered, overnight in cool place. To ½ cup boiled and cooled to lukewarm water add ¼ teaspoon soda and 1 more teaspoon sugar, and stir this throughly into the batter. Bake at once like pancakes above. If desired you may reserve ½ cup of this batter and use it instead of yeast in another batch of buckwheat cakes.

German Apple Pancakes

Three eggs, ½ cup sour cream, ¼ cup milk, ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 or 2 cups finely chopped tart apples. Beat the egg yolks until light, then stir in liquids, then sifted dry ingredients. Mix well and fold in stiffly beaten whites and the chopped apples. Fry on very lightly greased griddle, but do not turn over; finish these by baking under broiler until "set." To serve sprinkle with mixture of sugar and cinnamon, and roll up at once and serve.

Crepes (Dessert Pancakes)

Three-quarters cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 eggs, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter. Add unbeaten egg to flour, salt and sugar and add milk slowly, while stirring, to prevent lumping. Have a 6-inch frying pan very hot, and melt 1 tablespoon butter on it. Pour in batter to cover it. When bubbly finish cooking in hot oven. For second cake use 1 teaspoon butter. Sprinkle with sugar and roll to serve. Often served with orange syrup.

COSTUMED IN SUEDE — Ballerina Beryl Grey of Sadler's Wells models this cape and skirt fashioned of suede in deep sunset' pink shade. The skirt is slender in front with deep pleat in the back.

Of Interest to Women

SPRING PRINT—Modelled here is a print dress of black, white and brown crepe with matching stole. The stole, as well as sleeves and neckline of the dress, are edged with black velvet. Necklet and earrings of jet beads complete the costume.

What's Right

A man has arranged to meet a woman for lunch in a restaurant.

WRONG: He arrives a few minutes after the hour set, assuming that she probably won't be right on time.

RIGHT: He arrives five minutes before the time set, so that he will be sure to be waiting for her when she arrives.

Who Will Be Cinderella?

A question now uppermost in the minds of some 200 or more young women of this city is "Who will be the 1951 Cinderella?" They will know about midnight this Friday evening when a draw is made at the Y's Men's annual Cinderella Ball at Club Aragon. The winner receives a complete spring outfit. Manager of the dance Mr. Joe Watson and Mrs. Watson will be on hand to see that guests are enjoying this event as will the club executive members and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne.

Man Created Give Service

The Rev. Robert Macdonald, pastor of St. Alphonsus Church, gave a brief address Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of St. Josephs' Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

The point he stressed is that "man is created to give service to God and that service to the hospital and to mankind through the work of the Auxiliary is merely a fulfilling of what was intended and should not be considered an effort over and above what is expected.

His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry also spoke to the Auxiliary congratulating the members on their accomplishments in the five years since organization. "May you always be blessed with good members and good officers", he said. "An association without a good leader is like a herd". He emphasized that the motive for serving in this way must be right —not done because "the Jones do it" but as a means of serving God.

The Bishops spoke for the Sisters of their pleasure in having the assistance of a women's auixliary. He said "The Sisters have been progressively pleased with your help and have been over-generous in showing their appreciation".

Sister Priscilla, Mother Superior of St. Joseph's, also spoke, paying high tribute to Mrs. Gallivan for her work as president, and mentioned also her predecessor, Mrs. F. J. Lynch. "Work of all the officers in the past has been excellent, and I welcome the incoming executive", she said.

The Sister also had a word for the auxiliary work in the nearby parishes of Hastings, Norwood and Ennismore. She advised that she had been invited to assist in organizing an auxiliary in the Lakefield parish this coming Sunday.

St. Paul's WMS Tea Presents Spring-Like Scene

Despite the cold weather Wednesday afternoon a nice crowd attended the tea held by the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Church in the Sunday school auditorium. Having braved the wind and snow to come, many stayed longer than is customary to visit and a particularly friendly atmosphere prevailed.

President Mrs. Walter Perks and Mrs. C. G. Boyd made them welcome as they entered. Tea room hostesses Mrs. D. T. Diplock, Mrs. James Dutton, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. E. H. Howson and Mrs. W. C Steinkraus assisted in entertaining

An attractive and really spring-like setting was arranged by Mrs. W. A. Burrell who placed flowers in wicker baskets around the room and did the tea table in pastel tones. A pink and green Dresden china flower container matched the faint pink border in the tablecloth and it was filled with pink snapdragon and pink tulips with pussywillows, charmingly highlighted with green pencil tapers set among the folwers.

Mrs. J. J. Craig, Miss Nina Davidson, Mrs. D. W. Clark and Mrs. J. Marsh poured the tea and servers were Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. Manson Comstock, Mrs. Dickson Davidson, Mrs. N. Courtney, Miss M. Lees, with Mrs. F. Raines and Mrs. L. Mitchell in charge of supplying the table.

The home cooking table was also most attractive with a pretty cloth and bouquet of flowers. The goods was exceptionally fine and varied widely from the usual type also including a quantity of delicious home-made buns. On top of this the articles were temptingly arranged on silver plates which may have contributed somewhat to the entire success of the sale. Miss Laura Davidson was in charge, assisted by Miss Helen Munro, Mrs. J. H. Eastwood, Mrs. S. Dickson Hall and Mrs. Fred Hills.

Mrs. W. A. Hinds was treasurer for the tea.

Library and Tuck Shop Started By Auxiliary

Two major projects started in 1950 by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital—a library and a tuck shop for convenience of hospital patients—were reported to the annual meeting Wednesday evening as now operating fairly successfully.

The library was begun in October and is the responsibility of Mrs. William Hickey and Miss Beatrice Malane. Each week several ladies visit all the patients offering books and magazines for which there is no charge. At present there are about 79 books in the library and it is hoped to gradually increase this number. Visits to 1,015 patients were reported.

Mrs. Wm. Richardson, tuck shop convener, is well pleased with results in the operation since December. Help has been voluntary but it is hoped returns will soon justify engaging full time help. A cash balance and a bank balance were reported.

St. Joseph's Cupboard which has a good supply of knitting and sewing on hand, supplies garments for babies born in the hospital to mothers who have not the necessities ready. Convener Mrs. John Sullivan reported that it has been decided to give each baby leaving the hospital a gift from the Auxiliary of a pair of bootees. A number of ladies have been knitting these and 80 are now on hand. Sewing convener Mrs. Donald Emery reported splendid co-operation between the parishes, one being responsible for sewing at the nurses' residence each week. A total of 1,386 articles were made by the three city parishes last year.

Visits to the patients are made each week by two ladies from each of the city parishes and they distribute papers and magazines. Miss Lillian Hurley is convener of this work.

Membership total for 1950 was 1,071 annual members Mrs. F. J. Lynch reported. This was an increase of 5 over the previous year. Membership canvassers collected a total of $904.01 she said.

A system of collecting through mite boxes was introduced last year Mrs. Lynch reported and if the plan had been faithfully carried out sufficient revenue would have been received to make it unnecessary to have further fund-raising during the year. The plan to contribute one cent per day or one cent per meal was strictly carried out by some members and they contributed a total of $626.50. The scheme has now been discontinued.

Social events of the year were highlighted by the ceremony for opening of the new wing on May 4th, 1950, and the graduation dance which followed. Ways and means convener Mrs. A. E. Cauley also reported a successful membership tea and Christmas tea. Mrs. J. J. Crowley reported on the entertainments for nurses-in-training and chaperoning of nurses' dances in the auditorium.

An over-all report of the year's events was prepared and read by Miss Louise Letellier, temporary secretary. Miss Madeline Flynn gave the financial report.

Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, convener of the nominating committee, presided for the election of officers.

7 B.C. Entries In Festival

VANCOUVER, —(CP) —Seven entries in the British Columbia regional competition of the Dominion Drama festival this year include a play written and directed by a Vancouver man.

Juan Root, well-known in local radio, writing and drama circles will direct his own play, "The House I Built," for the B. C. conservatory players.

The regional contest will be held in the University of British Columbia auditorium in the week of March 26, with Robert Newton, English drama expert, as adjudicator.

Other entries are: "September Tide" by the Vagabond Players of New Westminster; "Therese" by the Vancouver Repertory Players; "Outward Bound" by The Curtain Club, Vancouver; "Another Part Of The Forest" by The Vancouver Little Theatre; "The Silver Whistle" by The West Vancouver Theatre Guild; and "Tobias And The Angel" by The Elsie Graham Drama Group, Vancouver.

Mrs. P. J. Anglesey New President Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. P. J. Anglesey is the new president of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital. Her election was approved at the annual meeting held Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the hospital residence for nurses.

An amendment of the constitution, also approved at this meeting provides that the term of office for the president shall be one year only in future. Immediate past president Mrs. J. V. Gallivan who has been head of the Auxiliary for the past three years, recommended acceptance of this amendment which was moved by Mrs. F. J. Lynch and seconded by Miss Madeleine Flynn.

The slate of officers with which Mrs. Anglesey will carry on the work in 1951 is entirely new.

Five vice presidents in order of their appointment are Mrs. Bernard Monaghan, Mrs. J. J. Crowley, Mrs. Denis Driscoll, Mrs. J. Cairns and Mrs. Alan Hayes. The recording secretary is Mrs. Edward O'Toole, the treasurer, Miss Geraldine Collins, and the corresponding secretary is Miss Agnes Grant.

Retiring president Mrs. Gallivan in her final address from the chair said "The public relations medium which this Auxiliary stands for is a very good thing for the hospital. Through our work we come to understand something of how the hospital is conducted and are thus able to straighten out little criticisms we may hear in the community". She added that the Sisters are usually unaware of the conditions which may have caused public comment and an Auxiliary member hearing such should bring the case to the attention of Mother Priscilla at once.

Grave Mistake for Girl To Marry to Escape Parents

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 19 and on the verge of marrying a good dependable man, but I don't know whether or not I love him.

Dorothy Dix

I feel that I am too young to enter such a serious thing as marriage, but my home environment gets me so disgusted I feel like marrying anyone to get away. My father drinks a lot and my mother quarrels with him. I do all the housework and have a job, too, and am nervous and sick half the time. My mother thinks I should marry for my fiance is good to me and to her. We have set the wedding date and bought part of our furniture, but I am crazy with worry, so please tell me what to do.

UNDECIDED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Break off the match for his sake as well as your own for no man can be happy with a wife who merely tolerates him.

Marry For Love

Don't marry any man unless you love him so well that his mere presence fills you with happiness and a sense of well-being and you count the hours between his visits. Marriage lasts for a long, long time, and it will seem longer if you are united to a husband who bores you, or whose little ways irritate you, or who for some reason that you cannot explain even to yourself you cannot bring yourself to care for.

Don't waste any time wondering if you are in love or not. When you are, you will know it in every fibre of your being. You won't dread your wedding day, you'll want to hurry it up.

Don't marry because your home conditions are unsatisfactory. A lot of girls do that, and they find they have just jumped out of the frying pan into the fire. If you're unhappy a home, you can leave and get a job somewhere else. But, if you are married, your fate is sealed and there is no escaping it except by way of the divorce court, which is messy and expensive.

At 19 the world is all before you. Don't spjoil everything by rushing into marriage before you are ready for it by marrying a man you don't love and who bores you.

DEAR MISS DIX: I married when I was 17. Was married three years when my husband began trifling and we separated. I got a divorce. Thought I could get over loving him, but we have been parted more than a year and I know that I still love him and am miserable away from him. He begs me to remarry him. Says the reason he began philandering was because I accused him of it when he hadn't done it, so he decided he might as well have the game as he got the name, but that he has had his lesson now and that if I will come back to him he will make everything up to me. What should I do?

ANSWER: There are thousands of women like you who get peeved with their husbands and rush off to the divorce court and then wish they hadn't. For they find that divorce doesn't bring them the happiness and peace they thought it would.

It seems to me that you will be doing the right thing and the wise thing to remarry the man you love and who loves you, and for both of you to go into this second marriage in a chastened and a humble frame of mind with more determination to use a little sense in dealing with each other than you did before.

Your husband says he has learned his lesson and that philandering didn't pay. Let us hope that you have learned your lesson that jealousy doesn't pay.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Does a girl's home have a large influence on whether boys like her or not? We are a group of girls who come from respectable homes, but they are poorly furnished and we feel ashamed to ask our boy friends to come in. Will this make any difference in whether boys continue going with us or not?

CURIOUS GROUP

ANSWER: A girl's home does have a lot to do with her popularity, but it is not on account of the way it is furnished. It is her parents' attitude and whether or not there is Welcome on the doorway. Not one boy in a hundred will ever notice whether there is linoleum or a Persian rug on the floor, or whether you have period furniture or something from the installment house. What he will notice is whether your parents are cordial to him and make him feel at home, and whether or not your home is a jolly and pleasant place to visit.

Big Lace Panels Developed In UK

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP) Big panels of lace, reproducing real lace by mass production methods, are a new development of a Nottingham lace factory which will be shown at the British Industrial Fair this summer at London and Birmingham.

The finer qualities of spun rayon yarns and Egyptian cotton yarn are woven on a machine which produces five 72-inch widths in one operation. As many as 8,640 spools of rayon and cotton are used in one panel of intricate design.

The beautiful, quiet lustre which comes from the combination of cotton and rayon is enhanced when the finished cloths are dyed in fashionable pastel shades to fit in with modern color schemes.

The larger panels are for bedspread and dinner table cloths. Smaller panel nets are made for window decoration, with a form of construction that prevents the selvedges fraying when the sections are separated.

Toronto Girl Maps Big Job For Research

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— A familiar figure in the reading room of the British Museum here is Winnifred Irene Nelson of Toronto. A slender girl whose blonde good looks belie her bookish habits.

Here on a City of London scholarship, Miss Nelson plans to spend nine months doing research work in the writings of Elizabethan England and the Spain of the Armada.

It is one of her ambitions to write a book comparing the literature of the two countries during the Tudor area. Her aim would be to show differences in court etiquette, culture, literature and poetry, diplomacy and naval strategy.

"It's a big job," she admitted in an interview, "but I have the rest of my life to do it in."

Miss Nelson was born in London, but went to Canada with her family when she was five years old. Her school days have been an almost continuous success story of one scholastic award after another, first in Canada and then in the United States.

Gold Medal Winner

She took her master of arts and bachelor of arts degrees at the University of Toronto and became a doctor of philosophy at Bryn Mawr College, Philadelphia. Among her awards are a gold medal in modern languages.

Her present scholarship expires this summer but before returning to Canada she hopes to see something of Spain, France, Germany and Austria. There will also be an Easter visit to Scotland and Ireland.

Meanwhile, she spends her offtime "rediscovering" London and nearby places of interest.

"I want to see as much of Britain as I can on my limited capital," she said.

Miss Nelson, now in her middle 20s, says her biggest surprise on coming back to Britain is the discovery that she's become thoroughly "Canadianized."

"Back home my family and I have always prided ourselves on being thoroughly English. Now I know we're really through-and-through Canadian."

HISTORIC SPOT

Quebec City in 1665 had a population of 550 and only 70 houses 57 years after its founding by Samuel De Champlain.

UK Reds Issue New Manifesto

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP)—A new policy document issued by Britain's Communist party suffered a gruelling baptism of fire today in the non-Communist press.

A writer in the Liberal News-Chronicle promptly tagged it the "hammer-and-cyclamen" manifesto—because it is allegedly designed to make the party look less "Red" than usual, and because it was issued in a 22-page pamphlet with a cover tinted cyclamen-pink.

The manifesto published Wednesday describes as a "slanderous misrepresentation" the accusation that Communists aim at attaining a Soviet Britain by aggression and abolition of parliament.

Douglas Hyde, former news editor of the Communist Daily Worker who renounced Communism in 1948, wrote in the Conservative Yorkshire Post that the pamphlet is "so mild-sounding and so very much a cover for the party's real activities and intentions that it is certain to be accompanied by a new drive within the party itself to ensure that the members shall not be guilty of falling for their own propaganda".

The Liberal Manchester Guardian said in an editorial:

"Perhaps the divergencies in the new manifesto are merely tactical and the points that have been switched lead only to some unimportant sidings where questioners can be left in the air. But it is not inconceivable that British Communists may ultimately find themselves sharing in the Titoist heresy. We shall see."

Crushed By Rock Two Miners Killed

TIMMINS, Feb. 1. — (CP). — Crushed by a ton and a half of loose rock which pinned them against a mucking machine on the 1,200-foot level of the nearby Preston East Dome Mines, two miners were killed Wednesday night.

Dead are Gerald Proulx, 22, Timmins, and Norman Grier of South Porcupine.

Mine officials said the men were operating the mucking machine to clear a drift which had been previously blasted down when the loose rock dislodged itself from the ceiling.

Ernie Devault of Timmins, working partner of the two men, escaped injury when the rock fell.

Take It Seriously

SINGAPORE, Feb. 1 —(AP)— Thousands of Chinese throughout Malaya, attracted by promises of opportunity in China, have started an exodus to the Communist mainland. Immigration offices in the big coastal towns are besieged by the Chinese, who tell of letters from China reporting free plots of available land on which to settle and "be independent."

Chamber of Commerce

HASTINGS, Feb. 1. (ENS). — A meeting to form a Hastings Chamber of Commerce will be held in the council chambers February 15 at 8 p.m.

A. Orr hopes to have a delegation from a neighboring chamber to outline the work, and to point out the value that such an organization can mean to a community.

Trade Board Meets

NORWOOD, Feb. 1 (ENS). — Annual meeting of the Norwood Board of Trade was held Monday in the King's Hotel. Kenneth Pakenham, the retiring president, acted as chairman during the election of officers and the new officers elected for 1951 are as follows: president, W. . . . AND IT COMES OUT HERE—Using a complex system of barrels, pipes, faucets and other gadgets, this South Korean farmer has rigged a "still" that takes wood in one end and feeds some sort of explosive mixture out the other end to run the motor of his rice threshing machine. Whatever it is, it's almost as good as gasoline, for keeping the motor perking.

Two Men Jump Bail Cost Family Home

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—(CP). — A mother of three children Wednesday sent out a plea to two men who, by jumping bail, will cost the family their home.

Mrs. Stella Cushman, 34 who came here three years ago from Winnipeg, said she will lose her $15,000 home because John and George Mallock didn't appear when their trial on charges of conspiring to distribute narcotics opened here Monday. Bail totalling $40,000 was ordered forfeited to the court Wednesday.

Judge Dismisses Wagman Action

A civil action brought by Alexander Wagman, proprietor of the Georgette shops, against Charles F. Glennie, chartered accountant, was dismissed in county court Wednesday by Judge S. L. Smoke.

A counterclaim by Glennie was also dismissed. No costs were awarded.

Wagman claimed Glennie and his wife Edaline owed a total of $308.65: for several loans, the assumption of a third party's outstanding account, and the purchase of merchandise from the store.

Glennie agreed that he and his wife had purchased $145.82 in merchandise. But he claimed that he had an account of $150 against Wagman for professional services: setting up books, preparing income tax returns and auditing.

Judge Smoke ruled that the claim—scaled down to $145.82—was about the same as the counterclaim of $150, and he dismissed both of them without costs.

Oratory Winner Toured Ottawa

Miss Mary Wingate and her mother Mrs. J. A. Wingate, of Islington, and formerly of Peterborough, have returned home after enjoying a two-day's special tour of Ottawa. The tour was the reward given to Mary for winning the York County Centennial oratory contest.

Mary is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E Stinson of 659 Water St. Her mother was the former Aida Stinson of Peterborough.

On their first day in Ottawa, Tuesday, Mary and her mother breakfasted at the Chateau Laurier and then were conducted on a two-hour tour of the National Mint. This was followed by lunch in the parliamentary restaurant.

In the afternoon, mother and daughter were seated in the Senate chamber for the opening of parliament and met both cabinet ministers and opposition leaders. Topping the day, they had dinner at Madame Henri Burger's in Hull's famous restaurant.

Wednesday they started off with a visit to the French Embassy, then toured the city followed by a tour of the parliament buildings where they met more of the nation's dignitaries. Before leaving for home they had dinner at the Chateau.

French military patrols are combing both sides of the river to clear out the guerrillas.

"Jane" Comes Back To Army Paper

MIRYANG, Korea (Special)—"Jane" is back in the laps of Canadian soldiers—this time in far-off Korea.

Customarily attired in a manner that leaves little room for either speculation or imagination, Jane's return was welcomed with gleefully open eyes by Second World War veterans among the Princess Patricias now training here. Younger soldiers overseas for the first time, blinked at Jane and opened their eyes, too—very wide.

The famous British comic strip character of the Second World War (and "strip" is the right word) visits the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Korea every day through the medium of the Forces' edition, "Japan News." Her normal wintertime wardrobe consists of two pieces despite the wind or weather. Worn simultaneously, they form the "Bikini" bathing suit which Jane has adopted as standard walking-out dress since she folded in the columns of the Canadian Army newspaper, "The Maple Leaf," in 1946.

A Hubbard comic strip creation, Janet was the finest "home news" demanded by British and Canadian troops when the Forces' newspaper was started a month ago. Managing editor Gordon Jenkins, an Australian unfamiliar with Jane, complied. Since he ran the first comic strip, circulation has increased 20 per cent.

In Korea the old rumor is making the rounds among the Patricias. Veteran army cook (Pte.) Andy Gray, of Winnipeg, says that if you clip out "pieces" of Jane for one week and paste them together, the resulting pin-up is "better than Lady Godiva without her horse." However, Andy says Jane "isn't handy around the kitchen. The men look at her instead of the other chickens in the oven."

Need Good Plan To Assist Handicapped People

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Labor Minister Gregg said today that Canada needs a well-rounded plan for aiding persons physically handicapped other than by industrial accidents or war wounds.

He told the first National Conference on Rehabilitation of Handicapped Persons that there is no co-ordinated plan in effect in Canada today for the benefit of those who have a handicap brought about by some event not connected with industry or with war service.

"In saying this I know of the work that has been started by one or two of the provinces and also that carried out by certain voluntary agencies. Valuable as those efforts are, there is still a great gap to be filled."

Mr. Gregg's deputy, Arthur MacNamara, also addressed the conference. The three-day meeting brought together representatives of various groups doing volunteer work for handicapped persons, of all provincial governments and of the federal departments of Labor, Health and Veterans' Affairs.

Thousands Unemployed

Mr. Gregg said in a speech prepared for delivery that there are thousands of Canadians who, because of handicaps, are unemployed or under-employed because they are believed incapable of self-sustaining employment.

"As they are at present equipped, the things they can do are so limited that attempts on their part alone to get work usually fail—or at best provide something quite inadequate. It is this group that we are chiefly concerned about . . .

"Perhaps what we need most now are a few good simple plans that will use the utmost all our joint resources in hand and in sight in a new combined operation.

Mr. MacNamara said that the labor department's special placements division, working in close co-operation with welfare organizations, has found 80,000 jobs for handicapped persons from 1945 to 1950. The total last year had been 9,000—more than 170 a week.

"Let us get clearly in our mind," said Mr. MacNamara, "that the handicapped person is not a useless person."

Urge Agreement

BONN, Germany, Feb. 1—(AP)—Kurt Schumacher, West German Socialist Party leader, urged today that any four-power conference on Germany agree on free and secret elections to accomplish reunification of all Germany. The West German government headed by Konrad Adenauer has rejected overtures from East Germany on unification talks because the Communists failed to guarantee free secret elections.

Loses Damage Action

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — David John Young, 36, who was paralyzed from the waist down when a building hoist collapsed and fell on him 3½ years ago, lost a damage action Wednesday against the Mayfair Construction Company. Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly decided Young went to the scene of the accident to get employment and was there at his own risk. Young's medical and hospital expenses had amounted to $8,286 at the time of the trial one year ago and have increased since by $9.75 a day.

Hunters Have Role

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—American hunters would take a leading role in a home-defence army under a bill introduced Wednesday by Representative Edwin Arthur Hall (Rep. N.Y.). The bill calls for a home-guard force made up of civilian vounteers. Units of the force would be set up under the supervision of hunting and sportsmen's groups.

Lovely Stink Of Adventure On Vancouver's Waterfront

By JACK SCOTT

Let us beat the drum today for one of the most spectacular and rewarding shows to be seen anywhere in the world, a thrilling daily performance attended by almost nobody, ever.

The show in question is Vancouver's waterfront, a kind of never-never strip of land to nine-tenths of our population, yet eager to be discovered and enjoyed.

No other port I've ever visited—and I've seen my share—is as ignored and unappreciated by its owners as this.

I suppose it's just never occurred to most people that ten-odd miles of harbor-front (on the city side alone) lie within a short bus ride of their front doors or that it is crammed with romance, the atmosphere of far-away places, the lovely stink of adventure.

There's no admission price. All you need is a dash of imagination.

Or perhaps it's just that we've lost the ability to walk, for walking is the only way to properly discover Vancouver's gateway to the world.

My own suggestion, and a project I began last Sunday, is to plot a series of Sunday afternoon strolls, rain or shine, from one end of the harbor to the other. There are plenty of "Keep Out" signs, you'll find, and I wouldn't presume to suggest you break the law, but you'll find an easy-going hospitable atmosphere on the wharves.

If you work eastward from crowded Coal Harbor you'll see the big halibut boats (did you know that one-third of the world's halibut comes from here?), the herring seiners, the trollers, all in a swaying forest of masts; lean against a pole and watch the busy gulf boats, the tugs and tow-boats and salvage vessels, the oil tankers, the barges that ferry the box cars up the coast.

As you move east you come into freighter country. Right now there's more than two dozen deep sea ships loading grain and lumber, apples and ore, for the ports of the world; ships from Holland, Denmark, Italy, the United Kingdom, Norway (the cleanest), Greece (the dirtiest), Persia and all points beyond the horizon.

Never was there a more generous invitation to get away from your landlubber's rut.

Salty Type

I can't remember enjoying myself so much as last Sunday when I joined a friend for a short expedition to the piers, mentally attired in a weather-beaten old sou-wester and walking with a slight sailor's roll.

A bus takes you down to the dockside and you can feel your appetite for romance sharpen as it carries you through the town's back streets to Ballantyne and Lapointe and the other piers that jut into the narrowing channel of the harbor.

My companion, hereafter referred to as "old shipmate," is, like myself, a man with an insatiable capacity for the sounds, sights and smells of the waterfront.

A word about this fellow. If you passed him in the street you might think of him as just another drudge. He looks as if he might be a tiny bit terrified of his boss, harried by the grey shadow of small debt, brow beaten by his wife and otherwise a typical product of this age.

Ah, but catch him leaning on the rail at Pier B-C, watching them swing a cargo into the hold of an old freighter! Suddenly there's a swashbuckling look about him. The faint perfume of kelp acts on him like a goblet of Burgundy wine. The hoarse shout of an outgoing tramp stirs his sluggish blood like a wink from a sloe-eyed gal in silk.

Sure, he gets sick on the Victoria boat, but he sails the seven seas every lunch hour and every Sunday morning.

Grey Vista

It was raining when we made our visit and that in itself adds an element of romanticism to what might seem, on the surface, a dreary scene.

Out of the harbor mouth grey water blended into grey sky. The long piers were silent and lonely. The rain pock-marked the leaden water. We buttoned the neck-flaps of our trench coats and walked out along one wharf.

En route we paused at the base of one of the immense grain elevators and watched the wheat pouring down through a funnel, musty smelling and giving off a light dust. The stuff behind the news stories of relief for the hungry.

At the far end of the pier, a tone darker than the grey of the sky, an old freighter leaned against the cement side of the wharf. He climbed aboard, at the invitation of a deck hand and watched her loading for U.K. The gulls, seeming whiter than usual, wheeled and screamed at the stern.

All of it was like thumbing through a familiar but always exciting, catalogue of impressions.

It surprised me a little, having seen a good deal of travel in the last few years, that the magic of the scene remains. The capacity to dramatize the far-off horizons seems as strong as ever, even after you've been over those horizons.

It's one of those oft-neglected joys of this wonderful town to realize again that an infallible tonic for a jaded imagination is right aroupd the corner. I suggest that you get bundled up against the weather this Sunday and we'll do our exploring together.

Big Lake Fleet Develops From One Vessel

TORONTO —(CP)— Capt. R. Scott Misener, 71, president and general manager of the largest individually-owned fleet of Canadian freighters on the Great Lakes, can count his success from the day he and his chief engineer, John O. McKellar, bought a small and not very staunch freighter.

Buying the vessel took every cent the two men possessed—or could borrow. Their venture depended on their skill in guiding her from port to port and in keeping her hold crammed with good-paying cargo.

That was in 1916, when Canada was busy meeting the strains and demands of the First World War. The two lake sailors made the operation of their little freighter pay and in two years they sold her and bought a bigger and better ship that was the foundation of a new shipping concern named Sarnia Steamship Ltd.

As the company prospered, they bought other ships until they had a fairly big fleet of their own. Then Capt. Misener and Mr. McKellar took over the venerable Mathews line, renaming it Colonial Steamships Ltd., and their fleets continued to grow and prosper.

Sailed As Boy

John O. McKellar is retired now. Scott Misener owns a big combined fleet and a growing business. He still has the love for the lakes that led him to strike out from his birthplace on Manitoulin Island before he was 17 and ship out as boy-before-the-mast on a three-and-aft lumber hooker at $15 a month, a wage later advanced to $25 when he gained the status of a regular hand.

From the lumber hooker, he went on to a wheelsman's berth in a steam barge. During the years when sail gave way to steam on the lakes and the wooden ships were replaced by steel, he climbed through the certified ratings of second mate and first mate to a master's ticket.

After that, to become a ship owner was for him but a single step.

Feel Lots Better Since Taking Syntona, He Says

Not Tired As Before, Backache, Rheumatic Pain Gone, Digestion Improved, Sleep More Sound And Restful.

"For a long time I was very rundown, but I feel lots better since taking Syntona Herbal Compound and I do not hesitate to recommend this medicine," said Mr. Alexander Sohm, 133 Jackson street west, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I had backache and rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles. Stomach was out of order, giving me gas, indigestion and heartburn after my meals, and I was subject to frequent headaches and dizzy spells. My nerves seemed to be all on edge, as I couldn't get my proper sleep at night and many mornings I felt as tired as I did the night before.

"Reading about Syntona Herbal Compound I got some and almost right away I began to feel better. Now the pains have cleared up, digestion has improved so that I eat well and I am relieved of headaches and dizzy spells. Also my nerves are relaxed now, sleep is more sound and restful and the tired feeling I used to have in the morning has disappeared."

The reason why such good results are produced by a medicine compounded to act on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels at the same time is simply this:—The organs of assimilation and elimination are so closely related that when one becomes ailing it so often affects one or more of the others. Food that should supply energy and resistance only ferments in the stomach. Soured particles and waste matter are absorbed into the bloodstream and soon the whole system becomes rundown.

Get Ferry With 500 Off Reef

LEVIS, Que., Feb. 2. (CP)—A ferry loaded up with some 500 rush-hour passengers on Thursday night was blown right off its course and thrown on St. Lawrence River reefs in a swirling snowstorm, but two powerful government ice-breakers succeeded in bringing the boat back here. No one was reported injured in the grounding of the boat—the Cite de Quebec—property of La Traverse de Levis, Limitee, which operates the ferry service linking Quebec City with this south shore town. The Quebec Bridge, several miles west from here, is the only other traffic link. No panic spread aboard the tubby, white-painted ship during the more than five hours it lay on rocks near Lauzon.

No panic spread aboard the tubby, white-painted ship during the more than five hours it lay on rocks near Lauzon.

Some women wept. One man foolishly attempted to get ashore by clambering up ice blocks jamming the river. He walked but a few feet before he realized the loose floating ice was moving from under him, and made a successful dash back to ship.

No One Worried

Passengers reported there was little thought of danger while the ship, one of two operating during the winter, slipped helplessly away from the wharf here just as it was about to dock.

But when, 40 minutes later, the sound of the ship's bottom crunching against stone was heard and a "boom" rang out, passengers rushed to outside decks to see what was happening.

One passenger said that when the boat struck the rocks, "my heart went up in my mouth."

"We were lucky the lights stayed on, it would have been awful of they had gone off."

The ferry boats are equipped with cafeterias and passengers bought up everything in sight. Passengers said that after the sandwich supply was gone people started eating doughnuts, salted peanuts, boxed candies and jelly beans.

Coffee was available almost until the ship was finally dragged off the reefs, about a mile east of Quebec.

Severe U.K. Coal Shortage Threatens To Halt Industry

LONDON, Feb. 2. (AP)—A severe coal shortage—500,000 tons more are being burned than are being dug each weeek—today threatened an industrial breakdown that could undermine Britain's rearmament program. Many fear a recurrence of the coal crisis which in the winter of 1946-47 closed factories and threw nearly 3,000,000 men out of work.

coal stocks, the Labor government

Trying to stretch fast-dwindling has ordered a 15-per-cent cut in coal deliveries to industry including defence plants and key export factories.

The government, which runs the nationalized mines, also has boosted the price of coal by five per cent and warned some power plants that they may have to shut down unless they get more coal soon. The government also cancelled 2,500 train services of the nationalized railways.

Alarm was expressed by the Federation of British Industries.

"Avoidance of an industrial breakdown now depends entirely on an increase in coal production and good weather," said federation director Sir Norman Kipping. "If industrial consumption is continued at the present rate of about 66,000,000 tons annually, all coal stocks will be completely exhausted before the winter is over."

Defeat Censure Motion

In the House of Commons Thursday night the government, by a vote of 300 to 289, defeated a Conservative motion of censure that it had bungled Britain into a critical fuel shortage.

But though Prime Minister Attlee's government rode out the Tory motion, disclosures in the Commons of the country's coal plight brought editorial howls of indignation in the press.

About 9,000,000 tons of coal are needed in the pipeline between mine and fire to keep industry running smoothly. Britain was paralyzed in February, 1947, when scattered supplies dipped under that level. Stock piles now total only about 10,000,000 tons.

The 1,000,000-ton leeway represents less than two days' supply.

Attlee has called on the miners to hew out an extra 3,000,000 tons by the end of April. Trade union and coal board authorities believe the country will be lucky to get half that much increase.

Many fear that the arms industry, just beginning to roll on Atlantic alliance output, may be crippled for weeks.

Farmers Ready Battle 'Hoppers

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Prairie farmers are counting again on weather to help their 1951 fight against the multi-million-dollar appetite of the grasshopper.

About 9,500,000 acres of Alberta farmland, 2,000,000 acres in Manitoba, and a lesser amount than last year in Saskatchewan, are expected to be affected by the winged pests.

This is down from last year's estimates when over-all damage was comparatively light. Entomologists in Alberta say that 700,000 acres of land in that province were treated with poison last year and about $170,000 spent in grasshopper control.

The loss in Manitoba was practically nil, due to favorable weather conditions—cool weather and frequent, heavy rains which produced an abundance of grass. Saskatchewan's estimate isn't available, but damage wasn't anywhere near serious.

Weather In Canada Odd Says Immigrant

HALIFAX, Feb. 2 (CP)—Hailgonians, surprised by a balmy winter and green Christmas, were not as bewildered as a Netherlander who arrived here a few days when two records, one for low temperature and another for a new high, were recorded on consecutive days.

January 31 the mercury plummeted to 13 below zero for the lowest in 25 years, but by midnight of Feb. 1, the temperature had risen to 53.7 for a new all-time high for a February day.

Cor Westerhoven, who arrived aboard the Prinz Alexander, small Dutch pasenger-freighter said: "I went to bed, it was way below zero. I woke up, it was raining. What happens next?"

The weather bureau said skies should clear today and temperatures fall sharply by midnight.

Ordered In U.S. Strike Partial Mail Embargo

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP). — A switchmen's strike, which in three days has crippled much of the United States railroad transportation, today threatened many segments of the country's economy.

The federal government pressed to end the walkout. A federal court hearing was scheduled in Chicago in one of the government's legal actions against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its officers, who have not authorized the strike. President Truman was reported doing everything possible to get the strikers back to work.

Switchmen appeared ignoring the reported appeals of BRT officials to end their work stoppage, their second in six weeks over a long-standing wage dispute.

As the strike grew, forcing additional layoffs of thousands of workers in other industries, the government imposed a partial embargo on mail.

Man Travels 12,000 Miles To Crash Army In Korea

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Feb. 2 (AP) —A 26-year-old man who said he came all the way from New York —12,000 miles—to join the army was brought from the battle front today to take a physical examination.

'That does not mean we will take him in," an officer said, "but it will determine for one thing whether he is physically qualified to become a soldier."

William Jesse Newton, Jr., hitch-hiked to the front Thursday and tried to enlist in the U.S. 27th Infantry Regiment.

Newton identified himself thus: a commercial pilot in civilian life; married—his wife and two children living in California; a navy gunner's mate in the Second World War and later a year with the U.S. Air Force in 1948.

A plane he had rented at Teterboro, N.J., landed in the sea off New Jersey last year. He was picked up by the Polish ship Batory, aboard which Gerhardt Eisler, Communist leader, escaped to Europe.

"Ever since, everyone still thinks little Willie is a Red spy," Newton said.

"I came out here to shoot the Communists. People back home will think that's a funny way for a Communist to act. They will have to change their opinion of me."

Newton's faith in his ability to get into the army wavered a bit after he was returned from the front and placed in custody of military police.

But, having worked his way to Korea on $50 "more or less" he was confident he could pass army examinations.

Queen Juliana Asks Form New Cabinet

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands Feb. 2 — (AP). — Queen Juliana today asked Dr. Willem Drees of the Labor Party and Dr. Josephus Van Schaik of the Catholic Party to join in trying to form a new Dutch Cabinet. Drees is Premier and Van Schaik Vice-Premier of the present Caretaker government.

Foreign Minister Dirk Stikker informed the Queen Thursday he had failed in his effort to form a new Cabinet.

The government quit January 24 to support Stikker after his own Liberal Party disowned him because of government policy on the future of Dutch New Guinea.

Atom Blast Like 'Quake In Nevada

Report Flash Seen 300 Miles Away, Windows Shattered

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 2, (AP) — A new atomic test rocked Las Vegas with the force of an earthquake today. Residents said it appeared to be the heaviest of four felt here in the last week as a result of experiments at a new government atomic range on the desert north west of here. The blast was felt 100 miles away.

"It was just like a quake," said one observer. "The buildings rocked and the concussion blew in swinging windows."

The first damage here from any of the shocks was reported to police a few minutes after the blast. It was the shattering of a big window in a downtown department store.

As in previous tests, the blast created a vast fan of orange-yellow brilliance and faded quickly, with a core of orange noticeable at it died out.

It was timed at about 9:49 a.m. EST.

It took the concussion six minutes to reach here, after the brilliant flash lit the northwestern skies, etching buildings in this gambling resort town and the mountains which ring it.

It was visible as a pale orange flash at Los Angeles, 300 miles away.

Since Saturday, the government has been testing atomic weapons of undisclosed nature at the new 5,000-square-mile range on the desert. The atomic energy commission has consistently declined to comment except to confirm that tests have been held.

The tests have been made in pairs — a fairly-light explosion Saturday; a heavy one Sunday; a fairly-light one Thursday; a heavy one today.

All occurred just before dawn.

Experts Present

Presumably today's test was witnessed by some of the country's highest civilian atomic and military brass.

In town Thursday were Gordon Dean, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. William Webster, head of the research and development board of the defence department; Senator Clinton P. Anderson (Dem. N. Mex.), a member of the joint congressional atomic energy commission; some high army officers and others.

Several Las Vegans were convinced it was the strongest jolt of the four.

Cashier Jo O'Donnell at one of the big gambling clubs said it "shook hell out of the building."

The sight loomed in the distance despite a maze of neon signs.

"After the flash, everybody was set for the jolt and a policeman said 'Here it comes'."

Some 75 players in the club stopped their games for a minute or two and then resumed. This was in contrast to previous tests, when the wheels went right on.

UN Will Halt At 38th Parallel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP) —A reported decision to halt United Nations force short of the 38th Parallel—if they can drive that far north—indicated today that the United States is ready to keep the way open for a possible diplomatic settlement of the Korean war.

Responsible US authorities said Thursday night that such a decision had been reached and would be transmitted to the UN commander, Gen. MacArthur, if it had not been already. Although they were reluctant to discuss the development even privately, the intent appeared to be to create if possible a basis for new efforts at a political settlement.

(At US Eighth Army headquarters in Korea a spokesman said there would be no confirmation or denial of the reported decision —"we have not gone into the business of divulging our intentions to the enemy.")

Parallel 38 is 33 miles north of Seoul, the republic's red-held capital. Allied troops are about 10 miles south of Seoul.

Dentists On Strike

HAMILTON, Feb. 2. (CP) A rare type of wage strike began today when nine dentists employed by the city on a part-time basis failed to appear at their work in public and separate schools. The strike is believed to be Canada's first by members of a profession. "Indefinite leave of absence" was the term used by the dentists to describe their action, which resulted on Thursday when personnel committee of city council refused to grant the dentists' wage demands in full.

Heaviest Storm Takes 2 Lives, Remains Cold

By The Canadian Press.

The heaviest snowstorm of the winter in eastern Canada moved across Quebec and into the Maritimes today, leaving two deaths in its wake.

Although the storm is centred over New York State, it has dumped 10 inches of snow on eastern Ontario and southern Quebec where traffic has been slowed to a crawl.

The Dominion public weather office at Montreal said the snow would stop early today in western Quebec, where the final depth would be 12 or 13 inches.

Eastern Quebec, however, was in for another full day of swirling snow, and another six inches was expected to fall before the storm finished its trek into the Maritimes and northeastern United States.

Two Deaths Reported

Two deaths were indirectly blamed on the storm. In Toronto, Peter Iacovoni, 60, was fatally injured Thursday night when struck by a locomotive while shovelling snow off the railway tracks near Union Station. In London, Ont., William F. Higgs, 54, dropped dead of heart seizure while shovelling snow.

While the snow was walloping southern Ontario, a cold wave held the northern part of the province in its grip. However, temperatures were expected to moderate in the north today, while cold weather remained in the south.

Train schedules were disrupted throughout the storm area, and in Montreal, Quebec and Toronto

No. 2 Communist In Korea Killed

TOKYO, Feb. 2 (Reuters) — Vice-premier Kim Chek, regarded as North Korea's No. 2 Communist, has been killed while commanding Communist troops, Pyongyang radio announced today.

The broadcast from the North Korean capital gave no details of the action, which it said occurred Jan. 30.

Kim, 48, was trained in Moscow and was believed to be second only to Premier Kim Il sung in influence in the North Korean regime. The two had worked closely together since they led guerrillas against the Japanese.

Kim Chek was named vice-premier and industry minister in September, 1948. Last August he also took over as commander-in-chief of the army.

In November he was reported to be organizing Communist guerrilla activity behind United Nations lines near Seoul, South Korean capital now in Communist hands.

$60,000 Fire Razes 4 Homes, Cottages

HAMILTON, Feb. 2—(CP)—Fire today destroyed the homes of Thomas Halcro and Ben Curtis at suburban Hamilton Beach with total loss estimated at $60,000.

The flames also spread to two adjacent dwellings.

The Halco residence was a tourist home containing 21 rooms in two apartments and a separate cottage, also demolished.

The Curtis home, an eight-room stucco building, also had a cottage nearby.

Firemen from three stations were called to fight the outbreak on the Hamilton Beach sandstrip.

UN Forces Advance North of Anyang

TOKYO, Feb. 3 (Saturday) — (AP). — Tank-led Allied assault forces advanced through thick fog Friday night to points north of Anyang, only 8½ miles south of Red-held Seoul.

Two to 2½ miles south of Anyang, however, two companies of Chinese Communists (possibly 400 men) counter-attacked at 10 p.m. and still were fighting at midnight.

No details were available on this relatively small Red effort to check the United Nations drive which has gained about 20 miles since it began January 25. Enemy opposition has been slackening daily.

Advance patrols of the Allies have been reported only 7 miles from Seoul.

Moving Cautiously

Heavier forces are moving up cautiously, warq against flank attacks which are the favorite Red tactics.

However, a late field dispatch Friday night from Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker said tank-led UN forces on the western front had plunged beyond Anyang, 8½ miles south of Seoul. Size of the forces was not given.

Allied patrols previously had probed within seven miles of the city.

An Eighth Army spokesman estimated that 6,650 Chinese and North Korean Communists had been killed by ground action between Jan. 25 and 31. Air reports listed casualties for that period at 1,442, but some may be duplications.

Can't Agree

Even so, there was a difference of military opinion as to whether the allies have cracked the main enemy defences, despite notable losses in manpower and reported shrinking morale among the Reds.

In Washington there were reports that high officials have decided U.N. troops should stop at Parallel 38, presumably pending further efforts toward political settlement of the conflict, but an Eighth Army spokesman declined to confirm or deny the Washington report.

Chopped up were the Chinese 50th and 38th armies. Resistance slackened even though the Communist 39th and 40th armies were in immediate reserve, allied commanders said.

Reliable sources said the threat of typhus has made its appearance among North Korean troops, and that tuberculosis, trench foot, frostbite and other diseases likewise are taking a toll among the Chinese allies.

Prisoners-of-war said 50 to 100 per cent of some North Korean companies are infected with typhus, a disease transmitted by vermin from rats. However, U.S. Eighth Army investigators said there is no evidence that Chinese troops have been affected seriously by the disease.

No typhus cases were reported among inoculated U.N. troops. Army officials in Washington said Russian satellite countries have had difficulty perfecting an effective vaccine.

On the allied right flank, near the juncture of western and central fronts, French and American elements smashed their way out of a trap set by thousands of Communists who leaped wildly into hand-to-hand combat 12 miles north of Yoju.

Take Heavy Toll

The fight took a heavy toll among two enemy regiments — about 6,000 men—who spent 12 hours Thursday trying to squeeze U.N. troops into submission by attacks on three sides.

AP correspondent Don Huth said the allies broke the back of the Communist charge when air power and reinforcements reached them at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

On the left flank in the west, AP correspondent Jim Becker said allied forces drove to a point

Boston Woman Has Quadruplets

BOSTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Quadruplets—two boys and two girls—were born today to Mrs. Helen Allen, 31, wife of Robert J. Allen, 36-year-old Boston policeman.

The babies, all under five pounds, were born within 15 minutes of each other. All were in good condition.

Doctors said the mother, who has two other children, is in good condition.

Dr. Andrew Elia, attending physician, said triplets had been expected after X-rays were taken a month ago.

Quadruplets occur about once in 512,000 births.

RCAF Stepping Up Search For Four Missing In Bush

TRENTON, Ont., Feb. 2. (CP)—In clearing weather, the RCAF today stepped up its search for a civilian plane and its four occupants missing since Monday in the Northwestern Quebec wilderness. Air Force spokesmen here said plans were complete for at least five big planes to scour a bleak stretch of bushland, 200 miles north of Ottawa, into which the Beaver aircraft vanished while carrying a sick Indian couple to hospital at Oskalano, Que., 100 miles east of Senneterre.

The search will be directed from the RCAF Rockcliffe base, on the eastern outskirts of Ottawa, by Sqdn.-Ldr. W. A. G. McLeish, recently transferred from Air Force headquarters in Ottawa to be air traffic controller here.

The RCAF said at 10 a.m. that McLeish was ready to take off for Rockcliffe in a helicopter which he would fly himself. The helicopter wil be kept available at Rockcliffe for use if necessary in the search.

Methodical Sweeps

As search master, Sqdn.-Ldr. McLeish will assign search plane crews to methodical sweeps over a strip of rock-and-bush country 200 miles long and 100 miles wide.

The Air Force described the search area as the Gouin Reservoir region, on a direct line between Lake Abitibi and Lake St. John and about midway between those northern lakes.

Today's weather was reported clear and cold in the search region, where a snowstorm Thursday hampered efforts of crews of a Dakota and a Lancaster from Trenton who made a preliminary search.

The Lancaster spent the night at the Northern Ontario base of Kapuskasing, about 80 miles north-west of the goldmining town of Timmins.

Six More Weeks Of Winter Chuck Couldn't Miss Shadow

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) —The groundhog could have seen his shadow here today if he had been gambolling about in several inches of snow that fell on Toronto during the last two days.

If he saw his shadow—and he could hardly miss the bright sunshine—legend has it that the city could expect six more weeks of winter.

But officials at Riverdale Zoo said all the groundhogs were fast asleep this Candelmas day.

And the weatherman, who always takes a dim view of groundhogs as weather prophets, said: "We're in for another six weeks of winter anyway, believe me."

In Peterborough too, with the sun shining all day, the groundhog was sure to see his shadow too.

At Punxsutawney, Pa., experts advised zippering up those mackinaws and ordering in more fuel.

The Punxsutawney groundhog, known the world over as the seer of gobbler's knob, saw his shadow at 8:41 a.m. EST.

Says Second To Come In Short Time

Income Tax Hike Will Yield $4,000,000,000 More

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress for a quick $10,000,000,000 tax increase and said he will ask still another increase later. In a message to members, he set out this program for raising the $10,000,000,000:

1. A $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, already scheduled to yield a record $26,000,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

2. A $3,000,000,000 increase in corporation income taxes. These with excess profits taxes included, are scheduled to hit a record $20,000,000,000 next year.

3. A $3,000,000,000 increase in excise (sales) taxes — to be "concentrated upon less essential consumer goods." These taxes are estimated to yield $8,222,000,000 next year, under present tax laws.

The schedule outlined would mean a total tax take of $64,200,000,000.

This is nearly one-third more than the record collections of the Second World War when the take reached $43,000,000,000 in 1945.

The understanding among Congress members is that the further increase Truman is to request later would raise government revenues to more than $71,000,000,000.

Doesn't Give Details

Truman left details of how the proposed $10,000,000,000 increase is to be made for explanation by Treasury Secretary John Snyder.

Word in informed quarters was that Snyder will ask that normal corporate income tax rates be raised to 55 per cent from the present 47-per-cent top.

Truman nowhere named the amount of the tax increase he will ask as a "second instalment" following Congressional action on the first installment of $10,000,000,000.

He pointed, however, to the fact that a $16,500,000,000 increase in revenue would be necessary to balance the $71,600,000,000 spending budget he has proposed for next fiscal year.

Truman said:

"I recommend that as rapidly as possible the Congress enact revenue legislation to yield additional taxes of at least $10,000,000,000 annually, and later in the year enact the remaining amounts needed to keep us on a pay-as-we-go basis.

"If we follow this course, our revenues will keep pace with increasing expenditures, we shall have some months in which to

Five Children Fire Victims

MILTON, N.Y., Feb. 2—(AP)—Five children—two brothers and a sister of one family and a brother and sister of another family who had been left at their home for safe keeping—died when fire swept their house today.

Dead are:

Joseph Simone, 10, his brother Victor, and sister, Amy, 2, and two of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Conormon's children, Wayne, 3, and Sherry Lynne, 18 months.

Hours later only three of the bodies had been recovered from the debris.

Federal Rent Controls To End April 30

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Don't let your landlord—or anyone else—tell you that federal rent controls end March 31. They don't. They end April 30.

Many persons, public figures among them, believe the federal ceilings expire at the end of the federal fiscal year—March 31. However, when the federal government extended rent control last year it did so for a 13-month period—to April 30 this year.

That was done because most Canadian leases expire on that date, with the next day—May 1—the country's traditional moving day.

Conscription Not Used Yet

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. (CP)—The Government believes that the big need in Europe now is for arms rather than troops. It does not plan to introduce conscription of manpower in Canada at this stage of the critical world situation.

That was the nub of an important policy statement made Thursday by Prime Minister St. Laurent—on his 69th birthday—as he unexpectedly injected the touchy conscription issue into the Commons Throne-Speech debate.

However, he said, that does not mean that there will not be changes in Canada's method of contributing resources to the pool of international strength if the world situation itself changes.

Mr. St. Laurent joined the debate along with the three other party leaders as the chamber received two non-confidence motions which will be voted on at a later date.

Two Non-confidence Motions

The motions were hinged on:

1. A contention by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, that the government has "failed" to give the country leadership, to mobilize enough forces to meet international obligations and to combat the high cost of living.

2. A censure by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, for Canada's support of the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, urged that the Canadian people be aroused to the "fullest possible realization of the dangers" that face them. Only then could they be expected to rise to the effort needed if free nations were to survive.

Mr. St. Laurent told the chamber:

"So far, there has been nothing brought to my attention that would indicate that the institution of national selective service at this time would be beneficial. On the contrary, the information we have obtained is that it would hamper what is being done at this moment.

Change Possible.

"Now, that does not mean that the situation cannot change, and it does not mean that, if and when it does change, there will not be changes in the manner in which our resources will be contributed to (the) pool of international strength.

"But those changes will not be recommended by this government on any sentimental grounds because of any appeals on racial or religious bases, but on their actual effective value to the joint strength of the combined forces of those (North Atlantic) powers."

Mr. St. Laurent said he deprecates appeals on religious grounds for or against national selective service.

He added:

"We believe . . . that the big need of westerrn Europe at this time is for arms rather than for troops."

Warns Sacrifices

At the same time, he warned that the efforts would call for many sacrifices by Canadians.

Mr. Drew repeated his call of last session for a royal commission to determine how best to cut down non-essential expenditures by the government and for a parliamentary commitee to name a thorough-going study of defence matters.

He coupled these requests with a charge that there is great uncertainty that Canada has more than a "very small number" of men ready to go into the field should they be needed.

He criticized the government for alleged failure to indicate the urgency in the present world situation.

But he said he shared with Mr. St. Laurent a hope that a third world war could be avoided if free men and women "put their whole heart into the tasks before them, with the compelling sense of danger that the facts demand."

Mr. Coldwell, touching briefly on the manpower question, suggested that a thorough appraisal should be made of the country's manpower and material resources before any decision is reached on how men should be raised for the armed forces.

Industrials Lead Rise In Stocks

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP). — Prices turned strongly higher with industrials leading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

The industrial, base metal and Western oil indices were all at new peaks since they were first compiled in 1934. The Exchange"s 1 p.m. index showed industrials up 3.63 at 330.77, golds .99 at 30.46, base metals .60 at 190.38, and Western oils 1.86 at 96.59.

Trading was active and volume for the first three hours of 2,270,000 shares was about 401,000 shares more than the same period yesterday.

Industrials posted the strongest advance as they climbed ahead for the seventh straight session. Steels, papers, constructions, banks, refining oils, utilities, liquors and foods posted a wide list of advances. Agricultures, textiles, manufacturing companies and retail stores majority of gains. No group failed to advance and gains ranged from fractions to more than $1.

Calgary and Edmonton paced Western oils higher with a $1 jump to a new peak at $12.25. Others ahead included Central-Leduc, Federated Petroleum, Anglo-Canadian and Pacific Petroleum.

Golds brightened after their declines of the last two sessions. Junior producers climbed pennies and senior producers were mixed.

observe economic developments and to consider several serious questions that will need to be resolved before all parts of th's year's tax program are enacted . . ."

Congressional tax leaders have said it will be at least June before action can be completed on Truman's tax proposals.

Truman said Congress should seek to "close loopholes" in present tax laws and hinted he would like to see taxes imposed on cooperatives and income from state and municipal securities all exempt under present income-tax laws.

He urged a "very careful" examination of tax laws "relating to life insurance companies and to holders of securities now exempt from income taxes," plus a "review of the tax status of organizations now exempt under present law."

Specifically, he called for closing "loopholes" which he said lead to "gross under-taxation of the oil and mining industries" and tightening estate and gift taxes.

UK Dockers Strike

LIVERPOOL, England, Feb. 2 (AP)—More than 4,000 dockers quit work today in a wildcat strike for higher wages. Ignoring pleas of union leaders, 2,000 men on the Liverpool quayside walked out this afternoon. Another 2,000 at nearby Birkenhead and 200 at Harwich had left their jobs earlier in the day.

Face Higher Cost

TORONTO, Feb. 2—(CP)—Unless work starts this year on the St. Lawrence hydro-electric power development the people of Ontario will face the prospect of higher cost electrical power, Robert H. Saunders, Hydro chairman, said Thursday. "Ontario needs the St. Lawrence power by the fall of 1956," Mr. Saunders said in an address to the Canadian Progress Club. "Since the necessary work will take five years we must have authority to go abead this year."

traffic was slowed and snarled.

A 24-mile-an-hour wind complicated matters for snow-removal crews in hilly Quebec. The city also reported damage estimated at $15,000 in the collapse of a garage roof under the weight of the heavy snow.

In the west, weather was generally normal for this time of the year—cold, that is. Temperatures in most parts of the prairies ranged around the zero-mark today.

UN Forces

4,000 yards south of Anyang, between eight and nine miles south of Seoul.

In that area Turkish troops made the greatest advance — three miles—sweeping forward with flashing bayonets through rugged, mud-sodden hill country against a firmly-dug-in enemy. The Turks wheeled toward Inchon Seoul's port.

The strategy of Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, appeared to dictate that U.N. troops hit harder against chosen segments of Chinese and North Korean enemy forces. Allied air power attacked pinched-off segments of the Reds and after digesting them, moved on to another slice of the enemy, singled out by allied commanders.

Clearing Out Hills

The UN push was sweeping clean the hills and valleys as it moved forward. Care was taken that no enemy forces were left behind the lines to rise again and harass Allied fighting men in the push north.

UN artillery blasted the Reds all along the 40-miles front during the night. The steady barrage held down Red forces, which tried only one attack from dawn to dusk in the west.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton, on the western front, said overwhelming Allied firepower and skidding Chinese morale explains the Reds' failure to put up more serious resistance from their main defence lines south of the Han.

Swinton said the success of the Allied push in the last 24 hours was due to careful sweeping of the rear. By-passed Reds last autumn hampered the UN lightning advances after the amphibious landing at Inchon, the big west coast port city 20 miles west of Seoul.

Expect Battle Over Sanctions

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—A behind-the-scenes battle was shaping up today in the United Nations over whether sanctions should be voted against aggressor Red China if peace moves fail.

A top-heavy majority, including Canada, united in the 44-7 vote in the General Assembly Thursday labelling Red China an aggressor for its attack on UN troops in Korea.

But the majority already is splitting over what would be the most effective step against the Chinese Communists.

Assembly president Nas Rollah Entezam still was trying to get his three-man "good offices" peace committee filled out. Canada's L. B. Pearson has been mentioned as one of the members. The U.S. let it be known that it wanted the 14-country collective measures (sanctions) committee to get down to business not later than next week.

Chief Justice Denies 11th Hour Stay 4 Negroes Go To Chair For Rape

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 2. — (AP).—Four of seven Martinsville Negroes, denied an 11th-hour stay by the chief justice of the United States, were electrocuted today in the old state penitentiary here for the rape of a white woman. Three others are to die Monday.

The Negroes who were executed today in a case that has brought protests both in the United States and abroad were Joe Henry Hampton, 22; Frank L. Hairston, 21; Booker T. Millner, 22; and Howard Hairston, 21. Their three companions—Frances Desales Grayson, 40; John Clabon Taylor, 24; and James Hairston, 23—are slated for execution Monday.

The four were electrocuted early this morning after George Thomas Hailey, 27-year-old white man, was executed for the rape-slaying of a 14-year-old school girl.

The case of the Negroes, which brought protests from Moscow, Peiping and other Communist capitals, as well as messages from individuals and groups in the U.S., originated more than two years ago.

Unsuccessful efforts for an appeal were based on the contention the constitutional rights of the men have been abridged in that the death penalty for rape in Virginia has been reserved solely for Negroes.

Hundreds Ask Pardon

Some sympathizers asked pardons for the men Tuesday when several hundred visited Governor John S. Battle. The governor replied that such a request was a waste of breath.

The crime for which they were sentenced was the rape of Mrs. Ruby Stroud Floyd, 32, wife of a Martinsville department store manager. She went into the "shanty town" Negro section of the city to collect for clothing she had sold.

The evidence showed that she was seized and raped by four Negroes, who called three others to join them. Each of the seven raped her, some more than once. She was bitten, scratched and seriously injured internally.

Governor Battle turned down defence lawyers in their final bid for executive clemency last night before they left for Washington. He termed the crime most brutal and aggravated, and said that in none of the appeals had the attorneys sought to question the guilt of the men.

Find No Sign Of Sabotage In Bridge Collapse—Mayor

THREE RIVERS, Que., Feb. 2 (CP).—Mayor J. A. Mongrain said Thursday that "no one in Three Rivers believes sabotage was connected with collapse of the Duplessis bridge."

The mayor said he was not making the statement in direct reply to Premier Duplessis' statement of yesterday in which the Premier, in the legislature, said it was his opinion that sabotage was the cause of the disaster.

"There is nothing to indicate sabotage," said Mayor Mongrain.

The mayor said he was not making any further comment and that an official statement from himself, as mayor of the city, will possibly be made later.

Meanwhile, an experimental ferry service was started and the Canadian Pacific Railway put a series of trains into shuttle service to accommodate hundreds of workers who must cross the St. Maurice river to jobs in both cities.

Four car drivers died when their machines went plunging 50 feet into the river in the early morning darkness Wednesday.

Woman Charged With Stealing $395 Fur Coat

A charge of stealing $395 was changed to a cnarge of stealing a fur coat worth $395 when evidence in the trial against Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, of the Peterborough Fur Cold Storage, Robinson St., changed Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw's mind.

Defending Mrs. Chambers, Gordon H. T. Farquharson, asked for an adjournment to prepare a defense against what amounted to a new charge. He argued unsuccessfully against the court granting the crown attorney permission to amend the original cnarge. The trial was put over to Feb. 8.

John F. Donoghue, 308 Park St., testified that Mrs. Chambers brought three coats to show his wife. His wife picked out one and he paid $100 on Deposit March 26. April 2 he paid the balance of $295.

Coat In Toronto

When he did this, Mrs. Chambers suggested that they store the coat in her storage plant for the summer. In October, he asked Mrs. Chambers for the coat. She said she thought she could not get it for a few days. And then he learned that the coat was in Toronto, not in Peterborough.

After some negotiations, he had Mrs. Chambers promise in writing to produce the Coat Nov. 4 and he eventually got it back a week before Christmas after he had laid a charge of theft against her.

Saul Kelman owner of the Toronto firm that sold the coat to Mrs. Chambers produced a copy of the invoice dated March 20, listing the three coats sent to Mrs. Chambers to show to Mrs. Donoghue.

Produced Credit Note

He also produced a credit note mailed to Mrs. Chambers in September when she sent back the coat she had sold to Mrs. Donoghue.

Another invoice dated Dec. 14 listed the coat again made out to J. Jardine which Mrs. Donoghue finally got.

Kelman said he had sold coats before to Mrs. Chambers for resale. He had charged her $315 plus $7.20 tax for the coat.

He said that on March 28 Mrs. Chambers had returned the other two unsold coats and gave his company a cheque for $37.68 on account. At that time she owed $905.84 on her running account.

No New Tax

REGINA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Saskatchewan's provincial treasurer, C. M. Finee, said Thursday that if and when the provinces are allowed to place a three-per-cent indirect levy on retail turnover, it will not mean a new tax. He said the proposed indirect tax would provide an alternative way of collecting the present Saskatchewan three-per-cent education and hospital tax, a direct levy.

More Interest In Religion Noted In U.S.

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP) — Key signs today indicate a phenomenal up-surge of interest in religion in the United States.

While the evidence doesn't show that the country as a whole is more devout, it does hint that organized religion is commanding new, wider attention.

A few of the clues:

1. Seminaries are packed and some of them for the first time are being forced to turn away applicants.

2. Bible sales have nearly doubled in the last decade, increasing between five and 10 per cent in the last year.

3. A radio networks broadcast on religion last month stirred the greatest letter response in the program's 16-year history.

4. The number of newspaper and magazine syndicates handling religious features has jumped from 17 to 45 in five years.

5. Church-building is at an all-time high.

Expand Courses

6. Most colleges and universities across the country have expanded religious curricula to meet student demands.

7. Present-day touring evangelists have attracted near-record crowds.

8. Church contributions and attendance (a basic gauge of church vitality) are considered by officials to be at a peak.

9. Religious and inspirational books in recent years have achieved a regular place on best-seller lists.

Close observers view the sharpened religious appetite of the country as a result of the insecurity of the times.

They also see it as a possible reaction against an age of intense scientific rationalism, and a resurgent conviction that materialistic advances can never fully cope with life's basic needs.

Agricultural Courses

BETHANY, Feb. 2 —(ENS)— The Ontario Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the Agricultural Engineering Department of the O.A.C. Guelph held two short afternoon courses in Bethany town hall on Tuesday and Wednesday. Slides and sound pictures were used to illustrate the lectures of R. G. Gregg on tractor maintenance, adjustments and care of farm machinery. The courses were arranged by F. A. Summers, agricultural representative for Durham county.

FREEZING WEATHER—A South Korean soldier who acted as guide for Canadian troops hunting guerrillas is shown being examined for frozen feet by Lieut. D. G. MacLeod of Vancouver. The Patricias and their guides spent four nights sleeping on mountain slopes or in haystacks while seeking the guerrilla hideout. This is a Canadian Army photo.

Havelock Church Elects Officers

HAVELOCK, Feb. 2 —(ENS)— Annual vestry meeting of St. John's Anglican Church, Havelock, was held Tuesday in the vestry of the church. Owing to the illnes of the rural dean, the Rev. W. J. Gilling of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough, the vestry was conducted by the people's warden, H. W. Roche.

Mrs. Donald Kirk was elected vestry clerk.

Reports from the wardens and the various organizations showed receipts of $3,100.

The following officers were elected for 1951: people's warden, H. W. Roche; minister's warden, L. A. Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Watson; auditors, F. J. Watson, F. J. McKay; advisory board, the wardens and presidents of the organizations; lay delegate to annual synod, H. W. Roche; sidesmen, W. Cartwright, E. J. Sanderson, George Fox, H. Smith, George Wright, H. A. Michaelson, F. J. McKay, W. Woodbeck.

It was revealed that Bishop Beverley hopes to make an appointment to St. John's shortly after Easter. St. John's has considerable work to do this spring in replacing the old heating system with a more modern one and also repairing and decorating the interior, the porchway and the exterior.

A vote of thanks was extended to the wardens, and officers of the organizations for their hearty co-operation throughout the year.

Regarding the women of the parishes having a voice in the synod, the meeting was unanimous that the vestries be given the privilege to appoint a woman as lay delegate to synod where desired.

BIG PRODUCTION

Gross production of Ontario's forest industries in 1950 was more than $[illegible]0,000,000.

Choose Vocation Carefully For Disabled

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—The need for extreme care in the selection of vocations for the physically disabled was emphasized today by Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, deputy minister of veteran affairs.

Careful selection is important because of the serious consequences of failure in the chosen field, he said in a prepared address to the federal-provincial rehabilitation conference here.

More than 300 delegates and observers from the 10 provinces are attending the first national conference on rehabilitation which opened here Thursday.

Vocational guidance and training and the actual process of placing a disabled person in employment were important because so often the disability prevented the person from returning to his original occupation Gen. Burns said.

Move Carefully

"This, of course, necessitates retraining or initial training. Either requires careful counselling for we have found with veterans that it is imperative that the new vocation be one where the physical disability will not be a severe occupational handicap.

"Failure in the chosen occupation is bad. It injures the veteran's morale. It may prejudice an employer against those with physical disabilities. . . .

"Because of these things we must take every step possible in guidance and training to guard against failure once employment has been found."

Security With Comfort

The second Lord Twedsmuir, under whom district men served in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment during the war, spoke recently about the "historic preference of the democracies for comfort over security." His note of warning is timely. A people who will not make any sacrifice of comfort when danger threatens will have the comforts forced from them and their very way of life destroyed, perhaps life itself. In the months and perhaps years ahead Canadians will be called on to face this, and to do without some of the material goods and physical ease they have enjoyed.

* * *

There is another side to the proposition, however. If all human comforts—liberty, leisure and luxury—have to be given up for the sake of security, what is the point of being secure? Secure for what? Secure to live miserably, without the good things which make life worth living? There comes a point in the equation between comfort and security when the discomforts of being secure outweigh the advantages of the security. If too much of a nation's work, time and energy are put to defending the nation, and this process goes on for years, the people can rightly feel that the thing they are defending at such great cost is not worth it; for the very way of life, to preserve which the great effort has been made, is itself lost.

* * *

This is no idle notion. Nations of the western world are now burdening themselves to defend democracy. The cost in money, material, man-hours and restrictions of freedom will be very heavy. If these costs continue and mount for a generation, as some believe they may, there will be a new "Lost Generation" which has not had the benefits of the democracy which it has spent its life defending.

* * *

Democracies do indeed have a historic preference for comfort over security. That is one of the reasons they are democracies. The people in totalitarian, autocratic pre-revolutionary France, in King John's (or even Cromwell's) England had security of a kind. They had the protection of the noble, the dictator or the king; but they did not have the comforts. They rebelled against the security of autocratic rule, and chose liberty and comfort. Rebellions have generally these two bases: the desire for human liberty and the urge to get more of the good things of life. People toss security to the winds in order to get liberty and comfort.

* * *

During the years of armed camping which seem to lie ahead for Canada, too many comforts cannot be sacrificed to security, lest democracy itself be lost.

Sabotage?

In 1948 when Premier Duplessis opened the Duplessis Bridge across the St. Maurice River at Three Rivers (it is one of the three), he said, belying Liberal opposition critics: "The bridge is as solid as Union Nationale." Now the very span which he opened has fallen and lives have been lost. The collapse of the bridge may not disprove what Premier Duplessis said two and a half years ago: that it was as solid as his party.

Premier Duplessis has charged sabotage. That is the sort of easy thing any politician trying to wriggle out of a situation may say. Don't blame yourself; don't bother to stare facts and mistakes in the face. Just blame the Reds. It is patriotic to talk against the Reds, and waving the Red flag may divert attention from the main issue and responsibility for the happening from the persons really to blame. Appeals to patriotism are the easy resort of embarrassed politicians.

There is not a jot of evidence that Communists had anything to do with the crack-up of the bridge. It may have been God, it may have been frost, it may have been inferior workmanship and material, it may even have been basic engineering mistakes, but it was not sabotage. The nearest thing that it could have been to sabotage might have occurred in the closed meeting in Premier Duplessis' office when the contract to build the bridge was let without public tender. The bridge might have been doomed right then, through the wrong engineering firms being hired, a contract authorizing cheap steel or poor concrete, or as the Quebec Liberal leader has said, "too much grease and not enough steel." If Premier Duplessis wants to call any of these things "sabotage" he is at liberty to do so.

Premier Duplessis has said that the government will conduct an inquiry. It is to be hoped that the inquiry will be conducted by an impartial board or commission, for the Quebec government is too intimately linked with the contract and construction of the bridge to be able to bring in a report which would be convincingly complete and accurate. We are reassured by the Premier's statement that "The government will see to it that those who assumed responsibilities (in building the bridge) will take them."

We do not say, and cannot until the facts are established, why the bridge fell and who was at fault, if anybody. But of this we are sure, Premier Duplessis has no warrant for suggesting that saboteurs, "subversive elements," caused the collapse of the bridge. Mr. Duplessis had better hark back to the criticism levelled at him and his party in 1947 and 1948, criticism about the shoddy building. That advice is needless; it would seem, from his sabotage charges, that he has already remembered the criticisms of his government and Union Nationale project.

Bridges do fall (as the Quebec bridge did during phases of its construction), but engineering knowledge has advanced considerably since 1907; and, further, the Duplessis Bridge is no Quebec bridge with a tremendous long span over the St. Lawrence.

Good engineers do not design bridges to fall. The first bridge over the St. Lawrence, the famous iron Victoria Bridge at Montreal, was opened in 1860 (at a building cost of $6,400,000) for railway and horse-drawn traffic. It is still carrying railways, and now thousands of cars, trucks, buses and pedestrians every day. If Premier Duplessis had wanted a durable bridge which would honour his name, he certainly did not get as good as Queen Victoria got in 1860.

Bevan In The Lion's Den

Ever since it happened, we have been pondering at intervals upon the kicking of Aneurin Bevan, Britain's Labour Minister, in the celebrated London club, White's. We have wondered what on earth persuaded Mr. Bevan to accept an invitation to White's, which is a distinguished, aristocratic club, filled with just the sort of people Mr. Bevan most hates; indeed, he went so far in one of his speeches as to describe them as "lower than vermin." One would not suppose that a man who held such opinions would want to visit such a place.

However, Mr. Bevan went. Like many Labour men—Ramsay Macdonald was a case in point—the acquisition of power and a comfortable income has apparently mellowed his dislike of the aristocratic way of life, if not his dislike of aristocrats themselves. Understandably the members of White's did not like it; they belong to that club, presumably, in order that they may enjoy the society of people who think as they do, and not that of men who have described them publicly as vermin. One impetuous member, Mr. John Fox-Strangways, kicked Mr. Bevan in the usual place as the Minister was leaving the club.

Probably this was very regrettable; it is understandable, too. When Mr. Bevan made his speech containing the now famous reference to vermin, we remarked in these columns that it might be difficult for Mr. Bevan to eat with a Tory again. Well, he has had dinner in a Tory stronghold, and was kicked as he left. Is anybody really surprised?

A Hero At Eighteen

The people of Germany have had many heroes; the latest is a young man of eighteen called Josef Flade. He appeared recently before a Communist tribunal in East Germany on a charge of distributing anti-Communist posters, and of injuring a policeman who tried to arrest him. He was sentenced to be beheaded—the usual form of capital punishment in Germany—and he replied, proudly: "I love my liberty more than my life; thousands will avenge my death."

Now that is the stuff of which heroes are made. A show of manhood and of the real spirit of freedom never goes unnoticed. Flade's words so stirred his fellow Germans that there was an outcry against his sentence, and the Russians commuted it to fifteen years imprisonment. Let us not pretend that Flade is benefitted thereby; death may well be gentler than Russian imprisonment. But his act of defiance has shown two important things.

The first is that the Russians are subject to popular opinion; they commuted Flade's sentence, presumably, because they feared that his execution might stir up a rebellion.

The second point is that the Germans of East Germany have embraced some strange and repugnant political faiths in their time, but they are a nation considerably more advanced in education and spirit than the Russians; they cannot swallow the Communist claptrap, even though they could swallow Hitler's nonsense. Every time Russia gains a new piece of territory, Russia gains a new problem, for there are few nations so low in culture, so stupid, and so forgetful of human dignity, that Soviet rule comes to them as a boon.

The ice-breaker Ernest Lapointe has gone to the aid of Three Rivers, crippled by the collapse of the Duplessis bridge. It seems that the great Liberal Quebec leader in various King cabinets has got a more dependable, if less grandiose, memorial than the leader of the Union Nationale.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: How do you pronounce the word pianist? A lot of people say PEEanist, with accent on first syllable. Some people who seem to know a lot about music say peeANist, with accent on the second syllable. I always have said PEEanist, but that may be due to ignorance and having been reared in a poor but honest family which had few opportunities to hear piAHNists.

ANSWER: The two-volume Oxford dictionary gives only PEEanist. So does the pocket Oxford. So does the lexicographer, the late Professor Wyld. The big Webster (not a recent edition) gives only piANist. The concise Webster gives piANist first, then PEEanist.

My interpretation of these differences in that PEEanist is English pronunciation, piANist American. Foreign (non-English-speaking) musicians are likely to say piAHNist, because it is simpler to tack -ist to 'piano' than to learn a more slippery, English idiomatic pronunciation like PEE'nist. And since Americans, and foreign musicians generally say piANist, Canadians who know much about music, especially pianists themselves, may think piANist a better-toned pronunciation. I have noticed that many pianists do not like to be called PEEanist. They think it has a vulgar, common sound.

Myself, I say PEEanist, not because I invariably prefer English to American pronunciation, but because the majority of Canadians whose speech is good say it. PiANist is not Canadian.

SIR: A great deal of oil is being discovered in Canada, for instance in Alberta. When was it first known that Canada had oil?

ANSWER: Oil was struck for the first time in Canada at Petrolia, Ontario, on the sixth of November 1860, by L. B. Vaughan, at a depth of 85 feet. That was seven years before Confederation, and long before oil was the industrial and commercial necessity it is now. Horses and steam engines did not need fuel oil, there were no cars, and homes had wood stoves, not oil furnaces.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALPHA: Is it true that the darkest hour is just before dawn? I am not thinking of the present international situation only, or the dentist's final yank to the tooth before blessed relief comes.

ANSWER: The old English proverb has many homely or poetic expressions; e.g. "The longest day will have an end"; "After a storm comes calm"; Cowper:

"Beware of desperate steps; the darkest day,
Live till to-morrow, will have past away."

Shakespeare (Macbeth):

"Come what come may,
Time and the hour runs through the roughest day."

In France: 'By dint of going wrong all will come right' (fine French logic that!); in Italian: 'Ill is the eve of well'; in Hebrew: 'When the tale of bricks is doubled, Moses comes'.

As a matter of daily fact, the darkest hour is likely to be just before dawn, because the moon has then reached far on to the western horizon, while the sun is still below the eastern horizon. Infantrymen on night patrols know that the darkest hour is just before the dawn. But infantrymen in forward positions are always apprehensive before dawn, because attacks by the enemy are frequently begun at dawn, and the expectation of attack is enough to make even a fairly bright pre-dawn hour seem pretty black.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALPHA, YOU SINNER: Why twiddle your grey hairs about a speculative notion like Original Sin? Nobody pays any attention to things like that now; and, anyway, Adam (or Eve) hasn't a corner on the market of original sinning. I'll bet even I have indulged in some 'sins' so original that Adam wouldn't have dared to dream of them.

ANSWER: You are confused about the word 'original'. In the context it means 'first', the father of all sins. It has no specific reference to the multitudinous ways, new-fangled and old, by which sin is committed.

So nobody pays any attention to things like that? Let me tell you, dear reader, that I have been snowed under by protests. In fact, no fewer than five wrathful letters have come to me, from theologians, Christians and assorted faithful. (That's a storm of letters in Alpha's realm.) The editor of the Examiner has, I notice, had one letter of protest and probably others libellously uncomplimentary to Yours Truly, and unprintable.

It would seem that wine, women and sin, so interesting as subjects of private talk, are discussed publicly only at risk to one's skin, or by preachers following a party line. Anyway, how dare an Alpha attempt to deal with Original Sin in five or six sentences when Milton spends ten books on the subject (Paradise Lost)?

FOR THE RECORD: The new armorial bearings which Peterborough acquired by grant of the College of Heralds were fully authorized last May. The design has been here since last September, yet I notice that the old device is still in use—for instance on all city hall stationery, and in proclamations such as the one announcing Health Week. Isn't it time that dies were struck and Peterborough came under its own, and at long last, authentic, device?

Ladies' Dressing Room

(Vancouver News-Herald)

The ladies' dressing room is a room to which a lady retires to remove her wraps, look at her hair, powder her nose and use her lipstick.

When the husband sees many other ladies entering the dressing room and then issuing forth he begins to grow worried over his wife. What could have become of her? Could she be using this as a way of getting away from him for good and all? Has she slipped down the back stairs? Could she have let herself out of a window?

Maybe she has become suddenly ill? Possibly she is uffering from loss of memory and has forgotten she left her husband standing there?

But just as he is preparing for drastic action the lady will appear. She will be calm and collected. This will be reassuring that no tragedy has occurred.

What on earth has kept her so long? She is surprised at the question. Has it really been so long? Why she only paused to have a chat with a friend.

SAUCE AND APPLESAUCE

Letters To The Editor

DEAR BEER

Sir: Have been reading your very interesting newspaper for a week now. Being a salesman, I live in a hotel room when in your fair city. Not knowing anyone in Peterborough, I often after a good supper and a show, slip into the men's beverage room, for one or two pints of ale or beer.

Sir, can you tell me why in Peterborough the bottled beer or ale is twenty-six cents a pint. The price does not bother me, as I never drink that much, but I travel to a lot of cities and towns and find this is the only city with these prices. Is it a city tax or just some agreement your fair hotels have, for beating the public? I for one know there is a very good profit made at twenty-five cents a bottle. I'll be here another week, if possible I would like to hear why this is, just a couple of words will do.

Yours truly,
AN INTERESTED OUTSIDER.

THE DOG NUISANCE

Sir: At the risk of offending many dog lovers I wish to say that all winter I have been plagued—as have many of my friends and neighbours—with dogs dumping the garbage, destroying shrubs and plants and frightening small children. I am sure that if my children dumped my neighbours' garbage, destroyed his shrubs and plants and made life miserable for his small children I soon would be faced with court action, but I must accept these indignities from his dog and smile.

I should be happy that soon he will be required to tie his dog—but I am not, because I have found that the dog is allowed to run under the cover of darkness and still does the same damage. (Besides the damage there is also that annoying barking, barking far into the night.)

What comfort anyone derives from keeping a dog that is never home puzzles me, and as far as a pet for the children most children ignore their dogs.

I read that Oshawa has increased its dog license to $10 to discourage this nuisance. Peterborough might follow the example.

Yours truly,
A BROOKDALE RESIDENT.

OVERHEAD WIRING AND WINTER DAMAGE

Sir: Although no season is storm-free in Canada, the winds probably howl more violently and frequently during the first three or four months than at any other time of the year. And windstorms frequently cause a lot of damage to overhead wires, with the more intense the wind, the greater the damage.

Usually it isn't the wind itself that does the damage. It is the wind against the trees. Trees are uprooted or branches torn off, and the trees or branches fall across overhead power lines, breaking the wires themselves or the poles that support them. When this happens, service is interrupted, often for long periods at a time, with consequent inconvenience to all concerned. Often, as in Winnipeg following the big windstorm last August, when at least three citizens were electrocuted by fallen wires, the downed wires are a threat to personal safety.

When anything like that happens, the cry goes up that trees should be cut down or branches lopped off in wholesale fashion.

An example of this kind of thinking occurred in Windsor not long ago. When power failed in the downtown area during a storm, the trouble was traced to a citizen's backyard, where a big elm tree had grounded a 4,000-volt line. Hydro representatives immediately declared that trees in the neighborhood standing close to the power lines were dangerous. Hydro was helpless, they said, because the citizens in whose property the trees stood refused to allow Hydro maintenance men to cut the trees. What was needed, the Hydro representative said, was a city by-law compelling owners to allow their trees to be chopped down.

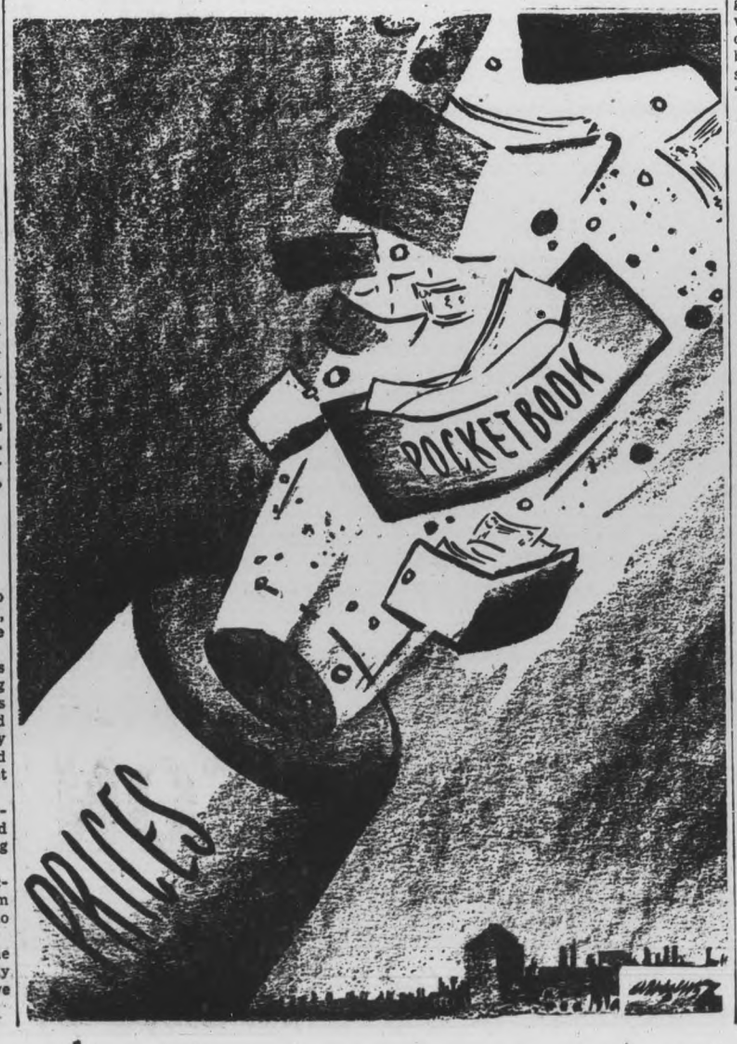
The solution might be a good one if it were the desire of the nation's citizens to elminate beauty in order that the job of the utilities' maintenance departments might be made easier. Indeed, if this were the only solution, there would be no grounds to dispute the argument.

But there is another solution, and a far more sensible one. That is to bury the wires underground. Trees contribute too much to the comfort of the citizens to be hacked down merely to protect the utilities.

The real villain of the piece is the overhead wiring, not the trees.

FRIEND OF TREES.

THE ENGLISH NEED NO SYMPATHY



Sir: With reference to your article, "John Bull the Beefeater" in this evening's paper, I think it is time that someone stated a few facts about the meat ration in England. I have read quite a lot in the press just recently, on the subject of the poor starving English people, and it seems to me that Canadians get a morbid satisfaction from the alleged state of affairs over there. Although the English meat ration is getting so much publicity, I have not yet seen it mentioned that besides the fresh meat ration, canned meat is available on a points system. Another thing which is ignored is the fact that every worker in England can obtain a hot meal every day (including meat) either at a canteen in the factory, or at a government-sponsored restaurant. Nor must we overlook the supplementary rations which are issued to agricultural workers, miners and several other types of heavy workers.

It can be seen that since the Labour Government came to power in England, the American press has been rabidly anti-British, consequently we can expect them to distort the news for their own political reasons, but it is disconcerting to see the Canadian press adding its voice to the unsavoury tirade that pours continually from that country.

Please do not weep any crocodile tears for England, she is up against it I agree, but I cannot think of any country better fitted to face what is coming to her. Let us not forget that England bore the brunt of the last war, and is now making huge sacrifices in order to bear the brunt of the next. The Labour Government in England is doing a splendid job and the English people need no "sympathy" from Canadians.

Yours truly,
A. J. WALKER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles; Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up: beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruninghooks into spears: let the weak say, I am strong.

Assemble yourselves, and come, all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: thither cause thy mighty ones to come down, O Lord. Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge all the heathen round about.

Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great. Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision.

The sun and the moon shall be darkened and the stars shall withdraw their shining. The Lord also shall roar out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem; and the heavens and the earth shall shake: but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel. (Joel 3: 9-16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. (I Pet. 5: 6. 7.)

C.P.R. Suing Motorist

(Lethbridge Herald)

We nominate as the most fascinating news item of the year this little story which appeared in the Herald a few weeks ago:

"As a result of an accident on January 23, 1950, in which the Lethbridge-Coutts train was derailed, the Canadian Pacific Railway has filed a Supreme Court claim for $1,734 and costs against James L. Cochrane, a United States soldier.

"Cochrane, who is believed to be of Huntington, Calif., was severely injured when his car hit the train. The train was derailed and, the statement of claim says, suffered considerable damage."

You can have your man bites dog stories, we'll settle for the one about the train suing the man for damages.

County Council An Outdated Civic Institution

(Canadian Statesman)

From the apparent scanty bit of business reported in the press that was transacted last week at the Counties Council session at Cobourg we wonder how the forty or more reeves and deputy reeves can stretch the session into three days. In these modern times of paved highways, telephones, autos and other conveniences of communication and fast transportation, the old-fashioned molly-coddling methods of conducting county council business has become outmoded by several generations. And yet some old fogies glory in the antiquity of this hoary old municipal government institution by claiming it's a great training school for the politically ambitious. From our experience in county council and our observations since we have long ago come to the conclusion it could well be relegated to the archives of oblivion as the long overdue first step in civic economy and needless overlapping of government administration.

Gives Support To Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Paul H. Douglas (Dem. Ill.), a critic of some water projects, Thursday joined 21 other Senators in introducing bipartisan legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

Douglas, who has contended that some proposed projects are unnecessary and wasteful and thus a drain on the public purse, said the seaway is needed to maintain and expand the country's iron and steel industries.

And, because the $1,000,000,000 seaway and the power project would be self-liquidating, Douglas told the Senate "it is not so much a public works project as it is an investment which will be repaid."

"To that extent," he said, "it will not be an ultimate burden on the taxpayer and instead will be a great new asset, not only for national defence, but also for the national economy in general."

Douglas said that without the international seaway, "dangerous depletions and shortages" in the steel industry "may well develop."

The project, he said, is needed to supply low-cost power to defence industries. Without it, he said, expansion in the northeastern states will be seriously limited.

THIS NEW CARRIER-BASED JET "flying triangle," the XF4D, is said to meet the US Navy's need for a plane that can be catapulted from carrier decks, climb rapidly and intercept enemy planes on short notice. The plane has passed its first flight tests successfully. Performance data on the tailless, triangle-winged ship are still secret.

Outline UK Plan For Engineers

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Feb. 2 (CP)—A British plan to take 38 Canadian graduate engineers for post-graduate study was outlined by Dr. William Abbott, engineering adviser to the ministry of education in the United Kingdom, on arrival here Thursday night. Dr. Abbott explained that the 38 students would be picked from Canadian universities.

The scholarships, to be known as the Lord Athlone scholarships in honor of the former governor general of Canada, will be awarded annually by the government of the United Kingdom and will be in two groups. There will be 28 available for graduates immediately after graduation. A further 10 will be available for graduates who have already spent some time in industry.

The scholarships will cover the cost of transport, fees and maintenance for two years. Candidates will be selected with regard to their academic and technical competence, physical fitness and personal qualities.

Indian Chief Custom Changed

NANAIMO, B.C., Feb. 2—(CP)—For the first time in history, Indians of the Nanaimo band have elected a chief without passing the honor down from father to son.

The new Chief, elected at an assembly this week, is Edison White, 38-year-old logger and fisherman and grandson of Chief Paul White who died three months ago.

His father, George White, 60, in line for the honor under tribal custom, stood aside for the younger man. He told the meeting he felt a younger man should have the position.

The Nanaimo band has 360 members on four reserves.

Housing Shortage

WINNIPEG —(CP)— Winnipeg's housing problem is less severe than a year ago but still acute. The health department annual report showed a net increase of 1,438 houses and suites in 1950, compared with a net increase of 4,043 in population.

Knife Wielder Given Two Years In Prison

SUDBURY, Feb. 2 (CP). — A 36-year-old knifewielder, Eddie McGurk of Sudbury was sentenced to two years at hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary when he appeared before Judge J. M. Cooper, on a charge of robbery with threats of violence.

An accomplice, Joseph Glutyk, 26, also of Sudbury, was sentenced to a definite period of one year and an indefinite term of another year.

Both were convicted of forcing their way into the home of Anne Preulx on Dec. 6 and taking $20 at the point of a knife.

Agnes MacPhail Escapes Injury

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Agnes MacPhail, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for York East, escaped serious injury today when her automobile skidded on snowy pavement and was jammed between a hydro pole and a guard rail.

"I was lucky," said Miss MacPhail. "All I received was two bruised knees and a shaking up."

That wasn't enough to keep her from the opening of the Legislature this afternoon, she said.

3,000 Workers Return Massey-Harris Jobs

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Three thousand employees of the Masey-Harris Co. returned to work Thursday after walking off the job an hour early Friday in protest against a company wage offer.

The walkout, termed illegal by the company, was one of several to follow if union demands are not met, leaders of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) said.

Union negotiations earlier reached a tentative contract agreement with the company on behalf of the 8,000 UAW members in the Massey-Harris plants in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock. Mass union meetings at Toronto and Brantford have rejected the agreement on grounds that piecework rates were not tied into the contract.

Health League Is Seeking To Reduce Infant Deaths

When 18,548 Canadian babies die because of prematurity, it's time somebody did something about it.

In the five-year period from 1944 to 1948, inclusive, 77,296 Canadian children died before they reached the age of one year. Of that total, 18,548, or 23.9 per cent, died because of prematurity.

One approach to the problem is being taken by the Health League of Canada's Division of Child and Maternal Health which is doing a survey in an attempt to find the reason for so many deaths among premature babies. It is stated that prematurity is the greatest cause of death among infants under one year of age.

Inaugurated Survey

In its first year of operation, this newest Health League division inaugurated surveys seeking vital information concerning problems surrounding infant mortality. It is hoped that through these surveys and subsequent research to find ways and means of cutting the infant death rate.

The division also is interested in the subject of pasteurization of milk, and is conducting a survery to determine how much of Canada's milk is pasteurized and how much is consumed in the raw state. It is emphasized that raw milk can be dangerous to the public health in that it can contain germs which cause such diseases as bovine tuberculosis, undulant fever, typhoid fever, septic sore throat and dysentery.

The Health League always has been a leader in the fight to obtain compulsory pasteurization legislation in the provinces. So far only Ontario and Saskatchewan have enacted such laws. However, numerous municipalities in the other provinces have enacted civil pasteurization legislation.

Large Congregation At Cornwall Funeral

CORNWALL, Feb. 2 —(CP)— With a capacity congregation in attendance, general services were held at St. Luke's Church in Finch Wednesday for Samuel Cameron, 51-year-old war veteran, and his three small sons, who died in a fire which gutted their home in Cornwall Monday.

The flag-draped coffin of Mr. Cameron was followed by white caskets carrying the bodies of William 5, Donald 3, and Keith 2. The service was conducted by three ministers.

Members of the Cornwall and Finch branches of the Legion acted as pallbearers.

Opposes Restrictions On Base Metals

SUDBURY, Feb. 2 —(CP)— Opposition to any form of government restrictions on the use of base metals and to any form of wage freezing was expressed Thursday by John Clark of Denver, Col., at the third Canadian conference of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers here.

The president of the international union denounced the recently-imposed price controls and wage freezing in the United States and warned Canadian Mine-Mill members to fight against such measures in Canada.

He charged that a campaign of bitterness and hatred is being waged against members of mine-mill in Canada and the United States.

"Members of Mine-Mill were the only union to carry through with their 'no strike' pledge in the last war. And in the event of another, we would again recognize the sacredness of that pledge and continue to honor our contracts as no other union has done," Clark said.

The three-day conference, which opened Thursday, is being attended by delegates from all parts of Canada where Mine-Mill holds contracts. The delegates represent 25,000 members.

NEW '51 FO SERIES FARGO TRUCKS

give still more of the Features truck buyers want!

FLUID DRIVE

You can't imagine how smooth and easy truck operation can be until you've tried FARGO Fluid Drive! It provides a "power cushion" in the drive line that protects over 80 vital parts from excessive shock and strain. FARGO Fluid Drive is optional on all ½ and ¾-1 ton models.

LONGER VALVE LIFE

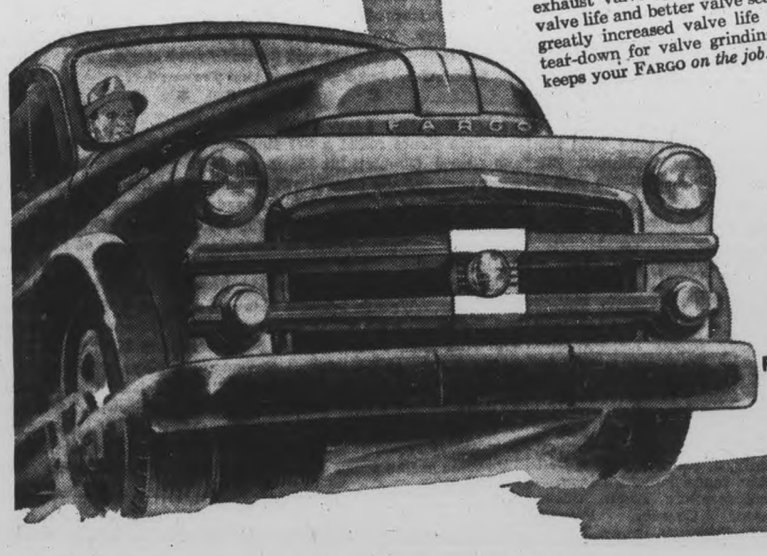
On the 3-ton and up—the FARGOS designed to do the especially heavy jobs—new sodium-cooled, stellite-faced, exhaust valves provide extremely long valve life and better valve sealing. This greatly increased valve life means less tear-down for valve grinding and thus keeps your FARGO on the job.

EASIER LOADING

Re-designed rear springs provide a lower ground-to-floor height without affecting ground-to-axle clearance. Particularly helpful when loading heavy objects.

BETTER FUEL SYSTEM

A new, larger-capacity fuel pump delivers a greater flow of fuel without building up pressure in the lines. This means more even, more dependable power under all loads and freedom from carburetor flooding on starting.



EASIER HANDLING

This well-known FARGO feature is further improved by the addition of new worm-and-roller steering gears. FARGO is easier to handle and more comfortable to drive. FARGO's cross-type steering permits greatly reduced turning circles —both right and left.

IMPROVED IGNITION AND ELECTRICAL SYSTEM

Better bad-weather starting is assured by the use of moulded synthetic spark plug covers and a high-torque starting motor. A larger, 45-amp. generator takes care of a higher accessory load with less drain on the battery. 50-amp. and 55-amp. generators are available for special purposes.

PLUS MANY OTHER CHRYSLER-ENGINEERED FEATURES THAT MAKE FARGO TRUCKING MORE PROFITABLE!

TRUCKERS: These new 1951 FARGO trucks have been designed and built only after our careful on-the-job study of what truckers, in many fields of work, want in a truck. It is only natural, therefore, that you will find in these new FARGOS easier handling, easier loading, greater driver comfort, longer truck life—and many FARGO features that reduce trucking costs and increase trucking profits. We firmly believe these new 1951 FARGO trucks come closer to satisfying your trucking requirements than any truck in FARGO'S history.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The late Fiorello la Guardia, then a US representative, attempted 26 years ago today to put a bill through Congress requiring a tax of 90 per cent on sales of pro ball players bought for more than $5,000. His argument was that professional baseball was the only field in which individuals failed to profit through transfer of their services. The bill was defeated however.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A brief roundup of the basketball situation. Lots of games tonight, the three at Collegiate being Oshawa Central teams vs. the PCVS bantam, junior and senior "A" boys' squads, starting at 6.30. Two girls' games, beginning at eight, in the YW, Normals vs. Neill's and Nurses vs. Grads. The Collegiate colleens' junior and senior teams are in Port Hope, St. Peter's seniors tackle St. Jerome's in Kitchener, and three PCVS senior "B" outfits go to Lindsay. On Saturday night at the YM, Port Hope plays the Marines "B" bunch a lakeshore loop fixture, with possibly a prelim game on the bill, too. Yep, heaps of hoop action.

* * * * * *

It may be nostaglia, or it might be signs of the flu—anyway, we got thinking of baseball today. After all, it's February and the big league clubs will be getting set to move south for training shortly. Soon be time for the senior "A" Petes to get re-organized. With the PMBA-ers then following suit. The Petes will be back in a six-team Viaduct Major League, with Oshawa, New Toronto and three Toronto city clubs. We have lights now at Riverside and this should mean bigger crowds at night games, and it'll also benefit the minors. The city will benefit, too, in a financial way, which is all to the good.

* * * * * *

Nylons Playing Petes

But it's senior "B" hockey tonight at Civic Arena at 8.30, Kingston Nylons versus the league-leading Petes. The Nylons are in third slot at the moment and still holding hopes of over-hauling Eagles to finish in second position—a coveted place, indeed, as the schedule approaches the windup. Eagles are at Bella Villa this eve. The husky Nylons will do their darndest to halt the Petes' winning streak, and the Jopling gents will be shooting the works again in this encounter. It sounds like a fast, smart scrap and should pack in a big Friday night crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Comes a copy of John Fisher's recent radio story on hockey. He's on a CBC network program for Westinghouse every Sunday p.m. as many listeners know. He says it's Canada's national sport, adding: "In the States, young kids dream of the day when multitudes roar at world series ball games. In Great Britain it might be soccer or cricket. In Japan swimming. In France, the famous bicycle tour of the country. The Grey Cup looms large in Canada in the name of football but, in many parts of Canada, rugby is never seen. The same with lacrosse—only a few provinces play it, but every single province has its hockey heroes."

* * * * * *

Where Men Are Men

Fisher claims the real cockpit of the hockeyists is in northwestern Ontario and the prairies, where they never worry about a hard surface. Out west, they don't need closed rinks—but dozens of the open-air variety are black with humanity in every town nightly during the long winter months. "Hockey is bigger than sport—hockey is political, too," Don states, "for no one force unites more Canadians or excites more Canadians than hockey. 'Hockey Night' in Canada —when Foster Hewitt broadcasts—can do things that Parliament can never do." The guy sounds enthused, eh? Well, hockey certainly is a grand winter game in this country.

* * * * * *

And a para on OHA junior "B" and PMHA play. The Oddfellows go to Oshawa on Monday for their next game and have Port Hope here next Wednesday. Fred Maybee has the individual junior scorers listed this eve, as well as some of the leaders among other clubs. IOOF-ers are tied for first place with Lindsay and but half a game up on the Quinte crew in a hot scramble, the schedule ending in two weeks. At Civic Arena last night, the bantam schedule finished up with Otonabee Wolves getting a neat 2-0 win o'er Empress, and Trojans rolling to a 11-0 decision over the short-handed St. Pete's. Midget schedule concluded, too, as Trojans edged Martin-Hewitt 3-2, and the undefeated Marines socked St. Peter's 7-1. Lakefield juves beat Trojans 3-2.

Hither And Yawning

Irvin Hanes rolled a 377 single in the Major Bowling League and George Gimblett hit 354 in the Mercantile Loop.... Skiing is great now, and the schools will be going over the week-end around here.... Dean Wasson of Oddfellows has served 62 minutes so far in penalties.... Ben Jones of the junior "A" K-W Hurcs is out of hospital after a slight concussion; he won't see action for a week or so yet.... Aussies Lead In Cricket Tilt

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 2 (Reuters)—Australia's left-hand opening bat, Arthur Morris, ran into top form here today with an unbeaten knock of 140 runs against England on the first day of the fourth test cricket match.

The Australians, who already have won the best-of-five series by taking the first three tests, scored 254 runs for the loss of three wickets on a perfect pitch before the close.

Batting all day, Morris began slowly against the accurate England attack. But, having found his form, scored freely and broke the domination that Alec Bedser, England pace bowler, had held over him in previous clashes this season.

England lost the toss for the third time in the series but made a good start when Bedser had Ken Archer caught off the third ball of the day before a run had been scored. Morris and Lindsay Hassett, the Australian captain, put on 95, however, for the second wicket.

After Hassett left, Morris and young Neil Harvey added 110 in 99 minutes for the third wicket.

Trenton Puts End To Frankford Wins

FRANKFORD, Feb. 2.—Trenton Gould's Taximen put an end to the seven-game winning streak of the league-leading Frankford-Bata Combines here Wednesday night when they scored an impressive 10-3 verdict in a Trent Valley League fixture.

Moe Jones, John Black and Bob Johnson came up with "hat tricks" for the winners, while Bob Campney accounted for the odd goal. Mitts, Moran and Elder collected the goals for the homesters.

Basketball Playoffs Start Late This Month

A winner of the lakeshore intermediate "B" basketball league will have to be decided before February 10 an official of the league-leading Marines said today. Then the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association playdowns will be started with the lakeshore winner playing the champions from the Eastern Ontario league. The return of the two-game series will be February 17 at the lakeshore winner's home gym.

Just how the local league champion will be decided is unknown. The league is presently scheduled until March 15 when the Oshawa Grads meet Port Hope in the final game. At present Marines are on top with six wins and without a loss.

The second place team in the lakeshore league will enter the intermediate "C" playdowns at the same time.

Intermediate "A"

Clapper's Bruins, last year the Ontario intermediate "A" finalists, will open this year's playoffs on February 17 in Hamilton with the winner from the Hamilton district league. The return game will be here on February 24.

Playoffs in Hamilton and district intermediate basketball opened Thursday night at Westdale Collegiate. Competing for the city "A" recognition are Mormons, St. Anthony's and the Latvians. The Latvians and St. Anthony's are joined in a semi-final series with the winner playing the strong Mormon team. It is likely that one of these teams will be playing against Bruins.

Last year the local intermediates skipped through the Toronto entry and edged the Hamilton Strand-Cycles by two points in a two-game series. They lost out to Sault Ste. Marie Algos in the Soo for Ontario honors.

Campbell of Port Hope is next with 28, Corley of Lindsay follows with 25, and Desjardins is high for Belleville with 20. Morrow, B. Gananoque Bows To Kingston Nylons

KINGSTON, Feb. 2 — After holding Kingston Nylons to a 3-1 lead during the first 44 minutes, the Gananoque Intermediates wavered in the final period here Wednesday night and were forced to absorb an 8-1 setback.

The victory strengthened Nylons' clutch on third place, but still five points behind Peterborough Eagles. The loss was Gananoque's fifth in seven starts against teams of higher rating.

Layton Gunning For Yukon Eric

Local wrestling fans are in for another treat with the announcement that Lord Athol Layton will take on Yukon Eric in the main bout next Tuesday at the Brock Arena.

Layton challenged Whipper Watson to a match from the ring here last Tuesday but the Whip insisted on Layton meeting Eric first.

Layton was quite willing but the Alaskan was not so keen, figuring he should have another go at the Whip, claiming they had not yet reached a decision. However he says he should have little trouble with the Englishman. Most fans and also Layton are not of the same opinion. Layton has not been defeated since he came to Canada, and has it on Yukon in height and reach and ring experience.

An outstanding semi-final brings together the Masked Marvel and Seelie Samara. Both men are topnotchers, and if anyone can expose the Mask's identity, it is Samara.

Toar Morgan and Kaye Bell will be in the opener. Morgan certainly needs no introduction in these parts. This stellar card should pack the Brock.

Hawks Finally End Slump Dump Boston Bruins 5-2

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Relief diluted with grief was the feeling of Chicago Black Hawks today.

Doormats of the National Hockey League for almost two months, the Hawks gained some pleasure from the fact that on Thursday night they broke out of their slump with a 5-2 victory over Boston Bruins.

But the joy over their first home-ice win since November 26 was tempered by the hollow cheers of the smallest crowd at home in 20 years.

Only 5,204 fans were in Chicago Stadium to watch the last-place Hawks snap their winless streak at 21 games—a league record which they share with New York Rangers. Had they lost Thursday night's game it would have given them the questionable distinction of setting a new mark for NHL games without a victory, a possibility which probably spurred the team in its drive to pull out of the slump.

While Chicago had been without a win since December 16, the long losing skein did not drop the team so far into the cellar that it removed any hope of getting into the four-team playoffs.

Thursday night's victory moved the Hawks to within eight points of New York Rangers, who lost 3-2 in Detroit to the league-leading Red Wings. They now are 10 points behind the Bruins, a small margin when the length of the victory famine is considered.

Leafs Edge Canadiens

In the one other game, the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs kept pace with Detroit by defeating the third-place Canadiens 3-1 in Montreal for the eighth time in 10 games. Canadiens have managed only a win and a tie against their arch-rivals.

The Hawks had to call on a rookie goaltender, Marcel Pelletier, up from the team's Milwaukee farm club of the US League. He took over at 4:48 of the first period after Harry Lumley was forced out by stomach flu.

Roy Conacher sent Chicago into a first-period lead when the game was only 29 seconds old. Veteran Milt Schmidt, who got both Boston goals, scored his first only 20 seconds after Conacher. Bill Mosienko made it 2-1 for the Hawks in the first period, and Jim Conacher added a goal in the second to make it 3-1.

In the third period Schmidt got his second, Gus Bodnar made it 4-2 for Chicago and Roy Conacher sewed it up with his second goal.

Familiar story

In Detroit, it was a familiar story. Gordie Howe, league-leading scorer, got two of the Red Wings' three goals.

Howe got one in the first period, but Buddy O'Connor tied it up in the next frame. Howe gott his second and Jimmy McFadden made it 3-1 early in the third before Rangers came back, with Jack McLeod scoring.

A crowd of 10,024 hardy fans who braved a heavy snowstorm saw the Red Wings give Rayner a busy time, stopping 27 shots, while Terry Sawchuk handled only 19.

The game in Montreal also followed a familiar pattern. Ray Timgren, Danny Lewicki and Cal Gardner beat Gerry McNeil in the first seven minutes to give Leafs a 3-0 lead.

Then Canadiens strove vainly to get back on even terms, managing only a third-period goal by Calum Mackay.

As in Detroit, a blizzard failed to keep the customers away, although many of the 14,373 fans missed all three Leaf goals because of late arrival due to the snarled traffic.

Canada's Textile Industry Ready For Emergency

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canada's textile industry, flexing its muscles for rearmament, looks back at its performance in the last war to give an idea of what it can do.

"Textiles," published by the Primary Textiles Institute, puts it this way:

From 1939 to 1945 Canadian primary textile mills produced for the armed forces more than 400,000,000 pounds of military cotton goods; 65,000,000 yards of military wool cloth; all the rayon and nylon cloths required for man-carying and flare-carrying parachutes; 19,000,000 pairs of socks; 6,500,000 undergarments; 2,000,000 sweaters; 4,000,000 blankets; gloves, berets, mufflers and scores of other articles.

There was no plant turnover delay in 1939, nor would there be in a new emergency. There was no need for special "tooling up" as in many industries. Transformation from peace to war production could be made almost overnight.

There now are nearly 800 textile plants scattered across Canada, mostly in smaller communities, employing more than 90,000 men and women.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce annual report, now out in attractive booklet form, includes a color map of Canada showing resources of each section, and containing a list of the bank's branches across Canada.

Western Assurance Company, Toronto, commemorates its 100th anniversary with an outline of its history, with touches upon the history of its times.

W. R. McCaffrey, general manager of Canadian Standards Association, Ottawa, announces that the 1951 list of CSA standards now is available upon request.

Minor Rash Of Measles Strikes City

Four Times As Many As In 1950; Anticipated Outbreak

Cases of measles in the city since January 1 have exceeded the number in 1950 by more than four times, Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said today. To February 1, there were 223 cases as compared with only 50 in 1950.

This number of cases is not considered at an epidemic stage but as "an anticipated outbreak."

The last serious outbreak in the city was in 1948 when 1,440 cases were reported. In 1949 there were only 23 cases.

Children Not Immune

The low number of cases in the past two years and the heavy birthrate, about 1,000 annually, were given as the reasons for the anticipated outbreak. Most of these children, said Dr. Kelly, were not immune to measles and "if measles are around, they'll get them."

Other centres in Ontario, he said, have reported a large number of cases. The movement of population may have brought the germ to the Peterborough area as measles are a highly communicable disease.

Dr. Kelly expects fewer cases than in 1948, for it is only three years since the last serious outbreak.

Evidence of Disease

The first sign of measles, said Dr. Kelly, is similar to a severe cold: temperature, headaches, watery eyes and a cough. The rash appears red and blotchy on the fourth day and is usually on the forehead. It spreads rapidly over the body. These spots fade in from 24 to 36 hours.

During that period, said Dr. Kelly, the patient should be isolated and remain that way for seven days. If the family is careful, the other members may continue life as usual. The patient should be kept warm, the family doctor consulted and the case reported to the Department of Health because it is a communicable disease.

Dr. Kelly added there is a serum which provides immunity for a short time. Usually this is reserved for children already in poor health or to give a modified attack.

SIGNAL LANTERN SAYS "STOP" for Jimmy Definney, Peterborough's popular CNR yard foreman who worked his last trick on Thursday after 40 years with the railroad. Equivalent to a freight train conductor, Jimmy has bossed switch engines on CNR city sidings for the past 22 years. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Removing Snow Biggest Job

Trucks and Graders Help Snowloader Clear 7-inch Fall

Peterborough's snow disposal gang was working early today on the biggest job it has had so far this winter. The men were cleaning up the seven-inch snowfall of the past two days.

Two graders were out before 4:30 a.m. clearing bus routes, and horse-drawn plows were working before dawn on the sidewalks.

The downtown district and most of the sidewalks were cleared before 8 a.m. today, and the parking problem was eased by early plowing of the curbs. Before 8, too, the snow-loader was clearing the piles of snow from the centres of downtown streets.

Six Trucks Working

Six trucks were working with the loader in the parking-metered areas, and dumping the snow into the Otonabee at the foot of Simcoe Street.

Snow on streets in the residential areas will not be lifted until there is a heavier accumulation. These streets have for the most part been plowed, and the snow shoved to the sides.

It is expected the city will be mostly cleaned up by late this afternoon, and snow-removal foreman Roy Brown and his men can take a rest—until it snows again.

Main Street Topics

GIVEN FOUR MONTHS

Leo Grisdale, no fixed address, was sentenced to four months in reformatory when he pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place, his third offence within a year under the Liquor Control Act.

BREAD PRICE RISING?

On Monday Montreal bakeries will be charging a one-cent increase for a loaf of bread. The new price will be 17 cents. A check on Peterborough bakeries brought reports that there will be no immediate increase in the cost of bread in the city. The price remains at 16 cents a loaf, unsliced and 17 cents, sliced.

BIRDS TALE OF WOE

Shiers love it; children love it; adults must tolerate it, but the poor birds. With the heaviest snowfall of the year in Peterborough the few faithful feathered residents of the city are faced with slow death by starvation. It's all up to sympathetic and generous human beings now whether these faithful birds suffer. A suggestion—scatter a few bread crumbs or suet in the backyard every day.

CARS COLLIDE

Two cars collided at Water and Hunter Sts. Thursday evening when one, driven by Miss Clarissa B. White, Bridgenorth, was making a left turn to go south on Water St. She met in collision with a car driven by James B. Leeson, 584 Park St. N., who, travelling east on Hunter St. was more than half way across the intersection. About $95 was done to the Leeson car and about $23 to the White car. Constable William G. Scott investigated.

CAMERA CLUB EXHIBIT

The annual exhibit of the Peterborough Camera Club will be open to the public on Saturday at the Public Library. The exhibit will remain up until March 1.

CUTS TOE WITH AXE

ORGANIZATION MEETING

An organization meeting to arrange the activities for Brotherhood Week, will be held tonight at the YWCA at 7:30. Brotherhood Week is February 18 to 25 and will be sponsored in Peterborough by the local branch of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

SKIDDING CARS HIT

Two cars skidding one after the other on Hunter St. at Mark St. collided when the one ahead was slowed down by a pile of snow about three quarters of the way across the intersection. Driver of the first car was John Hayes, 219 Park St. N., driver of the second car was Noble Zinston, 168 Morrow St. Traffic officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

'CELLO AND PIANO

Directors of the Peterborough Community Concerts have chosen the Nikolai and Joanna Graudan 'cello-piano duo to replace the Lowenguth string quartet at the next concert, February 10. The members of the Lowenguth quartet were severely injured in an automobile crash near Rochester, N.Y., last month and their valuable Amanti instruments badly damaged.

Recommend Increase In Bus Fare

Would Sell Tickets At 3 for 25c, Blame Heavy Costs

An increase in Peterborough bus fares from the present four tickets for 30 cents to three tickets for 25 cents was recommended to the council Thursday by its legal committee.

It is understood that the "three for a quarter" rate is charged in St. Catharines, Sault Ste. Marie and London, Ont.

Woodstock, St. Thomas and Stratford are reported in transport difficulties. The Blue Bird bus lines are said to have retired its bus service in Woodstock and St. Thomas, and also that the city of St. Thomas is subsidizing a new bus line operator.

Application for increases are said to be pending in Oshawa and Kingston.

Higher Costs

"Our request to the city council is largely based on the increase in cost of living with which our wage scale is linked," Mr. Lawrie R. Mitchell, manager of the local bus company, told the Examiner. "As the one moves up, so does the other. We are also facing higher costs of parts for motors and general maintenance of the buses."

The bus company's application was submitted by Arthur H. Lewis, a director. The last increase in bus fares took effect on Jan. 1, 1949, from four for 25 cents to four for 30 cents. It was approved by the council in the preceding September.

The case of the company at present is that since then the cost of living has advanced considerably.

Ald. H. N. Young is chairman of the legal committee.

Making Plans For Navy Days

From Monday, Feb. 5, to Wednesday, Feb. 7, are navy days in Peterborough, and on hand to answer any queries concerning service with the Royal Canadian Navy are members of the RCN's newly organized Mobile Recruiting Unit.

Officer in charge of the unit is Lieut.- Cdr. A. B. Cosh, RCN, who entered the Volunteer Reserve at the outbreak of the Second World War and subsequently transferred to the permanent force. He was in on the occupation of Persia in 1941 while on loan to the Royal Navy and later in the war served in the destroyer HMCS Restigouche as gunnery officer and later carried out communications duties in the cruiser HMCS Uganda.

Lieut. Cdr. Cosh arrived in the city this week to make advance arrangements for the rest of the mobile unit which arrives Monday.

The unit's first tour through Southern Ontario will take until the end of March. It includes visits to Peterborough, Oshawa, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Welland, Brantford, Galt, Guelph, Kitchener and Waterloo.

During this stay in these various cities members of this unit will welcome every opportunity to unfold the story of life in the naval service to their fellow Canadians. Members of the unit are qualified lecturers and will appreciate an opportunity to speak to schools, business groups and other organizations in the community. The unit also has at its disposal films depicting various phases of navy life, a showing of which can be arranged upon request.

22 Years CNR Yard Foreman Never Lost Day From Service

The Canadian National Railway has approximately 25 miles of freight switching track in the city of Peterborough serviced by two yard engines. And the man who knows every foot of track and the particular wheeze of every locomotive is yard foreman Jimmy Definney. He has been on the job here 22 years and has never lost a day through accident or sickness. On Thursday afternoon he stepped down from a shunter at the CNR station for the last time. He has reached retirement age, 65, and will go on pension as of Feb. 14.

Jimmy Definney has had 40 years of faithful service on the road. He was born in Haliburton of French-Irish descent and started working in the district sawmills at the age of 11.

How did he get into railroading?

He thought it was perhaps the result of listening to the tales of railroader boarders at his old home. He started in Lindsay in 1912 as a service brakeman and was transferred later to Midland and worked there for 14 years coming to Peterborough in 1929.

Jimmy's job rating is comparable to that of freight conductor and shunting back and forth through the city every working day, he has probably logged more road miles than a conductor.

Loath To Quit

In the best of health, he feels loath to stop regular work and though he has many outside interests, doesn't quite know what he is going to do with so much time on his hands. Use up some travelling passes over the rail system, hunt a little, fish a little. He has made no plans.

Mr. Definney owns his own home at 275 King St., and has been married twice. His daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Feeley, lives in Peterborough and a son, Albert, west of Sudbury. He is a member of St. Peter's Cathedral. Jimmy's job will be filled by Bernard Harvey, railway officials say.

LIEUT.-COMMANDER ALAN B. COSH, RCN, who is officer in charge of the Royal Canadian Navy's Mobile Recruiting Unit, who arrived in the city today to make advance arrangements for the unit's visit here from Monday, February 5, to Wednesday, February 7.

Local Delegates To Discuss Labor Act

At least four delegates from Peterborough locals are attending the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL). It is being held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, today and Saturday.

Alfred Barber, Local 210, United Packing House Workers, represents the production workers of Canada Packers.

William Beggs and Bert Hennessy, both of Local 293, UPWA, represent the production workers of Quaker Oats.

Ed Humphrey, Local 434, UPWA, represents the employees of A. Wander Ltd.

The Peterborough and District Labor Council, a CCL council, will not be officially represented. It has applied for membership but the charter has not yet come through.

To Ask Revision

High on the agenda will be a demand for the revision of the Ontario Labor Relations Act. Delegates are expected to ask the government to amend the act so the Labor Relations Board can certify a union without a shop vote if there is employer interference.

In line with a nation-wide campaign by 1,000,000 trade unionists, the OFL will probably demand rent and price controls without a wage freeze.

A more controversial issue will be the resolution condemning the action of the Canada Labor Relations Board which de-certified the Canadian Seamen's Union claiming it was Communist dominated and not a proper trade union.

Joseph McKenzie, president of the OFL, will retire this year. At present he is working for the CCL in the Peterborough district, assisting the International Union of Electrical Workers in their bid to oust the left-wing United Electrical Workers at CGE.

January Colder, More Snow Than Same Month In 1950

The month of January, 1951, was colder and there was a greater preciptation than the same month a year ago. More snow but less rain. So the statistics compiled by James Harrison, weather recorder, indicate. Average temperature a year ago was 24.5, compared with 20.6 this year. But extremes were greater in 1950. The temperature ranged from 18 below zero on January 8 to 58 degrees on January 26.

January, 1951, though nearly four degrees colder, ranged from 11 below on January 30 to 48 degrees on January 21.

Total preciptation for January, 1950, was 3.29 inches, compared with 2.30 inches this year. This was made up as follows: January, 1950, 12.25 inches of snow and 2.06 inches of rain; January, 1951, 14.25 inches of snow and .87 inches of rain.

Chairman of the committees will be elected at a later date.

A motion was passed to the effect that the library board will support the Centennial committee in publication of the History of Peterborough by H. T. Pammett.

Report Skiing Best Of Season

Skiing in the Peterborough district is described as excellent. Toby Westbye, president of the Peterborough Ski Club, reports that the snowfall on Wednesday night and Thursday left several inches of powdered snow on a one to two inch packed base on all favorite ski hills.

"We couldn't ask for much better," he said.

About 50 ski enthusiasts took advantage of the snow at Kemp's hill Thursday night under the floodlights. They zipped down the slopes from 7:30 until 10.

Mr. Westbye added that the tow at Kemp's hill will be operating Saturday and Sunday, while at Bethany one will be working Saturday and two on Sunday. Many skiiers are expected from clubs in Toronto, Hamilton, Cobourg, Oshawa and Lindsay.

The Department of Travel and Publicity reports excellent skiing at the Lakehead, Cobourg, Collingwood, Haileybury, Huntsville, Orangeville and Sundridge. Barrie, Dagar, Flesherton, Markdale, Havelock and Midland are rated good. Haliburton, Summit and Toronto are only fair.

CHINESE LABOR

Chinese immigration to Canada was encouraged up to 1885 because of the demand for labor to build railways.

Ski School Planned For Saturday Morning

After four postponments, the ski school at Kemp's Hill will open Saturday morning. Alex Sinclair, recreation director, announced today. The school, operated by the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club, was first scheduled to open January 6, but ski conditions have been poor since then.

Plans call for five successive Saturday mornings for the Public School children. The ski club will provide the instructors and the commission the transportation.

Mr. Sinclair reported that the official registration was 163.

Ex-Examiner Reporter

Jack Peterson Works Company Into Shape

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Feb. 2—(Special)—Major Jack F. Peterson, well-known resident of St. Thomas, in fact, first citizen of that thriving municipality when he joined the Canadian Army Special Force last fall, is driving hard to bring his "Charlie" Company of the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment up to scratch, as the training of the Brigade group nears completion at this huge U.S. Army camp.

No stranger in the army, Major Peterson won the DSO while serving with the Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders during the war in Northwest Europe. Brigadier J. M. Rockingham, Commander of the Special Force, knew him as a first class officer in the Highland Brigade and has high praise for him.

"He was wounded several times," said the Brigadier, "and I can still remember seeing him sitting on top of a dyke somewhere around the Scheldt with a tourniquet wrapped around his leg sending signals back to his battalion headquarters, and refusing to be evacuated until he had the situation well under control."

During the latest exercise of his Regiment, when they put on a demonstration of a battalion in the defence for officers of the Brigade group, Big Jack Peterson had his company dig in on an open piece of terrain which offered several tactical problems to his men. The wealth of experience he gained in the months of rugged warfare on the European front is proving invaluable to his soldiers and was evident by the fine use his troops made of the ground and the perfect job they made of camouflaging their positions.

Company Sergeant Major J. A. Dure, of Port Hope, finds nothing strange about serving with Major Peterson since he also served with him in the SDG's during the war.

"It seems just like old times to be back with the Major again," said the CSM.

Before joining the army, Major Peterson was a reporter-photographer for the Examiner.

Lt.-Col. R. A. Keane, DSO, of Fort William, Ont., Commanding Officer of the regiment, says that the whole task of training his unit has been made much easier with the help of men like Major Peterson and his other company commanders, all of whom are veteran officers of the last war and have brought to their new task the "know how" and the same fighting spirit which added so much lustre to the history of Canada's great infantry regiments during the past war.

Told To Co-operate Or Face Expropriation

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2—(CP)—The Manitoba government Thursday in effect told the city of Winnipeg and the privately-owned Winnipeg Electric Company to co-operate in a province-wide power-pooling arrangement or face the possibility of expropriation of their low-cost generating systems.

Government plans to break a deadlock between the province and the city and the private company—and to head off a developing power shortage—were outlined in the speech from the Throne read at the opening of the Legislature by Lt.-Gov. R. F. McWilliams.

The government instrument in reorganization of the industry will be a Manitoba Hydro-Electric Board, authorized for two years ago but never set up.

New Tourist Record

PENETANGUISHENE, Feb. 2 (CP)—There were 1,237,000 tourists in Ontario last year, an all-time high and 37,000 more than in 1949, Provincial Travel Minister Cecile announced here. He spoke at a banquet honoring the 100th anniversary of the first meeting of a joint council for Tiny and Tay townships.

Crime Committee Holds Investigation

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 2 (CP)—John S. Bugas, vice-president of the Ford Motor Co., was closeted Thursday with crime committee investigators.

Neither Bugas nor investigators would discuss the former Detroit FBI chief's appearance.

Bugas had disclosed earlier that racketeer Joe Adonic held a hi-jul-away contract with Ford for several eastern states.

The Throne speech, read by Lt.-Gov. J. M. Uhrich, said the CCF government during the session will introduce a redistribution bill to "adjust provincial constituency boundaries and provide for more equitable presentation."

Shingle Mill Burns

POWELL RIVER, B.C., Feb. 2 —(CP)—Fire Thursday destroyed the Powell Lake Shingle Company mill with loss of $30,000. The fire was the second in the district within five days. Last Saturday a wharf and freight shed were destroyed at neighboring Westview with loss of $400,000.

Wooden Shack Burns Three Children Die

FORT RESOLUTION, N.W.T., Feb. 2 (CP)—Three children were burned to death here late Thursday as fire swept the wooden shack of Germain Jean Beaulieu.

The dead: Ralph Edward, 4; Robert Marvin, 3; and Mary Florence, 2.

The fire broke out about five o'clock as the children were alone in the house. There father was out fishing and the mother was shopping.

Fort Resolution is 450 miles north of Edmonton.

IT'S JUST A TUMBLE-DOWN SHACK in Arlington, Va., but it may soon bring a fortune in cash to its owner—Rev. Harrison Galloway, 85-year-old retired minister, seen BELOW, seated by the fire. His shack, TOP, and its half-acre plot back up against the site chosen by a Washington, D.C., department store to build a new $10,000,000 suburban shopping centre and Rev. Galloway is considering offers. One speculator has bid $55,000. Rev. Galloway is holding out for $85,000 — in cash, not the stock and bonds he's been offered. He says he'll use the money to build a new church "where lost people can come and listen to the Word of God."

Eisenhower Voices Thanks To Canada For Arms Gift

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (CP).—Canada was quick to come to the aid of Luxembourg with some artillery equipment for that little European country, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Thursday.

Speaking to Congress on his recent tour of Atlantic pact members, the commander of the West's European defences said:

"In little Luxembourg, I had an unusual incident, and I think you would like to hear about it as illustrating the readiness of the nations today to try to co-operate. They are very small, there are only 300,000 people there, but they set their jaws and said, 'We will have universal military service with no exemptions.'

"Now,' they said, 'We are very very badly handicapped. We have equipment for one battalion only, what we particularly need at the moment is some artillery equipment.'

"And as I continued my tour, I came to Ottawa, and I told the Canadians about this trouble, and the Canadians said, 'Why, we have some artillery, we can ship it to them,' and when I got to West Point a few hours later, I was greeted with the information that the Canadian Government had approved of the transfer, and it just left the red tape for me to work out. . ."

Reserves Decision On Buying Paper

TORONTO, Feb. 2—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson Thursday reserved decision on an application to buy The Sudbury Star and radio station CKSO of Sudbury and other assets of the late William E. Mason, publisher, who died June, 1948.

The offer to purchase—which was not opposed—was made by a Sudbury group headed by James R. Meakes, publisher and general manager of The Star. Associated with him are George M. Miller, Sudbury lawyer; W. B. Plaunt, lumberman, and Judge James Cooper.

The sale is complicated because the estate comes under Ontario's Charitable Gifts Act. Before his death, Mr. Mason set up the W. E. Mason foundation with the sum of $5,000, court was told.

A. W. R. Sinclair, counsel for the executor and prospective purchasers, said the trustees of the estate will transfer to the foundation all money received by the sale "to carry out the charitable aims cited in the will." The Sudbury Memorial Hospital was named as the principal charity.

The group offered $1,294,759 for The Star, its building, station CKSO's broadcasting and transmitter buildings and property, a garage, and apartment building and a duplex.

Toronto To Instal 1,100 Parking Meters

The committee approved recommendations in a report by Traffic Engineer R. W. Burton that installation begin in May, provided supplies of meters are available. Parking meter charges will be five cents a period, with the periods varying from 15 minutes to an hour depending on location.

I Had To Watch My Children Suffer

"For several years my two boys suffered greatly from asthma and bronchial attacks", says Mrs. A. Lamouroux, 256 Head St. South, Simcoe, Ont. "They would be weak, gasp for breath—choking, wheezing and coughing in a way to wring a mother's heart. I often had to watch my boys sit up nearly all night, unable to lie down because of the struggle for breath. Then I found out about RAZ-MAH. After 3 doses of RAZ-MAH they are relieved and have no attacks for months at a time. I certainly recommend RAZ-MAH."

Mix Potatoes, Wood Pulp In Making Paper

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Feb. 2—(AP). — Will a mixture of potatoes and wood pulp produce a better grade of paper.

Spud growers and State Agriculture officials, encouraged by a preliminary test, intend to find out. Maine's big paper industry is co-operating.

An experiment in which refuse from the manufacture of potato starch was used showed that the combination with wood pulp made a paper of greater strength and finer quality, Agriculture Commissioner A. K. Gardner said Thursday.

Now a full-strength potato mixture will be tried out.

If the process is successful and industrially feasible, it would provide a welcome boost to the potato industry. This season, half the state's 61,000,000-bushel harvest remains to be disposed of. Five millions were dumped.

Three paper mills will make trial runs of wood pulp-potato pulp paper. The University of Maine's paper and pulp department also will make pilot tests.

Joseph T. Wight, a technical consultant, instigated the potato-paper idea. Seeking a use for waste from potato-starch factories, he got a paper mill interested enough to mix it with wood pulp. Then he turned to whole potatoes.

Gardner said the potatoes will be put through a hammer mill to beat them up. Then they will be homogenized. The resulting creamy mixture will be cleaned of grit and mixed with the wood pulp.

Legislature Has Interesting Portraits Hung

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Portraits of two early Canadian statesmen recently placed in the entrance hall of the Ontario Legislature typify the harmony and co-operation which has developed between the French and English - speaking people of Canada, Premier Frost said Thursday during opening ceremonies of the legislature's 1951 session.

The portraits are those of Sir Louis La Fontaine, Premier of Lower Canada, and Robert Baldwin, Premier of Upper Canada. They have been loaned from the Chateau De Ramezay Museum of Montreal.

"These men played a great part in the coming of responsible government," the premier said. Co-operation begun by them now is "an accepted fact and is one of the great examples of toleration and understanding that Canada gives to the world."

Premier Frost told how Baldwin arranged for La Fontaine to be elected in a Toronto area riding in 1841 after he was defeated in his Lower Canada constituency. The following year Baldwin was defeated and La Fontaine arranged to have the Upper Canada leader contest Rimouski in Quebec, which he carried in January, 1843.

"These acts were the beginning of the understanding and co-operation upon which confederation was built some 25 years later," Premier Frost said.

He also called attention to the mounting of portraits of 10 former Ontario premiers at the entrance to the chamber. Hanging above these portraits is the painting of the fathers of confederation by Frederick Sprostan Challoner, depicting the 1864 conference which led to confederation.

COUGAR KILLER—Ed McLean, 63-year-old Vancouver Island trapper, won a hand-to-claw battle with a hunger-crazed cougar in the dark of his lonely cabin 45 miles north of Campbell River after the mountain lion crashed through a window. McLean managed to grab a butcher knife and mortally wounded the animal. He walked to a second cabin in his night-clothes and phoned for help. In Campbell River hospital, he is recovering from lacerated arms, shoulder and right ear.

UK Adjudicator Arrives For Festivals

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP) — An unassuming Englishman with a knowledge of good theatre has come to see what Canada has in amateur drama.

Robert G. Newton of London, theatrical director, Cambridge graduate and now drama adviser to the Middlesix County Drama Committee, is this year's adjudicator of the regional drama festivals.

This is Mr. Newton's first visit to Canada. Monday he leaves for his first festival opening Feb. 7th, Saint John, N.B. By the middle of April he will have seen Halifax, Vancouver and several cities in between.

Adjudicator Newton is no ogre who sharpens his critic's teeth on the flesh of amateur actors and actresses.

"I shall be looking for sincerity in the acting and in the production," he said in an interview. ". . . The emotional truth of the performance."

He abhors "patronizing" audience and players by saying they're wonderful. He dislikes "niggly criticism." He also avoids being "too ruthless," but "I shall try to tell them what I think."

The British drama expert has behind him 20 years of adjudicating festivals in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. He says the best groups in Britain don't go in for festivals any more—"they're too busy running their own full-time programs."

Mr. Newton says the level of acting in Britain is "extremely high," but the country is "a bit short of playwrights."

The war hadn't really produced a great British play. One reason for this might be that "the whole method of writing plays is very much in the melting pot at the moment."

Marmora Calf Club

MARMORA, Feb. 2 (ENS). — Marmora Agricultural Society is again sponsoring a junior farmer calf club. Date of a meeting for re-organization purposes is to be announced shortly. Frank Stone, assistant agricultural representative for Hastings county will supervise the club.

To Honor Players At Hockey Game

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—Wib Blake and Basil Robinson, spearheads of the local TVL team, will be honored in Campbellford arena on Friday, when the locals meet the Stirling team.

Teams have been moulded around these two men for a number of years. "Robbie" Robinson came from Stirling about 10 years ago, and has played for Campbellford ever since. He is one of the most popular players in the league, and it is a rare sight to see him on the penalty bench.

Wib Blake has played for the Campbellford club ever since he broke into TVL hockey, about 10 years ago. He is often referred to as the old "workhorse" of the local club and his rushes down the ice and hard shots, have disheartened many opposing goal tenders.

President Art Duncan of the TVL will make a presentation to both players on the ice at Friday's game. Other officials of the league will also be on hand to congratulate these two men for their long service.

A reception for the two stars will be held after the game.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The window-dressing aspect of the alluring middleweight title bout between champion Jake Lamotta and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 14 were settled Thursday before the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Both warriors, making a special trip here from New York, were present as Lamotta was given permission to weigh in at 10 a.m. two hours before the customary noon-time ceremony on the day of their sixth tangle since 1942.

Lamotta's insistence for an earlier weigh-in indicated he might have trouble making weight against Robinson, who is on the verge of surrendering his welterweight crown.

Young Kenny Church of Windsor, led all jockeys for United States honors in January, according to statistics compiled Thursday at Hialeah race track.

Church, now riding at Hialeah, boted home 22 winners during January, one more than Harold (Red) Keene at the Fairgrounds track in New Orleans.

Neil Franklin, the English soccer star whose suspension from football ended Thursday, joined the Hull City club. He will make his debut for Hull in their league game against Blackburn Rovers next Saturday.

Franklin has been in training at the Hull City headquarters ever since the English Football Association suspended him from soccer for leaving Stoke City to play in Bogota, Colombia.

Hull paid Stoke City £22,000 for Franklin.

He has played for England in 40 international matches.

South Korean marathon runners and their coach were puzzled but insisted they were not discouraged on hearing Thursday that their entries in the Boston marathon April 19 will be refused.

The Koreans finished 1-2-3 in last year's Boston race.

Dispatches from Boston quoted president Walter Brown of the Boston Athletic Association as saying he intended to reject the entries because he felt they should stay at home and fight.

"Mr. Brown may not fully understand the fact that 1,000,000 Korean youths, including ourselves, are crying for arms to fight against Communist aggression," said Son Ki Chung, coach of the eight-man team which is in training here.

The Korean Republic, proud of its athletics' clean sweep last year gave the team special military dispensation to train and enter this year.

Rents Finance New Library

TORONTO—(CP)—A new library building here will be paid for by an arrangement considered unique for libraries in North America.

The Toronto Public Library's Deer Park branch in northeast Toronto is to be housed in a three-storey building costing $473,000. The cost will be paid off within 20 years or less by rentals from three stores in its ground floor and from offices in its top storey.

The adult library will be on the ground floor and the boys' and girls' library on the second floor.

Charles M. Carrie, Library Board chairman, said it will be the first library building so financed on this continent. He said no part of the capital cost will fall on the taxpayer.

Burn's Bridge Draws With Douro

Douro's hockey battle with Burn's Bridge in Warsaw last night ended in a 6-6 tie.

In the first five minutes, Burn's Bridge scored two quick goals. Douro bounced back with one. The second period's tussle shook up three points for Douro with one for Burn's Bridge. Excitement reigned in the third period when the score took a run of 5-3 for Douro. However, Burn's Bridge jumped into the game by driving in one more goal. Douro then pounced in with another one. Burn's Bridge buckled down in the next few dizzy moments to tie the game.

Teams:

Douro: Goal, Keating defence, F. Moher, E. Leahy; centre, B. Moher; wings, G. Sheehan, J. O'Grady; alternates, B. Condon, J. Moher, C. Sheehan, C. Leahy, J. Heffernan, D. Sheehan, B. Heffernan.

Burn's Bridge: Goal, Howe; defence, L. Kidd, E. Carlow; centre, W. Tedford; wings, Davis, Selkirk; alternates, Watts, W. Tedford, Darling, Freeburn, A. Bell, R. Tedford.

Town Leaguers Go

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—Thursday night is Town League hockey night in Campbellford, and a fair crowd who turned out in spite of the wintry weather saw two good games of hockey when Legion took on Seymour East, and Lloyd's Sport Shop puckists tangled with Seymour West.

The town teams triumphed over the country teams in both games but the lads displayed an excellent brand of hockey.

The scores in both games would have been much higher if it had not been for the ability of the goal tenders on the Seymour East and Lloyd's teams. Doug Sager in the East nets played a remarkable game, pulling off some almost impossible saves. Barney (Turk) MacColl displayed excellent ability in the Lloyd's goal, and with a little more luck might have had himself a shutout. He came out of his nets on numerous occasions to take the puck out of danger and robbed the Seymour West team of a great many scoring chances.

Referees for the first game were Lionel Holmes and Wib. Blake, and for the second game, Doug Free (of the Belleville Redmen) and Lionel Holmes.

Legion shutout Seymour East in the first game by a 4 to 0 score, while Llyod's Sport Shop took the second game from Seymour West by an 8 to 2 score.

Lloyd's—Goal, Turk MacColl; defence, P. Bennett and C. Root; centre, Don Free; wings, Messenger, Sutton; alternates, Gummo, Good, Gibson, Hay, Barlow, Erskine.

Seymour West—Goal, B. Scott; defence, Sheppard, Darrah; centre J. O'Rourke; wings, C. Thain, G. Curle; alternates, Chambers, Rutherford, Chas. O'Rourke, McCrory, Massey, B. Hay.

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 2 (CP)—The Thunder Bay Law Association is forwarding a resolution to the Attorney-General pointing out the "critical" need for a new registry office building in Port Arthur. A. A. Kajander, president, said the roof of the building has started to leak and water was entering the vaults, endangering records. The offfice was usually crowded, making it impossible for the staff to give proper service.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Detroit's Gordie Howe, "Mr. Assist," in the National Hockey League since last week, threatens to take over the top goal-scoring spot from Montreal's Maurice Richard. Howe tallied twice Thursday night against New York to boost his goal record to 25, just three behind the injured Rocket.

Howe's 57 points keep him firmly atop the scoring race. In second place, Toronto's Max Bentley added only an assist Thursday night for a record of 15 goals, 29 assists and 44 points.

Richard, sidelined with a charley horse, is tied for third place with Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel of Detroit, all with 40 points.

Hastings Victorious

HASTINGS, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Hastings juevniles looked like a sure bet in the first round of the OMHA playdowns as they blasted Marmora 15-3 in the first of a two-game series, goals to count.

Play started fairly even. The front line of Stevenson, A. McMillan and Herrington was poison to the opposition and Colly and Isaacs also stood out.

Paranuick, Hicky and Brooks were best for Marmora.

Hastiags — Goal, Montgomery; defence, Condon, Isaac; centre, Stevenson; wings, A. McMillan, Herrington; alternates, Colby, Dodd, J. McMillan, Cobbledick, Chambers and Wilson.

Norwood Beat C's

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canadiana -- Cookery Dept. Lettuce -- Salads Foundation

Like the majority of city-dwellers I shop in a large groceteria.

In looking over my shopping buggy I was struck with the size of the heads of lettuce I had chosen. (I don't mean someone threw a head of lettuce at me.) I weighed one on a nearby scale and it tipped it at two pounds. That is a lot of greenery for 19 cents.

We are fortunate to be the beneficiaries in our present import set-up from the States. Did I tell you that on the same weekend my friend Garny was paying 3 for 29 cents for grapefruits in a little town in Western Michigan while Marianne, here at home, bought them for 12 for 49 cents?

The price of lettuce from California was higher there too that same weekend. Old Hawk-Eye was watching.

We should take advantage of these two inexpensive fresh foods that are so essential as protective foods to cold-weather people like us.

I find that, in our house, when other members of the family have to prepare dinner when I am too busy, sometimes I hear the bleat that "salads take too long." I counter that argument by suggesting a head lettuce salad with dressing of some kind—and that makes everybody happy.

We keep French Dressing and homemade mayonnaise in the refrigerator always, and it simplifies the salad problem. Even Pete (under pressure) will slash a head of lettuce into quarters, and shake a little grated old cheese or crumbled Roquefort into the French Dressing for it.

I am stressing this ease of preparation of salads because our winter diets are so low in fresh vegetables.

It is the duty of you good providers to see that they are served so attractively that they are eaten regularly.

✧ ✧ ✧

Variations of French Dressing

Pink French Dressing. One teaspoon each salt, paprika, sugar and ¼ cup spirit vinegar or lemon juice and 1 cup cold salad oil. Shake very well and keep in covered jar.

Garlic French Dressing: Add half clove of garlic to above and let stand in it while it is stored.

Giusseppi's French Dressing: A great favorite. One teaspoon each mustard, salt, paprika, sugar, 1 tablepsoon catsup, 1 sieved yolk of hard cooked egg, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 cup salad oil. Shake well. A whole egg, very well beaten, may be used in place of the sieved and hard cooked yolk. This latter version is quite thick when shaken well.

✧ ✧ ✧

Variations of Mayonnaise

Mayonnaise Plain: In mixing bowl put 2 raw egg yolks, 2 teaspoons each mustard, salt, sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Beat until very thick. Add one cup of cold oil as slowly as it is possible for you to pour, beating all the time. Stop pouring if oil begins to gather around sides, and beat hard until it disappears. Add another tablespoon of lemon juice when oil is half added. Continue pouring in a fine stream, and beating, until all oil is used.

Deluxe Mayonnaise: For plain salads such as lettuce or cabbage and celery: Add 1 tablespoon chopped almonds and 1 tablespoon crumbled Roquefort or other culture cheese to ⅓ cup plain mayonnaise.

Thousand Island Dressing. To the above amount of Plain mayonnaise add 3 tablespoons thick chili sauce, 1 teaspoon each chopped chives, pimientoes and green peppers. When this is used on head lettuce salad it is often garnished with slices of hard-cooked egg.

A GOOD LINEN DRESS in her wardrobe represents, to nearly any woman a touch of luxury. Modern linen is often wrinkle-resistant and it may not look like linen at all on the surface. Linen's going places for spring and summer in white, pastels and black. Linen makes suits, coat dresses and cocktail dresses. Gray-and-white checked linen in a classic coat dress (left). It's shined up with gleaming buttons that travel the length of the front closing. There's the same shine in a black leather belt coiled about the waist. Fly pockets appear just above and below the waist. A small collar stands up; three-quarter sleeves are wide and cuffed. A pink linen dress (right) by the same designer could appear in town and in country and look right in both places. A pin-tuck yoke is split by a slit V neckline. Front closing, from bottom of yoke to the hemline, is marked by pearl buttons. The pin-tucking is repeated on the straight, cuffed sleeves that reach almost to the elbow.

Little Theatre Old-Timers Missing At Ontario Festival

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Time is taking its toll in eastern Ontario's Little Theatre movement.

When the curtain rises in March on the Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival several new names will be on the call-board. Some of the old ones will be missing.

Most conspicuous gap will be Ottawa where the Regional French-Language Festival has faded out. The capital's famed French company, Le Caveau, long a kingpin of the festival, is not operating this year. Not enough other groups have rallied to make it worthwhile to hold a festival.

The English-language festival will be held March 19-21 at Kingston. Groups from Ottawa, Peterborough, Brockville, Deep River, Perth and Kingston hope to take part.

Brockville Theatre Guild, which last year won laurels for the best full-length production of the festival, will be the only veteran competitor.

Veteran Missing

One of the oldest drama groups here—the 38-year-old Ottawa Drama League—will be missing. The one-time holder of Dominion Drama Festival honors isn't as lively this season as in other years. One ODL official blames this on a professional drama company (Canadian Repertory Theatre) which has become established in the capital.

But while the league may not have a festival entry its two vigorous affiliates — Junior Theatre and The Workshop—both anticipate a visit to Kingston.

The Workshop, devoted to the production of experimental works this year is preparing Tennessee Williams' psychological three-act drama, "Summer and Smoke."

Junior Theatre was established two years ago as a combination school of drama and children's theatre. With a membership of both adult and juveniles, its specialty is Saturday theatre suited to the tastes of Ottawa's young audiences.

Actor Shortage

As in Ottawa, other theatrical groups complain about the manpower shortage.

Dr. William Angus of Kingston, chairman of the English-language festival, says that in his city "it's just barely possible to get enough male actors."

That has been the problem with the Queen's University Drama Guild which for the first time in four years is entering a one-act play in the festival.

But no manpower shortage exists in Perth dramatic circles. The group easily assembled a cast of 11 men and a girl for its production "Mac and the Atom," a one-act play written by Eric Nicol of Vancouver.

This will be the first year of festival competition for the Perth Thespian Society, reorganized a year ago to bring in the drama groups of the Perth Collegiate, the Junior Farm Club and the Young People's Association of Perth Anglican Church.

No Big Changes In Fashions For Year 1951

PARIS, Feb. 2—(AP)—The spring of 1951 will bring no revolutionary changes as far as women's dress is concerned, to judge from the first of the fashion showings that opened Thursday.

With foreign buyers and fashion reporters crowding their salons to overflowing, Jacques Heim and Carven started the ball rolling for the series of fashion parades scheduled for the next two weeks.

Tailored suits in abundance, coat-dresses and princess-lined redingotes were the main features. Throughout both showings all the hallmarks of last season's fashions remained.

Length stayed at a fraction above mid-calf; the waist-line stayed where nature intended it, and narrow skirts continued to hold the helm—although of course there was the usual influx of full-skirted summer dresses.

Heim introduced a "crescent" theme which he exploits in rounded edges to all his coats, jackets and necklines. Part of this theme is a "panorama" neckline which falls into a deep, revealing crescent. It falls so low, in fact, that a special bra had to be designed to go with it.

Suit jackets by both designers are fairly long with set-in sleeves, but here the similarity ends. Those by Carven have wide padded shoulders, tight-fitting hips and buttons starting at the bust.

Heim prefers pale grey flannel, ed shoulders, high lapels and jacket bottoms that project bulbously in front.

This designer also shows a group of suit-dresses. These are made up of a slender dress, uually with "high-officer" collar and bloused back, topped by a box jacket from half to three-quarters in length.

Heim, in contrast, shows round-grained or hair-stripe woollens in black-and-white or brown-and-white mixtures for his suits and dresses.

HAVE A HEART — If you're caught short for Valentine trimmings, take a tip from Hollywood make-up expert Max Factor and use your lipstick to create something heart-shaped. Model Pat Weible shows how. Her gown-strap hearts are highlighted with touches of luminous eye shadow.

Navy Blue Top Color Choice For Legislature Reception

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—Contrasing sharply with the blustery winter day outside were the spring flowers which decorated the suite at the Parliament Buildings where the lieutenant-governor held a reception following the opening of the Ontario Legislature Thursday.

Complementing the flowers were the pastel tinted and blossom-trimmed hats seen on many of the women guests, though, by far the favorite shade for both hats and costumes, was navy blue. The lieutenant-governor's daughter, Mrs. R. E. G. Kindersley, and Mrs. Leslie Frost, wife of the premier, who were in the receiving line, had both chosen this shade. Mrs. Frost's suit being of navy faille with matching hat.

Mrs. Harold R. Scott, wife of the member of Parliament for Peterborough, was very smartly attired in a dress of navy pintucked sheer with white gardenia trim, and she wore a small navy felt hat with brim underlined with white pique.

Mrs. John Weir Foote and Mrs. Dana Porter were also in smart navy ensembles and Mrs. William Goodfellow wore black crepe and satin with black hat.

Mrs. Thomas L. Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Daley and Mrs. William Hamilton were among the wives of cabinet ministers who wore navy. Mrs. Daley's jacket dress of taffeta set off with a cloth-straw hat in tones of pink and fuchsia. Miss Ruth Kennedy wore dark green brocade with matching hat.

Mrs. William Griesinger wore a rosewood wool dress with matching cloche and alligator accessories and her guest, Miss Veronica Russetts, was in brown velvet with bittersweet accessories. Mrs. Louis Cecile was in black pillbox hat and Mrs. Arthur Welsh, also in black, wore an off-the-face hat of black velvet.

Among the guests were Mrs. Arsen Nielsen, wife of the American consul-general, in a black faille suit with black beaded beret; Mrs. J. Keiller Mackay in a taupe silk frock with cowl neckline; Lady Eaton in a smart suit of midnight blue ribbed faille and small matching hat; Mrs. Rolph Corson in a full-skirted frock of bronze and green shot taffeta; Mrs. Roland Michener in navy blue moire with sequined hat; and Mrs. John Spragge in a black dressmaker suit with white straw hat.

Mrs. F. P. Dewar wore velvet-trimmed rust wool with matching hat; Mrs. E. W. Bickle, black gabardine suit and white feather hat; Mrs. Pat Hardy, powder blue tafefta with brown ermine hat and coat; Mrs. A. A. Lamport, a charcoal grey suit with moleskin lined jacket; Mrs. D. W. Lang, black crepe frock with tiny black hat; Mrs. F. A. Brewin, navy and white; and Mrs. J. G. Culnan, black corded silk suit with green and gold vestee.

DOROTHY DIX

Unhappily Married Man Should Not Desert Family

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am an executive 38 years old and have an associate of 21 who has become very dear to me. We have found love, peace, understanding, happiness and contentment together such as I, at least, did not know existed, for my marriage has been a failure from the first and has brought me nothing but misery.

Dorothy Dix

Should she seek other employment? Should I make a clean break of our association? I do not consider myself, for I believe my children should come first and I want nothing but the best in life for this girl I love, regardless of how deep my pain may be in losing her. We both pray that we may settle this problem wisely. Won't you help us?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is no tragedy deeper and darker than that of a fine and noble man married to a woman who has brought him only there is no way out of it that is not take in another woman. For craves and the happiness he may misery, who finds the love he not filled with tears and suffering.

Case Is Hopeless

And the case of the unhappily married man is particularly hard and hopeless when there are children whom he not only adores, but for whom he feels responsible. For the man who loves his children and who has a strong sense of obligation to them there is no alternative but for him to stick to a marriage, no matter how unworthy his wife is nor how miserable she makes him, because if he gets a divorce he loses his chilfluence them and form their chardren and loses all chance to inbe to stand by them until they are acters. My advice to you would grown. This is a bitter saying, but there is no easy way out of your dilemma.

Nor is there any happy solution of your problem with the girl. Hers, too, is tragedy, for it means either stolen love or the frustration of love, both of which bring misery. Far better, it seems to me, a clean break between a married man and a girl whom he cannot marry rather than subjecting her to years of torture and weary waiting.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Speaking for myself and many other soldiers in the camp in which I am now serving, I would like to know your honest and sincere opinion of girls who write to us for a few weeks and then seem to forget us completely. A few hundred miles shouldn't make a difference in their sentimental feelings toward us. What's the matter with the girls?

SOLDIER.

ANSWER: Well, Soldier Boy, I expect the trouble is that most of the girls are not very gifted letter writers, and after they have written you a few times and told you how much they miss you, and how lonesome they are, and how they are looking forward to your coming back they have about written themselves out.

It isn't that they have forgotten you or are any less interested in you. It is just that it is an effort to write and they put it off, forgetting how anxious you are to hear from home.

A good way to get them going would be to send them a list of queries. Say please tell me about so-and-so, or this and that, and who's going with whom and all the other gossip you can think of. After all, that is the kind of letter that all of us like to get, because we can read what is happening in the world in the newspapers, but what we want to know is what is taking place in our home town.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have two married children who have children. I have made a good job of raising my own children and they are all right, except for one thing. They resent advice as to how to feed their children, saying that I don't know anything about their children's diet. Should I take all of this abuse or should I talk back to them, reminding them of the many kind deeds I did for them when they were little?

A DISAPPOINTED MOTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am afraid there is nothing you can do about it except let your children rear their children in their own way. That's the way you did your own, you know. Remember, you didn't take very kindly to your mother's advice on the subject.

What's Right

You have a very good friend who is a neighbor.

WRONG: Feel that you can run in and out of her house any time during the day.

RIGHT: Don't invade another's privacy if you want a friendship to last.

Students Get Jolt: Teacher Actor

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—The 10th grade students at Culver City high school are due for a jolt. They will soon be seeing the movie "Tom Sawyer" with their teacher in the starring role.

He is known as Mr. Kelly the 'teen-agers but to movie fa of a decade ago he was Tomm Kelly. Now that "Tom Sawyer" is being dusted off for a re-release, he is faced with a unique situation.

"I don't know how my kids are going to take it," remarked teacher Kelly. "They are older now than I was when I made the picture. Seeing me and hearing me called 'Tommy' may be quite a surprise to them."

Today, Kelly looks much younger than his 27 years. He is still red-headed and looks only a few years older than when he played the Mark Twain hero at the age of 12. "When I came back from the war, the studios said I looked too young even to play 19-year-olds," he remarked.

No Sack of Gold

"Some people think I should have lots of money because I was in pictures," he laughed. "Not long ago I figured up my entire earnings for 15 years in the movies. It came to an average of $10 to $15 a week.

Kelly's discovery for the movies was according to the Hollywood legend. Oscar Serlin, now a Broadway producer, was interviewing a prospective actor in a New York school. The prospect didn't pan out, but the principal persuaded Serlin to look over some of the other boys. Kelly was among them and Serlin tabbed him for a possible Tom Sawyer, for whom David O. Selznick was searching.

Tommy tested for the role and won it. Everything after "Tom Sawyer" was an anti-climax. Selznick kept the young actor idle, even though other studios wanted to use him. After 1½ years Tommy was dropped from the Selznick contract list.

Back to Teaching

"After that I played big roles in little pictures and little roles in big pictures," he observed. "I was in the army for three years, then I came back and got my teaching credential at Loyola University."

Kelly still keeps up his dues in the Screen Actors' Guild and sometimes plays roles during school vacations.

Farmers Hold Important Place In Israel's Life

TORONTO (CP)—Farmers are aristocrats in Israel, says a woman who spent 10 years there doing social service work.

Mrs. Abraham Harman, who came here in 1949 with her husband, who then was cosul-general for Israel, says there is little difficulty interesting immigrants in farming.

She told the Toronto Pioneer women recently that she considers this situation different from that of many countries where the farmer is regarded as an "inferior" and where life on the land is not sought after.

Israel's great need for food production and for development of every arable acre have "created a different sense of values and the agriculturists are considered to be the aristocracy."

Housing Problem

Employment and housing remain the major problems in Israel, where as many as 15,000 immigrants still arrive each month. Until housing is available, settlers are accommodated in transitory work camps, said Mrs. Harman.

By this system, they work part time to pay for their food and it is found to be a better arrangement than in old camps where too much dependence tended to stifle ambition and initiative.

In work with children, there still were problems of malajustment, disease, malnutrition, language and shortages of teachers and textbooks.

In Israel, said Mrs. Harman, "there is need for practically everything."

Honeymoon Barge Now Winter Home

PORT ARTHUR—(CP)—Capt. and Mrs. Anthony Ruski spent their honeymoon on a tow barge after they were married last year. Now the veteran lake skipper and his wife are spending the winter on the barge, icebound in this lakehead port.

They say they wouldn't trade their roving 'palace" for a shore mansion.

The 358-foot Delkote, owned by a timber company, hauls pulp logs between the lakehead and Detroit till freeze-up. This is its first winter at the lakehead.

The Ruskis draw electricity from a cable strung to an adjacent dock. But they must go to the Sailor's Institute, 100 yards away, for drinking water.

Mrs. Ruski, who is signed on as a member of the ship's company, says: "Miss shore life? Not me."

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I'm keepin' him away from me—he's got a cold!"

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Urge Apples Used On Menu Good Vitamin Women Told

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 — (CP) — There may be a grain of truth in that old saw about an apple a day keeping the doctor away—at least there is from the Vitamin C point of view.

Nutrition experts say this vitamin, ascorbic acid, is essential to health and growth. It also is necessary for the normal structure of teeth. And if any members of your family are showing symptoms like rheumatism you'd better start feeding them apples. Such symptoms may be caused by lack of Vitamin C which is found in apples and other fresh fruit.

But don't forget that Vitamin "C" is destroyed in cooking, and is most easily destroyed in soda or some other alkaline solution.

The Canadian Association of Consumers describes Canadian apples as not only the cheapest fruit but one that is in season the year round.

The 13,000-member organization also urges housewives to add vitaminized apple juice to their shelves. Not only is this a good idea from the health point of view, but it is also sound economics.

The CAC suggests buying apples by grade, and buying in packages.

Cheap Medicine

"Buy the largest container you can safely and conveniently store," says the association. "This means economy. However if your storage facilities are poor, buy only sufficient quantity for your immediate needs."

Apples should be stored in a cool well-ventilated place with a high humidity.

When cooking apples add as little flavoring as possible let the natural flavor of the apples come through.

Wherever possible cook apples without peeling. But if you must peel them, drop the apples in cold water to prevent discoloration.

In a booklet which the Junior Chamber of Commerce has put out on favorite Canadian recipes, Nova Scotia—the apple province—has been represented by Annapolis apple pudding.

"Apples have symbolized temptation since the days of Adam and Eve," is the comment at the head of the recipe. "This apple pudding will tempt the most jaded palate."

Apple Pudding

Ingredients: Six medium-sized tart apples three tablespoons granulated sugar; 1½ cups sifted bread flour; three teaspoons baking-powder; one-half teaspoon salt; one-quarter cup soft shortening; three-quarters cup granulated sugar one egg (well beaten); three-quarters cup water or milk.

Grease a 10 by six by two-inch baking-dish. Slice peeled apples and arrange in the bottom. Sprinkle with three tablespoons sugar. Sift together flour, baking-powder and salt. Cream shortening until fluffy. Gradually add sugar, mixing until creamy. Add beaten egg. Beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with water or milk, folding in lightly after each addition. Pour over apples. Sprinkle with combined sugar and cinnamon (one tablespoon sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon.) Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm, cut in squares, with brown sugar sauce or with plain or whipped cream. Eight servings.

American Defends Methods Of British Food Handling

LONDON —(CP)— Criticism from North American visitors of food-handling methods in Britain, has brought a United States citizen to the defence of the average shopkeeper in the United Kingdom.

S. C. Weiner, who served with the US forces during the war, and at present operating a provision business in London, deplored the attacks as "unreasonable." The British retail food supplier, he said, was doing an excellent job under the heavy burdens of his country's circumstances.

He was replying to published criticism that spoke of butchers "whacking off a chunk of meat," dropping it on the scale, placing it on newspaper and handing it to the customer.

Among other charges the visitors claimed shopkeepers often failed to use hygienic methods in handling of food, merchandising procedure was backward and refrigeration facilities were lacking.

Blames Circumstances

In his defence of the merchant, Mr. Weiner claimed that present circumstances were largely responsible for any short-coming compared with North American standards.

Because of the necessity of exporting the cream of the country's foodstuffs, for economic reasons, the variety of provisions offered was limited.

Many shops, he said, were equipped with modern refrigeration. Others would like to instal these facilities, but were unable to afford it, due to restricted income as a result of rationing.

Newspaper was used as an outside wrapper but only because of the paper shortage. The curb on dollar spending forced the merchant to improvise.

"In fact he is doing a marvellous job in face of tremendous difficulties," Mr. Weiner said.

Two Men Battle Over Woman One Is Injured

A fight between two men over the wife of one of them ended in the husband, Albert Young, 280 McGill St., being found guilty in police court Tuesday of common assault. He was fined $20 and costs.

Orville James, 268 Aylmer St., a widower, testified that in a scuffle in his home, Young kicked him in the face. As a result he was off work more than two weeks.

James said he had worked at the same plant as Mrs. Hazel Young, 80 Ware St., who testified against her husband.

Since last fall, said James, Mrs. Young, whom he described as "about 45" has been visiting in his home. Within the last two months, Young has also visited his home.

Trying To Be Friends

"I've been trying to make friends with the man," said James.

About 8 p.m., Jan. 20 Mrs. Young was in the James home with James and his 18-year-old daughter. They had supper together. They heard the front door bell ring and Mrs. Young said, "Tell him I'm not here, because I'm going home."

James went out on the verandah and told Young his wife was not in the house and persuaded him to leave. He had been drinking said James.

In about 15 minutes James' daughter left for a movie. Five minutes later, the front door bell rang again.

When James went to the door, Young was there and just walked in without any invitation.

"Get the police. Get the police." Young shouted.

But then he quietened down and they sat and talked about things in general for about 20 minutes. Suddenly for no reason that either James or Mrs. Young could see, Young "flew into a rage" and told James to take off his glasses. Young took off his overcoat and walked toward James still sitting in a rocking chair.

James "caught a glimpse of a hand coming and I slid off the chair and grabbed his legs." They started to tussle and James lost his glasses. From there on he couldn't see very clearly he said.

Slipped On Mat

They struggled until James slipped on a mat and fell on his back. He saw Young's foot about six or seven inches away coming at his face and that was the last he remembered.

He denied that he had ever asked Mrs. Young to go out with him and said she had come to his house at her own accord. He said Mrs. Young was a good friend of his daughter's. He said Young's son had come to his home and he had tried to make friends with Young.

"And at the same time you were entertaining his wife alone in your home," Gordon H. T. Farquharson, defence counsel for Young commented.

Mrs. Young said she was willing to testify against her husband although under the law she could not be made to testify against Young.

Asked why she had told James to inform her husband she was not in the James home, Mrs. Young said, "I didn't think it necessary that he need to know about my whereabouts."

She called the police when the scuffle started. She said she did not know whether or not Young had become enraged when he noticed she wasn't wearing her wedding ring.

Mr. Farquharson suggested that trouble had started between Mrs. Young and her husband after she met James.

"I can't say (there has been) any more (trouble) after my acquaintanceship with him than there has been in previous years," said Mrs. Young.

Woman 'Stepping Out'

Young said his wife was "stepping out" but she wouldn't tell him where she was going. One night downtown he happened to see her coming out of a restaurant with James. Shortly after that (about 15 weeks ago) she "picked up and left."

Several times, he said, he had gone to James' home and found his wife alone in the house with James.

The night of Jan. 20 when he went to the James home, James told him he hadn't seen his wife all day. Young waited a time near the house and saw Young's daughter come out. She walked some distance down the street then returned to the house. But she just opened the door and came back out. He approached her and asked her if his wife was in the house.

"That's none of my business," said the James girl.

"Well it is mine," said Young and went back to the house.

He talked with James some time and then noticed his wife wasn't wearing her wedding ring. Since she had known James was the first time in their 19 years of marriage that his wife had taken off her wedding ring.

He started across toward James and James met him with his head down and grabbed him about the legs. In the fight, James tried to kick him in the abdomen. He caught James foot and upset him. In the fighting that followed he kicked James in the face.

Magistrate W. R. Philp KC reduced the charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm to one of common assault and convicted Young on that.

Dr. Ford A. Stinson Offered Important Post in Rhodesia....Dr. E. S. Archibald Goes to Ethiopia..Fifteen New Meembers of Maple Breeding Association....Federation of Agriculture Annual Tues., Feb. 13.....Talk on Haying and Harvesting Machinery Mon., Feb. 5 at 1.30 p.m. at Y.M.C.A.

Two Canadian agriculturists of prominence were mentioned this week in news of engagements in Africa.

Dr. Ford A. Stinson, head of the soils department of the Ontario Agricultural College Guelph, recently visited Rhodesia on an invitation to investigate in his own behalf an important post of supervising the production of flue-cured tobacco. He travelled both ways by plane, and was in the country only nine days before taking off on his return.

The information following his arrival back in Ontario intimated that he was likely to accept a proferred four year contract.

Dr. Stinson is a former Dummer boy, and was born on the 6th line homestead now the home of his brother George Stinson.

The other report this week from Ottawa announced that Dr. E. S. Archibald, who recently retired as director of the experimental farms system of the federal government, has accepted a new post as chief liaison officer for the Food and Agricultural Orangization (FAO) of the United Nations in Ethiopia.

Dr. Archibald is to act as chief agricultural adviser to the Ethiopian government and will leave Ottawa about Feb. 24.

"I always considered Dr. Archibald as the foremost agriculturalist in Canada," Frank C. Paterson remarked to the Examiner. "He was director not only of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, but of the experimental farms system extending from coast to coast. It was a great responsibility especially in agricultural research, and there is a wide appreciation of the success of Dr. Archibald's career."

Fifteen new applications from farmers of this area for membership in the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association were received by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, during January from New Year's to the 25th.

TB TESTS IN VICTORIA

Testing of Victoria county cattle for TB has shown the following results as reported by Dr. George R. Penhall, veterinary of the health of animals division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Herds tested	1,899
Cattle tested	44,352
Reactors to test	242

Farms on which infection has been found numbered 60.

Dr. Penhall expects that the work in Victoria will be completed before the cattle are turned out to grass.

SAYS KNOCKS BOOST

Whether it is true that 'every knock is a boost,' a maxim generally recognized in business attitudes, it was virtually affirmed in the advice James G. Wharry, Quaker Oats Company of Canada vice-president, gave the St. Thomas Milk Producers' Association last week.

Mr. Wharry urged dairy farmers to concentrate on the products they have to sell, and to do a lot less talking about competition.

"You never hear a farmer talk about butter," he said. "No, he talks about oleomargarine. He is the greatest advertiser for oleomargarine, because he talks about it all the time."

Farmers should be talking about milk the same way, convincing the public that it is still one of the cheapest food products —cheaper than canned soups, and motor cars and a lot of other things. They could even sell a lot more buttermilk if they talked about it more.

"I am not depressed about the outlook for the milk business. I think you can sell more and more milk. Refrigeration makes it possible for you to handle and market your milk and milk products to much better advantage."

NORTHUMBERLAND FEDERATION

President Earle Drope is planning an active year for Northumberland Federation of Agriculture. It includes occasions for bringing the best agricultural talent into the country, and also co-relating commodity groups. He and vice-president Edgar Buttars and secretary Wesley Down recently discussed with directors prospects for the year.

✦ ✦ ✦

SCIENCE IN PLOWING

The illustrated talk by Ralph Gregg of the agricultural engineering department of OAC at the YMCA Monday on the adjustment and mechanics of the plow and mower, particularly for the utmost efficiency, attracted 50 Peterborough farmers. Many of them were juniors. Mr. Gregg told F. C. Paterson it was the best attendance of the series meetings which have been assigned to him. He goes to Ontario county for most of the second week of February.

Reference to the centre of pull of a tractor and the centre of draft of its companion two-furrow plow suggested that a knowledge of trigonometry and the physics of forces must be a real advantage to competence in handling these two basic machines of agriculture.

From the highway they all appear to be nothing more than tractors drawing plows, but there is actually a science in the adjustment of the one to the other that entirely escapes the layman.

The machinery of hay-making and harvesting will be the subject of the meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 6, at which the speaker will be Prof. James Scott of OAC. It will also be at the YMCA beginning at 1:30 p.m. Motion pictures will be included in the program. Mr. Paterson has seating accommodation for 100, and hopes every chair will be taken.

Incidentally notice of these two meetings was included in a circular letter on some general matters of which nearly 1,500 were mailed from the local office of the Department of Agriculture. The response of 50 farmers was really encouraging, but it was too small a percentage.

"Some never come," Mr. Paterson remarked, "but a lot of good farmers do turn out. You can generally depend on them to co-operate, and it is stimulating to have them with us."

BIG HOLSTEIN YEAR

J. D. Innes of Woodstock is the new president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada whose convention in Toronto Wednesday was attended by more than 1,000 members.

After an absence of a year from the board, Norman W. McConkey was re-elected a director. He was endorsed by the Peterborough branch which was represented by twenty-five of its breeders who supported his nomination.

George M. Clemons, Brantford, secretary-manager, reported that 17,197 registered Holsteins were exported to 12 different countries in 1950. Membership increased four per cent to 11,950.

Registrations last year were the highest in the association's history at 61,799. Master Breeder Shields were presented to Prof. George Raithby of OAC; John C. Freel and Sons, Thamesford; Daniel E. Shively and Son, Springfield, and Bert Thornton, Thamesford.

Production certificates were presented for five world and two Canadian records completed in 1950. One went to H. L. Guilbert of Vercheres, Que., covering an official world record of 1,365 lbs. of butterfat on three-time-a-day milking, and one to J. E. Houck, Brampton, for an American record of 35,314 of milk on three-times-a-day milking.

The convention approved an amendment to the bylaws providing that after Dec. 31, 1951, no bull would be registered whose dam had not completed a production record meeting the ROP standards. It was also provided that a bull would not be eligible for registration unless the dam graded "Good Plus" for conformation except in the case where the dam has a record 50 per cent above the ROP requirements and has been graded at least "Good."

Stanley Wood, Peterborough secretary, said it was the national association's biggest convention.

✦ ✦ ✦

JERSEY BREEDERS MEET

Canadian Jersey breeders decided in Toronto this week to send their secretary, James Bremmer, to the world federation of Jersey breeders on the island of Jersey next October.

The home of this breed of dairy cattle is on the little island in the English Channel, about 14 miles off the French coast.

The club's award for the highest butterfat record made by a Jersey cow last year went to "Refuge Evaline," a senior four-year-old owned by the Waterloo county House of Refuge. She produced 980 lbs. of butterfat in 14,857 lbs. of milk in 365 days.

W. D. Thomson of Brooklin was elected president of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, and H. Hayes Woodley of Alberton heads the Ontario branch.

FARM FORUM BOWLS

Central Smith Farm Forum took advantage of Review Night last Monday for a change to bowling at Lakefield. No record scores were reported. Mrs Morris Telford and Gordon McGregor chalked up high singles and Rev. Mr. Leaton high three. Refreshments were served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gratten Telford. This Forum meets next Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clark for discussion of the first of the February series relating to marketings: "Should Agricultural Production Be Controlled?"

✦ ✦ ✦

BIG PIG HATCHERY

Financed by American capital and with a membership of 395 local farmers, a large co-operative pig hatchery is being organized at Dawson Creek, Alberta. The first building will be a three-storey barn measuring 260 by 40 feet.

✦ ✦ ✦

NEW FORESTRY CLUB

First local junior Forestry Club of the new year was organized this week. Its members, about fifteen boys and girls, are mostly from the Fowler's Corners community. James Hoskin is president; Allan Dowdall vice-president, and Gerald McColl secretary.

R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, would like to see at least 20 members for the season. John Bell, Lakefield, district forester, is helping to promote these Forestry Clubs.

✦ ✦ ✦

FEDERATION ANNUAL

Farmers are reminded of the annual meeting of the Federation of Agriculture at the YMCA Tues. Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. This is essentially a business meeting, with election of officers, and consideration of undertakings this year.

The speaker is Cecil Belyea, Ontario Federation fieldman. Probably the major work challenging the Federation relates to marketing, with explanation and publicity of existing legislation and also of the extension of it which experience has proved necessary.

FORUM SUBJECTS

"Should Agricultural Production be Controlled?", the Farm Forum subject for Monday, Feb. 5 will be followed during the month by two others related to international food problems. Feb. 12 subject is "Do We Need a World Food Bank?" and on the 19th "What Has IFAP Accomplished?"

✦ ✦ ✦

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

Lou Shaw was re-elected president of Peterborough Shorthorn Breeders at their annual meeting. Elwood Dunford is secretary.

Newschart above shows highlights of Britain's new $13,160,000,000 rearmament program designed to quadruple arms production in the next three years. During 1951-52 the nation will spend $3,640,000,000 of the thirteen billion total.

VISITING PREMIER—Prime Minister Sidney Holland of New Zealand, right, greets his host, Viscount Alexander, on a flying visit to Ottawa. He is now visiting government officials in the United States.

Warble Fly Control Plans Spread In Local Townships

The campaign for control of the warble fly in the southern section of Peterborough county is making substantial headway.

Ennismore council has passed the enabling bylaw requested by its ratepayers. Harvey, Otonabee and Asphodel are reporting progress with the signing of petitions. Frank C. Paterson attended a meeting in Douro Thursday, and there are two in Smith next week: at Bridgenorth on Wednesday, Feb. 7 and Selwyn Thursday, both at 8 p.m.

Several townships are already discussing purchase of spraying machinery.

At a meeting here some weeks ago, R. H. Graham, Toronto, assistant livestock commissioner, explained the Warble Fly Act of 1949. This effort is optional with farmers, and begins with their petitions to their municipal councils to take advantage of the Act.

This legislation requires a township council to pass a bylaw by which all cattle in the municipality must be treated for warble fly, providing the municipal clerk finds that the number of petitioners represents more than two-thirds of the cattle owners in that township.

Responsibility rests with the township council. They appoint an inspector for their township who takes charge of the details of getting the job done. He must see that all cattle are sprayed by the community method, or are otherwise treated by hand, subject to his inspection.

Ontario Department of Agriculture gives a grant of 50 per cent of the inspector's salary and expenses, and 50 per cent of the cost of the derris powder spray. Two treatments of cattle must be applied during the spring, in April or May.

The element of compulsion must come from the farmers themselves, Mr. Paterson said. Some farmers have been pressing for this form of control of the pest, and considerable preventive work was done individually. The good effects of TB control have been an example of what can be accomplished, and the present petitioning is a reflection of the desire of farmers to adopt the provincial legislation.

It does not entail any hardship on cattle owners, the work is done quickly, expense is slight, and by a general campaign herds are protected from reinfestation from cattle of any owners who might be inclined to stand aloof from the war on warbles, Mr. Paterson said.

Canadian Troops To Join U.S. Army Units In New European Army

Fought Two Wars Under British Generals, Adopt American Weapons, Give British Type Guns To Holland

By DOUGLAS HOW, Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 3. (CP)—Canadian troops will be posted this year to the American part of Gen. Eisenhower's new European Army, a fundamental change from the system which placed Canadian units within higher British formations in two world wars. Army officials also are studying the problems connected with placing Canadian brigade, divisions and corps under US command in time of war. These developments arise from the decision to switch the Army from British to American arms, a switch which is moving ahead with the current visit of the Army's No. 2 man— Maj.-Gen. H. A. Sparling—to the United States.

Get 5,000 Rifles

The transfer to U.S. GMV arms already has started with the arrival of 5,000 Garand semi-automatic rifles, and it is expected here that equipment for a division will be in Canada's possession by mid-summer.

Canada has shipped a similar quantity of British-type equipment to Holland.

It is anticipated in Ottawa that Canada will send a brigade group or regimental combat team of 5,000 to 6,000 men to Germany to be fitted into the American formations being turned over to the Eisenhower command.

Two Sections

The European Army will be split into two main sections, one feeding on a British supply line, the other on an American supply line. The Canadians will come under the second. In the last two wars, they fed on British lines.

It is not impossible, officials say, for Canadian units in the future to fight with the British. That is what is going to happen in Korea, where Canada's one battalion primarily has British-type arms.

But the trend away from the old system is obvious in the studies going on of problems arising from placing Canadian brigades, divisions and corps uner U.S. formations.

There will be no changes in unit names and no real major changes of any sort are expected. But the Army may come to use metres instead of yards and some of its subordinate units may be bigger or smaller than they have been.

U.S. Fails To End Rail Strike 150,000 Idle

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Federal court action and urging from the White House brought no indication of an early back-to-work move by "sick" striking American railroad switchmen.

Although no break appeared in the crippling walkout over a long-standing wage-hour dispute, efforts to reach a settlement were taken by the National Mediation Board in Washington.

Meanwhile, the strike in five days had nearly paralyzed most of the country's transportation and struck damaging blows at other key industries. It threatened to strangle many war and civilian operations.

More rail workers joined today in the work stoppage. The number of workers made idle in other industries soared past 150,000, with indications of thousands more being laid off if the strike continues. The situation in the steel industry was reported "growing rapidly worse."

The government moved for a speedy decision in federal court on a contempt action stemming from a similar walkout in mid-December. A hearing in Chicago yesterday had been adjourned for a week but arrangements were made late last night to resume today.

Judge Michael Igoe ordered the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to produce the names of switchmen who reported "sick" in the December walkout. The government seeks to show that the work stoppage was a concerted action and that "sickness" was confined to brotherhood members.

The current walkout is similar to the December stoppage, with rail workers reporting "sick." But a union lawyer, Walter N. Murray, told the court it was not the union's fault the men were absent. He said they were merely "disheartened" over the delay in settlement of their contract demands.

Edward B. Henslee, another union lawyer, said railroad rules and not pay was the principal stumbling block to settlement. The chief issue in the dispute, nearly two years old, were the union's demand for a 40-hour week at 48 hours' pay.

Burglar Reports Finding Dead Woman

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3—(AP)—A startled burglar telephoned police last night to report finding the body of a woman in the home he was ransacking.

The burglar called police and said:

"There's a body out here at 5910 Arsenal St."

Asked who he was, the man answered:

"I'm a burglar and I'm telephoning from the house, that's all".

He hung up and police started for the scene.

They found the body of Mrs. Blanche Musskopf, 65, a widow.

Mouldy $250,000 Turned In For New

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 3—(AP)—It sounds a little like a dime thriller, but the government is trying to solve the case of the mouldy money.

It's a matter of $250,000, which popped up at a federal reserve bank in moth-eaten, mutilated and mouldy condition.

The man who brought in the money, seeking to exchange it for crisp new bills, says the money represents his savings, "for quite some time".

The government wants to know where he got it. And, besides, said Uncle Sam, the gentleman in question owes $208,312 in back income taxes.

The man with the mouldy money is Peter Joseph, 46, a former pool-room operator. He wouldn't say where or how he had kept the mouldy money, but it was 'earmarked for taxes".

A government official, who brought the strange case to light, said the bills "had no doubt been buried a long time".

Destroyer Sioux Returns From War In Korea Waters

VICTORIA, Feb. 3 (CP)—A job well done, the destroyer Sioux returns home tomorrow after nearly seven months in unfriendly waters.

Under command of Cmdr. Paul Taylor, the little ship left here for the Korean war July 5. She is scheduled to dock at 3 p.m. PST Sunday.

For days, families of the Sioux's fighting men have been preparing for the homecoming.

Many will have a belated Christmas tree and turkey ready, and there will be a Santa Claus on the jetty when the destroyer puts in at the dockyard at nearby Esquimalt.

Brass Leaves Early

A motor launch carrying high-ranking navy officers will meet the Sioux in the Strait of Juan de Fuca a couple of hours before the warship gets in.

This will serve to get official greetings out of the way so the ship's complement of 270 can devote their first minutes ashore to their wives, relatives and friends.

Commodore H. F. Pullen, acting flag officer Pacific coast, will be top official greeter.

The Sioux had only one break in months of convoy work, blockading, mine-sweeping, shore bombardment and routine patrol. That was early in November when she and her sister ships, the Cayuga and Athabaskan, nipped down to Hong Kong for a week.

Through Typhoon

It was on that trip that the Sioux ran into a typhoon. No one was lost, but the little warship took a terrific battering.

The Sioux steamed 50,000 miles and spent 179 days on patrol. She destroyed nine mines.

She was 78 days on patrol before the men were able to get out of lifejackets or have lights showing at night.

U.S. Eases Wage Freeze Allows Raises

May Increase Pay For Merit, Length of Service

By Bill Ross

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP) — The government's wage-salary freeze thawed out enough today to permit "merit" and "length of service' 'pay increases for millions of workers. Relaxation of the rigid ceilings imposed Jan. 25 on all wages and salaries was announced last night by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Officials emphasized, however, that the action is not a go-ahead for across-the-board wage or salary hikes. A member of the nine-man board said it was designed entirely to permit what he called "normal day-to-day pay adjustments."

In addition to sanctioning "merit" and "length of service" increases, the thaw also gave overall approval for employers to boost wages of workers promoted from one job to another.

It also approved so-called "differential" or "premium" payments to employees transferred to a position where night work or specialized tasks call for higher pay.

Hurt Industries

The wage board acted after it became evident that the general wage freeze had thrown a serious crimp into the labor and production policies of many industries including those in defence work.

There were also these other developments in the field of economic controls:

1. The office of price stabilization lifted retail coal ceilings to allow sellers to pass onto consumers the cost of an earlier price increase allowed producers; and

2. The National Production Authority was putting finishing touches on an order expected to restrict use of aluminum in some 300 items.

Clark Kerr, a W. S. B. member, said the board received "stacks" of complaints since the general freeze was first ordered.

He described the new policy as an "interim" one, hinting that it may be changed when the board devises an over-all formula.

Fight Rages In West Task Force Strikes Behind Enemy Line

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Feb. 3. (AP)—Allied forces today were reported less than seven miles from bomb-wracked, fire-blackened Seoul. Earl D. Johnson, US Assistant Army Secretary, said he visited troops within that distance southwest of the former South Korean capital. His trip indicated that UN elements actually were even closer than seven miles. Battles raged along the western sector late Saturday. Johnson, making a personnel inspection tour on the 10th day of the allied "limited offensive," said he saw "Chinese bodies all over the place."

Aside from this sector visited by Johnson, the picture of the western battle line in relation to Seoul was not clear.

One U.N. task force stabbed through to Samgo, south of the Han river, in a shooting foray behind enemy lines.

A captured Chinese soldier guided the force of U.S. and Puerto Rican tanks and infantry.

Sherman tanks plowed through three enemy road blocks. Three times individual Chinese made suicide charges trying to blow the tanks with dynamite.

The tankers, accompanied by Puerto Rican infantry riding armored personnel carriers, stabbed six miles beyond the front lines. Their farthest penetration was into Samgari, seven miles south of the Han river and 10 miles south of Seoul.

Kill Scores

The task force killed scores of terrified Chinese foot soldiers, a compilation of individual participants stories showed.

Reports came back that a thick belt of Chinese dugouts and foxholes still lies ahead of advancing U.N. forces, indicating the main line of resistance south of the Han is deep.

But the Chinese Reds revealed no tanks, no artillery and no modern anti-tank weapons today.

Fierce Turkish infantrymen stormed a Red-held hill eight miles northwest of Suwon after Allied artillery smashed several small Communist counter-attacks.

Temperature Skids

The temperature dropped overnight from slushy weather to 25 below zero.

9,000 Dockers Stop Work Reds Charged

LONDON, Feb. 3—(Reuters)—Trade union leaders warned today of new Communist moves to create industrial unrest as 9,000 dock workers stopped work on the Merseyside in northwest England.

Strike leaders, who have been repudiated by their unions, were calling on dock workers throughout the country to quit their jobs in a demand for higher pay.

A "go-slow" move was also reported from many engineering works.

Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the Transport Workers' Union, told his men:

"Well-known Communists and underground members of the party are seeking by the usual means to cause unrest and bring about unofficial strikes in dockland.

"This is another attempt, by reckless and irresponsible action on the part of these saboteurs, to involve the dockers in the loss of work and wages."

Started In Merseyside

A wildcat dock-workers' strike started in the key ports of northwestern Merseyside yesterday.

Thirty-seven ships were being held up in Liverpool and Birkenhead.

Unofficial leaders called for the stoppage in protest against a new wage increase of two shillings (30 cents) a day. They said they want six shillings.

Free World Can Avert War Pearson Tells Parliament

OTTAWA, Feb. 3. (CP)—The free world is entering the period of greatest danger but has the means of averting war, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons yesterday. Cautious confidence was the keynote of the Minister's appraisal of the international emergency, given as he stepped into the annual Throne-Speech debate to review developments in the foreign field since Parliament last met. Canada's No. 1 man in international affairs did not see a general war as inevitable. He held out some hope of an eventual settlement in Korea and Asia as a whole. And he expressed the hope that the defences of western Europe—the greatest danger spot— can be shored up to stave off Red aggression.

As he spoke to a crowded Chamber, Premier Rene Pleven of France—one of the major countries in the North Atlantic Alliance—headed a big group of international representatives in the Commons diplomatic gallery. Mr. Pleven is here on an official visit.

West Europe Weak

Mr. Pearson, returned from United Nations sessions, said Western Europe still is relatively weak and open to Soviet conquest. In that area lay the greatest danger to the free world.

"Here," said Mr. Pearson, "we now are entering the period of greatest danger in the months ahead."

The hope of coming through safely lay in growing collective strength, and, "if we use that strength wisely, we do not need to fear." But either smug complacency or unreasoning panic would be fatal.

On the Asiatic front, Mr. Pearson had hopes that the U.N. resolution branding Communist China an aggressor in Korea would not bar a peaceful settlement of the Korean issue.

He expected to see the U.N. try to make use of the machinery in the resolution "with a view to ending the war in Korea and removing the causes of war in other areas of Asia."

U.S. Rail Strike Affects Canada

By The Canadian Press

Repercussions of a wildcat strike of 10,000 United States switchmen were felt today to a degree in Canada.

Freight and passenger trains bound for the U.S. were curtailed in some regions, but no layoffs were foreseen by Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway as a result of the walkout.

In Montreal, the last Delaware and Hudson train from New York arrived early Friday, bringing Prime Minister Pleven of France from Washington en route to Ottawa. Other D. and H. trains were cancelled and the New York Central announced its trains were to be cancelled today.

Meanwhile, Trans-Canada Air Lines flights leaving Montreal and Toronto reported an increase in the number of people flying to the U.S. No exact figure of the number of extra passengers handled was available.

C.P.R. service to Chicago was interrupted at a point where the line switches to the N.Y.C. system. Service to the Maritimes through the State of Main was not affected, because it is manned by Canadian switchmen.

Freight westbound for U.S. points through Windsor, Ont., and Detroit was being held up at Detroit, where it will be stored as long as the strike continues. The only line through Windsor that remained unaffected was the Chesapeake and Ohio, which had normal freight movement.

Weather combined with the tie-up to curtail freight and express shipments into Canada via the Wabash and New York Central system passing through Fort Erie.

U.S. Clamps Controls On Use Of Aluminum

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The use of aluminum in more than 200 non-defence products was banned today.

The action was announced by the National Production Authority which said the curtailment was designed to assure adequate supplies for military needs.

N.P.A. ordered a halt in the use of aluminum, effective April 1, for a long list of manufactured goods ranging from cocktail shakers to automobile hardware and venetian blinds.

N.P.A. simultaneously told aluminum users that still further outbacks in non-defence production will be slapped on effective June 1.

Venezuela Takes Over Canadian Owned Mine

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 3 —(AP). — The Venezuelan government has taken over the Canadian-owned Guyana Gold Mines, strike-bound for nearly a year over a wage dispute.

The government, which received appeals from the striking workers to intervene in the dispute, is reported to have offered the mine owners 5,500,000 bolivars (about $1,600,000) for the property.

The owners rejected the offer, and are reported to have asked nearly 9,000,000 bolivars. The courts will decide what is to be paid.

US Blocks Peace Peiping Charges

TOKYO, Feb. 3 J— (AP). — Red China's Premier today said the United States "and its accomplices" have blocked the road to peace in Korea with their United Nations resolution branding the Peiping regime an aggressor.

Chou en Lai, second in command in Communist China, said in a broadcast statement that Peiping considers the UN resolution "illegal, slanderous, null and void."

He warned that Peiping "will absolutely pay no attention" to the UN "good offices" committee set up to try to find a basis for peace.

This was the first official Chinese Communist reaction to the UN's aggressor resolution, adopted at Lake Success Thursday by an Assembly vote of 44 to 7. The statement was broadcast by Peiping and monitored here.

This program, Chou added, would drive "the peoples of Asia, Europe and the world into the abyss of war."

The Premier described as "righteous actions of the Chinese people" the Peiping intervention in Korea. He styled Chinese troops in Korea "volunteers."

All the assistance the "accomplices" can give cannot save the US "from disastrous defeat in Korea," Chou boasted.

The Peiping Premier concluded that the only way to resume the march down the road to peaceful settlement in Korea was "to strive for the burying of this resolution" and "to strive for rendering it an utter failure."

Parents Suicide Child, 2, Disappears

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3—(CP)—An orphan whose parents committed suicide has disappeared during a complicated court case over her custody.

The mother of 2½-year-old Norma Whitfield killed herself and another of her children Nov. 30, 1948. The father killed himself two weeks later.

Court officers began a search for the child Thursday after Mr. Justice A. M. Manson was told that a month-old order that she be turned over to the official guardian had been ignored.

The court was also told that Mrs. Gail McInnis, who had looked after the child, could not be found. Mr. Justice Manson granted a writ ordering the woman to produce the child in court.

Previously, custody of the girl had been awarded to the girl's uncle, William Michael Smith.

Snow Costs $1 Ton

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—City officials estimated Friday that the cost of cleaning up the mid-week snowstorm which struck Toronto was about $60,000. The outlay of approximately $1 a ton consumed almost half of the city's $137,000 snow removal budget for the winter.

4 RCAF Planes Start Search

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP)—Four RCAF planes took off today from nearby Rockcliffe airport in the third day of a search for a civilian Beaver aircraft missing since Monday with four persons aboard in Northwestern Quebec, 200 miles north of here.

The planes, two Lancasters from Rockcliffe, one from Greenwood, N.S., and a Dakota from Trenton, Ont., will extend the search area scoured yesterday without success.

The Dakota is carrying four para-rescue jumpers ready to jump if anything is sighted. The planes will stay in the air until nightfall.

A Canso aircraft from Greenwood will leave Rockcliffe later this morning. A Dakota from Trenton is expected to land at Rockcliffe some time today to join in the search.

The privately-owned bush plane disappeared Monday during a flight from Father Lake to take a sick Indian couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Nebush, to hospital at Oskalano, Que. The plane was flown by Pilot J. Comtois and a co-pilot also named Comtois.

120 Czech Officials Dismissed By Gov't

PRAGUE, Feb. 3 (Reuters)—More than 120 officials and employees of the ministry of foreign trade have been dismissed, it was learned today.

They include civil servants and other staff, ranging from two departmental heads and two deputy heads to secretaries and stenographers.

No official statement has been made about the dismissals, but they are believed to have been ordered for political reasons.

Some were members of the Communists party who apparently failed to satisfy the party of their complete ideological reliability.

Charged As Plotters Yugoslavs Sentenced

BELGRADE, Feb. 3— (AP)—One Yugoslav was sentenced today to death and 15 others to prison terms ranging from six years to life on charges of plotting to overthrow the Tito regime and restore exiled King Peter II.

The death sentence was imposed on Dusan Ilic, 29, former officer in the Chetnik forces during the German occupation. He was accused of wartime atrocities against Tito Partisans and post-war espionage against the Communist government of Yugoslavia.

Life sentences were passed upon two other former Chetniks—one a wartime aide to the executed Chetnik leader, Gen. Draja Mihallovic, and another who testified he trained as an anti-Tito spy under French officers.

Stiff sentences also were handed to two former cabinet ministers and a former general.

Korean Refugees Hesitate In Flight As Tide Turns

By WARREN WHITE

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 3 (Reuters).—The great southward trek of 2,000,000 homeless Koreans is altering. Once more refugees are turning uncertainly back toward their homes.

They have rumors which have electrified them as the smell of water agitates a herd of thirsty cattle.

The rumors say their homes, from Seoul north to the Communist capital of Pyongyang and up to the Manchurian border, have been or will be liberated by advancing United Nations troops.

Homes Intact?

But whether their homes will be waiting for them when they return, they can only guess.

Those who have already returned to their villages behind U.N. troops have generally found their thatched mud huts flattened or burned. Only huge earthenware cooking pots poke undamaged from the sea of rubble.

Those lucky enough to find their dwellings still intact must scrounge for the prime necessity of life—rice.

Most refugees are constantly hungry; some are in last stages of malnutrition.

A 45-year-old refugee named Kim Son Ill was interviewed today as he crossed an allied convoy route only a mile from the front lines.

As shells whizzed overhead and burst on Communists dug in 2,000 yards distant, he said he was going home.

Rumors Flying

"It was as bad as being dead where we were," he said.

"We heard that U.N. forces had liberated Seoul and that Americans had driven the Communists back to Pyongyang. We even heard that the Communists had been driven back over the Yalu river."

A U.S. military police said:

"We're trying to keep them back. But they don't believe we're not driving straight into Seoul. If they get in the way of our guns, they get killed. That's bad luck—but it's unavoidable."

Former City Man Instantly Killed On Highway 2

Fred Wallis of RR 3, Belleville, formerly of Peterborough, was instantly killed Friday afternoon when his eastbound panel truck collided with a westbound transport on Highway 2, four miles west of Belleville.

The transport, driven by J. E. Elliot, jack-knifed across the highway in front of Wallis' truck when driver applied his brakes to avoid hitting a car ahead of him. Wallis' truck went into the trailer part of the transport. The impact of the collision carried the transport and the truck 50 feet west of the point of collision.

Mr. Wallis was employed several years ago in the drafting department of the CGE. His mother, Mrs. Bessie Wallis, who has been a resident of Peterborough for many years, moved to Belleville at the beginning of the year to make her home with him.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alma Reece of James Bay, four children, Lorne, Jim, Donald and Bill, and one sister, Mrs. R. Willis of 400 Wolsley Street, Peterborough.

Toronto Teachers To Cut Wage Gaps

TORONTO, Feb. 3 —(CP)—A new schedule of salaries which would abolish the basic differences between public and high school teachers was approved in principle last night by representatives of Toronto teachers.

However, while public school women teachers indicated complete satisfaction, there were changes suggested by other groups.

A. L. Milloy, representing secondary school teachers, suggested the minimum salary in category 4, where most secondary school teachers would be, should be $2,800 instead of $2,600. The maximum for this category, he said, should be $5,800 instead of $5,200. Maximum in category 5, which includes graduates of honor courses in universities, should be $6,000 instead of $5,400, he said.

He also proposed that the ceiling on immediate adjustment should be $900 instead of $700.

Public school principals thought their scale should be higher and public school men teachers indicated they will ask for higher salaries for young teachers.

UK To Press For Cease-Fire

LONDON, Feb. 3 (Reuters).—Britain will continue to press for the United Nations to attempt to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea despite Communist China's rejection of the proposal, a foreign office spokesman said today.

Last night Chinese Premier Chou En Lai said in a broadcast over Peiping radio that China will refuse to recognize the good offices committee, proposed by the U.N., because the General Assembly had passed the United States resolution branding China an aggressor.

The spokesman said he would prefer not to comment on the broadcast until a full text had been received. But at first sight British officials still did not consider it meant that no negotiations were possible. He said that the good offices committee should get to work and that it was for them to find out finally whether or not China would negotiate.

Found Not Guilty Rice L. Fishing

COBOURG, Feb. 3. — Preston Grey of Roseneath was found not guilty by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court yesterday when Grey appeared on a charge of fishing in Rice Lake out of season. The magistrate said that the circumstances were suspicious but there was not sufficient evidence for a conviction.

Game overseer Vic Harris testified that on Jan. 19 he was driving on the ice on Rice Lake and on rounding Sugar Island noticed three people on the ice, two of them down and one standing up. One was a woman, standing up and the others appeared to have their heads covered. When they saw him they fled but he caught Grey on shore in possession of a blanket but with no fishing gear. Going back to the place where he first saw him, Harris found where several holes had been cut into the ice with clear water underneath. However he could find no gaffing gear on the bottom.

"It looks suspicious but I must find that there is not enough evidence to warrant a conviction and the charge is dismissed," said the magistrate.

A fifteen-year-old juvenile of Roseneath was found guilty of being in possession of fish caught out of season and was remanded out of custody to appear when called upon. Game overseer recovered pickerel and two bass when he picked up the boy.

Fight Rages

A build-up by the Chinese and North Korean Reds was noticeable during the night. The United States Fifth Air Force reported 1,400 Red vehicles moving south on northern and north-eastern Korean roads. Night intruder planes smashed at traffic-clogged highways, enemy-held towns and troop concentrations on the battle lines.

A U.S. Eighth Army briefing officer reported the enemy suffered nearly 1,000 casualties Friday in killed, wounded and prisoners.

Allied aircraft sprinkled parachute flares to light the western front last night as allied artillery poured thousands of shells into Chinese positions.

The Reds drove limited counter-attacks against Turkish positions 10 miles north and eight miles northwest of Suwon Friday night. Suwon is 17 air miles south of Seoul.

In one attack, the Reds took a small hill the Turks had occupied for two days. But the Eighth Army said the attack shifted to the east and was broken up by U.S. troops. The Turks re-took the hill this morning.

Advance

American units advancing northwest and northeast of Ichon, 30 miles southeast of Seoul, made more than 2½ miles without encountering enemy resistance, AP correspondent Don Huth reported.

Huth said another allied patrol pushed to a point 35 miles east and slightly south of Seoul. It came under enemy fire. The patrol withdrew and artillery was directed against the Red positions in that sector.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported from the western front that the Chinese abandoned a 900-foot-high hill and the village of Chagok, which they had defended stubbornly.

American infantrymen did not fire a shot as they moved into the former Chinese strong points about 18 miles southeast of Seoul, but shortly afterwards, Chinese on their west flank began harassing fire with automatic weapons.

The general picture along the western front Friday night was a spotty one, with the Chinese offering light resistance, Swinton said.

He quoted staff officers as saying the Reds apparently were so badly battered by superior allied fire power that they had been unable to establish a co-ordinated defence.

Florida Gets Snow

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 3—(AP)—Two inches of snow fell on the country's oldest city Friday night. The snow turned the ancient city into a winter wonderland for probably the first time in this century. No one remembered a snow that stayed on the streets before.

Magistrate Insists Accused Speak English

WELLAND, Ont., Feb. 3—(CP)—(CP) — Magistrate T. George Street insisted Friday that a French-speaking Canadian testify in English. The defendant's counsel stalked from the courtroom in protest.

The defendant, Joseph Belanger of nearby Crowland, charged with drunk driving, beckoned to an interpreter after being asked a question by Magistrate Street.

French is one of the official languages of Canada.

The magistrate said he was "tired" of having French-speaking Canadians who can speak English appearing in court and refusing to testify "in our language." He said the defendant spoke English "well enough when you were arrested."

Defence counsel R. B. Burns said that in view of the court's attitude he should withdraw.

The case was adjourned for a week.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3 (CP)—All grain prices except flax closed lower Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The lower trend came in response to increased offerings and less aggressive demand.

Flax moved up on demand from eastern interests and processors in early trade. Toward the close there were recessions from the highs. July fell slightly lower than Thursday. May flax went up to $5.74 at one stage—highest point since 1919, when July flax hit $6.25.

Car Forced Into Ditch

William H. Chapman escaped uninjured when his car was crowded into the ditch and snapped off a telephone pole early Saturday morning half a mile south of Fraserville on Highway 28. Damage to the car was estimated at $25.

Chapman was driving north to Peterborough when a southbound car crowded him into the east ditch. The name of the driver of the southbound car is unknown.

Provincial Constable Russell Pollard investigated the accident.

Winter Freezes U.S. Sunny South

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP). — Winter today held the usually-sunny south in a frigid embrace after staggering the area with her hardest blows in more than a decade. Even Florida had ice and snow.

Most of the rest of the country suffered the same punishment. But Dixie, prepared only for mild winters, appeared the worst hurt.

A six-day coat of ice and snow has taken 32 lives in the south, broken power lines serving thousands of families, closed schools and isolated dozens of communities.

For the entire country, the number of winter deaths has risen to 175. These include those dying from exposure, motor-vehicle accidents and related causes.

Crops have suffered millions of dollars worth of damage. Illinois lost its 1951 peach crop—a $5,000,000 disaster. In Indiana, cold killed the fruit trees.

Georgia's $100,000,000 tobacco crop, frosted for the second night in a row, likely will be heavily slashed and set back many weeks. Many farmers will have to replant altogether. In Florida, the $106,000,000 citrus crop is in peril.

Natural gas, used by millions for warming their homes, is critically short. Even cities in Louisiana—where a large part of the country's gas comes from—are short.

Six Priests Jailed Charges Of Treason

PRAGUE, Feb. 3 (AP).—Six Roman Catholic priests were reported today to have been sent to prison for treason and espionage in the fifth group trial of clergymen to be held in Czechoslovakia within 10 months.

The official news agency said they drew terms ranging from four to 13 years after a hearing conducted in Prague state court during the last few days.

The agency reported that other defendants, whose number it did not give, were sentenced to prison terms varying from three to nine years.

The group, the agency said, "carried out the criminal policy of the Vatican, which was to drag our people back to capitalist exploitation."

Factories Held Up

Other strikes and industrial disputes reported today threaten to hold up production in vital engineering factories, many of them working on government rearmament quotas.

Though most of the stoppages are over normal wage grievances, union leaders fear they will be exploited by Communist agitators. Many of the strikers are losing pay.

There was one bright spot on the industrial scene today. One thousand technicians working on the Festival of Britain site in London returned to their jobs after a week-old more-pay stoppage pending negotiations.

Small Fire Damages Millbrook Sawmill

MILLBROOK, Feb. 3 (ENS) — Slight damage was done when fire broke out in the Millbrook saw-mill owned by Stanley Olan Friday noon. The fire is believed to have started from a short circuit in the gas motor.

At approximately 12.30 p.m., Lloyd Peel noticed smoke coming from the saw-mill and put in the fire alarm. Firemen were able to confine the blaze to the area around the motor, the wiring and drive belt.

The mill was not in operation on Thursday or Friday morning, but Jack Kellett and Allan Olan, who are employed at the mill, were drawing logs.

This is the second mishap that Mr. Olan has experienced within a short period of time. Two weeks ago he dislocated his leg and broke it in two places.

At this time the cant hook with which he was pulling on a log slipped, throwing him back with great force. Since that time Mr. Olan has been confined to his home.

Fall Under Truck Fatal To Councillor

GRIMSBY, Feb. 3 (CP). — Councillor Donald Beamer, 44, of Grimsby was killed early today when he fell under the wheels of a truck sent from Beamsville to help him and road superintendent James Beamer.

The pair's truck got stuck in a heavy snow bank on the Ridge road and the Beamsville truck came to help to pull it out.

Increased School Grants Among Bills In Legislature

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Ontario's legislative machinery was primed for operation when 16 government and 11 private member bills were introduced and given first reading yesterday.

Some of the government bills are expected to be moved for second reading Monday.

Among the bills were proposals to:

Increase grants by municipalities to training schools and boost provincial support of Roman Catholic training schools.

Control stone, sand and gravel quarries on crown land.

Amend procedure governing town planning bylaws.

Include non-teaching school employees in the law requiring compulsory medical examinations for teachers.

Give broader powers of regulation and investigation to the Ontario racing commission.

Day Nurseries

Other government bills introduced dealt with day nurseries, appointment of solicitors as justices of the peace, provision of another judge in Wentworth County, maintenance orders for deserted wives and children, sale of land in subdivisions, unclaimed articles, township school sites, vocational education, municipal sales of industrial lands and civil service pension plans.

Private members' bills introduced yesterday will have to await appointment of a committee to deal with them. Appointment of a committee to organize sessional committees will be discussed Monday.

C.C.F. members L. K. F. Fell (Toronto Parkdale) and L. E. Wismer (Toronto Riverdale) both introduced amendments to present legislation on hours of work and vacation with pay.

Amendments to the Highway Traffic Act were proposed by Liberal members R. A. McEwing (Wellington North) and J. G. Brown (Waterloo North).

Red Action

The two Labor - Progressive party members, A. A. MacLeod (Toronto Bellwoods) and J. B. Salsberg (Toronto St. Andrew), alternated in moving and seconding bills dealing with amendments to the Municipal Act, hours of work and vacations with pay act, election act, public schools act and minimum wage act. Mr. Salsberg also introduced new legislation calling for application of provincial election rights to municipal elections.

Four amendments to the existing planning act were included in the bill presented by planning and development minister Griesinger.

The bill requires a majority vote of all planning board members before a zoning by-law can be recommended to municipal councils.

When this approval is not given, the minister cannot approve zoning changes unless they are adopted by two-thirds of the municipal council seeking the change.

Zone Land

The bill would also give the minister power to order zoning restrictions in any land in Ontario not already covered by an existing plan. Appointments of planning board members would be made at the same time as other municipal appointments.

The maximum pension plan for Ontario civil servants, now set at $3,000, would be changed by removing the maximum provisions from contributory pension plans, but would retain the $3,000 maximum in computation of non-contributory pensions or disability allowances.

The mining amendment act introduced by Mines Minister Gemmell would set up a permit system to control the removal of sand, gravel and stone from commercial quarries on crown land. It specifies that no gravel rights are given when claims are staked.

A proposed amendment to the adoption act by Welfare Minister Goodfellow would reduce the probation period from two years to one year before a child is declared legally adopted.

WI Hears Ways Bees Live, Work

ROSENEATH, Feb. 3 (ENS)—"Forty-two Canadian crops would cease to exist and agriculture would be extinct in twenty years if it were not for bees and polination," was the emphatic statement made by Fred J. Lewis, Roseneath, owner and operator of Rice Lake Apiaries, as guest speaker at the February meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute. Mr. Lewis' subject was "Bees."

The speaker said, "As soon as plant life appeared God put the bee here for polination." As soon as spring days get warm the queen bee starts to lay, "and the first thing the workers fly to are the pussy willows and second the elm tree." In the fall when the outside temperature reaches 57 degrees, the bees go inside the hive and cluster for the winter. Mr. Lewis stressed the necessity of sugar feeding; methods used to avoid swarming and the regranulation of honey.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by the president, Mrs. Harold Taylor.

Reports Given

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. Frank Brown as hostess, the president, Mrs. Harold Taylor, presided, with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, pianist. The good cheer report was given by Mrs. Alfred Pringle. The financial statement presented by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bart Thackeray, showed a balance on hand of $90.41.

Included in the correspondence was a letter of thanks for the 20 pounds of candy sent to Miss Isa Lewis, Baptist deaconess in England at Christmas time.

Mrs. Charlton Gregg, district secretary-treasurer, spoke briefly, outlining the rulings in the new handbook of the Women's Institute.

Final plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held in the township hall on February 10.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, Mrs. George Mouncey and Mrs. Nelda Brown.

Canadian Troops Get Final Test Before Fighting

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MIRYANG, Korea, Feb. 3. (CP)—Canadian troops in Korea dug in today on Operation Maple Leaf, which will determine their readiness for battle.

At the same time, they will demonstrate their toughness, enthusiasm and ability.

The Patricias left their camp at dusk last night, marched to a mountain four miles distant, scaled it and proceded to establish positions.

It was bitterly cold. The temperature hovered at 10 degrees above zero, with a wind blowing strongly. Most of the men abandoned attempts to dig slit trenches in the frozen, rock-ridden soil and instead built hiding-places, using stones, branches and rice straw.

The battalion took up position with fieldcraft worthy of north American Indians. The men showed no lights, made no noises audible either from the road below or from nearby hills. Yesterday the mountain was unoccupied; today a thousand pairs of unseen eyes scrutinize every vehicle approaching.

From the highway, nothing can be seen. A two-hour climb right through the position today showed how cleverly the Patricias now use every available cover.

I passed most positions before I realized they were there—and that despite a month of days and nights out training with the battalion.

Three Nurses Injured When Car Hits Train

WELLAND, Feb. 3 (CP) — Three nurses were injured early today when their car ploughed into an electric train at Fonthill, four miles north of here.

The injured, taken to the Welland hospital here, are: Mrs. May Maddox, 32, possible hip fracture, and other undetermined injuries, condition serious; Miss Irene Rich, 39, lacerations to face and right knee, condition fair; and Miss Ruth Simmons, 39, driver of the car, gash on left side of face, requiring 10 stitches, and bruises to hip and wrist.

The car struck the slow-moving northbound freight eight or nine cars behind the engine. It was dragged 50 feet along the right of way and was jammed between the freight and a power pole. Crew men used crow bars to extricate the injured nurses.

They were proceeding to Welland from their homes at Fonthill.

In Winter Traffic Watch for Children

TWIN DEVILS OF WINTER MOTORING are slippery roads and reduced visibility. Of the Ontario total of winter traffic accidents that injure children, nearly two-thirds happen on wet, snowy or icy surfaces. Also it gets dark earlier now than in summer, and even though few children are out at night the record shows that about one-fifth of all winter accidents to children take place in dusk or after dark.

Building Permits Above Jan. '50

Repairs to several down town commercial buildings sets the new year ahead of the old in the first month of building permits.

The total for January was $73,607 as against $58,250 in the first month of 1950.

The details of last month's permits were: one garage $15, two dwellings $16,000; and 25 miscellaneous $57,592; total $73,607.

And in January last year: two garages $775; five houses $34,300; 12 miscellaneous $23,175; total $58,250.

Prospects for building this year appear to be subject to curbing by official restrictions resulting from military needs.

Labor Groups Favor Price Controls Return

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP). — A resolution urging a return of price controls was supported by representatives of two big Canadian unions Friday at the two-day convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL).

George Burt of Windsor, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), said that since 1947 the members of his union had won wage increases totalling $17.33 a week but that the real increase in buying power amounted to only $1.07.

"We must go on record as saying that we won't agree to any wage controls until we have a decent standard of living for all Canadians," he said.

William Sefton, northern Ontario organizer for the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), said prices should be rolled back to the 1946 level before controls were clamped on.

Percy Kilbride Begins Hunt For Stage Role

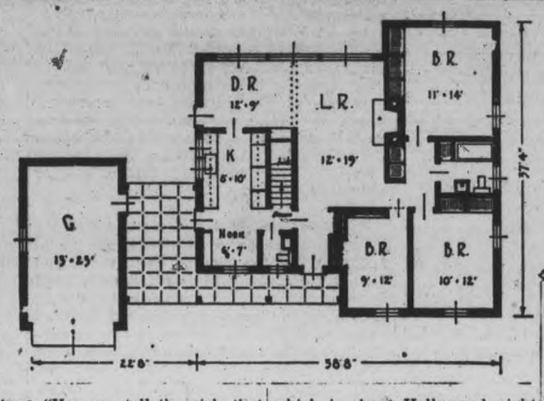
By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP)—"Guess I'll have to go back to the stage," said Percy Kilbride in his famous sing-song drawl.

Kilbride is the sharp-nosed little man whose portrayals of bucolic characters have brightened many a picture. He had a long career on the stage before coming to Hollywood for "George Washington Slept Here" in 1942. After that he was widely used by producers who needed a comedy lift for their pictures.

Then he played Pa Kettle in "The Egg and I." A series of pictures on Ma (Marjorie Main) and Pa Kettle was started. That established him in the public eye and assured him of at least two pictures a year.

But a reaction has set in. When producers consider Kilbride for roles, they say "naw, can't use him: he's too identified as Pa Kettle."



Hasn't a Studio

"It's not so bad with Marjorie (Main," he observed. "She has a studio contract and they use her in other roles. But I haven't a studio."

There have been some reports that Mickey Rooney is through with the fair sex, now that his third marriage has ended. I asked him breathlessly if this could be true. "You can tell the girls that I'm still in the running," he replied.

The Mick now is playing a swing drummer in "The Strip," which is about Hollywood night clubs, not burlesque houses. He performs in a combo that includes Louis Armstrong, Earl Hines, Jack Teagarden and other jazz greats.

Local Colour For History Texts

We remember our thrill as a schoolchild in discovery in a geography textbook a picture showing a building right in our own home town. 'Why, that's ours! This book must be about real things!' And we were excited to find a reference in the history book, even one, which named our town. The book came alive because of this.

* * *

It is the policy of educators today to start the informing process from the child's own environment: to begin with the community, its history and geography, and spread out from that to the province and nation. This seems sensible. Are the text-books in keeping with this theory? Are today's schoolchildren as astonished as we were to come upon a local reference, perhaps only once or twice during their entire school career?

* * *

The courses of study now depend for their local colour on clippings from newspapers (a practice which we of course applaud), on stories from home, and what the teacher can find out about local conditions and history. That is all very well, but for teachers as for their pupils the text-book is the main classroom bulwark of social studies. And a book is an important thing to a child, as it should be.

* * *

Texts intended for province-wide use cannot be to localized in their accounts and illustratons, for they have a thousand comunities to serve. We do suggest, however, that the Department of Education might interest publishers in inserting two or three illustrations or stories into books intended for use specially in various districts, as frontispieces, or as additional preface.

* * *

For instance, Peterborough and district schools will use in a year a thousand copies of one book. Is it not worth while to give them a few pages of their own? We would suggest, for instance, that a social studies book for use in Peterborough county schools could carry as a special frontispiece a reproduction in colour of Peterborough's authentic armorial bearings, together with explanatory notes about the local significance of the heraldic devices. Such a frontispiece would make both history and the book live as no twenty-page chapter could do.

The Electrical Manufacturing Industry In Canada

Judging from a survey of the industry, its products and consumers recently made by Mr. H. M. Turner, President of the Canadian General Electric Company, Canada is electricity-conscious and the electrical manufacturing industry is keeping abreast of the times.

There are about 365 plants in operation, employing 60,000 workers, and paying wages and salaries at an annual rate of $156 million. The industry is now second in importance in Canadian manufacturing, considered from the point of view of the number of employees and the value of the production. Canadian plants manufacturing electrical equipment now fill all but 18 per cent. of the domestic requirement. In the first post-war years, Canada imported 27 per cent. of her electrical equipment. Exports of the industry amount to about $15 million annually.

The industry of course depends on the availability of electrical power to operate the machines and equipment it produces. From this point of view, the future is bright for the industry in Canada. During 1950 about 1,100,000 horse power was added to Canada's generating capacity, bringing the total to about twelve million horse power. An additional three and a half million horse power is under construction or authorized. Canadian firms—the local C.G.E. plant principally—have contributed to this increase through their manufactory.

Mines and factories in Canada use up 70 per cent. of the horse power generated, and are the largest users of electrical equipment. The expansion of manufacturing in Canada (1,000 new firms since 1945) therefore contributes to the prosperity of the electrical goods industry, whose industrial products include diversified things such as hoist drives of great capacity for the mines; complete electrical equipment for a new titanium-iron refinery in Quebec; motors, controls and welders to produce pipe for oil pipe lines; paper machine drives for the expanding pulp and paper industry.

The industry has progressed notably on the electronics side. It made 750,000 radio sets in 1950, and 30,000 TV sets are already in operation in Canadian homes. Outside the home, 6,000 Canadian-made mobile frequency modulation units are now being used by police, fire departments, logging and construction companies, taxis, utilities and hospitals. Microwave apparatus is also being produced increasingly for telephone and telegraph companies.

Canadian homes are electrified, and there are 2,600,000 of them using electricity in various ways. For instance, almost every one of them has an electric toaster and an electric iron. Some 25 per cent. of them have electric refrigerators; 28 per cent. have electric stoves and 73.5 per cent. have electric washing machines.

The industry is providing for travel, particularly by diesel-electric locomotives. There are 500 of them operating now in Canada. Industrial concerns are also using diesel-electric switchers—150 of these units are now in operation. Then there are electric trolley-coaches, in fourteen Canadian cities.

In 1950, 100 million electric light bulbs were made in Canada. Fluorescent lighting, which had its tenth birthday in 1950 is being developed in Canada at a remarkable rate.

So the story goes. electrical equipment is being made and used for ten hundred different purposes from street lighting to airdrome signals. And the industry is not overlooking the possibilities of nuclear energy for power applications. Studies were continued during the year, but, as Mr. Turner has remarked: "Revolutionary reduction in power cost is not anticipated where electric power is now readily available at reasonable cost, because the cost of fuel or hydraulic drive which would be replaced is only a comparatively small part of the cost of electricity to the consumer." There is no way at present of converting directly to electricity any significant amount of energy released from the splitting of the atom.

Peterborough, which has a large stake in the electrical goods industry, will be interested by these reassuring statistics.

The Death Of James Bridie

After Shaw, James Bridie was the leading intellectual playwright of our time, and his death at the comparatively early age of sixty-three is a great loss. James Bridie was not, of course, his real name; he was Dr. Osborne Henry Mavor, for many years Professor of Medicine at Glasgow, and a physician of unusual gifts. He wrote under a pen-name because he felt that his countrymen mistrusted a man who was successful in two fields. It is interesting to remember that he did not write his first play until he was forty.

His plays make up a remarkable collection of successes and failures, for he was a very uneven writer. He had not much use for "construction," and many of his plays which began promisingly tailed off to insignificance before the end. But he had that which was better than any amount of technique; he had genius, and if it burned fitfully, it was sometimes the brightest flame to illumine the stage of his time. He was a masterly writer of dialogue and a great humorist; there are scenes in his work—in The Forrigan Reel, for instance—which are fit to stand beside the best of Sean O'Casey. It was easy for the critics to say where Bridie was at fault, but there was no one who could follow him to the heights where he was at his best.

Although he enjoyed great success as a London playwright, he was a Scot through and through, and his support of the Glasgow Citizen's Theatre gave Scotland a standard of native drama which it had never approached before. He was a man of large spirit and boundless generosity, and he never hesitated to take on pedestrian jobs which would advance the cause of the drama in Scotland; he valued his own talents lightly, but only foolish or imperceptive people took him at his own estimate.

Bridie's work is not well-known in Canada. In this, as in so many things, we drag along behind the rest of the artistic world. Their charm, their wit and the air of originality which surrounds even the least of them, would be very welcome here.

Whish, Goes Peterborough Snow

Toronto and other centres seem to have had trouble from the wind and snow of last Thursday. Not Peterborough. Well, we admit that the going was pretty heavy for a while, and that even by Friday noon some streets were groggy. But in the main, that is, on the main thoroughfares, the sidewalk cleaners and the Board of Works with its equipment for ploughing roadways and lifting the snow, had all in good order by the time Peterborough stirred for morning work Friday. The job of clearing was speedy, efficient and unobstructive. In fact, a remarkably good job. Motorists from Toronto, Kingston and other points who arrived in the city yesterday morning had nothing but praise for the way Peterborough clears up after a snowfall.

Diary Of An X-Ray Object

by SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Was looking through a magazine this afternoon which contained some fine reproductions of formal potraits of Elizabethan and Jacobean worthies—what were called "portraits of ceremony". They were plainly devised to present the subjects at their best and most impressive. How much more sensible this is than our modern craze for "candid" photographs—snaps in which great men are caught with their eyes crossed and beautiful women are surprised in the act of sluicing off their removeable bridgework in a teacup. Nothing is gained and much is lost by this sort of nonsense. We all know that the great are human; we do not need to have their humanity underlined. I am in favour of a revival of the "portrait of ceremony." Karsh already does "photographs of ceremony," and that is what raises him above the vultures who never take a man's picture unless they are convinced that it will be embarrassing.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Received a letter this morning from a magazine which wanted me to make a list of the ten best books that I had read during 1950. This is a nuisance, for I never remember what I have read for more than a week after I have finished it, but I suppose I can fake as impressive a list as anybody else. The main thing about such a list is that it should suggest that you never read anything but the very best, and that you pay attenion to what you read. If possible, the list should contain at least two books that other people will not have heard of. Personally I often read for twenty pages at a stretch without taking in a thing; I am thinking about something else. But I am a great hand at reading books which other people have not heard of; the byways of literature are my delight. I shall include "The Corpse With the Neon Navel" in my list, and also "A Guide to the Plumbing of Windsor Castle, 1728-1731," by T. C. Huckaback. And of course I shall include "The Boswell Journal," for class, and at least one Canadian book, which I shall describe as "a major contribution to our understanding of ourselves." I never read anything, any more, but I am an old hand at preparing lists of the ten best books.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Sat in the waiting room of a professional man of my acquaintance for a while this afternoon, reading English magazines; he is an Englishman, and I think an old aunt of his sends him her magazines after they have made the rounds of the rest of the family. Pondered upon the number of advertisements which they contained for stomach medicines; I cannot recall these ten or twelve years ago; has the bad diet of the war and post-war years eaten so into the British epigastrium? In one periodical I found a picture of a lovely girl in evening dress; she was able to keep up the social pace, the advertisement said, because she took two indigestion pellets after each meal. Now this is melancholy reading, if you like! I do not like to think of beautiful girls as eating at all, much less digesting. And the notion that a beautiful girl stuffs herself with dyspepsia tablets all the time is utterly repugnant to me. As an amateur of physiology I know that every human creature has enough acid in its gizzard to eat a hole in a heavy steel beam; as a romantic admirer of womanhood I decline to apply my knowledge to the young and fair. A girl with indigestion is a traitor to her sex and, much worse, a traitor to mine.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Because I made some remarks recently about the lack of charm in so many female Canadian voices I received a letter this morning, in a disguised but obviously female hand, asking me if I did not think that something should be done about Canadian men's voices. Of course I do, and perhaps it is up to the men to give a lead. It is notorious that women copy men in their social habits. Women, for instance, now smoke more than men do; they copied men, and overdid it. It will not be long before smoking is an effeminate habit, and men will give it up entirely. Now if men were to take pains to speak well, women would copy them, and I for one would be delighted . . . And what, I hear a voice ask, is speaking well? I shall not answer in detail, but I suggest that anyone who is curious about this matter listen carefully for a few days to general conversation, anywhere and everywhere. The general cadence is a falling one, a tired one, a dreary and depressing one. Very few people speak brightly and gaily. If we could, as a nation, rid ourselves of that tendency to whine, we should have made an important first step toward better speech.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Had one of my regular bouts with my doctor today, and had a lovely new lot of X-rays taken. If ever I should be turned into a fine mist by an atom bomb, it will be easy for any competent anatomist to put me together again; several complete sets of plans for my entire carcass will be found among my doctor's effects. But my X-rays will never qualify as "portraits of ceremony." I know that I do not look my best in an X-ray, and I do not particularly care.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Met a man today who, in casual conversation, referred to someone we both knew as "the sort of fellow who has never found out that you really can't make a shirt do for more than one day." This depressed me. I am always depressed in the presence of those who wear a clean shirt every day, bathe every day, never drop food on their fronts and always have their shoes shined and their trousers creased. I would fain be one of them. But alas, I never seem to be attending to what I am doing when I dress. Absentmindedly I snatch whatever comes to hand; sometimes the effect is of a stunning elegance; more often it is not. If I bathe every day, especially in winter, I develop a kind of all-over dandruff, and raw patches appear on my hide. I would love to be so clean that my presence was a reproach to lesser men, but I am not. I am not spectacularly dirty, either. I am just one of those people who has never completely convinced himself that a shirt will not do for more than one day. I comfort myself that in this I resemble Dr. Johnson, who only changed his shirt when his friends presented him with a petition; but alas, I have not the courage or determination to resemble him closely.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: This afternoon saw the D'Oyly Carte opera company perform "H.M.S. Pinafore," which I first saw them do when I was twelve and which I have seen roughly ten times since. Pondered upon this piece and the Gilbert and Sullivan operas in general. Though not a fanatic I am fond of them, not only because they are true works of art in themselves but because of the orderly, reasonable, intelligent and literate Victorian world of which they are a distorted reflection. They will continue to flourish, I foresee, when "South Pacific" and "Oklahoma" are one with "Florodora" and "The Wizard of the Nile." There is a background of good sense and real wit to Gilbert's libretti; this afternoon, at a tenth view, I saw more clearly than before what a wry and pungent piece of work "Pinafore" is; like "Gulliver's Travels" you may take it as a pleasant fantasy, or as a powerful kick in the slats to all stratified societies, including those of the North American continent and the U.S.S.R. The Gilbert and Sullivan operas have been extravagantly praised for many reasons, but never, to my knowledge, for the savage and often melancholy wisdom that is in them; Sir William Gilbert was not a nice man, and his operas are not nice; they are something rarer; they are wise.

GRIM HARVEST

Letters To The Editor

LETTER CLARIFIED

Sir: As a prolonged controversy is not, in the opinion of your paper or in my own opinion, a wise policy, I just mean to make a few final remarks. I would say that, although both are bad, certainly open blasphemy and bad language shouted around at the top of children's (or adults') voices sounds worse and must do much greater harm heard very often by many, than if used more privately. I would add that this sort of thing would seem indicative of worsening moral conditions tho' I did not or do not mean to judge any children as worse than they used to be some time ago. I wouldn't attempt to pass judgement on anyone young or old.

I have found tho' from my observations going about my work, that for the past couple of years or more, up to this last Christmas, almost, that the children's games, when played a bit apart from close supervision seemed much more unsafe to listen to than formerly, punctuated at times by bickering, bad language or both.

However it's some of the adults—not the children—who present the biggest problem with their beer and the blasphemous and other improper talk that so often follow its misuse. The poor children look to the older people for leadership and example. We also owe them correction.

If only the little boys between six and twelve years were shown some new winter outdoor games. Hockey, hockey and more hockey! Playing the same thing so much, they seem to tire of it.

Observer No. 2 was quite correct in his first statement regarding one of Our Blessed Lord's Homes upon Earth. I was not referring to that corner as having one. I could tell him more accurately what I meant but would he be disposed to believe? Instead, I am adopting what I deem are much more effective means of bringing him and many another to a knowledge of this as well as of all other revealed truth.

Here's hoping that we fortunate citizens of Peterborough by our self-restraint in eating and in drinking, by our modesty in dress and in behaviour, by our all-round integrity and virtue will merit to continue, to bask in the sunshine of the good God's merciful protection—not forgetting our suffering and departed brethren of other places—victims of persecution, of floods, of volcanoes, devastating fires, airplane crashes—ruinous trainwrecks, etc.

Truly its a Te Deum one would expect to hear—certainly never diobolical blasphemy—from bunches of children playing in a privileged city like this with so much calamity on all sides.

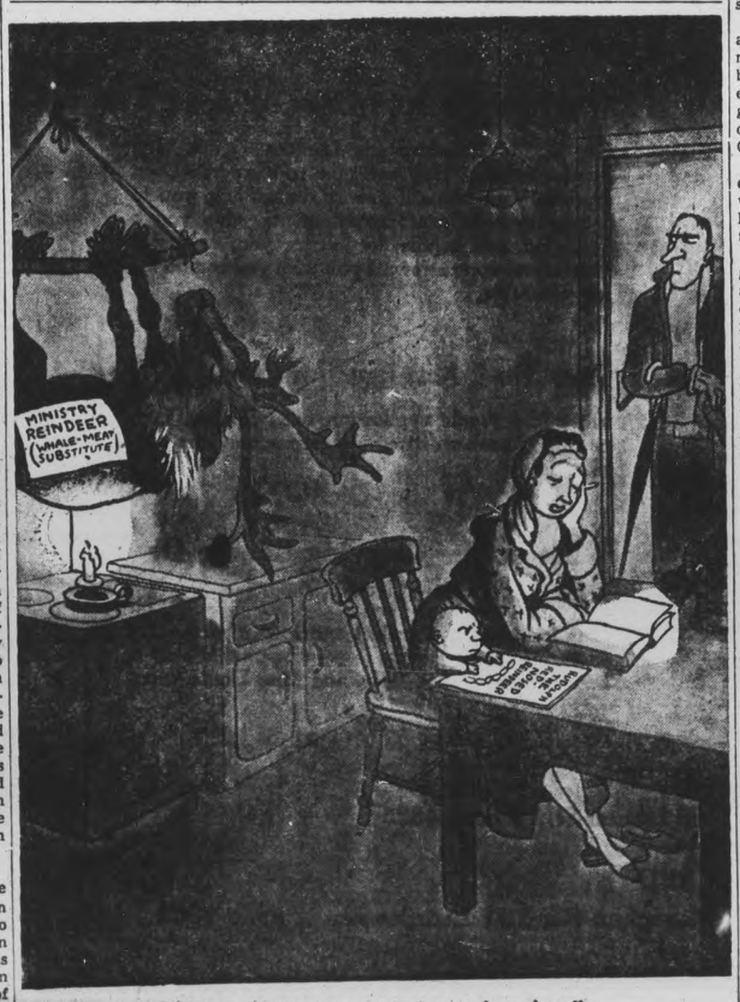
Let us then be up and doing,—
Let us make our lives suolime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the Sands of Time.

CASUAL OBSERVER No. 1.

DEFENDS PRESENT MARKET

Sir: In regard to the market situation I read the Council is ready to put in the meters on the market square and the farmers will move to the George St. site.

Why can't the farmers stay and use the meters and keep their stands? Is their money not the same as any other parker? And for the George St. site, Norman Moncrief has described it well, but did not mention the odour from the Packinghouse, and the lake is about as bad in summer. It is not fit for man or beat. How would Mr. Braund like to stand there and try to sell his produce so he can pay his way and make an honest living? And why does Mr. Braund say the merchants come first? Does our living not come from the land? And why does he want the market done away with? Does he think it will improve his business?.



The idea of farm women upstairs selling eggs and chickens and other produce, and their husbands and cars a half mile away! Where will they put their baskets when they come off the market, and where will they put their parcels when they do their shopping? The farmers spend all their money in town so why put them out?

At one time the Council talked of putting a cover over the outside market square and making it more comfortable for the farmers, but this Council is trying to put it out of existence. Peterborough is noted for its good market and the mighty business carried on there. Put your meters on the so-called George St. site.

If we had more men like Mr. Oscar Matchett, Melville Johnson and Norman Moncrief, whose motto is Live and Let Live, we would have a better world to live in. Not one man trying to put another out of business.

Some of us feel that ourselves and two generations behind us spent their money here and helped make Peterborough what it is today. We have attended the market for so many years and have a great many friends and customers. And we don't care to be told what to do and where to go by a few men in the City Council. A lot of city women enjoy coming to market and would rather buy off the tables downstairs than climb two flights of stairs to the basket section. Leave the market alone.

A MARKETEER.

"Dinner will be a little late today, dear."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it: he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk herein. . . . I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images. . . .

Sing unto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth, ye that go down to the sea, and all that is therein; the isles, and the inhabitants thereof. Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock sing, let them shout from the top of the mountains. Let them give glory unto the Lord, and declare his praise in the islands. (Isa. 42: 5, 8, 10-12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Yet, now hear, O Jacob my servant; and Israel, whom I have chosen: thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the womb, which will help thee; Fear not, O Jacob, my servant; and thou, Jesurun, whom I have chosen. For I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon thine offspring. (Isa. 44: 1-3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me. (Isa. 45: 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

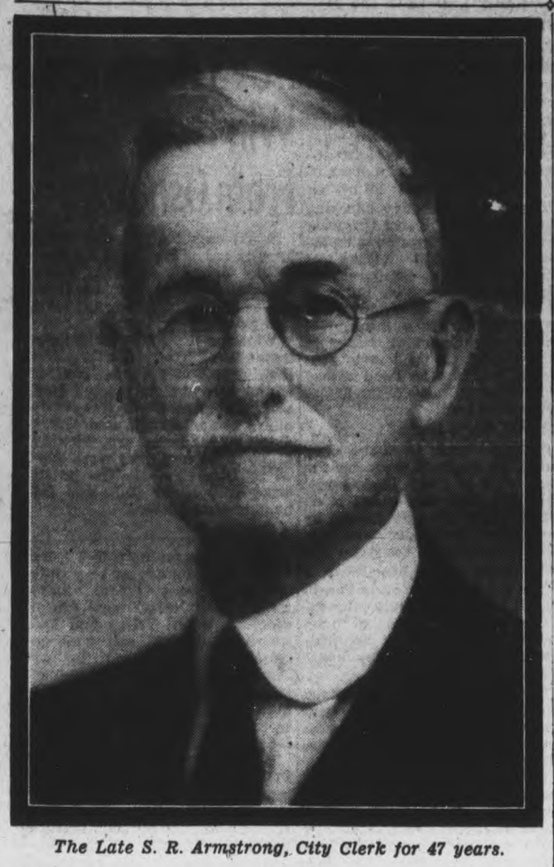
God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. (John 4: 24.)

Hard On Dundalk

(Dundalk Herald)

The Orillia Packet and Times, in a recent issue, reprinted the following poem in its "75 Years Ago" column. It was written, the Orillia papers goes on to explain, by "a local poet whose chaste imagery from time to time graced the columns of the Barrie Gazette." Here is the poem:

"Simcoe girls are fair and square,
Simcoe girls are beyond compare.
Simcoe girls their cows can milk,
Simcoe girls can dress in silk;
And none but a hermit from cell broke loose
Would marry a girl from Grey or Bruce."



Now isn't that spanking our Grey and Bruce gals altogether too hard? This poetry reminds us of another poem, written away back when, and to which there is just about as much sense, even if it rhymes fairly well. Here it is:

"Toronto for money and Alton for lime,
Orangeville for Whiskey and have a good time;
Grand Valley for girls and Shelburne for talk.
But if you want to get skinned, go up to Dundalk."

Did Sir Wm. Mulock Dance Jig For Bonus? Other Phases Of Railway Finance, Building

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The Late S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk for 47 years.

The Port Whitby & Port Perry Railway, chartered 1852, was re-chartered 1859 without success. Revived in 1868, it managed by 1872 to build a line to Port Perry, but was very weak financially. Plans were at once laid for a branch to Uxbridge and a line through Lindsay to Beaverton. By 1875 Wm. Mulock, solicitor for the W&PP, secured a bonus of $2,000 a mile from the Ontario government, $20,000 from Whitby, $20,000 from Port Perry, and $85,000 fom Lindsay and surrounding townships. (It is said that Mulock secured a bonus in Emily by entertaining the meeting with songs, jokes and an Irish clog-dance, a performance which Sir Wm. Mulock, eminent dignified Liberal statesman and Chief Justice of Ontario later, probably disavowed.) The line reached Lindsay in 1877, being renamed the Whitby, Port Perry & Lindsay Railway. In 1879 President Cox of the Midland engineered a deal by which the WPPL was taken over.

The Whitby & Bobcaygeon Railway Extension Company was promptly chartered in 1878 by M. Boyd, C. R. Stewart, Geo. Bick, W. B. Read, Alex Orr, John Junkin, E. Bottum, J. W. Dunsford and other Bobcaygeon people to extend the WPPL line from Lindsay to Bobcaygeon, but never secured enough capital to start, although Bobcaygeon and Verulam each voted $20,000 toward the cause. Two other schemes were equally futile—firstly, the Omemee, Bobcaygeon & North Peterborough Junction Railway chartered 1872 by S. S. Peck, D. E. Boulton, Wm. Cottingham, W. B. Read, G. Boyd, M. Boyd, C. R. Stewart, T. Benson, G. Bick, J. M. Irwin, etc. to build a line joining the Midland with the Canadian Central or Pacific far to the north; secondly, the Bowmanville, Lindsay & Bobcaygeon Railway chartered 1872 by local speculators to build from Bowmanville north through the lands of the Canadian Land & Emigration Company to Parry Sound on Georgian Bay. Bobcaygeon was left without a railway, while Fenelon Falls prospered.

The Fenelon Falls Railway, chartered 1871, was authorized to build from the T&N line in Eldon township to Fenelon Falls and on to Gull River; the next year it was reorganized with Toronto capital as the Lindsay, Fenelon Falls & Ottawa River Railway to build from Uxbridge through Lindsay, Fenelon and the north to the Ottawa River. In 1873 it was renamed the Victoria Railway and pushed ahead against strong Peterborough opposition to build from Lindsay through the northern townships.

When Peterborough County Council refused aid, the northern townships of the county succeeded in separating in 1874 and setting up the provisional county of Haliburton (with Warden A. Niven and Clerk-Treasurer S. S. Peck) attached to Victoria County for judicial and political purposes. The Victoria then obtained bonuses of $35,000 from Haliburton, $85,000 from Lindsay, $15,000 from Fenelon Falls (also incorporated 1874 for this purpose), $10,000 from Somerville, and $7,157 from Verulam. By 1876 the line was built to Kinmount at a cost of $100,000, of which the provincial government had granted $1,000 a mile or $33,000 in all.

Nov. 3, 1876, the line was opened with an excursion of railway and government officials to Kinmount. The Toronto Globe two weeks later commented: "Some gentlemen aboard the cars that day were remarkably disappointed when they arrived at Kinmount . . . far from inviting for agricultural purposes . . . vast valuable timber district . . . large deposits of iron ore . . . other mineral deposits of scarcely less value . . . " At the banquet, the Provincial Secretary predicted "The town of Lindsay has a bright future before it," and S. C. Wood, MP for Victoria South, boasted that Victoria County had a total of 175 miles of railway costing $2,400,000 (including government aid of $200,000 and county aid of $370,000).

Railway officials estimated that the north territory would bring $400,000 annual revenue to the railway, calculated at 15c a log and 12c a sq. ft. for lumber. The Canadian Land & Emigration Company promised a bonus of $3,000 a mile from Kinmount to Haliburton (in addition to the government grant of $1,000 a mile); steel was laid to Haliburton village by 1878 but the CL&E bonus was never paid. When the VR showed no signs of building farther, the Victoria Extension Railway was chartered in 1880 by some Haliburton people to build on to Minden and north indefinitely until another railway was met; this scheme never materialized, needless to say.

The Ontario & Quebec Railway was chartered in 1871 by Hon. B. Flint, P. M. Grover & Co., to build from Toronto via Peterborough, Madoc and Ottawa into Quebec. When it failed to start, the Huron & Quebec Railway was chartered in 1874 and renamed the Toronto & Ottawa Railway in 1877, authorized to build a main line between these cities and branches to join any other railways in the district. Peterborough town and county in 1875 passed bylaws to give $150,000 each to this line, and Marmora and Lake townships offered $10,000 each in 1879, but the line was not built until later. One final project might be mentioned here—the Grand Ontario Central Railway, chartered in 1880 to build from Goderich on Lake Huron via Peterborough to Ottawa; like so many other ambitious speculations of the period, it never advanced beyond a survey and the selling of shares to gullible investors.

Peterborough's 12 Clerks In First Municipal Century

By C. H. IRESON

Following Peterborough's incorporation as a Town on January 1, 1850, a municipal election was held on January 7 and on January 21, 1850, the first meeting of Peterborough's first Town Council was held in the Grand Jury Room at the Court House. This first council consisted of 12 members, the new town being divided into four wards each returning three members.

As a matter of record this first council was constituted as follows:

East Ward: Thomas Benson, John Hall, Thomas Harper.

Centre Ward: William Eastland, James Hall, Robert Ridley.

South Ward: Charles Hudson, E. Chamberlin, Patrick Ryan.

North Ward: James Harvey, W. G. Conger, D. McDonald.

Apparently at the time there was no separate election for mayor—and at that meeting Thomas Benson was elected as Peterborough's first mayor. W. H. Vizard was appointed clerk and William Cumming chief constable.

In the city's centenary celebration little has been said of the men who have occupied the important office of clerk. Since then, throughout the century, it has been an important office with many duties and responsibilities and it is here proposed to give the names of the various men who have held the office.

W. H. Wrighton

As stated, the first clerk was W. H. Vizard who was an attorney-at-law practising in the town from 1847-1855. After a short term of office he resigned and George Dunsford was appointed. He was shortly succeeded by W. H. Wrighton in 1851. W. H. Wrighton was one of the best known townsmen of his day and, when death came he had been for fifty years in business as a dealer in grain and produce. For the last 34 years of his life he operated a store next to The Examiner's old office on George Street. Citizens who were youngsters before the turn of the century remember old Mr. Wrighton and going into his store with a penny to buy knick-knacks and confections which could not be got elsewhere for the same money—one cent. He held office as town clerk until 1854 and in that year there were two brief terms of office by Thomas White afterwards one of the publishers of The Review — and Robert Read.

From 1855 to 1857 Ivan O'Beirne was town clerk He was a schoolmaster who qualified as a barrister and afterwards was appointed county and surrogate clerk and died July 16, 1874. He was succeeded by James Edwards, 1857-1877. Born in Leith Scotland, he came to Peterborough in 1838 as a teacher. He afterwards followed the building trade and built the first three-storey building here at the corner of Hunter and Queen Streets. He died in December 17, 1888, aged 82. He was succeeded as clerk by Charles D. Macdonald 1878-1886. Born in 1834 in Belleville he too became a teacher but in 1853 came to Peterborough and opened a boot and shoe store. He moved to the States for a time but returned here in 1877 and was appointed town clerk which office he held to the time of his death.

He was succeeded by James G. Macdonald who held office until 1891 in which year J. R. Cobb was appointed. He had been a solicitor's clerk prior to his town clerkship and died Oct. 16, 1892 to be then succeeded by S. R. Armstrong who was appointed November 8, 1893 and held office for the record term of 47 years—and this fine service to the community is gratefully remembered by most citizens.

S. R. Armstrong

Born in Hastings county in 1861, Mr. Armstrong served for two years in the offices of a Belleville newspaper, The Intelligencer, and came to The Review in Peterborough in 1882 and became editor of that paper. He then in 1893 transferred his services and abilities to Peterborough's municipal offices which he so ably managed for 47 years.

After his death in 1941 a memorial tablet was unveiled to his memory in the council chamber as a tribute paid to the late city clerk for long and faithful service.

One of the interesting landmarks in his recorded career was that during it, on July 1, 1905, Peterborough attained the rank of City and he was the first city clerk. He was succeeded by the present holder of the office, E. A. Outram, the twelfth clerk in the city's century of municipal government.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Oft In The Stilly Night

Oft in the stilly night
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond Memory brings the light
Of other days around me;
The smiles, the tears,
Of boyhood's years,
The words of love then spoken;
The eyes that shone,
Now dimmed and gone,
The cheerful hearts now broken!
Thus, in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Sad Memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

When I remember all
The friends so linked together,
I've seen around me fall,
Like leaves in wintry weather:
I feel like one
Who treads alone
Some banquet-hall deserted,
Whose lights are fled,
Whose garland's dead,
And all but he departed!
Thus in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond Memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

—THOMAS MOORE (1779-1852)

Canadian communities, large and small, are gradually waking up to the possibility of atomic enemy attack. Peterborough, a centre of more than 37,000 people, is considered a secondary target in the plan of things. Primary targets are heavy populated centres containing vital industries and utilities important to the Province and Nation—Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Niagara Falls, the Soo and Sudbury. Peterborough, in the secondary target class, would act as clearing stations for casualties from primary areas.

What concern is this of an outdoor writer, you may well ask.

For many months I have listened to individuals discussing possible enemy air attacks in their living areas and each one winds up with a cackling remark that, at the first threat of trouble, he would hike for the wilderness and hole up. He knows of a cave somewhere in the Kawarthas that would make safe shelter for his family, or a dozen remote spots in the woods.

Why do civilized people in their fear of annihilation turn to nature for protection? And could they survive primitive life in the woods if they did run away from city homes? It is hardly likely.

Pleasant summer camping with all its modern conveniences would be a very different thing to having to retreat to the cottage, in the middle of winter, say. You would have to travel on snowshoes or skis to get there; locate, chop, haul and saw wood to keep warm in an unwinterized building. There are ramifications without end to survival in the bush.

Perhaps you had better spend future summers brushing up on woodcraft and making camp preparations if you are really serious about it. You can laugh about giving the country back to the Indians but they seem to be the only people rudimentally equipped to rough it through the atomic age.

Hauling In Pickerel Now At Trenton

For district fishermen who feel they must wet a line, how about a drive down to Trenton? I checked with the Chamber of Commerce for you and find there are more than 50 fishing shacks on Quinte Bay in the heart of the town. Pike and pickerel hauls have been good and as long as the cold weather makes the ice safe, there is a bit of future sport down there. One man whom I was trying to get hold of for you, a Mr. Moon of the Trenton Cooperage Company, is an authority on Quinte ice fishing. Wanted to find out if it were possible to rent fishing shacks and buy bait. It's a safe bet if you do go down this weekend or Wednesday afternoon next, if still cold, you will be put on the right track by any number of courteous Trentonians. Try it.

Punchlines For Sportsmen From Capital Convention

According to press reports in Ottawa papers about the recent Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters convention held in the Capital, no speaker put more punch into things than Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, dean of American wildlife conservationists:

"Sportsmen waste too much time and money."

"Sportsmen spend more money on whiskey for one trip than they contribute to conservation in a year."

"Sportsmen groups which press their government departments to affect some particular change using a particular method, are wrong four times to one . . . waste time and money."

"Sportsmen are always looking for the easy way out. If the (fish) stocking of a waterway works once, they think it should work all the time. It doesn't. Whenever you start a program — unless you know what you are going to do, if you can do anything at all — it is a waste of your own and government money."

"Outdoor Life columns have the greatest reader interest of all sports. A survey shows 85 per cent of newspaper readers are interested in Outdoor Life."

Cottage and resort owners, brace yourselves. The Department of Lands and Forests reports that 1951 is going to be the worst year for forest tent caterpillars than any heretofore. Egg clusters have been found over a much wider area than last year. The Department is deeply concerned with the situation and says it is willing to co-operate with property and land owners and will consider proposals for control made by municipal organizations which represent groups of these owners.

Hacking A Way Through Icy Bush

Deer are wintering well in the Kawarthas, according to Wildlife officials. Lack of snow which makes for roaming and browsing, instead of yarding, has made the animals fat and healthy and the condition will produce the best, and most fawns, come spring. There are one or two yards in the deep snow belts of Haliburton and in one section of Cardiff and Monmouth Townships a freak freezing rain swath has loaded down the woods with ice. One hunter on the prowl for wolves reported that he had to hack his way through the bush with an axe. This will be a starvation spot for partridge unless they have enough instinct to fly out of the ice belt.

Brass of the Outboard Marine who attended the New York Boat Show in New York have nothing but praise for this large annual event. The hit of the show? Their own American-made 25 horser, naturally. They will start assembling the model at the plant any time now, says sales manager H. J. White. An estimated 200,000 people attended the monster affair at $1.25 per head, and no floor attractions, either.

SCORCHER—A speed demon of bicycle days who mowed down his fellow-men, keeping the pedestrian pest within reasonable malthusian limits, before the arrival of more efficient motor car.

✦ ✦ ✦

WRIGHTON'S STORE—George Street merchandising centre, wherein leading intellectuals of earlier days were wont to gather about the stove to work out imporant protocols of Church and State.

✦ ✦ ✦

YORK, MUDDY: also known as Fort Rouille and Hogtown — A geographical place supported for many years by Peterborough's exports of millionaires. It now nourishes itself by devouring its suburban young. It is situated on the Don, the world's thickest river, and has an island frontage consisting of a long strip of dry, hot sand with rich deposits of chlorine. Muddy York's Arts and Letters have now been put on a sound business basis and natives are convinced that they are living at the centre around which Mr. Einstein's new theory gravitates.

✦ ✦ ✦

YORK SHILLING—Coin of the realm in the Upper Canada days of £. s. d. It would provide a substantial pluggage of such comestibles as chewing tobacco, allaying notions of industrial unrest among the laboring masses and postponing definite action on the vexatious problem of "Where shall the Hired Man wash his feet?" an academic question discussed learnedly and oft by the late Billy Maclean, MP, in the old Toronto World. A York Shilling today at its dollar value of 12½ cents will provide almost an eighth of a pound of coffee.

ORIENTAL BUS—Horse-drawn hotel conveyance that met all the trains, visitors being welcomed by the genial Paddy Carroll.

SALMON TROUT — Landlocked fish, now vanished, which once were netted in prodigious numbers at the head of Stony Lake. Destruction of this species was unduly delayed in the days before fish derbies were placed on a businesslike footing.

✦ ✦ ✦

SALOON — Elongated dispensaries of liquids containing alcohol, one of the most celebrated being that of Lem. Felcher, on whose shirtfront was a display of mammoth diamonds outsparkling those of Lillian Russell.

✦ ✦ ✦

SPITTOON—A cuspidor of proportions befitting the homeric age of black-strap chewing tobacco. Large numbers of such receptacles were required at council meetings and other deliberative assemblies where discussions of high import were afoot.

✦ ✦ ✦

STATUTE LABOR—Otherwise known as "road work." It was the lawful duty of every sovereign elector to betake himself once a year to the local gravel pit, there to go through certain motions until overcome with fatigue. Men thus overborne usually recovered while leaning heavily on their shovels for indefinite periods.

"IT WAS HARD WORK, but it was worth it," explained seven-year-old Bobby Shimer to Ruth Spinks as they both examine the gingerbread house. "Um," is Ruth's reaction to this eight inch structure made of gingerbread, candy canes, colored pineapple, fruit and other kinds of candy.

The house was made by Mrs. Howard Shimer of 595 Waterford St., with son Bobby's help. It is a tiny replica of the gingerbread house in the fairy tale, Hansel and Grethel. When it was completed, Mrs. Shimer brought it to Central Public School, where it has been on display in Bobby's classroom—Grade I and II, taught by Miss M. Brock.

The house is set on a tray covered with sugar and complete with gingerbread trees. Even the tiny gingerbread figures of Hansel and Grethel who are standing on the candy path are gingerbread.

Grimm's Fairy Tale

Hansel - Grethel In The Gingerbread House

IT was now the third morning since Hansel and Grethel had left their father's house. They were always trying to get back to it, but instead of that they only found themselves farther in the wood, and if help had not soon come they would have been starved. About noon they saw a pretty snow-white bird sitting on a bough, and singing so sweetly that they stopped to listen. And when he had finished the bird spread his wings and flew before them, any they followed after him until they came to a little house, and the bird perched on the roof, and when they came nearer they saw that the house was built of bread, and roofed with cakes, and the window was of transparent sugar.

"We will have some of this," said Hansel, "and make a fine meal. I will eat a piece of the roof, Grethel, and you can have some of the window—that will taste sweet."

So Hansel reached up and broke off a bit of the roof, just to see how it tasted, and Grethel stood by the window and gnawed at it. Then they heard a thin voice call out from inside:

"Nibble, nibble, like a mouse,
Who is nibbling at my house?"

And the children answered:

"Never mind,
It is the wind."

And they went on eating, never disturbing themselves. Hansel, who found that the roof tasted very nice, took down a great piece of it, and Grethel pulled out a large round window-pane, and sat her down and began upon it. Then the door opened, and an aged woman came out, leaning upon a crutch. Hansel and Grethel felt very frightened, and let fall what they had in their hands. The old woman, however, nodded her head, and said:

"Ah, my dear children, how come you here? You must come indoors and stay with me. You will be no trouble."

✦ ✦ ✦

SO she took them each by the hand and led them into her little house. And there they found a good meal laid out, of milk and pancakes, with sugar, apples, and nuts. After that she showed them two little white beds, and Hansel and Grethel laid themselves down on them and thought they were in heaven.

The old woman, although her behaviour was so kind, was a wicked witch, who lay in wait for children, and had built the little house on purpose to entice them. When they were once inside she used to kill them, cook them and eat them, and then it was a feast-day with her.

Early next morning Grethel had to get up, make the fire, and fill the kettle.

"First we will do the baking," said the old woman. "I have heated the oven already, and kneaded the dough."

She pushed poor Grethel toward the oven, out of which the flames were already shining.

"Creep in," said the witch, "and see if it is properly hot, so that the bread may be baked."

✦ ✦ ✦

AND Grethel once in, she meant to shut the door upon her and let her be baked, and then she would have eaten her. But Grethel perceived her intention, and said:

"I don't know how to do it. How shall I get in?"

"Stupid goose!" said the old woman; "the opening is big enough. Do you see? I could get in myself!" and she stooped down and put her head into the oven's mouth. Then Grethel gave her a push, so that she went in farther, and she shut the iron door upon her, and put up the bar. Oh, how frightfully she howled! But Grethel ran away and left the wicked witch to burn miserably. Grethel went straight to Hansel, opened the stable door, and cried:

"Hansel, we are free! The old witch is dead!"

Then out flew Hansel, like a bird from its cage as soon as the door is opened. How rejoiced they both were! How they fell each on the other's neck, and danced about, and kissed each other! And as they had nothing more to fear they went over all the old witch's house, and in every corner there stood chests of pearls and precious stones.

"This is something better than flint stones," said Hansel, as he filled his pockets; and Grethel, thinking she also would like to carry something home with her, filled her apron full.

"Now, away we go," said Hansel, "if we only can get out of the witch's wood."

Fancy Cures For Arthritis Can Be Positive Danger

"Much of the advice given arthritics by well meaning friends may be positively dangerous," says Dr. Wallace Graham, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, in a National Health Week message to the people of Canada. "Everybody should understand that there are very many different kinds of arthritis, and treatment correct for one kind will not be correct for another."

Explaining the cause of so much misunderstanding, Dr. Graham points out that arthritis is a word meaning nothing more or less than an inflamed joint.

"We all know that stomach-aches may be caused by many different conditions including cancer, appendicitis, ulcers and over-eating," he says. "The treatment of stomach-ache, the length of time it will last and the amount of disability which may result all are different in each case. It is just the same in the case of arthritis or sore joints, for there are about 100 different diseases or conditions which cause it."

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society's six hints to help the Canadian people in this era of increased optimism and stepped-up drive against arthritis are:

1. Don't put your faith in drugs and nostrums. Most preparations have some pain-relieving properties but none of them can cure arthritis.

2. Don't listen to old wives' tales and fancy cures.

3. Enough is known about keeping arthritis patients free of pain and the prevention of deformity for doctors to make it possible for most patients to keep going about their normal daily pursuits.

4. Try to live free of the every day tensions and anxieties. Get as much sound rest and sleep as possible.

5. Avoid the strains or pressures normally placed on the affected joints or parts.

6. If you are one of those who have severe arthritis that doesn't respond to treatment, and you are left with a permanent disability, remember that many disabled people are living normal, useful lives, in spite of their disabilities. You cannot disable ambition.

Powerful Petes Nip Nylons In Overtime Tilt

Slamming home two goals in overtime here last night, the league-leading Petes defeated the third-place Kingston Nylons 4-2 before 800 fans in a fast, clean OHA senior "B" scrap. The home crew had a 1-0 edge in the first frame and they got the only tally of the second, but Nylons fought back hard to sew it up in the third and force the extra inning. It was speedy but with plenty of close-checking throughout.

Junior West counted two goals and had an assist for the Petes, as Fred Garvey aided on all four markers. Floyd got goal and an assist and Chum Fryia the other counter. McKeown and Gerow scored the Kingston goals, with Joyce aiding on a pair, and Partis on one. Both goalies turned in a splendid performance, Udall and Harding making some swell saves in every period.

Gus Goes Good

Gus Leonard returned to the local lineup after a lengthy layoff for an injury, and he went well. Honey Tompkins proved steady on defence throughout, and the whole Petes' crew worked hard. So did Nylons, but it was a checking affair with not too much clicking combination shown. The veteran line of Ken Partis, Walt Gerow and Joe Catlin was dangerous all the way through, and Harding robbed them a number of times, just as Udall did the Petes' attackers.

It was 7:24 in the first frame before the Petes hit the twine, Floyd scoring a neat one in close after passes from West and Garvey as they tore in around defence. Patterson was chased for interference but Udall held the fort. Later Armstrong got it for hooking and Mortimer followed for interference. Then Jopling was waved for interference, to leave the Petes shy two men for a space. Harding held off the Nylons in hot going.

Tied The Score

Early in the second chukker, Tompkins was chased for holding the puck, and Horton followed for tripping, the Petes again being shy two players. Harding had to be good to stop the Nylons. With all back, the Petes struck again, West slapping home Garvey's pass in close to make it 2-0. Watts got the nod for interference as Referee Wally Wilson was strict. He returned and Plumb got it for playing briefly with a broken stick. Then it was Patterson and Fryia for some minor roughing. All were back with no damage done.

Nylons bored in hard in the third, after Londry retired with a case of flu bothering him. Plumb was gated for tripping and later Patterson got the air for high-sticking. Short a man, Nylons tallied on some careless Petes' clearing at defence, McKeown cuffing it home from Joyce. Gus Leonard went over for tripping and Gerow tied the score in a scramble by the crease, Partis and Joyce being in on the play. It went overtime and Gus Leonard served another tripping penalty. He returned in the hot stepping and Fryia slapped in a rebound with Garvey and Floyd in on the pattern. West made sure of it near the finish on a forward pass from Garvey, and that was that.

Nylons: Goal, Udall; defence, Patterson and Plumb; centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates, McKeown, Aitken, Joyce, Armstrong, Potts, Harrison, Watts and Londry.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Tompkins; centre, Wade; wings, Dugan and Mason; alternates, G. Leonard, Fryia, Mortimer, Garvey, West, Floyd, Jopling and E. Leonard.

Lindsay Gets Victories Against PCVS

Lindsay High School swept three games from PCVS Friday night in Lindsay in a lakeshore "B" group triple-header. The scores were 33-19 in the senior, 33-20 in the junior, and 20-7 in the bantam. The return games are at PCVS next Friday.

Coach Jack Cullis said that the PCVS teams who are used to the large floor were lost on the small Lindsay court. He believes the Garnet and Grey teams will show up better in the next games.

Heffernan held PCVS bantams together with his play as they were down throughout, 6-4 at the quarter, 10-4 at the half, and 13-7 at the three-quarter mark. Stevens and Kingston played well for PCVS although Brooks led in the scoring with four points. A. Truax and Blackwell each had five for Lindsay.

Fell Behind

PCVS juniors took a 9-4 lead in the first quarter but fell behind in the second and third under a steady Lindsay shooting offensive. Lindsay were up 19-12 at the half and 25-15 at three-quarter time.

Dan Griffin led PCVS with eight points and Norn Hayward scored five. Armstrong and Gilders stood out in the losing effort. Acheson topped all scoring for Lindsay with 11 points while teammate, Graham, had eight.

PCVS seniors were on the losing end throughout. They were down 7-5 at the quarter, 15-12 at the half and 26-18 at the three-quarter mark. Lindsay outscored the Garnet and Grey in the last session 7-1.

McDuffee, Maidens and Lewis each scored eight points for the Lindsay cause. Lewis starred with his fast breaks after neat checks by the Lindsay guards. Terry Brown tried to hold PCVS in the game by setting up scoring plays which failed to materialize. Adams led PCVS in scoring with five.

Two strong and popular matmen will headline the pro wrestling card at the Brock Arena next Tuesday evening, and they come from faraway places. Lord Athol Layton lived for years in Australia ere coming to America, while Yukon Eric was an Alaskan lumberjack. This pair tee off in the main bout here. Yukon will need all his mightly strength to offset speed, judo and ring savvy by Layton, formerly a heavyweight amateur boxer. The semi-final has two exciting grapplers in there, Seelie Samara with the hard head, and the Masked Marvel, complete with masked manager. Toar Morgan—the scrappy southerner who is well-known in Lindsay—takes on Kaye Bell in the prelim.

Frank Feaver of the OASA doesn't let a little thing like winter stop him from issuing softball bulletins with great regularity. A recent one lists the categories of loops and clubs as to population. We're in the senior "B" class which goes from 30,000 people to 100,000. Intermediate "A" and "AA" (industrial loops) are places 10,000 to 30,000. Then, it's intermediate "B" down to 3,500, while rural districts can go "C" under 3,500. Junior and juvenile "A" are over 10,000, "B" down to 3,500, and "C" rural spots under that. Midget and bantams (under 16 and under 14 year) are open. So, leagues can make plans accordingly.

Queen's Playing Petes

Next OHA senior "B" hockey game here is Monday eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena when Queen's Combines of Kingston play the league-leading Petes. While Queen's appear to be going nowhere, they still may upset a few of the clubs which are headed for playoffs. They did just that to the second-place Eagles a week ago, but Eagles got revenge next meeting. We believe Gus Leonard is ready for OHA action again after his injury, so the Petes should be at full strength for this encounter. They ought to take this game, but it might be an interesting one to view, as Queen's have been known to play it rough in past fixtures. Eagles are at Nylons that p.m.

* * * * * *

Do you know that the long senior "B" schedule winds up just three weeks from last night? Yes, they're all jockeying for spots now, with second place perhaps the key spot, as top two teams go into the Allan Cup playdown series, loser then meeting the winner of the third-fourth playoff scramble to go into the "B" playdowns. There are only half a dozen more home games for the fans here, by the two local clubs, and anything may happen. The Petes are in front but aren't exactly home free yet, while Eagles aren't at all assured of finishing second. The last drive down the schedule's stretch is always an interesting one, with playoffs looming ahead and soon.

Had To Work Overtime

The Petes appeared to have the senior "B" game here last p.m. in the w.k. gunny sack but those battling Nylons came back hard late in the third chukker to sew it up. And the Jopling group had to hustle in overtime to gain their 4-2 decision. It gives 'em a firm grip on top spot and leaves Nylons back in the third rut behind Eagles. Both goalies were positively brilliant at times last gloaming, and no soft markers were counted all evening. It was fast, but a close-checking contest, with not too much good combination shown. The ref was strict on minor penalties and rather generous with his assists. Cold weather kept down the crowd to around 800 paid customers.

We didn't get the score of the St. Peter's cage game in Kitchener last p.m. in time for the Show Window. Just one joust was run off at the YW by the lasses, Nurses taking a nice 21-14 win from the Lindsay Grads, who are hard to beat. The PCVS girls divided a twin bill in Port Hope, the local juniors winning in a waltz to a 31-9 tune, while the visiting seniors dropped a toughie, 13-12. The Collegiate "B" boys found it rough going on Lindsay's small floor, as they dropped a triple-header, 33-19 in the senior fray, 32-20 in junior play, and 20-7 in the bantam tilt. Things were brighter at the Peterborough hall of learning as PCVS "A" teams swept three games from Oshawa Central. The seniors stayed in the hunt with their 57-32 triumph, the juniors coasted to a 42-15 win, and the bantams beat the opposition 33-21. Nice going.

PCVS Damsels Take One Of Two Games

PCVS girls' basketball teams divided a doubleheader with Port Hope High School in the Lakeshore town Friday night. The PCVS juniors ran their unbeaten streak to three by swamping Port Hope 31-9 while the PCVS senior lasses lost their first in three starts by a point, 13-12.

Mary Craw kept the PCVS seniors in the game in the first quarter with three of four points as Port Hope's Anna Lingard sank four points for a 4-all score at quarter. Craw added a foul shot and a basket in the second to give PCVS a one-point margin at the half, 7-6. Irene Knight, Kathryn Flowers and Anna Lingard totalled seven points for Port Hope in the last half while Craw for PCVS scored all five points.

Mary Craw for the third time led the seniors in scoring with an 11-point effort. Anna Lingard was tops for Port Hope with six.

Nurses Beat Grads In Lasses' League

Nurses pulled closer to the idle first-place Neill's Friday night in the girls' city basketball league in the YWCA by edging the Lindsay Grads 21-14. This was the only game played although two were scheduled.

Three girls received the heave-ho from referees Joe Cooper and Hi Smith as they tended to bruise each other. Joan Plunkett of the Nurses, Isobel Green and Donna Copp of the Grads each left the floor with five personal fouls.

Bev Pringle's only foul shot in the first quarter put the Nurses up 1-0. The Grads began to find the range in the second quarter as Dianna Jardine sent in four points and Shirley Alger and Donna Copp two each for an 8-3 score for Lindsay at the half. Joan Plunkett added the two-pointer for the Nurses.

Anita Davis took over for Nurses in the third quarter with two foul shots and a basket for four points added to Bev Pringle's foul shot and basket. Shirley Alger netted five points to keep the Grads out in front 13-10. Nurses passed and shot well in the final session to wrap up the game with an 11-point effort, Barb Deyell, Betty Jaquith, Mary Collins, Davis and Pringle all scoring points. Shirley Alger sank the lone point for Grads.

Lineups:

Nurses (21)—Smith, Plunkett 2, Davis 7, Deyell 2, Pringle 6, Jaquith 2, Hannam, Collins 2.

Grads (14) — Alger 8, Green Cullis, Copp 2, Jardine 4, Hawkins.

Redmen Downed By Eagles In Heavy Checking Game

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 3. (Special to The Examiner)—The Peterborough Eagles ruffled their hockey feathers here Friday night and sent the Belleville Redmen down to a 6-3 defeat in one of the best Senior games played in the Memorial Arena. Said to be hurt by player injury the Eagles apparently did not suffer because they roared through to a 2-1 edge in the first period rammed home three in the second and headed back a fighting Redmen team in the third heat to even the period.

It was a hard heavy checking game with both teams throwing on the torso, but legally, with the result referee Bill Reason of Kingston had a comparatively easy time. He tossed off Burns in the first period, gave Montgomery of the Eagles a misconduct and Johnny Green a minor to settle matters in the second heat and with things in hand dished out a minor to Burns of the Eagles in the third heat.

Nicholls' Great Game

Getting back to the hockey game the Redmen were on the sour side of Lady Luck again. Time and time they swept in on Nicholls only to be outguessed by the Eagles netminder who was one of the stars of the game.

It was the second heartbreak in a row for the Redmen, although it must be said, the Eagles snatched the opportunities at all times and took advantage of the Redmen's lapses and thereby hangs perhaps part of the tale.

It was fast hockey throughout. The first period saw both teams turn on the hockey heat with rink length flashes of play and Eagles surge in to score twice.

Milne who made a bit of a record against Queen's rapped home the first marker from Coombs' assist and Mortimer made it a pair on sweeping play from down ice. But the Reds luck finally told when Gerry Moher taking Jackie Wardaugh's pass made it 2 to 1 just before the period ended.

Score Three Goals

But injury-ridden as they were supposed to be the Eagles flashed fresh from their nest in the second period, took off pronto and so to speak put the game in the bag with three goals by Vitarelli, Rochetta and Mortimr. But they got them the hard way because the fighting Reds battling all the way finally narrowed the margin when Brian Mulvihill tapped in Vern Goyer's pass from close in.

The third period saw the Reds swarm all over the Eagles. They held the visitors to a lone goal but they missed a hundred, so to speak. They drove in alone and in 3-men waves only to have Nicholls and the defence throw them back.

Jerry Moher finally clicked for the Reds after seven minutes of play in the third period when he rammed home the rubber alone, but it was short-lived. Milne racing out from a Redmen ganging attack fired home the rubber for the clincher from Stewart's pass.

The teams:

Eagles — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Burns, Montgomery; centre, Milne; wings, D. Mortimer, F. Mortimer; alternates, Rochetta, Vitarelli, Stewart, Munroe, Lalonde, Greenlaw, Coombs.

Redmen — Goal, Irvine; defence, Schmidt, Bastedo; centre, Goyer; wings, Green, Mulvihill; alternates, Macdonald, Moher, King, Free, Day, Worshaugh, Screiber, Semark.

Referee—B. Reason, Kingston.

Linesman—W. Holway, Belleville.

The summary:

First Period

Eagles—Milne (Coombs) 4:55
Eagles—Mortimer (Milne, Munroe) 9:00
Belleville—Moher (Wardhaugh) 15:23
Penalties—Burns.

Second Period

Eagles—Vitarelli (Coombs) 3:20
Eagles—Rochetta (Greenlaw) .. 6:00
Eagles—Mortimer (Rochetta) .. 12:14
Belleville—Goyer (Green) 19:51
Penalties — Montgomery (misconduct), Green.

Third Period

Belleville—Moher 7:40
Eagles—Milne (Stewart) 9:57
Penalties—Burns.

PCVS Hoopsters Win Three From Oshawa

PCVS basketball fans crowded happily out of the Collegiate gym Friday night after the "A" teams defeated decisively Oshawa Central in the senior, junior and bantam games.

Wins for the juniors and bantams seemed likely after they won their games in Oshawa several weeks ago but the senior fray was "the" game. Coach Bev Goulding's senior Garnet and Greys didn't let the fans down, winning 57-32. In Oshawa, they were edged by Central 46-38. The junior score Friday was 42-15 and the bantam game 33-21.

A Big Start

The seniors ran up a 19-5 score in the first quarter as they outchecked the Central boys throughout. Central were off in shooting. Bryan Young and Ted Evans snared the ball well on close checks. Oshawa, led by Mozewsky with six points, rallied briefly at the start of the second quarter. Paul Frise stemmed this by rallying the PCVS team which led at the half 33-15.

Al Northcott spear-headed the PCVS offensive play in the third quarter backed by the steady checking of Young at guard. The Garnet and Grey pushed the score up to 47 while holding the Central cagers to only six points.

Mozewsky and Varga combined for 10 points for Oshawa in the final quarter as the Motor City crew outscored PCVS 11-10 for their best period.

Led Juniors

Dave Langhorne, Jim Hendry and Bill Stewart led PCVS juniors' offensive in the first quarter when they jumped to a 14-5 first quarter score. Fowler kept up his first quarter pace in the second and aided by Fowler made the half score read 24-5 for PCVS.

Both teams faltered in the third and Oshawa came up on the sunny side of the quarter score 6-4 as Armstead slipped in four points on two field baskets. PCVS regained their scoring punch in the fourth with Hendry, Johnston, Stewart, Cunningham, Fowler and Langhorne totalling 14 points as compared with four good foul shots by Central.

An 11-point effort by Carleton put the PCVS bantams up 20-16 in the first game, Boorman, Ash, Roberts, and Foote adding the other points. Towns scored eight for Central in the first half.

Carleton added six more in the second half, Foote also had six, and Ash a single as the Garnet and Grey held Central to five points.

LORD ATHOL LAYTON, above, who meets Yukon Eric in the main bout at the Brock Arena next Tuesday night. Seelie Samara and the Masked Marvel hook up in the semi-final and explosive Toar Morgan tangles with Kaye Bell in the opener.

Canada Wallops Italy

AMBRI, Italy, Feb. 3 (CP). — Lethbridge Maple Leafs Friday night walloped the Ambri-Piotti hockey team 12-1.

Leafs, posting their 14th victory against five losses and a tie in their European tour, had little trouble with the Italians. It was the fourth straight triumph for the touring Leafs against Italian squads.

Bruins, Montreal Tangle In Duel For Third Place

By STEWART NEBBS
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Four teams see action in the National Hockey League tonight, but the most important game, as far as the standing is concerned, is the Boston-Montreal contest in which third place is at stake.

Detroit maintains a five-point lead over the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs, who take on the tail-end Chicago Black Hwks in the only other game scheduled. But Canadiens at present are only one point ahead of the Bruins.

The Sunday schedule, however, could change the picture more, as all six teams get going. Canadiens meet the top-ranking Detroit Red Wings, Toronto plays at Boston, and New York Rangers tangle with Chicago.

However, Dick Irvin, mentor of the Canadiens, does not believe in delving too far into the future, even to the extent of one night.

Said Irvin: "This is a real big game—a real four-pointer. If we win, we'll be three points ahead of Boston; if we lose they will be a point ahead of us. This is one of those must games for us."

Detroit Leads

This is the NHL picture today: Detroit, with 29 victories, 11 ties and nine defeats, heads the pack with 67 points, five more than Toronto, which has won 26, lost 11 and tied 10 for 62 points.

Canadiens, temporarily at least come next with 44 points, made up of 17 victories, 22 defeats and 10 draws, and are closely followed by Boston with 16-21-11 record.

The Rangers follow with 41 points while the Hawks are in the league cellar with 33.

The Rangers' famous elixir, by the way, turns out to be a brew containing clam juice and honey, following consumption of which, the records show, the New Yorkers have compiled a record of eight victories, three losses and one tie.

The losses and the tie, however, came following an injury to Edgar Laprade and reports have it that the Rangers would gladly give up the "elixir" if they could get Laprade back.

More Fights Than Play As Flyers Win 10-3

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP).—Penalties set the pace in a free-wheeling Eastern Canada Hockey League game Friday night which saw Ottawa's RCAF Flyers take a 10-3 measure of the lowly Hull Volants.

It was RCAF's game all the way but the fans were kept interested as red-topped Arval Gravelle of the Flyers matched blows with Andy Rochon of Volants and carried the fight into the corridors to get misconducts each. Ross Tyrell, and Carman Marshall, who participated in an earlier brawl, escaped with minors.

Hec Legris and Bill Franklin were put away for five minutes a bit later on another encounter which featured little hockey.

Scorers for Flyers were Bobby Dennison with three, Tony Licari and Gordie Scott with two each, George Robinson, Shep Maver and Bob Greenlaw. Hull's Roland Landry sank a pair, while Yves Sarrabournet plussed the third.

Making Christianity Work Must See Goal

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Paul once reported a saying of Jesus unwritten elsewhere, or expressed it as a summing up of what Jesus had said and taught, when he admonished the Christians of Ephesus in his farewell address to "remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive'."

There, in a sentence, is the contrast with a world whose daily life largely concerns the business of getting.

Men try to soften that contrast by talking about "enlightened self-interest," and by emphasizing the advantages of a free, competitive system, sometimes more competitive than free.

Certainly the system is more advantageous than any other system to which society has yet attained, and it should not be sacrificed for any system of totalitarianism and dictatorship.

But the contrast between the best that society has developed, and what the coming of the kingdom of God would mean—a world in which men actually believed and practised that it is more blessed to give than to receive—is whether Christianity can really be made to work in a Christian society.

I think it would help if, with greater clarity, we saw both the goal and the problem. Many utterly ignore the goal, and though they pray daily, "Thy kingdom come," speak and act as if we had already attained it. Others sometimes speak and act as if by some religious hocus-pocus, or organizational changes, we could suddenly bring in that kingdom without effecting comparable changes in the hearts of men

Some years ago one of our great church councils debated for some days the profit motive, and on the closing day, when many delegates had already gone home, passed by an unimpressive majority a resolution roundly condemning it. It was a futile gesture, and one that could only lead to antagonizing reactions and confustion.

It is obvious that the noblest Christian lives, such as those of the late Jane Addams, and Grenfell of Labrador, are lived upon the basis of something higher than the profit motive; but it is equally obvious that the businessman, when he goes from his church on Sunday to his business on Monday, has to make a profit, or go out of business.

He may, of course, have a higher motive, and may make his business, as many have, even in a competitive world, serve Christian ends. He is, however, part of a society and a system within the orbit of which his business must be conducted; we are all in a way parts of our environment and subject to at least some of its limitations.

So, in a sense, our problem becomes that of putting into a world still so largely un-Christian as much Christian living as we can. One might compare Christians to those living in a house while it is being made over and rebuilt.

There is no world to which we can move out, while the remaking process goes on, and much adaptation is inevitable. Yet great, effective transformations can be made, if the Christian goal and the Christian purpose are never forgotten.

Chinese Plan To Celebrate New Year

Retain Old Customs In Observing New Year In Canada

By JEAN STENTON

While most of the citizens of Peterborough slumber peacefully in their beds or wend their way home from late entertainment next Tuesday night, lights will be seen shining dimly from the backs of restaurants and small laundries. For the Chinese will be celebrating their New Year.

Those who did not have to work that day will either have gone to Toronto for a more elaborate celebration or had a big dinner earlier in the evening. But the restaurants which are open till 1 o'clock and the laundries will have their New Year's meal after the day's work is done, instead of the usual midnight supper. As the chopsticks flash merrily, these people will enjoy the special dishes which have mostly to be brought from Toronto, and their thoughts will go back to the holidays that they celebrated in the Old Land and which their families are still observing in a similar fashion.

Unlike our New Year's which is one day later in the week each year, the Chinese New Year, based on the moon calendar, is much more flexible. In 1950 it was several days earlier. This year it is February 6.

Get New Start

The New Year's celebration is one of the most important holidays to the Chinese people. It is a day when old enmities are laid aside and all debts paid. Children are dressed in new clothes, some of them perhaps a red color . . . red being the sign of good luck.

New Year's day in China is a day to be celebrated in the bosom of one's own family and the door is closed to the outside world. Meals are simple with rice and vegetables and little meat. Beginning the day after New Year's gaiety becomes the password. For several days, perhaps as many as five to 10, families will go to call on their friends and their friends will go to call on them. There will be special foods served and everyone will extend best wishes and congratulations for a happy new year.

For the children too it is a special day. They will have received gifts of money wrapped in red paper, and they will enjoy a buying spree similar to their Canadian cousins when they get 50 cents or a dollar. Mother may have to pass out the stomach medicine afterwards, but everyone will have had a marvellous time.

Dragon Pays Visit

While there is not too much likelihood of the dragon shaking himself awake and dancing down the streets of Peterborough, perhaps in Toronto and Vancouver he may be enticed from his lair. He most certainly will grace all celebrations in China. Sometimes he is a big dragon, sometimes a little one, but he symbolizes good luck to the people wherever he passes.

First will be heard a sudden crackle of firecrackers, which are set off to rouse the dragon from his long slumber. Since he is a good dragon he will then dance through the streets in gratitude for his friends' welcome, on New Year's Eve. He may perhaps dance New Year's day too. But that is for a different purpose. Then, as he makes the rounds, he collects little balls wrapped in red paper which contain money. The animal, sometimes made of paper, is brilliantly colored and is propelled by several dancers. He is generally referred to as "the playful" or "dancing dragon."

Important Symbol

In China, the dragon is the most honored of animals. He is the symbol of the Taoists. He represents joy and happiness and all that is good in nature . . . not sorrow. The Chinese over the centuries have considered the dragon is like nature. The rolling hills represent the dragon's back; the waves of the ocean—the hungry monster; the rivers, twist and turn like the dragon; earthquakes resemble the dragon's rumble and the fire and smoke from volcanic eruptions are said to be smoke from the dragon's nostrils.

The Chinese say: "Treat the dragon kindly, and he will be good to you."

In Chinese mythology, the many dragons from early days were all connected with water. They dwelt in pools, rivers and the ocean. When they flew to the clouds, they brought rain; when they rose to the surface of the rivers, they brought floods; when they rose to the surface of the oceans, tides.

Great Influence

China was believed to experience droughts when the dragons slept peacefully in their pools in winter. In the spring when thunder and rain swept the country, it was thought that the dragons, awakening from their long sleep, had leaped into the skies and were battling each other. If they battled too long, there were floods.

From the earliest days, the dragon was an important symbol and influence in this great empire. The Emperor ascended the Dragon Throne. Until 1911, the symbol on the Chinese flag always included a dragon. When wars and revolutions laid waste the land, people said it was because the priests and the Emperor had failed to control the dragon. Therefore, the indignant peasants and citizens had the right to rebel.

Today of course, he is mainly a sign of good luck and the Chinese people regard him as a good and true friend.

Perhaps as the Chinese people of Peterborough softly exchange greetings of "Kung ho Aien nien," if you listen very carefully you may hear a faint sound. Perhaps the happy dragon will have relented and is prancing down George St. after all before he curls up to sleep quietly until the next new year rolls around.

DRAGON PLAYS IMPORTANT PART IN NEW YEAR

Propane Gas As Fuel For Truckers

City's Gas Works May Blossom Out As A Service Station

The old gas works down on Simcoe St. may yet blossom into a service station.

That was not a positive prospect sketched to the Utilities Commission the other day by their manager, Ross L. Dobbin, but it is at least a possibility. And, it might be exclusive business based on propane and its special mechanics of handling. If it emerges into actuality, it may yield some extra profit for what is left of the old gas works.

Propane gives you the mileage of gasoline at half the cost, and because it has to be chanelled through tanks constructed to withstand 200 pounds pressure to the square inch, commercial service stations are not likely to rush into competition if business ever gets around to inviting volume.

Development Outlined

Mr. Dobbin merely sketched the apparent potentiality of this development at the Utilities Commission meeting.

It may be recalled that the Commission made a swift switch about this time three years ago from the old method of making gas out of soft coal and oil and so forth. Costs of its ingredients was putting the production of gas in the red. The bare alternative was to go out of business or put in a propane plant.

The Commission is selling gas that has a higher heating factor than the old flame.

Propane is a companion product of gasoline, Mr. Dobbin told the Commission. Demand for gasoline shrinks during the winter months, so does its output, and from the same circumstances there is less propane on the market.

Propane is in liquid form when it arrives at the Utilities siding at the foot of Simcoe St. It s delivered in pressure tank cars, and is transferred to a tank container of the same pressure. When the presure is removed, it becomes volatile and changes to gas.

In the carburetor of a truck it would also become gas, with as much mileage as gasoline, but at only half the cost. Obviously there is a catch at that stage of delivery as power fuel. The truck would have to be equipped with a special tank and carburetor.

But, what would happen when the propane tank emptied on a long haul to Ottawa or Montreal? Service stations could not refill it. But, seperate equipment might be carried until another source of propane was reached. Possibly a supply might be carried in extra tanks.

For the present those are mechanical details, and, any way, the Utilities Commission is not counting service station revenue down Simcoe St. from Mr. Dobbin's speculation as to what may happen. He told the Commissioners that some truck operators have been enquiring lately into the handling and economy of propane.

Of special interest to them is the fact that they are set up and ready to do business, and if it develops the revenue would be mostly gravy.

COSSA Champs Three Years Given Club Bags

Junior COSSA football champions for three straight years, the PCVS juniors were presented Friday with leather club bags by the Board of Education. Dr. Ralph Honey, chairman of the board, and Stanley Adamson made the presentation at the students' senior assembly.

Before presenting the bags which had the players' initials and the words "Junior COSSA Champions" engraved in gold on each, Dr. Honey spoke briefly to the students about the feat of coach Alex Londry and his team. In winning the honors three straight years the juniors matched the PCVS seniors' stretch of two years ago.

The lakeshore district and the COSSA crests were presented at the same time as the luggage. Quarterback Bill Stewart thanked the Board of Education on behalf of the team.

"I'm glad the effort was sufficient to win the championships," said coach Londry. "The boys conducted themselves well both on and off the football field. All the trips were a pleasure to make."

For the football team, Larry Forbes, one of the outstanding linemen, presented their coach with an alarm clock. This was one of several gifts that the boys have given Mr. Londry.

May Retire

The 1950 season may have been coach Londry's last with the junior team. He is thinking of retiring to give more time to the studies of his students. During the five years as PCVS junior football coach he has built out of green material champion teams three times and COSSA finalists once.

The team: Coach Londry, Kenneth Armstrong, Fred Ash, Robert Boorman, Philip Chevalier, Ronald Dunn, Larry Forbes, Reg Fowler, Gary Gilders, Murray Grafstein, Dan Griffin, Jim Haggart, Hewitt Hamilton, Norman Hayward, Barry Hollingsworth, Spencer Hope, Geoffrey Huddart, Creighton Johnston, David Langhorne, Ronald McIlwain, Hugh Outram, Gary Patterson, Hugh Pollard, Fred Russell, Donald Scriver, William Stewart and Brian Turner.

Removing Unsightly Poles Bell Wires Underground

Just when DeLaval Company builds up a lawn that won a special award from the Horticultural Society last summer, along comes Bell Telephone Company with plans for a conduit trench, right across the green sward, as it will reappear next May. Putting telephone wires underground is an asset to any street. The Bell plan extends along the west side of Park St., from Romaine St., to the lane south of the Ovaltine plant where it climbs the new pole line of the Utilities Commission.

All that is on the side of civic improvement and permanent gain. It cuts out unsightly poles in a block or more of one side of Park St., but its announcement probably afflicts the sensibilities of Cecil L. Upper, general manager of DeLaval, as another case of that perverse fortuity for the caption "They'll Do It Every Time."

The man on the street, taxpayer he may be, has seen it happen with perplexing frequency. A road is smoothed out, even to a paved surface, and by accident or overlooked design something needs doing. Along comes a group of men with pick axes or compressed air chisel to cut a trench in the finished job.

At De Laval they have been gradually levelling up the lawn with top soil, fertilizing it and bringing out a deep verdure in the grass. Making sward of that quality takes years. People passing along Park St. noticed the steady improvement and the beautification of the factory premises.

Then, when it is all set, and nothing much remains to be done except nurse the lawn along in maintenance, news comes of the Bell stroke of improvement. To De Laval it was one of those unpredictable things.

To Bell Telephone it is an opportunity to sink wires out of sight, and keep poles off that side of Park St.

Says A. E. Sayers, Bell engineer, who feels the way you would about it: "We'll do the best we can to fill in the trench and put the sod back. It is a job that should be done before spring. We haven't a grounds man to look after it."

That is the way it stands now, As to Mr. Upper, he has not been interviewed.

Declining Roll Call Closes Peterborough Rural Schools

In less than 10 years 12 rural schools have closed because of declining attendance, says K. O. Birkin, inspector for Peterborough East. Since the beginning of September two public schools have been forced to close down.

This is contrary to the general trend across Canada. A survey made by the Canadian Education Association, revealed that 200 one-room schools are closed across the country. The reason is not declining attendance as in Peterborough, but a shortage of teachers to staff them.

Two Have Been Closed

Since the beginning of the school year SS No. 6, Burleigh, and SS No. 8, Belmont, have had to close their doors because there were not enough pupils to make it worth while maintaining a classroom. To offset this partially, is the re-opening of SS No. 14, Otonabee.

"It's a case of low enrolment with us, not the teacher shortage," was Mr. Birkin's comment.

The Department of Education may order closed any school that over a two-year period cannot average more than seven pupils.

School officials believe the reason for the falling away in pupil attendance is the gradual migration of rural families to urban centres. Big wages in industry are the chief lure.

The old folks may stay but the young ones are attracted to urban jobs paying big wages.

61 Schools in Area

In Peterborough East there are 61 schools open. The teachers are all fully-qualified with nine exceptions.

According to the Canadian Education Association there are nonqualified teachers in 3,900 rural schools throughout Canada.

Of the nine unqualified in Peterborough East, five have had some teacher training. Two of them failed to complete all their Normal school examinations. And three others are elderly teachers whose qualifications are not up to the most modern standards.

"Some of them can do a very good job," said Mr. Birkin. "Just because they are unqualified doesn't mean they can't give good instruction. It's a case of taking them or having no teachers at all."

Outlook in Canada

The teacher shortage in urban areas had improved 15 per cent in the last year, reports the CEA. Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, the Roman Catholic system in Quebec and Alberta reported no shortage in urban elementary and secondary schools. All four have shortages in rural schools.

The Canadian Education Association estimated the total shortage of teachers in Canada at 5,856. Teachers not fully qualified were counted as vacancies.

Newfoundland had most shortages with 1,330 vacancies, the Quebec Catholic system 1,200; New Brunswick 712; Manitoba 667; Saskatchewan 606; Nova Scotia 571; Ontario 308; Alberta 147; Quebec Protestant 144; British Columbia 100 and Prince Edward Island 71.

Ontario's shortage is made up of 82 in elementary schools, 23 in secondary schools and 203 in unqualified teachers now teaching in rural schools.

The number of teachers in training this year is 8,966, compared with 10,971 last year, a drop of almost 20 per cent.

Of 193 rural schools closed, 100 are in the Quebec Catholic system. Others are scattered among six of the other nine provinces. None is closed in Ontario, Saskatchewan or British Columbia.

The Association said Alberta paid its rural teachers a median salary of $2,187, highest in Canada. The lowest was the Quebec Catholic system, $900 a year. Figures for Newfoundland were not available.

Median rural teachers' salaries in other provinces:

Prince Edward Island, $1,075; Nova Scotia $1,300; New Brunswick, $1,275; Quebec Protestant, $1,200; Ontario, $1,813; Manitoba, $1,600; Saskatchewan, $1,650 and British Columbia, $1,900.

Driver Incoherent Charge Laid

A charge of careless driving was laid today against Morley Sucee, RR 11, Peterborough, after an accident at Aylmer and Edinburgh Sts. at 12.25 a.m.

Driver of the other car, Clarence Spencely, Lindsay, told police he had been driving west on Edinburgh and stopped at Aylmer St. There were no stop signs, but Spencely said he was not familiar with the intersection.

When he was about half-way across Aylmer, he saw a car coming from the north, and tried to avoid it by turning sharply to the south.

Sucee's car hit Spencely's on the left side and damage was estimated by PC Andre Dalton at $250 to Spencely's auto and $75 to Sucee's.

Police said Sucee had been drinking and was "incoherent" when questioned.

VEHICLES DAMAGED

A car driven by Allan Nice, 558 O'Connell Rd., and a truck driven by Ronald Loucks, 518 O'Connell Rd., collided Friday afternoon in front of Nice's home. Nice was driving east on O'Connell Rd. and about to turn north into his driveway when the Loucks truck hit his car. Slight damage was done.

Increase Of 400 In Unemployed

Persons on unemployment insurance Jan. 31 totalled 1,458, an increase of 400 since December 31, 1950, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment office, said today.

Mr. Mellis said that local men drawing funds were 847 and women 246 as compared with 808 men and 270 women last year. The number of postal claims, money by mail to unemployed persons outside the city, was 322 to men and 43 to women. Last year at the same time 432 men and 84 women were drawing unemployment insurance through postal claims.

Increased by Five

The unemployed persons in the district rose by five over 1950's January total. This year 1,575 men and women were registered as unemployed, 1,260 men and 335 women against 1,191 men and 399 women last year.

Job opportunities increased this year for both men and women. The office had 62 vacancies for men and 26 for women on January 31. Mr. Mellis compared these figures with only one vacancy for men and 16 for women in 1950.

Short-time claims, payments to people who are unemployed for only three or four days a week or on a weekly stagger system, number 117. These are mostly from Peterborough who are forced to work shorter hours due to shortage of materials in some of the factories.

Mr. Mellis added that 119 persons received unemployment insurance under the supplementary benefits clause which was introduced a year ago. These special claims are available to employees who lose their employment in the winter months and have either exhausted their benefits to which they are entitled or cannot qualify for it.

RELIGIOUS SECTION

A poll in Finland showed one out of five town dwellers indifferent to religion, but only one in 10 rural dwellers.

HOUSE No. 183.—The owners of this house wanted a house tailored to their taste — not just a run-of-the-mill variety. Very wisely they selected an architect well versed in designing small homes for modern families with an eye for traditional styling. Given a splendid ravine site, Architect W. G. Armstrong was off to a flying start, designing a neat Dutch Colonial home that is completely in harmony the owner's way of life, and the neighborhood in which it is situated. The owners were particularly fortunate in having the services of William Kilgour, builder, whose reputation as a craftsman is wel lestablished. Picture windows in the living room and dining room are carefully placed to give a vista of the wooded ravine. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Care Needed To Protect Home From Bad Weather

There has never been a time during the past century when protection of the home against weather (and the other destroying agents) has been so vitally necessary. Building materials for use in replacements and repairs are not to be easily had.

To the far-sighted individual, this very clearly shows the necessity of taking excellent care of his home and its component parts, and of protecting it against the ravages of weather and destructive insects. If the home owners of the country, as a body, were to embark on a program of home maintenance at this time, they would render a very distinct service to the nation and to themselves as well.

The average home is not such a complicated nor delicate structure that it requires the services of an expert builder to see what it needs in the line of attention. In fact any intelligent adult can inspect it and see where the weaknesses have developed.

Paint In Time

A paint neglected house is a house on the way to decay and determination. If it's painted now, in time, it will furnish years of additional service and comfortable housing. It will retain its value from a sales angle. It will not require expensive and probably unobtainable repairs.

Fire is a menace at all times. The utmost care should be taken with furnaces, fireplaces, electrical wiring and devices that generate heat. Carelessness should be ruled out entirely. Insurance policies must be in oder and premiums paid promptly. Everything possible should be done to protect the house against damage or loss by fire.

A very clever individual once made the stateemnt that he could keep his house in perfect repair by the use of only one instrument, the telephone. Probably he was right; but during the present, telephone orders for replacements of either materials or equipment are not liable to meet with the ready response they once did.

Clean Furnace

If your house is equipped with a coal-burning furnace, you might do well to see that it is cleaned and in proper working order. You might be careful in shaking it so as not to break the grates. Treat it as though you wanted it to last.

If you have an oil-burner, see that it is properly adjusted so that it burns economically. See that motors and blowers are oiled, so that bearings will last. Set the thermostat so that excessive temperatures are not worked up.

See that the gutters and leaders are in rpair so that they will protect the walls of the house and keep them from being soaked by the drainage from the roof.

Look over your windows, and make sure that the glass is tightly in place, and that the putty is not loose or missing. See that they work easily and do not have to be slammed and strained to operate them.

Vacuum-cleaners, electric fans, stoves, gasranges, locks and bolts, lamps, and the hundred and one other items of equipment that are in everyday use, should be put in proper working order to insure their continued usefulness, and do away with the necessity of replacing them.

Keep Out Moisture

When we speak of weather as a destroyer of homes, a lot of ground is covered with one word. The most damaging weather is the wet and damp variety, that soaks the exterior of the house, and worms its way into every crack and crevice that it can find.

The waterproof building paper that covers the wood sheathing of the walls, or the moisture resistant finish of structural insulating board, are further protections against dampness and decay within the wall structure. Flashings that affect the down-pour of water and shed it away from openings are additional safeguards. The gutters and down-spouts that collect the roof drainage, and lead it away from the house, do their part as protectors only if they are properly made and installed. Down-spouts should always be made of corrugated material so that they can expand, if they become choked with ice.

Coldwell Says UN Coverage Poor By Papers

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 —(CP) — M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, said Thursday in the Commons he regretted that the "news gathering agencies of the Canadian newspapers generally were not adequately represented at the United Nations."

Mr. Coldwell, a member of the Canadian delegation at the meetings of the General Assembly in New York last fall, said that from his observations "the great co-operative news gathering agency of the daily newspapers of Canada, The Canadian Press, had no representative there, at least for any length of time."

"The commercial organization, British United Press, as far as I know, had no representative there."

As a result, the Canadian people had to rely mainly on United States commentaries, commentators, and columnists for news on United Nations.

Not Enough Attention

Mr. Coldwell made the statements during the Throne-Speech debate. He said he did not think that members of Parliament, either collectively or individually, or the government have given enough attention to informing public opinion on events that were taking place and on what should be done to meet the threats now so apparent in world affairs.

What was true of members and of the government was "equally true," he believed, "of our public information agencies."

"In my opinion the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation did a first-class job in reporting the discussions at United Nations," he said. He also praised the work being done by Walter O'Hearn, United Nations correspondent for the Montreal Star, who also broadcasts commentaries.

From the start of the United Nations at San Francisco in 1945, The Canadian Press, co-operative news agency of the Canadian daily newspapers, has provided complete coverage of the world organization's work — its General Assemblies in London, Paris and New York and its many committee meetings at Lake Success.

This has comprised the reports of the Associated Press, the world-wide co-operative serving United States newspapers, and of Reuters News Agency, the British Commonwealth co-operative, in addition to the reports of CP staff representatives assigned as necessary to write news of particularly Canadian significance or interest.

NIKOLAI AND JOANNA GRAUDAN, of Russian birth and training, will appear at the Collegiate auditorium next Saturday in the third Community Concert of the season. Nikolai Graudan studied 'celló at St. Petersburgh Conservatory, taught there, and gave solo recitals in European centres. Joanna studied piano at Kharkov and in Berlin under Kreutzer and Schnabel. Since their marriage they have been giving joint recitals throughout the world. They came to the USA in 1938, where they have had high critical acclaim. This is their first Canadian tour.

Markets High In War, Peace Business Good

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Stock markets continued this week to ride high through a twilight zone of war and peace.

Some day, looking back, we'll be able to say one of two things: "It was obvious that new conditions were present and that prices would go higher;" or, "it was obvious that prices must break."

Looking in one light we may say: "There is nothing to make the market break." Every development today, be it continued fighting in Korea, rearming of ourselves and Europe, or, even war in Europe, all point to all business and industry being busy.

Looking in another light we may say: "It is illogical that money can continue to be made out of a war, even the 'part war' we have, and certainly not out of the Third World War: the first and second, perhaps, but not the Third, if it comes.

"If it doesn't come, then, perhaps, we may remain a while in a twilight zone. If it doesn't come, the productive part of the world should still be busy, for not again in our time will any part of the world be able to sit apart in comfort and peace while the rest of it is in poverty. This last could still mean money, for we in North America seem in these later years to be the privileged of the earth, and it just could be that we shall escape the punishment of privilege.".

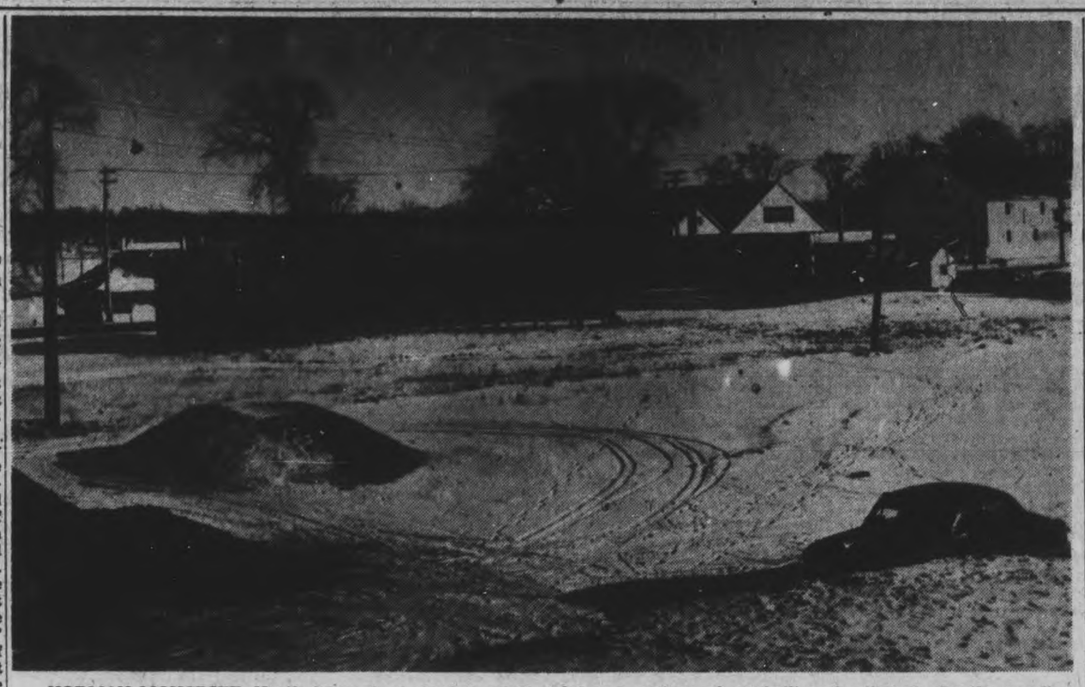
Reflect Condition

The hard facts of the stock market are that, though its reflection is often delayed, it must be a reflection of our condition.

The market has neither more nor less wisdom than the average person in figuring out that condition. Smart market operators have more wisdom in the sense that they may often successfully gauge a day-to-day situation. But as to what is going to happen tomorrow, they don't know. If you have any doubts on this, read the conflicting statements that are made by market experts.

Farther To Fall

The longer the bull market goes on, the greater can be its fall. And while most of the issues getting attention today are essentially sound, that doesn't mean their market price can't drop.



In six days' trading Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed these changes:

Industrials up 18.87 to 330.36; Golds down .92 at 90.52; Base Metals up 7.42 to 190.35; Western Oils up 4.06 at 97.17.

Changes in Montreal averages were:

Banks up 0.13 at 32.83; Utilities up 1.9 to 89.4; Industrials up 9.6 to 221.4; Combined up 7.0 at 177.4; Papers up 48.09 at 756.57; Golds off 1.52 at 66.18.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $390 to $95.90.

NORMAN MONCRIEF, North Monaghan market gardener, hasn't yet found one good word to say for this site of the outdoor market which is to be shifted from its historic and accustomed location at Water and Charlotte Streets to the vacant city lot opposite George St. wharf. He even overlooks the billboard windbreak. Otherwise it does look a bit bare, but this photograph was taken the day before the city moved a public rink shack down to the Rink St. lot as a gesture of goodwill and solicitude for the vending producers. They got along for nearly a century without protection from the weather up on Water St. Here they have ample parking space for buyers, and the scenic background of Little Lake. Things might have been worse, if the city had sold the market square a couple of years ago, and if the Memorial Community Centre had been built down here, where then would the producers have set up their counters?—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Students Visit Public Schools

PCVS students interested in teaching as a profsesion visited the public schools Thursday afternoon. Some observed the teachers working with the pupils but others made their debut before a class after a period of observation.

Thirty-seven boys and girls formed this interest group arranged by Howard Moebus, vocational guidance teacher, with P. D. Windrim, inspector of public schools. The students were in clases from kindergarten to Grade VIII in King George, King Edward, Queen Mary, Central and Confederation schools.

Churchgoing Revives In UK

LONDON—(CP)—People more at home in a public house than at a prayer meeting, imagine that Methodists are a narrow sect, concerned only with opposition to gambling, a man's glass of beer and Sunday games, says Dr. William Sangster, President of the Methodist conference.

"The suggestion that Methodists are without fun, is a lie," he said in a statement commenting on "the moral state of Great Britain.

"It is a pity that these critics do not inform themselves on the Church's toil to keep young people off the streets, the making of Christian homes, the contribution to the life of local communities and the nation," he added.

Dr. Sangster said that while surveys might show that 90 per cent of the people in Britain were Church-neglecting, they were not church-denying. Recent statistics indicated a favorable trend back to the Church and there was good reason to believe that the "corner has finally been turned."

Family Budget Tops List Of Canadians' Big Worries

By JACK SCOTT

How are people getting by on their income?

Item: "The thing I hate to give up most of all is having another baby. It was a decision I had to make. I decided I will not underfeed my present children to feed one more."

Item: "The children of lower income families such as mine are being raised on macaroni, hamburger and bread and they are not getting sufficient fresh fruit, vegetables or milk."

Item: "I see red when I find my husband neglecting his teeth for financial reasons."

Item: "We are scraping by but we live in constant dread of emergencies or unexpected costs. It happened to us a few weeks ago. One daughter sprained her arm, the second contacted a skin infection and then my husband had to have a cyst removed. There went our careful budget I now go out baby sitting to help us out of debt."

Item: "I work as a butcher by day and a candy-maker by night. I have become known to my friends as "Anything-for-a-buck" MacKenzie."

Item: "We are cutting down on everything, particularly food. I use such things as heart, tongue, shanks, rabbit and oxtails. Budgeting even on an income of $60 a week is like trying to find a way out of an endless squirrel cage. It becomes a major event to decide on getting half-soles on junior's shoes."

Item: "It is, indeed, a wearing struggle to maintain a family. It is only through abnegation that w get by at all. My wife and I have not been out together now for more than two years."

Item: "When I hear people with small families grumbling about the cost of living I have to laugh. We have ten kids. I don't dare write you how I feel about things. People would think I was a communist."

From Peterborough

These are excerpts from more than 200 letters I've received from Vancouver, Edmonton, Ottawa and Peterborough in the last two month.

These letters deal with the very personal and very important question of what today's cost of living has done to Canadian families. That subject will occupy this space for the next three or four days.

The letters come to me because I asked for them. I've been increasingly absorbed in the untold story of the self-denial and quiet agony of everyday Canadians struggling to cope with today's prices.

More than a month ago, in a column slugged "How Goes It?" I asked if you would write me your personal experiences.

I wanted to find out what it costs an average family for food, what they're saving for the future how they're staying out of debt, what the spiralling expenses of day-to-day life have done to our standard of living, what they think should be done about it.

Budget Top Worry

The response to this question confirms my suspicion that, with the possible exception of World War Three, the Family Budget is getting top priority in the nation's worry.

Yet it's the kind of subject that rarely makes news. The cost of living is front page stuff. What it means to the Jones family rarely breaks the surface of the news.

I think these letters give at least a quick glimpse of that story and I propose to let them speak for themselves.

Most of the writers ask for anonymity. A woman writes, "The big guy in my life is doing the best he can; why hurt and humiliate him?" A civil servant writes, "I can't even afford to complain." And so only the writers' initials will be used when we get down to cases.

No Security

Some quick generalities emerge from out of this immense stack of mail.

There is a genuine reluctance to complain. "I know the kind of rations they have in England," writes a Mrs. L. J., "and so I know I'm well off comparatively. I don't want Utopia, I don't want to be greedy. It's just that we worked so many years to better ourselves and now, at the peak of our earning power, we have yet to feel any sense of security."

Many, many letters speak of dipping into reserves to keep from going into the red. "In the last two years," says one typical letter, "we've gnawed away at our savings, sold our bonds and borrowed to the hilt of our insurance, yet I make a very decent wage."

The writers describe many kinds of "solutions". One man advises a daily period of Yogi-like meditation to erase the worry of what he calls "the quiet, undramatic struggle to make both ends meet."

We'll take a closer look at the struggle tomorrow with some real-life examples of how it goes.

Today's Pupils Have No Thought To Steal

TORONTO, Feb. 3—(CP)—A grey-haired law which sought to prevent small boys from raiding fruit orchards is on its way out.

Education Minister Porter presented a bill in the Ontario Legislature Friday to drop a section in the School Sites Act keeping township schools at least 100 yards from an orchard, garden or public pleasure ground.

The original law, he said, was a century old and was designed to remove temptation from pupils.

"Anyway," he said, patting his own education department on the back, "the pupils of today would not think of swiping anyone's peaches or apples."

Conick Injured As Tigers Win Over Dutchmen

The hopes of Hamilton Tigers clinging to third place in the Ontario Hockey Association major series, received a jolt last night.

Johnny Conick, Hamilton centre and one of the league's outstanding performers, was put out of action for an indefinite length of time last night in a rough game at Waterloo.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen came out with an 8-4 decision over the Tigers and narrowed the margin between the two bottom teams in league to a single point.

Conick, who has been vieing with Waterloo's Billy Flick for the league-scoring leadership, was boarded heavily in the first period by Art Hurst. He is feared to have a shoulder separation and fracture.

Billy Flick regained the scoring leadership with three goals and two assists. Don Bauer and Mickey Roth got two goals each and Dinny Flanagan got the other for the Dutchmen.

Claire Shillington scored twice and Tom Smelle and Murray Comfort once each for Hamilton.

Juniors

In the OHA Junior "A" series all 10 teams were in action last night although the outcome of the five games failed to change the order of the teams in the league standings.

Windsor Spitfires maintained their first-place lead with a 6-4 victory over ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's; Barrie remained a point back in second place with an 11-3 win over Galt Black Hawks; Guelph Biltmores defeated last-place Waterloo Hurricanes 12-4, and St. Catharines Teepees edged Toronto Marlboros 4-3. Stratford Kroehlers held eighth place with a 7-5 win over Oshawa Generals.

The game in Windsor was a rough, tough affair with the teams dividing 22 penalties, four of them majors. Eldor Thomas paced the Spitfires with a goal and two assists while Grosse scored a pair and Earl Johnson, Jack Weldrake, Bob Schiller and Bill Dineen scored for St. Mike's whose loss robbed them of a chance to move into eighth place.

Four Straight

The win in Barrie was the fourth straight for the Flyers. Real Chevrefils scored four goals and Jerry Toppazzini got two for Barrie. Chuck Woon, Dan O'Connor, Bill Hagan, Leo Labine and Jack McKnight got the others. Pete Conaver, Carruthers and Hill scored for Galt.

Fourth-place Guelph gained two points on third-place Marlboros by pasting Waterloo. Ron Murphy with three and Herk Dickenson with two paced the Biltmores' attack. Prentice, Houghton, Theberge, Laufman, Bathgate, Fontinato and Howell scored the other goals. Warren Godfgrey got two for Hurricanes and Warner and Mac Donald scored one each.

In St. Catharines a crowd of 2,000 saw the Teepees edge Marlboros. Robertson, Browne, Boone and Skip Teale scored for the winners. Ron Stewart, Chuck Lumsden and Dan Windley were the Marlboro scorers.

At Stratford, the Kroehler forward line of Guy Henri, Ray Ross and George Aitken contributed five of the seven goals. Bailey and Myles got the others. Jankowski and Dejordy got two each for Oshawa and Attersley got the other.

Stratford Triumphs Over Generals 7-5

STRATFORD, Feb. 3 (CP). — Stratford Kroehlers picked up two needed points by defeating Oshawa Generals 7-5 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" game here Friday night. The Kroehler forward line of Guy Henri, Ray Ross and George Aitken pumped five of the seven goals past Ed Crouch in the Oshawa goal.

Jankowski as usual was top performer for the visitors. He scored a pair of goals and the same number of assists.

Dejordy nicked two goals for Oshawa in seven seconds in the second period. Both came on assists from Jankowski.

Kroehlers led all the way, after taking a 3-1 lead in the opening period.

Dr. Holam Wins Two In Dufferin Races

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP). — Dr. Holam, owned by Wells and Hess of Morrisburg, Ont., and driven by Percy Robillard, scored a double victory in straight heats in the featured fifth race, a classified pace, at Dufferin Park Friday.

In the first heat he went to the front at the start and retained a forward position after being headed briefly by Nat McKinney. He again took command rounding the final turn then drew out in the final stages for an easy victory. Scotty H came wih a strong run in the stretch to be second with Count Hanover third.

Dr. Holman was steadied in back of the pace in the second heat, until he reached the home stretch, there Robillard sent him to the extreme outside and with a thrilling stretch drive just managed to edge Scotty H in a photo finish. Count Hanover was again third.

Shep Hanover, owned by D. R. Hamilton of Winnipeg and driven by Bob Silliphant, and Ray Harvester, owned and driven by Jack Bannerman of Stratford, shared honors in the fourth and secondary feature, when they won a heat each.

Blues Edge Gaels In Hoop Game

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP). — Three last-minute points by substitute centre Steve Carr enabled University of Toronto Blues to come from behind and edge Queen's University Gaels 35-34 in a senior intercollegiate basketball game at Hart House Friday night.

The victory was Varsity's first in two starts and produced a three-way tie for first place with McGill and University of Western Ontario. It was the second straight loss for Queen's.

The Gaels move to London tonight to meet University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

Queen's arrived late due to a train delay and hit the floor with only a brief warmup. Varsity piled up a 13-2 margin in the first quarter against the cold Gaels but the lead dwindled to 19-17 at the half.

Queen's forged ahead in the second half and led until the final minute when Carr's field goal and a foul shot resulting from a foul in his scoring play gave the Blues their margin.

The tiny Hart House floor and tight checking on both sides kept the score down. Bud Natanson, Toronto's six-foot, seven-inch centre, led the scorers with 11 points. Don Griffin led Queen's with nine.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Grants totalling $5,500 were turned over to minor leagues last night by the Ontario Hockey Association.

Of this sum, $1,500 was left over from last year, and $3,000 was the grant given the OHA by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The other $1,000 is the sum added to the CAHA grant by the OHA.

The money is divided among four districts. The Ontario Minor Hockey Association gets $2,750; Northern Association $1,500; Western Ontario Association $1,000 and the Rural Association $250.

In another move to support minor hockey the OHA decided to waive its share of the gate receipts and pay for referees at junior "D" playoffs this spring.

A team of Montreal fighters will take part in the annual newsboys boxing show to be staged at Maple Leaf Gardens, Feb. 12.

Matchmaker Vic Bagnato said Friday he has arranged for the clever Quebec bantam champion, Frankie Fitzgerald, to take part in the show. Fitzgerald was a tremendous hit on last year's card when he defeated Maurice Muir of the Toronto Oakwood A.C.

The annual boxing show is held in aid of the Toronto Newsboys' Welfare Fund.

Frank Clair of Evansville, Ind., who coached Toronto Argonauts to the Dominion championship in his first year in Canadian football, has turned down three coaching offers in the United States, club president Bob Moran said Friday.

Clair was in Toronto Thursday to discuss his future plans and Moran said he will return shortly to sign a new three-year contract with Argos.

Goalie Harry Lumley of Chicago Black Hawks is recovering from an intestinal disorder and is expected to play against the Maple Leafs in Toronto tonight.

Lumley was replaced in the nets in the opening minutes of play Thursday with Boston by Marcel Pelletier, rookie Milwaukee goalie. The Hawks went on to beat the Bruins and snap a 21-game losing streak.

Two other Hawks, Doug Bentley, with a pulled groin muscle, and Lee Fogolin, with a broken thumb, will be unable to play.

Manager Blinky Palermo said Friday night Ike Williams will defend his lightweight title in March.

Williams has three bouts lined up before he risks his crown. Ike fights Joe Micelli for the third time Feb. 12 at Philadelphia, Iggy Vaccari at Boston Feb. 19 and Arthur Persley at Providence, R.I., March 3.

His last title defence was against Freddie Dawson in December 1949. The National Boxing Association has ordered Williams to defend his crown before March 31.

Army Dumps Cornwall

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP).—Ottawa Army beat the league-leading Cornwall Calumets 6-3 at the Auditorium here Friday night in an Eastern Canada League hockey game which turned to a brawl before the final siren.

Gus Lebrun and Edgar Blondin squared off in the final period of the game to get five-minute misconduct penalties. Only a few minutes later Frank Couture and Giles Generaux achieved similar distinction.

Oshawa Rink Wins Tankard Lindsay Victors

TORONTO, Feb. 3—(CP)—Ontario's premier double rink curling prize, The Silver Tankard, was won Friday by Oshawa quartets skipped by Dr. J. Brock and A. J. Parkhill.

The Oshawa rinks scored a 34-29 victory over double rinks from Kingston in the finals of the Ontario Curling Association bonspiel at the Victoria Club here.

The Parkhill rink won 19-13 over H. M. Reid's foursome and the Dr. Brock aggregate was edged 16-15 by J. W. G. Sands. While splitting the individual contests, the Oshawa rinks scored a greater total of points to win the tankard.

It was the first time that an Oshawa double rink had copped the trophy, one of the oldest sporting prizes in existence. It has been in competition since 1874.

The secondary competition of the bonspiel—the Burden torphy—was won by a Lindsay double rink skipped by P. H. Skitch and H. C. Forsyth with a 28-19 win over Kitchener granite rinks led by C. Asmussen and J. A. Lucas.

Oshawa foursomes skipped by W. Minnett and Rev. J. A. Peremya defeated Wingham rinks of C. Renwick and J. R. Rae 30-28 to win the Governor-General's Trophy.

The Globe and Mail Trophy was won by another Kitchener Granite team headed by W. A. Clark and Alan Sherk. Their rinks beat the Brockville team skipped by O. Bigford and T. G. Goodison 42-25.

OHA Heads Untangle Int. Protest Squabble

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP). — The Ontario Hockey Association executive committee, attempting to unravel a complicated tangle in one of its Intermediate B groups, Friday upheld one protest and dismissed another.

Ugo Bolzon, who has played every game this season with Fergus in the Intermediate B Groups No. 1, was declared ineligible for further play as a result of a protest regarding residence filed by Hespeler.

In the other action the committee threw out a protest levelled against Elmira by Walkerton. Walkerton had charged that three Elmira players were living in Kitchener and thus were outside the Elmira zone under OHA residence rules.

Bolzon was ruled ineligible because it was believed he did not live in Fergus under the rules of the association. Bolzon said that while he lived on a farm near Fergus he had most of his meals at his parents' home in Guelph. The Fergus games already played will not be forfeited.

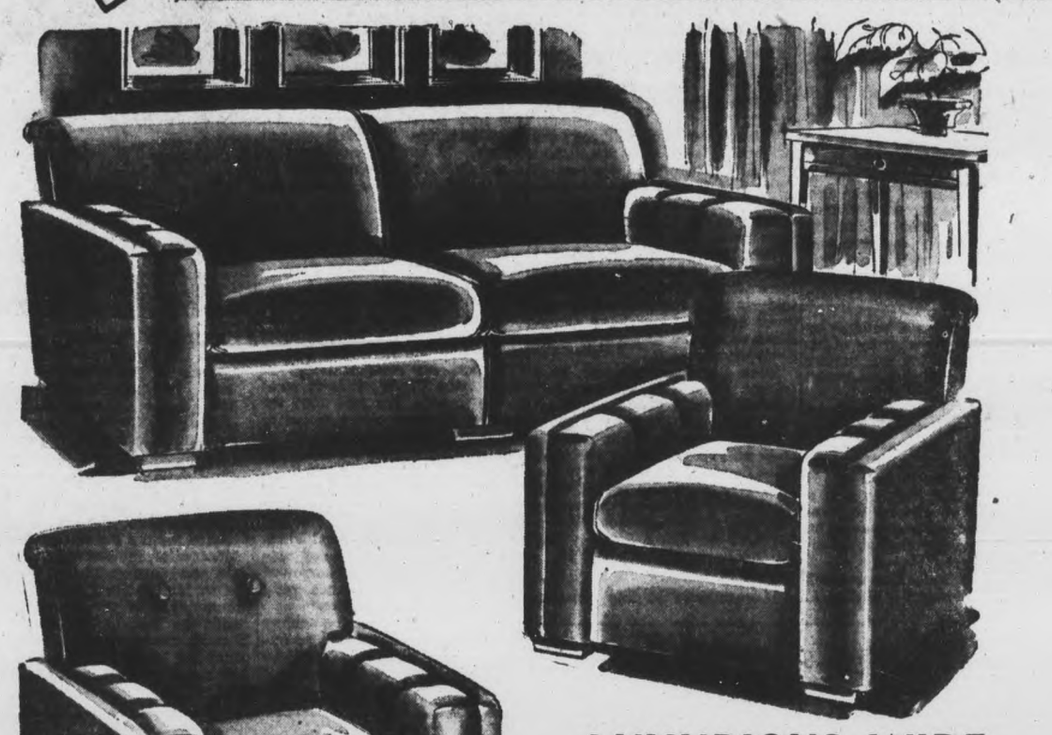
Dick Button Wins 8th U.S. Crown Over 3 Rivals



SEATTLE, Feb. 3 — (AP). — Mr. Skating of the world, 21-year-old Dick Button of Boston, last night won his sixth consecutive national senior men's figure-skating championship with a scintillating performance that carried him to victory over three rivals who had pursued him for years.

The Harvard collegian, who holds the Olympic, world North American and United States crowns, received three of five first-place votes in the night's free-skating competition. One other judge placed him second and the fifth judge rated him third.

Button had a narrow lead over Jimmy Grogan, 19, of Colorado Springs, in the compulsory school figures run off Thursday. On the basis of unofficial figures, Hayes Jenkins, Cleveland, rated on a par with Grogan in the free skating. Donal Laws, Washington, was certain to trail the others.

Button, with the poise and assurance of a champion, joined Seattle's Frances Dorsey in the list of '51 champions. The slender 15-year-old miss won the national junior ladies' title in the night's first event.

Hamilton Needs Room For Industrial Growth

HAMILTON, Feb. 3 (CP). — Mayor Lloyd Jackson indicated Friday he would ask Board of Control to move to take over the whole of Barton township. Present plans are for annexation of only 21,000 acres of the township.

Figuring largely in the mayor's consideration was Hamilton's need for industrial expansion room which Barton could supply.

"I also think that if the application were drafted to give protection to the farm element in the township from excessive taxation," Mayor Jackson continued, "the Barton ratepayers might be willing to accept this idea."

Farmers Suspend Reds

PORT DE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Feb. 3 (CP) — The Manitoba Farmers' Union, in fourth annual convention Friday, gave its board of directors power to suspend Communists or others who indulge in any subversive activity. Several delegates said public confidence in the union would dwindle unless the union expressed opposition to Communism.

MIRYANG, Korea, Feb. 3 (CP) —Canadian troops tonight began a five-day battalion exercise which will decide whether they are ready to swing into action in the Korean war.

This acid test wil enable the Canadans' commander, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone, to decide whether he needs until Feb. 15 to complete the training program decided upon last December by him and the late Gen. Walton Walker, United States Eighth Army commander.

Officers said if Col. Stone is satisfied with the performance of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the exercise he will not use the full time. He will then notify Lt.-Gen. Matthew Ridgway, the present Eighth Army head, and Brig. Tom Brodie, commander of the 29th British Commonwealth Brigade, that the Canadians' training is completed.

If the exercise shows that there are still wrinkles to be ironed out, Col. Stone still will have time to do this before the Feb. 15 deadline.

Mountainous Training Area

The exercise is being carried out in the mountainous training area the Patricias have been using since early January. The troops will be out the whole time, moving by night and staying hidden during the day.

They will carry two blankets and one day's rations with them and one hot meal will be brought up nightly.

Col. Stone took his company commanders on a reconnaissance of the area after issuing the order for the exercise Thursday. The fire plans for the artillery and mortars was laid on Thursday night. The orders were delivered today and the platoon commanders were then taken forward for their reconnaissance.

Lieut. Rick Constant, of Calgary, and his anti-tank platoon have been assigned the role of enemy in the scheme. They left camp with four days' rations and will get their water wherever they can find it, using purification tablets to prevent sickness.

The platoon has been given a free hand to probe, penetrate and harass the battalion as best as it can. It must leave a little picket labelled "Constant was here" to indicate any penetration of the battalion perimeter.

Riflemen Pass

Col. Stone, without any reservations, considers the individual riflemen trained to the specifications agreed between him and Gen. Walker—good night fighters skilled in fieldcraft and tough.

The exercise also is designed to test efficiency of platoon and company headquarters and to see how officers pass on information and conduct actions. It also is aimed at establishing the Patricias as a good battalion team and not just a collection of crackerjack sections.

The Eighth Army has assigned Major Ed Fenstemacher, of Lexington, S.C., to the battalion for two weeks to observe the scheme and what follows.

Defensive Role

The battalion's role in the scheme is to take up a defensive position. Mountains overlook the main supply route and the Patricias supposedly have been ordered to take up positions denying it to the enemy until ordered to withdraw.

The troops moved off tonight with orders to be dug in by the first light Saturday. They do not know it yet but on the night of Feb. 6 they will be ordered to withdraw by the first light of Feb. 7.

Although no ammunition will be used, there will be hypothetical casualties who will be labelled with injuries such as "amputated leg," "dead," and "walking wounded." This is to test stretcher bearers and a regimental aid post for the day when they will have to handle actual casualties in battle.

Consistent with "operations by night and concealment by day" there will be no casualty evacuations during the day.

Army MPs Fight In Korean War

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA, Feb. 3—(AP)—The military policeman in Korea contributes his full share of valor, fighting and dying.

He wages a continuous fight against guerillas and slippery infiltrating enemy troops. And he has seen some notable duty in the front lines.

Col. William M. Campbell, provost marshal of the 10th corps said:

"It took this strange Korean war to make military policemen realize they were just as much a part of the fighting team as the infantry soldier. Those who did not realize it right away damn soon learned."

M.P.S fought from foxholes at Kunu and ran the seven-mile gauntlet of fire there. On the narrow, treacherous mountain roads of Korea, military police patrols are frequently ambushed. They are experts at breaking up enemy road blocks.

Military police fought in the historic battles at Hagaru and Koto on the northeast front and played a big part in the successful withdrawal to Hamhung.

Military police screen the streams of refugees for infiltrating enemy.

"I stopped two oxcarts in succession," recalled Sgt. John Kash. "One was filled with mortar shells and the other with grenades."

And Sgt. Lester Klein said: "we want to do the kind of job over here that will be remembered. When we get home and someone asks us 'what did you do in Korea?' we want to be able to look him right in the eye and say 'I was an M.P.' and be proud to say it."

Invalid Woman Burns

TORONTO, Feb. 3—(CP)— A 63-year-old woman, alone and confined to a wheel chair, was burned to death Friday when fire gutted the rear of her home. Mrs. Elizabeth Hodges, whose husband has been in hospital for two weeks and in a critical condition after a major operation, was found near the chair where she had fallen in what appeared to be a vain attempt to escaped the flames. She had been confined to the chair since she broke her hip in a fall two years ago.

Want More Aid

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Greater federal and provincial aid to municipalities' education budgets was urged Friday by York county council. The council adopted a resolution from Deputy Reeve J. L. Maude, of Mimico, asking for the extra assistance. Mr. Maude said it would be only fitting for the federal government to divert some of its income tax revenues towards education.

Protest Thrown Out

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP)—A Quebec father of four children has protested—without success—the government's established policy, cutting income tax exemptions for dependent children who are eligible for family allowances. In a judgment made public Friday the Income Tax Appeal Board dismissed the appeal of Francois-Albert Angers, of St. Lambert, Que., who claimed a tax exemption of $300 for each of his four children, instead of the government's allowance of $100 only.

AFTER DAYS OF DEBATE, the UN political committee votes in favor of a U.S. resolution branding Communist China an aggressor in Korea. The vote, coming at the end of a night session at Lake Success, N.Y., was 44 to 7, with eight nations abstaining.

Rita Crough Is Cinderella Of the Y's Men's Club Ball

On the stroke of midnight Friday, with a heavy fanfare, Miss Rita Crough was acclaimed "Cinderella" by a throng of 600 guests attending the third annual Cinderella Ball in the Club Aragon. The "fairy godmother" in this story, however, is Mayor Swanston. He drew her name from a golden slipper, and with a wave of his finger Peterborough Y's Men's Club president Jack Richardson bestowed on Cinderella a complete spring ensemble. Her escort to the dance, Emile Duchesne, then received, instead of a lost slipper, a certificate for a fine new hat, also a gift from the club.

Miss Crough was wearing a lovely gown of orchid taffeta with sheer yoke at the Ball. She will be fitted later for the very smartly tailored spring suit, and green snakeskin shoes with which goes a matching handbag, and the ensemble is completed with a becoming hat, gloves and a brilliant lapel pin. The outfit was modelled before the draw by Mrs. Morton Knox.

There were some other lucky persons at the dance: Miss Agnes Wright who won a beautiful brilliant necklace, and Mrs. Vern Ferguson, Mrs. Gerald McKinnon, Mrs. R. Merchant, Mrs. W. C. Webster and Miss B. Barr who each received a pair of nylon hose.

Holder of the "lucky slipper" was Miss Marcelle Colas whose prize was a pair of brilliant clips, and her escort Mr. Gordon Gutseil received a fine pair of cuff links.

Other nice prizes were given to the spot dance winners, Miss Barbara Wood and Mr. Cyril Davis, Miss Rose Lashwa and Mr. Raymond Gooley.

Favors to the ladies were small bottles of perfume and small lipsticks. These were handed out at the door by Misses Elva Boate, Marilyn Armitage and Doris Green. Y's Men were on hand to take tickets and assist with reservations, and Joe Watson, who was in charge of the dance arrangements, looked after awarding of the prizes.

German Reaction To Cold War Dance Parodies

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN — (AP) — Berlin's smart showmen have wrapped up Johann Strauss and the cold war into a capsule that has produced the town's biggest hit in years.

The show is a revival of the waltz king's ever - popular "Wiener Blut," with some bell-ringing twentieth century touches.

It has been sold out for a month. Both East and West Berliners jam the ticket window for every performance.

They sit through the Strauss waltzes and gay ballet pirouettes in dreamy retrospect of better days. The operetta flows along like in Strauss' time until the middle of the second act.

Act Brings Down House

Out of nowhere appear two drably-clad dancers of doleful mien and loose joints. They go into an eccentric routine much like old four-a-day vaudeville, circuit business.

The audience giggles, then bursts into a roar. Feet stamping, whistling, cheering and even shouting prove the producers know their Berliners. The act brings down the house. Here's why:

The dance is done to a cleverly disguised version of the old "March of Radetzky." This is the martial air used for generations of goose-stepping imperial Germany.

Real Goose Step

The slinky dancers turn it into a complete fiasco. Then, as the last few bars of music are heard, they suddenly swing into the real goose step. This lasts only a moment. Their shoulders droop and they develop a furtive look as though they had just been caught stealing.

As they edge toward their exit, they turn wise looks on the shrieking audience, shake their heads and their fingers in the internation "no" gesture as much as to say: "Not us."

The act runs the gamut of present day German emotions . . . bitterness over militarism that got them into a mess, the current political argument over whether Germans should again be armed against Communism, and finally the equally sharp argument within Germans over whether they want to be armed.

The act gets so many curtain calls that the cast must finally proceed with the resumption of pure Strauss operetta under some difficulties. The director recaptures the Vienna mood by quickly swinging into a ballet built around the "Emperor Waltz" which holds top rating in German hearts.

Nevertheless it isn't the Emperor Waltz that is being whistled or hummed by the audience as it leaves. It is the fox-trotted, parodied Radetzky March.

Williamson conducted the worship service with the theme, "His Silent Presence." Mrs. D. Gourley had charge of the study period, assisted by Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. C. Weldon, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. J. Allen who gave reports on the work of the church in Japan on Christian education, youth work, women's work, rural work and Christian education. Mrs. Gourley introduced two study books.

Can Face Menace of Future With Heritage Convictions

Dr. Eldon P. Ray, a Maritimer who has been in this city the past six years, gave the Women's Art Association, at the studio meeting Friday afternoon, suggestions of the influences which make Canadians as they are. He titled his address "Our British Heritage" and outlined the history of the British Isles which is the background of Canadian customs.

"First is the inherited language—English—rich in power of expression." It has undergone many changes in the centuries, he pointed out, but has remained forceful and emphatic, capable of expressing wide ranges of emotion.

Canadian religious beliefs and convictions of the Christian faith also stem from the people of the British Isles who knew their Bible well and read it daily at family gatherings. From them was learned the rule to value and respect the view of others and hold religion as a personal and not a state matter.

Tracing the religious changes of Britishers he showed how they brought a new set of hopes and ideals to factory employees which are now enjoyed by Canadians. Said Dr. Ray: "Thus we owe our religious ideals, churches and habits of Bible reading to our British ancestors."

The British look upon every person as some worth and the monarchy and afterward the government as ruler spread a shadow of protection over the lowest in the land. From this stems the system of juries and fair trials and the assurance that everyone will be considered innocent until proved guilty of a crime; the right to express opinions freely as long as they do not infringe on the liberty of others—a point taken for granted in present day, he remarked.

The right to petition, to attend public meetings and to belong to associations, such as the Women's Art Association, were pointed out by Dr. Ray as "our British heritage." These rights are all based on the concept that a "thinking person" is free to mingle with kings, or, to be modern, with dictators.

Genius of the British in evolving a government by the people is a priceless heritage bestowed on us and one adopted by the United States as well he said. The custom of having a bill passed three times by the Commons is now continued in all countries of British origin. There is inground in all these people too a feeling of loyalty to the crown which was evident in the time of Tudor rule when subjects were be-headed.

"We have inherited a way of life stressing the value of the individual as an individual, one who has recognized rights and respects the rights of others and realization that freedom carries with it these duties" said the speaker. "With such firm convictions the people of Canada can face the insidious menace of Communist teachings that are creeping in. The need to uphold these convictions is obvious," Dr. Ray concluded.

Rejected Story Destroyed Offer Too Late

TORONTO—(CP) —A former school teacher in New Brunswick once wrote 200,000 words in long hand about her own experience and sent the manuscript off to a New York publisher.

She told how she met a man and married him. Back from her honeymoon, she discovered her husband was a widower with six children ranging in age from one year to 10 years. She related how she coped with the surprise and what happened. The story had a happy ending.

Margaret Aitken, in her Toronto Telegram column, recently described what happened to the book manuscript after it went to New York.

"The U.S. publishers liked the story. It was original, alive and vital. It was also badly written verbose, awkward and too, too wordy. They told the author so and suggested she might get a professional writer to do a job on the book. They never heard from her again.

Recently a representative of one of the largest of the US magazines (also one of the best paying for fiction) dropped in to see the above-mentioned New York publishers. The magazine man moaned and groaned about fiction.

"The publisher suddenly remembered about the Canadian woman's story. He mentioned it. The magazine man said that was exactly what they wanted, and they could easily have the writing shipped into shape.

"A telephone call was promptly put in for the New Brunswick city. A surprised woman listened to the magazine man's request that she send her book up immediately, air mail, special delivery. I don't know if money was mentioned, but. if so, it was probably around $10,000.

"There was a long, long silence down there in New Brunswick. Then a weak, trembling voice came over the line:

"'When the publishers said it was badly written, I destroyed my book.'"

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Help For The Only Child

By NANCY CLEAVER

The old saying, "only child, lonely child," came from a generation ago when large families were common. The 'only child' family was the exception and sympathy was given to the poor youngster without brothers or sisters. Today there are many one child families, or homes where the spacing of children makes a younger or older child live almost the life of an only child. Parents resent their only son or only daughter being the object of pity. Yet there is a kernel of truth in the old warning. Parents, if they have only one child, should try to be objective about the drawbacks of their child's situation.

In the first place, adult companionship never can fill the child's need for friends his own age. No matter how understanding a mother may be, or how devoted is a father's love, still parents are only parents. They, belong to the world of grown-ups. They are not "Little People."

The only child rarely, if ever, suffers from neglect, but rather from too much attention. Since birth he has held the stage. Because there was only one baby in the family, he seemed extra precious. Mother was tempted to be too protective in her attitude to him.

Thus it happens that unless parents guard against the dangers in the only child's environment, they may develop either a little "show-off' or a "mother's baby." Neither of these are popular with playmates. Nor do they make for happiness.

Mother and dad must not indulge their desire frequently to display the superior charm or ability of their only child. It is natural that he sing or recite or show some talent. But let him do this at the same time as a little playmate or a small cousin at a family gathering.

A certain amount of rough and tumble play for school age children, especially boys, is inevitable. The mother of an only child must not prevent him from climbing trees or riding a bicycle or doing any of the numerous things a small boy delights in. She has a right to know that reasonable safety precautions are taken. After that she will just have to let him take his chances with the other children. If they suspect a child is "tied to his mother's apron strings," they will taunt him.

There are certain definite things which parents of only children can do. The most obvious one is to ask the question, "would it be wise to have another child in our family, if necessary by adoption?"

Many parents in recent years will testify to how happily their own child and an adopted brother or sister get along. If adding a child to the family is out of the question, for health or financial or other reasons, there are still practical ways to prevent the only child from being stranded on an island of loneliness.

Mother and dad can see to it that he has ample chance to play with other children. His friends should be made welcome in his house. Co-operative play equipment indoors and outside in the yard is of great value.

Vacations may provide the chance for a cousin or friend to visit with him. When he is older, the group loyalty in an organization like Cubs or Explorers and

DOROTHY DIX

Most Homes are Said Cursed With a Human Wet Blanket

Did you ever have to live in a house with a chronic discourager? I have and, believe me, between the two I would choose a cheerful safe-cracker or an optimistic murderess every time for a steady companion.

Dorothy Dix

To my thinking there is no other creature, whether two - footed or four-footed or crawling on its belly, that is so loathsome and does so much harm in the world as the human wet blanket. Certainly no one else does so much to take away the joy of living from their fellow creatures. No one else puts out the fire on so many altars. No one else pushes so many people down into failure.

And, alas, these pests abound in such great numbers there is scarcely a house that is not cursed by having one or more of them in it. There is nearly always a pessimistic husband, or a lachrimose wife, or a croaking old grandfather or grandmother, or an Aunt Sally who just knows that everything is going to turn out all wrong.

They Kill Enthusiasm

No matter what you want to do, they throw cold water on it until they have taken all the starch out of your plans and melted your enthusiasm. If you want to go into a new business, they prophesy failure until you lose your confidence in it yourself. If you make a new friend, they pick him or her to pieces until you wonder what made you think him or her charming. If you start on a pleasure jaunt, they recite the statistics on automobile accidents and airplane crashes and railroad wrecks and ask you if you have made your will and are prepared to meet your Maker.

If you buy a new dress or hat, they take all of your enjoyment out of it by saying that it isn't your color and the lines make you look fat. When you marry your ideal, they never rest until they wake you up from love's young dream by pointing out Maud's faults and John's shortcomings until they make you feel that you are a sucker who had a gold brick unloaded on you at the altar.

Now the Constitution guarantees everybody the right to the pursuit of happiness in his own way, and if these Gloomy Guses and Gustines get a kick out of seeing everything through dark glasses and refuse to admit that there is a ray of sunshine or a gleam of hope in the world, why, let them enjoy themselves in their blue and bilious manner so long as they let the balance of us alone. But they won't do this. They can't be satisfied until they have made everybody about them as miserable as they are themselves.

Their Mates Suffer

You can always tell a woman who is married to a chronic discourager because of the way she has slacked down and the oh-what's-the-use look that she wears. Even her permanent is stringy as if it didn't have enough pep to stand up and take it any longer. And she doesn't bother to doll herself up and fix up the house and put some flavor in the cooking.

She used to be on her tip toes when she was first married, but after her husband had doused her every effort to please him she just lost heart in her job. What was the use of trying to look pretty for a man who never remarked on anything but the price of her frocks and whose only comment on a perfect dinner was that the pie crust had too much butter in it?

And by the same signs and tokens you can know the husband who is married to a chronic discourager. He is the meek, downtrodden drudge who sits on the same stool in an acounting room for forty years because his wife has melted down all his courage with her dismal prophecies of failure until he is scared to ask for a raise in salary. He started out full of hope and faith in himself. He was going to do great things. He wanted to go into business for himself. There were good openings that he wanted to take. But his wife's lack of faith in him made him lose faith in himself and he settled down into being a failure.

But it is the children who are the most pitiful victims of the chronic discourager. They are too young and ignorant to know how to discount their parents' croakings. And so, when their fathers and mothers tell them that they cannot do what other men and women have done; that there are no opportunities to rise in the world nowadays, they believe the pessimistic doctrine. It saps their courage. It quenches their ambition. It turns them into quitters who are licked before they ever begin to fight.

There are many evil men and women in the world, but I doubt if any do more ham than the chronic discouragers.

What's Right

You are going "steady" with a young man.

WRONG: Feel that gives you the right to telephone him whenever you like.

RIGHT: Let him telephone you, if you don't want his family to think you are chasing after him or that you have become too possessive.

U.K. Aristocracy Finds Tax Levies Crippling Burden

By SIDNEY TAYLOR

LONDON — (Reuters) — The British aristrocracy, groaning under crippling death duties and other "levelling down" taxation, sold many of their lands and treasures in 1950. Still more are scheduled to go in 1951.

In the struggle to pay maintenance costs and government demands last year, they broke up historic estates, let ancestral homes pass to strangers, opened castles at a shilling a look to sightseers and sent vanloads of family heirlooms to the London auction sales.

At Sotheby's and Christie's auction rooms three dukes, two marquesses and a marchioness said goodbye to precious possessions. So did nine earls, five viscounts, 10 barons and four baronesses.

Under their own names, they disposed of the best part of $1,400,000 worth of old masters, jewelery, antique gold and silver, porcelain and early printed books. How much they, and others, sold anonymously is anybody's guess.

Sometimes, they were just getting rid of things they no longer wanted. But usually the driving force was taxation.

Heavy Death Duties

If maintenance expenses are the great worry of the landed gentry, death duties are their nightmare. Since the Labor government's 1946 budget, the maximum duty payable at death on estates exceeding $5,600,000 is 75 per cent. This tremendous tax has done more than anything else to break up ducal estates. Few remain.

The Duke of Norfolk, England's premier duke and holder of titles dating back to the 12th and 13th centuries, has prophesied that within three generations all Britain's large country estates will be split up or in the hands of the government.

As the first half of the century of the common man passes into the second, a British peer thinks himself lucky if he can save his favorite home—usually one of his lesser ones—by selling parcels of his land or giving them outright to the government, as Viscount Portman did.

The number of stately homes of England now open to the public at a shilling or half-a-crown a time rose in 1950 to more than 80. For the purpose of taxation they became "business premises" and the noble lords were allowed to charge expenses. A duke in modern England may be a guide to visitors in his own mansion. A duchess may have to make tea—just as an opening gesture, of course—to the crowds who want to see how the nobility live.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: When you published the recipe for Anna's Tea Biscuits you solved one of my baking and cooking problems so very well, that I am now writing to you for further help.

I should like to have your recipe for Creamed Mushrooms, and also a good recipe for Hamburger Patties.

I follow your column and would be glad to have these recipes either through the column or by mail. Thank you for the assistance in your fine column.

Mrs. Brown

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am always especially glad when a reader finally finds something in the column she has been watching and waiting for.

✧ ✧ ✧

Creamed Mushrooms

Clean mushrooms by washing in cold water and brushing lightly. Very little needs to be trimmed off if any. Slice in about 5 or 6 lengthwise slices. Melt 5 tablespoons butter and saute the mushrooms in this until they have soaked up the butter and are soft —do not brown them or they dry out too much. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and 2 tablespoons flour, and stir this in. Now add either 1 cup whole milk or cream or half and half of each. Stir until thick. Serve on toast.

There are many variations of the above. You can substitute hot water or chicken soup or stock for the milk and stir in 1 beaten egg. A chopped canned pimiento is a good addition to either variation.

Hamburger Patties

One and one-half lbs. ground beef, 2 eggs, ½ to ¾ cup soft bread-crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅓ cup milk, 2 tablepsoons chopped onion and flour. You can mix all these ingredients in the order given and shape into thick meat cakes and pan or oven broil them. Do not overcook them. Leave a small pink area in the centre or they are too firm.

OR Beat the eggs and mix with meat, breadcrumbs, milk, salt and pepper. Brown the onions in fat in frying pan and add to meat mixture. Mould into patties and sprinkle with flour. Fry in small amount of fat in hot pan turning over until well browned on both sides. Place on hot platter. Thicken liquor in pan with flour paste made with cold water for gravy.

Poultry seasoning, Worcestershire sauce, catsup, curry powder, tomato juice instead of milk are additions or variations you might make at different times.

Italian style hamburger contain up to ¼ lb. grated old cheese and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. I like a little garlic, chopped extremely finely, in this latter style.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I would like to say how much I enjoy the column by Mary Moore. I find it very helpful. M. I. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks so much for the tribute from so far away. I would like to say how much I would love to live in your beautiful town.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I read your column with wonderful ideas on cooking and mislaid the recipe for Hollandaise or Hock Hollandaise. Will you please print it again? Also say what it can be served with. I would like recipe for pickled eggs. Mrs. Ed: M.

Hollandaise

Three tablespoons butter, 2 egg yolks, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, ½ cup boiling water, 1 tablepsoon lemon juice. Cream the butter very well, then beat the yolks into it very well. Add the seasonings, then add the boiling water while stirring constantly. Place over simmering water and stir until thick. Immediately remove from heat Add lemon juice stirring. This must be served at once. I like it best on green vegetables such as broccoli, asparagus, Brussels sprouts. But it is commonly used on cauliflower, fish steaks, baked fish or broiled fish cutlets. Another popular use is on poached eggs on slice of fried ham on toast. This is called Eggs Benedict.

Mock Hollandaise

One cup rich white sauce (2 tablespoons each flour, butter and 1 cup rich milk), 2 additional tablepsoons butter, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add butter, 1 tablespoon at a time to the thick hot white sauce and blend well. Add the yolk and stir over low heat 1 minute. Add lemon juice.

✧ ✧ ✧

Pickled Eggs

Twelve hard-cooked eggs, 1 quart vinegar, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, salt, pepper. Remove shells from eggs. Boil vinegar and add seasonings. Pour in glass jar. Drop in eggs, cover and let stand 10 days before serving. If desired cloves may be put in vinegar too, or stuck in the eggs. Coloring may be added to the vinegar. Green Pickled Eggs are very pretty when carefully sliced and used as a garnish for salads—especially around March 17.

Aged Couple Granted Divorce Friday

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3—(AP) —A 79-year-old woman was granted a divorce Friday because an 80-year-old husband made amorous advances to her.

The court ruled for Mrs. Mary Jane Wells Stratton, holding that her husband, Dwight F. Stratton, had violated a pre-nuptial agreement that the marriage would be one in name only.

Stratton had sued for annulment, complaining that his bride, whom he wed Feb. 27, 1950, resisted his romantic proposals. He asked that her name be removed from the deed of his home.

The court returned the home to Stratton.

How much we miss you yet.

Your love remains with us yet,
For you were the kind of a father,
That we could never forget.

Never to part again.

TUCKER—In memory of Mrs. Joseph Tucker, who passed away Feb. 3, 1949.
There the buds from earth transplanted,
For our coming watch and wait,
In the upper garden growing,

By the grief so hard to bear,
We shall meet her some bright morning,
In the upper garden there

Edward Clark Buried At Brooklin Cemetery

HAVELOCK, Feb. 3 (ENS).—The funeral of Edward John Clark, 54, of Belmont Township, took place Wednesday from Town's Funeral Home at Whitby. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. W. Davidson of Whitby. Burial was in Groveside Cemetery, at Brooklin.

A native of Belmont Township, Mr. Clark was a son of the late Stephen and Elizabeth Clark, and lived all of his life in this district. He was a member of Havelock LOL 326 for many years, and was an adherent of the Faith Mission.

Cody and Mrs. L. Murphy of Toronto, Mrs. J. Christopherson of Brighton, and Mrs. M. Davidson of Belmont Township. There are four grandchildren.

Pall-bearers were Orville Casement of Oshawa, a brother-in-law Dr. R. W. Boyden of Toronto, and his two sons Ross and Donald.

Did Sir William

It was Peterborough's misfortune that by 1870 no railway could be built by local financing without the support of Montreal or Toronto capital. Montreal was more interested in promoting the Canadian Pacific and Intercolonial Railways, and steamship companies; Toronto financed only railways like the Grand Trunk that would feed trade toward the city and its industries. Neither city cared to provide money to build railways through Peterborough to facilitate the lumber trade south across Lake Ontario, especially when depression and tariffs were lowering profits on such exports. The sum total of district railway schemes in this decade gave Peterborough no improved rail communications, while she was helpless with her water and rail connections to prevent the north country trade being funnelled from Haliburton and Northern Peterborough and Victoria Counties through Lindsay to Port Hope and Whitby, and through Uxbridge to Toronto. Peterborough County with 40 miles of railway (much of it of little use) was no match for Victoria County with 175 miles of track. The effects were far-reaching on the economy and prosperity of the Kawartha district.

To conclude this section, some 1875-8 railway timetables follow:

Midland Railway: 1875: Northbound: leave Port Hope 10:10 a.m., arrive Peterborough 12:25 noon, arrive Lakefield 1 p.m. (daily). Leave Port Hope 5:30 p.m., arrive Peterborough 7:40 p.m., arrive Lakefield 8:15 p.m.

Southbound: leave Lakefield 2 p.m., leave Peterborough 3:30 p.m., arrive Port Hope 5:25 p.m. Leave Lakefield 5 a.m., leave Peterborough 5:50 a.m., arrive Port Hope 8:45 a.m.

(Connections at Port Hope with GTR and steamers, at Millbrook with line to Lindsay, at Peterborough with stagelines east, at Lakefield with steamers for Stony Lake.)

By 1878 the Midland was operating 3 trains daily, Port Hope to Peterborough and return, also 3 trains daily to Lindsay and return. At Lindsay connection was made with the Crandell steamers for Fenelon, Bobcaygeon, Bridgenorth, etc. The Midland ran a train Lindsay to Toronto daily; fare 30c first-class, 25c second-class, 20c third-class, one way; freight was 15c per hundredweight, or fourth-class for the same trip.

Whitby, Port Perry & Lindsay Railway: twice daily, Whitby to Lindsay and return.

Victoria Railway: Monday, Wednesday and Friday from Lindsay to Fenelon Falls and Kinmount, returning Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday; connections at Fenelon with stage to Bobcaygeon and at Kinmount with stages to Minden and Haliburton (until line extended to Haliburton).

Toronto & Nipissing Railway: Toronto to Coboconk twice daily and return.

Help For Only Child

a shared camp holiday will help the only child to get along with others in his own age group.

A pet and hobbies are very important to the happiness of an only child. He can't always have a chum with him, but he can find in the devotion of a dog or in the fun of creative work many satisfying hours. A love of music and reading are two resources for the only child. So is an enthusiasm for the out-of-doors. Many worthwhile interests are a partial compensation to the child who finds himself without brothers or sisters.

Husband Charged

GRANBY, Que., Feb. 3—(CP)—Oscar Senecal, 52, a nearby Waterloo farmer, was held criminally responsible Friday night for the death last fall of his wife, whose body was exhumed this week following a provincial police investigation. A coroner's inquest found Senecal responsible and police said a murder charge will be laid against him in Sweetsburg, Que., Monday. Senecal, father of five children, is said by police to have beaten his wife to death in a fit of jealousy last Nov. 7, and buried her body at the rear of his farmhouse.

WMS Hears Talk On Alcoholism

OMEMEE, Feb. 3—(ENS)—The meeting of Trinity United Church WMS was held Thursday at the home of Miss Jessie Lamb, with Mrs. H. Graham presiding and 25 ladies present.

The 1951 allocation was considered and suggestions made for a more even distribution of giving through the year, so that last-minute anxiety about reaching the objective might be avoided.

The supply convener reported material ordered for layettes and requested that donations of quilt materials be brought to the March sewing meeting.

Mrs. S. Moyer, temperance secretary, spoke on "The Fruits of Alcoholism," citing cases of neglect and cruelty to children, murder and suicide as some of the fruits. She expressed the opinion that sentences for such offences were too light—too many murder cases reduced to manslaughter making drunkenness an excuse for crime.

The president announced World Day of Prayer, February 9, at Christ Church, Omemee, and Presbyterial Tuesday, February 6, at Cambridge St. United Church, Lindsay. She also called attention to the fact that a room in the missionary residence at 506 Jarvis St., Toronto, is to be furnished at a cost of $350 as a memorial to the late Mrs. W. L. Smith, and a suitable memorial plaque provided.

Mrs. Smyth was Dean of Whitby school for 16 years and president of Bay of Quinte Conference Branch for eight years.

The worship service and the study were in charge of Mrs. T. J. Pogue, leader of Group 1. In the worship she was assisted by Mrs. E. Bradburn and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan. The study covered a survey of the schools and colleges in Japan to which the United Church contributes funds and missionaries. It was presented in the form of a skit by Mrs. T. J. Pogue, Mrs. Bert Pogue, Mrs. E. Mahood, Mrs. Geo. Mills and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan. Lunch was served by Group 1.

SASKATOON, Feb. 3—(CP)— Four Saskatoon constables were dismissed Friday for conduct, the police commission said, was likely to bring discredit to the force. Their dismissal was ordered after a three-day secret hearing by the commission centred on some cigarettes and chocolates allegedly taken by the men. The constables denied the allegation.

Seeks Claimants Salvage Money

LONDON —(CP)— The admiralty is still searching for claimants to share in more than $10,000 salvage money, awarded to 120 officers and men of the Royal Navy.

The money was awarded for helping save a cargo valued at more than £2,000,000 ($6,000,000) from the convoy ship, Samsylarna, torpedoed in 1944 while steaming through the Mediterranean. The ship was carrying silver bullion worth £1,000,000 as well as war supplies and other stores. The disabled vessel was taken in tow and finally beached off Benghazi, in Northern Africa.

The total salvage award originally amounted to nearly £19,000 but the admiralty assigned part of it to the cost of towing and repair.

So far only 44 applications have been received for a slice of the salvage fund, with these awards ranging from a few pounds to £300.

It may take years before the rest of the money is distributed as most of the men left the service long ago and trace of them has been lost. The admiralty will wait seven years for claims and whatever is then left of the money will revert to the treasury.

INCREASED DEMAND

Australia's coal consumption is around 18,500,000 tons a year and steadily increasing.

Living Costs Hit New High All Groups On Increase

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP)—Living costs continued to climb in December, boosting the official cost-of-living index by 1.4 points to a new high of 172.5 from 171.1. In reporting this Friday, the Bureau of Statistics also estimated that wholesale prices for selected industrial and farm products swept to new heights in January. That may be an intimation of what is yet to come for consumer prices.

For the cost-of-living index, a barometer of consumer costs, it was the biggest monthly increase since last June's 2.1-point climb. All groups surveyed moved to high, record-shattering ground.

The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, recorded price increases for meats, butter, vegetables, fruits, men's wear, furniture, blankets, carpets, telephone rates, laundry, coal, health care, barbers' fees, gasoline, street car fares and newspapers.

Eggs Down

Only item to slip was eggs, which dropped about 11 cents a dozen in December, following a sharp seasonal price decline.

It was the 10th monthly jump for the climbing index in 1950. The Bureau estimated that since August, 1939, it had increased 71.1 per cent.

Biggest of December's increases was in home-furnishings and services, which, on the impetus of higher prices for such things as furniture and telephone rates, climbed 3.4 points to a peak of 179.8 from 176.4.

Foods Up

The food sub-group moved up 1.4 points to 220.2 from 218.8; fuel and light advanced 1.5 points to 141.5 from 140.7; clothing went up 2.2 points to 187.1 from 184.9, and the miscellaneous column advanced 1.7 points to 135.8 from 134.1. The latter group was influenced by higher costs for health care, barbers' fees, gasoline, street car fares and newspapers.

Rents were not surveyed. They remained at the peak of 136.4 established in October.

In the wholesale field, the Bureau reported a 7.3-point advance in January for its composite index for 30 industrial materials, moving the barometer to 206.2 at Jan. 26, from 198.9 Dec. 29, 1950. This index is based on 1926 prices equalling 100.

Current strength was a reflection of higher quotations for wood pulp, tin ingots, linseed oil, rosin, steers, hogs and raw wool, the Bureau said.

Canadian farm product prices at wholesale level were firmer, too; the composite index registering an increase of 3.0 points to 147.7 from 144.7, in the month ending Jan. 26. Prices were higher for livestock, hides, skins, fowl, raw wool, rye, flaxseed, potatoes and onions.

Less TB In Quebec

QUEBEC, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Quebec's death-rate from tuberculosis and infectious diseases has dropped steadily during the past quarter-century but the proportion of deaths from cancer and heart disease have risen steadily. The highest tuberculosis death-rate in the province occurs in Ungava district, presumably among the Eskimo and Indian population.

Former Officer Helps Big Show

NEW YORK —(CP)— A grey-haired former Canadian Army officer, James Harvey, who took a brief fling at the movies before making good on the networks, is helping to run NBC's radio extravaganza "The Big Show."

The Ontario-born Harvey still talks in army terms when he discauses the Sunday night feature in NBC's Centre Theatre, where he is assistant director.

His job is to work as general assistant to producer-director Dee Engelbach, co-ordinating arrangements and helping to line up the glittering array of guest stars who exchange badinage with mistress of ceremonies Tallulah Bankhead.

With an inter-com headset strapped on, Harvey relays cues from Engelbach to Miss Bankhead, the guest stars and the lighting engineers.

"It's just like a tank," says the 40-year-old Harvey about his communication system.

Like It Too

He's happy with the show, too. "With the strategy of Engelbach and the tactics of Miss Bankhead 'The Big Show' is one of the most successful combined operations in the history of radio," he says, "I'm delighted to be part of it".

Born at Niagara-On-The-Lake, Harvey attended Ridley College in St. Catharines, where he first evinced an interest in show business. He acted in "Pyramus and Thisbe," and subsequently produced Aristophanes' "Frogs," which he had to rewrite for the boarding-school audience.

After prep school Harvey attended McGill University in Montreal, graduating in 1933 with a bachelor of commerce degree. He was active in college dramatics, produced an annual musical revue, and played three years of varsity football although he weighed only 132 pounds.

Worked in Oilfields

As a bachelor of commerce, Harvey took a three-month fling at the oil business, found it distasteful, and headed for Hollywood.

In the next two years he made the painful discovery that a college drama career, no matter how successful, is no guarantee of obtaining movie roles. In Hollywood, however, he got behind the scenes in radio, and that subsequently stood him in good stead.

On his way to a radio job in Detroit, Harvey was stranded in Texas. He took a brief job as driver of a nitro-glycerine truck in the oilfields.

In Detroit he did some producing and directing for station WWJ before he went to Toronto and produced a number of important shows for the CBC, including the "CBC Summer Theatre" and "Percy Faith Program."

In 1938 Harvey left the CBC to form his own package agency, Harvey Productions, Inc. At one time he had six radio shows out of Toronto, on the CBC and independent stations.

The following year he volunteered for active service with the Canadian Armored Corps. He rose from trooper to lieutenant and won his captaincy in the field. He refers to the mention in dispatches in his war record as having been awarded "for saving a bottle of scotch" while crossing the Rhine.

In 1945, Harvey joined NBC. He originated "Living—1948." He directed a D-Day anniversary program and he finds it particularly novel that he, a Canadian, drew critical acclaim for a July 4 documentary.

Racing Commission To Get More Power

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Broader powers of regulation and investigation for the Ontario Racing Commission are sought in a bill introduced in the Legislature Friday.

Commission members would be given the authority conferred on a commissioner under the Public Inquiries Act to look into any matter affecting horse racing or the operation of any track. Premier Frost said the bill would clarify and widen the powers of the commission granted when it was formed. The bill reclassifies commission regulations as administrative, rather than legislative, so they would not need to appear as notices in the Ontario Gazette.

It provides for wider control of licensing and collecting fees, and would require registration of racing colors and names, partnerships and contracts.

Drunk Epidemic

QUEBEC, Feb. 3 (CP)—Traffic Police Director Gerard Girard Friday night said in a statement there was "an epidemic" of drunken driving cases and that if the situation did not improve the police will examine the possibilities of posting constables on guard at the doors of "certain clubs, grills and bars." The police would try to get the keys from a man walking out of an establishment in an advanced state of inebriation. If he refused to hand over his keys, he would be arrested for said.

THE ROAD TO SAFETY for G.I.'s of the Second Division is blocked during the Korean withdrawal. Moving to the rescue are tanks and Tommies of the British Middlesex Regiment (pictured above). With air and artillery support, the Tommies broke the block and the G.I.'s streamed through, but their casualties were not slight. To their losses the Tommies had to add casualties of the previous day when they had unsuccessfully attempted to break the block without the aid of tanks, artillery and airplanes.

Circulation Up Only 97 Books

A total increase of 79 books in circulation was registered at the Public Library in January as compared with this month last year. The circulation for January this year was 16,843, as compared to the total of 16,764 in January, 1950.

These figures were released by Librarian Bill Graff in his report at the annual meeting of the Public Library board of directors Thursday night.

The adult circulation took a drop of 89 books—January, 1951, 10,447; January, 1950, 10,536. However, there was an increase of 168 books in circulation in the juvenile department. A total of 6,396 books were circulated in this department in January of this year, as compared to 6,228 in this month last year.

During the month, 33 school classes visited the library. Four Saturday morning story hours were held with a total attendance of 232 children.

The financial report showed total receipts for the month as $4,577.49; total expenditures, $2,876.33, leaving a balance of $1,701.16.

Receipts included a total of $39.33 in the adult department and $24.00 in the juvenile department.

Old Corvette Peterborough Recalled As Navy Seeks Men

The first naval recruiting drive to be held in Peterborough since the end of World War II will take place in the city February 5 to 7. Recruiting on those days will be done by members of the Royal Canadian Navy's newly organized Mobile Recruiting Unit.

Lieut.-Commander A. B. Cosh, RCN, officer in charge, arrived in Peterborough this week to make advance arrangements for the rest of the unit that arrives Monday.

During this campaign, Peterborough will have the opportunity to uphold the record set by the city during World War II. At that time Peterborough was noted for supplying more men for the navy than perhaps any other inland city. This record was rewarded by the Royal Canadian Navy naming an increased endurance corvette, HMCS Peterborough.

The HMSC Peterborough was launched in Kingston on January 15, 1944, and commissioned June 1. The corvette first did temporary duty with the Sydney Force and then the mid-ocean escort group in St. John's until the end of the war.

She completed her last trick of convoy duty on June 8, 1945, a year after her commissioning date. She was decommissioned in Sorel, Quebec, on July 14, 1945, and turned over to War Assets Corporation for disposal on July 19.

Ignores Shells 100 Yards Off Cayuga Blasts Reds

ABOARD THE CAYUGA, OFF THE KOREAN COAST, Feb. 2—(CP). — When it comes to duelling with the Communists, this plucky Canadian destroyer can show the UN sea forces a thing or two.

The Cayuga is slipping in and out of Inchon Harbor these days, to provide bombardment support for UN ground forces. Helping her to harass Communists in the Red-held port city for Seoul are the US cruiser St. Paul and the British cruiser Ceylon.

The Cayuga boldly anchored in the harbor a few days ago, attracting the fire of shoreline Communist batteries. Shells fell as close as 100 yards from the Cayuga. She did not turn.

Weighing anchor to bring all her guns to bear on the enemy, the Cayuga, in a 10-minute duel, slammed 65 rounds of 4-inch high-explosive ammunition at the shore batteries. Silence indicated the end of the shore attack. Air reconnaissance showed direct hits had been scored on the emplacements.

Cayuga Unscarred

The Cayuga was unscarred. Her crew were non-committal about the action.

"The enemy's first shells came pretty close," commented Lieut. William Kidd of Vancouver casually. He was the officer of the watch when the Communists opened fire. "They had our range, but were a bit out of line."

Able Seaman Donald Paull of Rosetown, Sask., watched the enemy guns flash from the direction of Inchon as he stood by his 40-mm. gun.

"A little too close for comfort," was his only comment.

In another incident reflecting credit on the Canadian sea forces, the destroyer Nootka, in just four minutes, rescued a British pilot who had landed his plane in the Yellow Sea. The Nootka is new to the Korean theatre.

The flier, Lt.-Cmdr. M. P. Gordon Smith of London, landed the plane near the destroyer and was picked up quickly by a small boat off the ship, given a hot drink, a bath, and clothing, and returned to the British aircraft carrier Theseus.

Coxswain of the seaboat which fished him from the water was PO Alton Hartin, Saint John, NB. Other members of the crew were LS Paul Melanson, Rockingham, NS; AB Charles Milks, Windsor Ont.; AB Joseph Boucher, Quebec City; AB Charles Carmichael, Truro, NS; and AB Edward Hall, St. Peter's, NS.

U.S. Rail Strike Affects Toronto

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Train services in and out of Toronto are feeling some effects of a wildcat strike of railway switchmen in the United States.

Canadian National Express said the only shipments it is accepting for St. Louis, Washington, Chicago are those containing drugs, caskets, funeral supplies, war materials, medicines, or hospital and surgical supplies.

A Canadian National Railways spokesman said the line's passenger services were operating normally.

Canadian Pacific Express said it was accepting shipments "for anywhere" with no restriction on contents. Freight shipments were being accepted for some U.S. cities.

The Canadian Pacific Railway said all through sleepers were cancelled on the Toronto-New York, Toronto-Boston and Toronto-Cleveland runs. The eight trains that run regularly between Toronto and Buffalo, N.Y., were operating.

Two New York Central trains, operating between Toronto and New York were suspended Thursday. Another New York Central train continued to operate.

Biggest UN Tank Attack Cuts Holes In Red Line

Request Congress Jump Income Tax 4 Percentage Points

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—The Administration today asked Congress for vastly-bigger excise or sales taxes in the United States, including levies of 20 per cent on automobiles and 25 per cent on television and radio sets.

The program also calls for a jump of four percentage points in individual income tax rates, adding $4 in tax on each $100 of income after deductions and personal exemptions.

The proposed excise increases would mean a boost of 13 per cent—from seven to 20 per cent—on auto levies and 15 per cent—from 10 to 25 per cent—on television and radio sets. The tax would be imposed on the manufacturer's price.

The present $9-a-gallon liquor tax would be hiked to $12, the beer tax would jump $8 a barrel to $12, the seven-cent-a-pack cigarette tax would go up to 10 cents, and the gasoline tax would be doubled, to three cents.

First Instalment

The plan calls for a $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, a $3,000,000,000 hike in corporation income taxes, and a $3,000,000,000 raise in excise (sales) taxes.

President Truman told Congress last Friday the first round hike will be followed by another request for an increase of about $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Other Proposals

Other basic proposals laid before the House Committee by Snyder:

1—A boost in the capital gains tax from a flat 25 per cent to 37½ per cent. The present tax applies to profits from sale of property held six months or more. The proposal would require a minimum holding period of one-year to qualify for the capital gains tax in place of straight income tax.

2—Corporation income taxes—an increase of eight percentage points in normal income tax for corporations, adding $8 in tax to each $100 of profit.

This would lift the rate from 25 to 33 per cent on corporations with profits below $25,000, and from 47 to 55 per cent on those with higher profits.

Planning Law To Draft Striking Railmen

Fear Entire Automobile Industry May Be Shut Down Within Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Legislation for immediate induction of striking railroad employees who hold occupational draft deferments was introduced today in the House of Representatives by Representative George W. Andrews (Dem. Ala.)

Andrew's announcement that he was introducing the bill brought applause from colleagues.

Andrews said he understands that many railroad men not working now on the grounds they are "sick" have been deferred from the draft because of their jobs.

The bill was introduced about the time a mediation board member reported "they're hopelessly deadlocked" in talks aimed at settling the dispute that has tied up much of the United States' railroad traffic.

The railroad strike, with no general back-to-work movement in sight, threatened today to shut down the entire automobile industry.

Auto industry sources said car-making may have to stop if the walkout continues another week. With 125,000 auto workers now idle in the United States, they predicted the layoffs may soon rist to 600,000.

Scant relief from the paralyzing effects of the strike was evident. Besides the auto workers, thousands of other industrial workers, were idle and hundreds of plants were shut down.

Only six trains were scheduled to leave New York's huge Grand Central terminal today. Commuter services of both the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads were tied up there. Some 70,000 daily commuters were affected.

The Pennsylvania Railroad restored its 183-train commuter service to New Jersey. Of a normal force of 407 trainmen, the Pennsy reported that only 32 were at work this morning. It said it was operating trains with the aid of specially trained volunteer workers.

A few other cracks appeared in the strike of about 12,000 switchmen, but the improvement in the situation was slight.

More embargoes on shipments were imposed or extended, more industries were feeling the pinch of vanishing supplies of raw goods for processing while finished products piled up on their shipping docks; and more men were being laid off. The government embargo on most mail continued.

One of the first breaks in the walkout which began six days ago came Sunday in the rail centre of Atlanta, Ga. The return to work there of about 1,500 switchmen were sufficient to restore normal operations in three railroad yards and to lift embargoes by all but one line.

Allied Troops 5 Miles From Seoul

New Casualty Tolls Piling Up For Chinese Soldiers

TOKYO, Feb. 5. (AP)—The biggest Allied tank force of the Korean war rammed deep into Communist territory today in hit-run killer raids on the western front and then withdrew.

The main punch carried within five miles of devastated Seoul. It was the closest Allied thrust to the old South Korean capital since United Nations forces pulled out Jan. 4.

Four other armored columns cut sharply into Red areas. Behind a thunderous bombardment by warplanes and artillery, the tanks blasted Chinese and Korean Reds out of hillside forts. The fighting raged at times at such close quarters that some Reds were ground to death under tank treads.

A division spokesman estimated that the two main columns, striking up the main road to Seoul and on a lateral road six miles farther west killed 500 Reds and wounded 1,500.

On the central front, Allied forces in a simultaneous attack gained four miles in four hours and were continuing to advance. These troops pushed four miles north of Heongsong, 10 miles north of Wonju.

Heavy Casualties

New casualty tolls were piled up on the enemy all along the front, adding to the big Sunday bag which the U.S. Eighth Army estimated at 8,635 Red dead and wounded from ground action alone. Of those, 7,947 were on the western front.

Allied warships and far-ranging fighters and bombers added to the toll again Monday, but there was no early total casualty estimate. The warships hit both coasts. The Canadian destroyer Nootka, supported west coast bombardments.

Safely Evacuate 57 Patients In Hospital Fire

SYDNEY, N. S., Feb. 5 (CP).—Glowing embers were all that was left today of fire-devastated St. Rita's Hospital.

Despite the combined efforts of firemen and hundreds of volunteers who were battered by high winds and falling temperatures, the four-storey structure burned to the ground late Sunday night.

The 57 patients were safely evacuated in 10 minutes but today this steel city of some 30,000 was left with only one public hospital, already full before the fire. Now beds must be found for the homeless patients from St. Rita's.

For a time the fire threatened Mercy Hospital, a maternity home and some of the refugee patients were removed from it as a precautionary measure.

Damage to St. Rita's, operated by the Sisters of St. Martha, is expected to exceed $200,000.

Immediate Evacuation

The sudden outbreak was discovered by two nurses and the evacuation began at once. If the adult patients couldn't walk, bed and all was carried out.

St. Rita's was built in the early part of the century. Plans were underway for a new St. Rita's but work had not started on the proposed 150-bed structure.

Several persons were overcome briefly by smoke but there were no serious injuries.

Besides Mercy and City hospitals, the nearby Point Edward Tuberculosis Hospital and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's emergency hospitals were the only available refuge for those seriously ill.

Happy Bedlam Holds Sway As Sioux Arrives Home

By DAVE McINTOSH

VICTORIA, BC, Feb. 5. (CP)—The 270 men of the destroyer Sioux had their first proper day of peace today after seven months of war. The 2,500-ton warship, dressed in a new coat of paint, Sunday slid into Esquimalt navy base here on a bright Sunday afternoon to be greeted by a cheering throng of 18,000. It was on July 5 that the destroyer, with her sister ships Cayuga and Athabaskan, had sailed for Korea to fight under the United Nations banner.

Fifty thousand nautical miles later — 35,600 of them steamed in the Yellow Sea—Sioux came back to the biggest welcome since the King and Queen were here in 1939.

She may be home only several weeks. The crew speculates that after her routine six-week refit she will return to Korea to relieve the Athabaskan. The Nootka relieved the Sioux and Huron will spell Cayuga soon.

Congratulations Pour In

There was no doubt that the navy—and Canada—thought the Sioux had done her job well. Cmdr. Paul Taylor, of Victoria, captain, said the ship had received congratulatory messages not only from navy officials but from people right across Canada.

Asked if he thought the Canadian flotilla was doing a valuable job in the Pacific, Cmdr. Taylor said: "We wouldn't have been working so hard if we hadn't been valuable."

RCAF Mustang fighters screeched overhead as the Sioux moved up Juan De Fuca Strait and then swung into harbor. Whistles and horns from other ships in port—including the cruiser Ontario—bellowed a welcome.

Crowd Goes Wild

Sioux took the salute from Commodore H. F. Pulle, acting flag officer Pacific Coast, at the harbor entrance. As she swung around the Ontario's jetty and came within sight of her own pier, the huge crowd on the wharf began to cheer. The cheering went on and on until the destroyer made fast.

When the two gangplanks were shot jetty-hard, bedlam broke loose. Sailors tore "over the brow" and into the throng, fighting their way toward wives and sweethearts.

At the same time, the wives made for the ship on the other gangplank. Some couples found

London Dockers Against Strike

LONDON, Feb. 5 (CP)—London dock workers turned deaf ears to appeals that they should join a wildcat strike denounced by trade union leaders as a Communist devise to sabotage the country's arms drive.

The strike began Friday in protest over the union's acceptance of a 11 shillings-a-week (about $1.65) wage increase awarded by an arbitration board.

Union leaders, exhorting the country's 90,000 dock workers to ignore the strike calls, charged the Reds are behind the walkout.

But in Manchester, 2,000 men worked only an hour, then streamed away from the docks, leaving ships idle.

At Liverpool, where the wildcat stoppage began, 2,000 dock workers met and voted to remain on strike.

Strike sponsors planned a meeting at London's biggest group of docks shortly before work was due to begin today. But only about a dozen men attended.

"The feeling here is definitely against a strike," one worker said.

In Manchester, the position was more critical. By noon, the docks were almost at a standstill, with only about 100 men working. Strike pickets at the dock gates persuaded thousands who turned up for work to go home again.

Try Sabotage on Magnificent

HALIFAX, Feb. 5. (CP)—The aircraft carrier Magnificent prepared to sail from here today for war games despite a sabotage attempt—possibly an "inside" job. Sand and brass filings were discovered in her engines' main bearings practically on the eve of her sailing for Bermuda. Navy spokesmen said it is possible the job was done by malcontents among her crew and promised an investigation "to the end." There was no indication as yet the sabotage had political motives.

Admiral E. A. Mainguy, chief of Atlantic Coast Operations, said it may have been done by some rating who, for example, didn't want to part with his girl friend just yet.

A navy statement said merely: "Preliminary enquiry into the case of suspected sabotage on HMCS Magnificent indicates it was done by some person or persons who wanted to delay sailing of the ship.

No Main Damage

"Examinations reveal that no damage has been done to the ship's main machinery . . ."

As she prepared to sail, the Magnificent was boarded by a Navy Board of Inquiry, to continue an on-the-spot investigation while the carrier made her way south.

The board is composed of Commodore W. W. Porteous, superintendent of Halifax dockyards; Cmdr. J. C. Reed of the Flag Officer's staff, Atlantic Coast; and Lt.-Cmdr. A. F. A. Abbott, in charge of the Halifax Mechanical Training Establishment.

These officers will continue to question the Magnificent's crew. When they have gathered all available information, they likely will return to Halifax from Bermuda by plane.

One official said the Maggie saboteurs may have got their idea from similar incidents aboard the British warships Vengenace and Theseus at Portsmouth last year. Sand and filings had been found in the main bearings of those vessels just before they were sceduled to sail on exercises.

Nearly two years ago there was trouble aboard the Maggie while she was on a Carribean cruise. In March, 1949, 32 aircraft control ratings disregarded an order to muster. They complained of long hours and short shore leave.

Similar incidents occurred aboard the destroyers Athabaskan and Crescent during the same year—about one-third of Crescent's crew mutinied in Shanghai, China. The Crescent is escorting Maggie in today's voyage.

Ban Hungarian Diplomats From Area Outside London

LONDON, Feb. 5. (Reuters)—Britain today banned Hungarian diplomats from going more than 18 miles outside London and warned that similar action will be taken against Russian diplomats if the position of British Embassy staff in Moscow grows worse. The action against the Hungarians is a reprisal for a similar ban on British diplomats in Budapest.

Kenneth Younger, Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, was questioned in the House of Commons today about the Hungarian ban on British diplomats.

He answered that Elek Bolgar, Hungarian minister here, has been informed that he and his staff will not be permitted to travel more than 18 miles from Hyde Park corner, in the centre of London without obtaining written permision from the foreign office.

Earlier Younger stated that Britain is prepared to restrict the movements of Soviet diplomats if there is any further deterioration in facilities offered to British embassy officials in Moscow.

Younger said there are no restrictions on Soviet diplomats at present.

Arthur Harvey, Conservative, suggested that it was "a little out of date." Members of the British embasy in Moscow had had severe restrictions placed on their movements, Harvey said. Why should Britain tolerate members of the Soviet embasy in London roaming about Britain looking at anything they wanted to, he asked.

Younger replied he thought the government had been right in showing reluctance to impose such restrictions in Britain.

"But we are prepared to do so in case of further deterioration," he said. "I am not sure that there has been recent deterioration in the case of the Soviet Union."

Peiping Charges New U.S. 'Trick'

HONG KONG, Feb. 5 (Reuters)—Chou En-lai, Communist China's Foreign Minister, cabled the United Nations today accusing the political committee of being under American manipulation, Peiping radio said.

The committee, he said, suddenly had decided to discuss on Tuesday the Russian resolution charging American aggression in China.

This was "another American trick." China was not informed by the committee of the discussion and therefore her representatives were unable to attend the debate.

Chou demanded the original documents charging American aggression in Korea and Formosa—submitted to the committe by Gen. Wu, Peiping's United Nations envoy last year—should be considered at the next meeting.

(The political committee met unexpectedly Friday on Russia's request, to discuss the charges against the US. The meeting was adjourned until Tuesday.

(Gen. Wu protested before he left Lake Success in December he had not been given the opportunity to speak on the charges though his government had been invited by the UN to take part in the debate.)

MEAT FROM FRANCE

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP). — The Food Ministry said today it has bought 4,100 tons of beef from France at £177 ($531) a ton to help relieve Britain's severe meat shortage. The meat will all be used for making sausages and meat pies.

Facing Battle Over Sanctions

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 5 (CP).—United Nations delegates tussled today with the question of possible sanctions against Communist China as a follow-up on the branding of the Peiping regime as an aggressor.

The United States pressed for convening the 14-member collective measures committee—of which Canada is a member—and Britain strongly opposed any move to work on sanctions until every effort is made for a peaceful settlement.

Under terms of an American resolution, adopted last Thursday, the U.N. will set up a three-man "good offices" committee to try for a negotiated settlement.

May Change Mind

Informed sources said that L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, might still serve on the committee despite the previous understanding that he would refuse if India's Sir Benegal Rau declined. Rau declined during the weekend, but western countries are urging Pearson to change his mind.

Other possible nominees being sounded out include Sven Grafstrom of Sweden, Arne Sunde of Norway and Sir Mohamad Zafrullah Khan of Pakistan.

Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, General Assembly president and committee chairman, had been expected to name his co-members today, but in view of the difficulties may have to postpone the announcement.

Both the good offices committee and the collective measures committee were provided for in the U.N. resolution branding Red China an aggressor.

Hikes 12,000 Miles Rejected By Army

EIGHTH ARMY HEAQUARTERS, Korea, Feb. 5 (Reuters)—The Eighth Army has decided that it does not want William Jesse Newton, 26, who hitchhiked 12,000 miles "to kill a few Communists." He was declared medically unfit.

Newton, who last year ditched a hired aircraft in the Atlantic and was picked up by the Polish liner Batory, limped into a muddy front-line command post in Korea last week. He said he had thumbed his way from New York to the fighting line "to clear my name of the taint of Communism."

He was sent back to Eighth Army headquarters to enlist formally.

But an army spokesman yesterday announced "Newton has been medically examined and does not qualify for the standards set for enlistment."

Invited To Australia

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 5—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia announced today he has invited the Commonwealth prime ministers to Australia jubilee celebrations May 9 to mark the 50th year of the Australian federal parliament.

British Papers Howl Loudly At Release Of Krupp, Pals

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—British newspapers, ranging from Tory to Communist, reacted with editorial howls of pain during the weekend to the release of munitions maker Alfred Krupp and other German war criminals from prison.

Most of the criticism of the pardon action of the United States high commissioner, John J. McCloy, was carried in the Sunday press. Today's edition of the Communist Daily Worker joined the chorus.

The pro-Labor Sunday Pictorial said:

"They opened the gates of a German prison yesterday, and they turned loose a man with blood on his hands . . . the blood of British soldiers, of Russians, of Americans and Frenchmen, of Poles and Dutchmen and Belgians. The blood of millions."

The Pictorial described how Krupp and his brother kissed for the photographers and commented: "And if millions of mothers should think this was a kiss of death, who will blame them?"

The co-operative Communist newspaper Reynolds News, carried an article by F. Elwyn Jones, a member of parliament who was one of the British prosecutors at Nuernberg. He quoted U.S. Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, then chief war crimes prosecutor, as saying then:

"It has at all times been the position of the United States that the great industrialists of Germany were guilty of the crimes charged in the Nuernberg indictment quite as much as its politicians, diplomats and soldiers."

Lord Beaverbrook's empire-minded Sunday Express carried a four-column cartoon showing monstrous-looking war criminals filing out of prison. A sign on the wall said: "Please collect your weapons and cash on the way out." The British soldier is telling an American who holds the gates open: "Now I suppose they'll have us in court for wrongful imprisonment."

Gales Batter British Isles

LONDON, Feb. 5—(Reuters)—Atlantic-born gales, snow and floods raged across western Europe today in the wake of 24 hours of storm-filled violence.

In Britain, gusts reaching 74 miles an hour lashed the Scilly Isles and floods spread over several parts of southern England.

Nine British seamen, one of them suffering from diphtheria, spent a night of terror in the 410-ton coaster Drakedene, trapped on the rocks in Plymouth Sound. Only superb seamanship saved it from being smashed to pieces.

The 3,000-ton naval landing craft Stalker which broke away from a frigate Sunday in the area's worst storm of the year, today was being towed to West Scotland.

Meanwhile a fruitless 17-hour search was continued in raging seas for three fishermen in a small boat.

Three inches of snow fell in northern England and at one place in Scotland the main road north was blocked by snow.

Hit By Train Driver Killed

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 5—(CP)—William Anderson, 45, of Belleville, died in hospital today, one hour after his car was struck by the engine of a Canadian Pacific Railway train at the cemetery crossing, two miles west of here.

Anderson, operator of a small farm on the Trent road, was driving north on his own lane towards the highway when his car was struck.

The impact lifted the auto about 50 feet over the right of way fence into an adjoining yard. Anderson was pinned under a partially opened door when rescuers reached the scene.

An eyewitness said Anderson apparently had not seen the approaching train as his car did not slow up prior to the accident.

Two Boys Risk Lives Rescue Child In Fire

PICTON, Feb. 5—(CP)—Two boys risked their lives to save two-year-old Terrance Dunlop when fire damaged the interior of the Dunlop home here Saturday.

Harold Dunlop, 14, uncle of Terrance, and his nephew, Tommy Dunlop, 10, dashed into the burning house, snatched Terrance from a chesterfield and carried him outside. Minutes later, the chesterfield was a mass of flames.

The little boy's mother, Mrs. Elaine Dunlop, had gone to the home of her sister-in-law, 50 yards away, a few minutes earlier to telephone a doctor.

New Weapons, Not Units US Defence Against Russia

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said today it is not necessary to match Russia "division for division" because with new weapons and techniques the United States Army could "deal with" hordes of men and masses of tanks coming across Europe.

One of the new weapons, which the Army Chief of Staff cited as being "not many years" away, is a guided missile with an atomic war-head.

In a copyrighted interview with the magazine "U.S. News and World Report" published here, Collins summarized some of the new weapons and lessons learned in Korea. His appraisal of effectiveness of the new weapons was highly optimistic.

In effect, Collins outlined a new battle pattern based strongly on new weapons and techniques but still far from being a blueprint for so-called push "button" warfare.

Its theme as he outlined it is that the new army can outfight a far larger force not similarly equipped.

In backing his contentions, Collins disclosed that the army is "working with the air force on the business of having enough transports of the proper types, so that we can move one division (approximately 18,000 to 20,000 men) by air in one flight."

He described a tank eredang He described a tank grenade fired from a launcher attached to a rifle; a new recoilless rifle, the 105, with an effective range up to 2,000 yards, and a new anti-tank ammunition fired from normal field artillery at a range up to 12,000 yards "or more."

Collins said the army would have "within 18 months" some guided missiles which can seek out their target at night or in bad weather.

Believe 28 Killed On French Plane

LAGOS, British West Africa, Feb. 5 (AP)—All but one of 29 persons aboard an Air France Skymaster are believed to have perished Saturday when it struck a mountainside en route from Douala, French Cameroons, to Niamey, Nigeria.

A French air force plane reported spotting the burned-out wreckage of the four-engined craft 8,500 feet up the slope of Mount Cameroon, 13,000-foot volcano. There appeared to be only one survivor. A military rescue party today was on its way to the scene.

The plane reported trouble in its last message shortly before the crash. Weather reports indicate there was a severe thunderstorm in the area at the time.

The plane carried 23 passengers and a crew of six. No Canadians or Americans appeared on the passenger list.

Find Plane Wreckage In Que. Lake

Sure No Survivors, Plane To Bring Four Bodies Out

OTTAWA, Feb. 5. (CP) — Hampered by a snowstorm in early efforts, a Norseman aircraft today may attempt to fly from Senneterre, Que., to Lake Tessier, some 200 miles north of Ottawa, to bring out the bodies of four victims of an airplane crash.

Wreckage of the plane—a Beaver aircraft owned by the A. Fecteau Transport Company of Senneterre—was found by the RCAF Sunday after a four-day search. The Beaver had last been heard from a week a go when it attempted a routine, 80-mile jaunt from Father Lake to Askelaneo.

The crumpled plane had plummeted through the ice of Lac Tessier, wedging itself partly beneath the frozen surface.

Presumed dead in the crash was Gilbert Comtois, 33, « bush pilot with the Fecteau Company; his brother Elezar, 27, co-pilot, and two Indian passengers, Mr. and Mrs. John Neepouch.

An RCAF Dakota plane piloted by FO G. L. Bernardin of Montreal sighted the wreckage Sunday and later, a helicopter flew to the scene from nearby Rockcliffe.

Sure No Survivors

However, by the time the helicopter arrived, a Norseman aircraft owned by the Fecteau Company already had arrived. The helicopter returned to Rockcliffe, leaving the Norseman to locate the bodies and take them to Senneterre for burial.

Late Sunday night, however, an amateur radio operator, L. A. Petch of Hull, said he had picked up a message from Senneterre saying the Norseman had been forced to fly back to Senneterre because of a snowstorm. It would attempt to bring out the bodies today, weather permitting.

There were conflicting reports as to whether the bodies have actually been located. However, an Air Force spokesman said that the absence of any sign of life at the wreckage placed it "beyond doubt" that the four had perished.

It was 52 below zero in the area the night the plane crashed.

Robert Hendry, 313 Maitland Ave., was taken suddenly ill this morning at the plant of J. J. Turner Co., Ltd., and was removed to Civic Hospital. His condition was reported "not good" this afternoon, Mr. Hendry is a senior member of the Turner Company staff, and is widely known throughout the city.

Two other prominent citizens who are seriously ill at Civic Hospital are Roy H. Parsons, former City Engineer, and Rev. Wm. E. Kibblewhite, B.A., L.Th., rector of All Saints' Anglican Church.

Mr. Parsons suffered a heart attack a week ago. It was reported that he showed some improvement toward the weekend. Although it was only a slight gain, it afforded some encouragement to his family and friends.

Members of the congregation of All Saints' Church have been deeply concerned about the condition of their rector, Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite whose condition today was listed as serious. The services at All Saints' on Sunday were conducted by Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto.

Las Vegas Warned To Avoid Windows

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 5 (AP) —Las Vegas residents, already rocked by four atomic blasts at nearby Indian Springs, were advised Sunday by the atomic energy commission there would be another test in the near future. They were warned to stay away from windows at dawn.

The AEC did not indicate when the next blast at the desert test ground, some 70 miles north of here, could be expected, but said significantly:

"Beginning now, residents of Las Vegas and other nearby areas should take precautions at the appropriate time each day and continue them until notice that the current series of tests is complete."

Driver Of Car In Fatality Bailed For Trial

Charged with dangerous driving in connection with the accident last month that killed Marguerite Beatty, 19, 201 Rink St., Francis S. Spring, 66, 167 Prince St., this morning in police court was bailed for trial by a Supreme Court in June.

In the preliminary hearing this morning Constable Harold Mesley testified that the morning of Jan. 23 he arrived at Rink and Aylmer Sts. about 7.10. He found Miss Beatty lying on the east sidewalk of Aylmer St. about 21 feet from where a witness said she had been standing when hit.

He could not tell whether she was alive or dead, but she obviously was in serious condition with blood flowing from a puncture in about the middle of her forehead.

Ded On Arrival

An ambulance arrived and rushed her to Civic Hospital but she was dead on arrival there. A doctor arrived after the ambulance had gone.

The traffic officer said the girl was standing apparently about one step off the south sidewalk which juts beyond the edge of the east sidewalk of Aylmer St.

Constable Mesley said skid marks made by the Spring car extended back 49 feet 10 inches from the jut of sidewalk. From the sidewalk south the marks continued another 56 feet to a tree on the boulevard. The car hit the tree and skidded and slewed around another 26 feet and stopped.

Before the skid mark began, wheel marks showed the car had been swinging off the travelled part of the street toward the east.

The 39-foot pavement was bare but about eight feet on either side was icy. There is no curb at that part of Aylmer St.

Rink St. was 29 feet, six inches wide and the centre of it was also bare.

Other Driver's Statement

George Sweeting, Smith township, said he was driving to work at the Canadian Canoe Co. on Rink St. east of Aylmer St. a few minutes after seven a.m.

About four houses back from Rink St., he signalled a left turn and pulled over to the centre of the road.

Just entering the intersection he started to make a left turn and then became aware of a car beside him. He swung his car back and the car went by at about 30 to 35 miles an hour.

He saw the girl standing waiting for the cars to go by. She threw up her hands toward the car and that was all Sweeting saw.

He said the rear window of his car was steamed up and the ventilator in the window was also steamed so that he could not see behind through either the rear vision mirror inside the car or the one outside.

He thought the girl was hit by about the centre of the car. At the front of the hood in the centre is a springing lion ornament. But there was no blood on it to indicate whether or not it was that which smashed a hole in the girl's forehead.

The Eighth Army estimated that Red casualties along the front and in rear areas from Jan. 25 through Friday were 34,359, of whom 20,615 were killed. The announcement said 12,856 were wounded and 888 were captured.

The figures for the Sunday's bloody 24 hours added considerably to that toll.

The big punch fell on Chinese Reds dug in on the hills around Anyang, nine air miles south of Seoul. Rolling behind a terrific aerial and artillery blasting, the task force took Anyang's smoking ruins almost unopposed and slashed on northward.

But the four miles beyond Anyang were bitterly contested. One staff officer told Associated Press correspondent Jim Becker that the column got into "a hell of a battle," and added:

Complicated Move

The main allied spearhead, and another six miles to the west, were executing what front-line officers called "a double envelopment within a double envelopment."

Becker reported the spearhead to the west met resistance even more fierce. It managed to make "only a slightly-smaller total yardage."

This column "smashed into heavy enemy pressure and stalled about five miles west of Anyang," Becker added.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the three-pronged thrust "may be described as the greatest exploitation of armor during the Korean war."

"However, the approach of our tank columns toward Seoul should be regarded as of no particular significance at this time."

Two of the columns had returned to allied lines and the third was "on its way back." The co-ordinated thrusts deep into Red territory were designed to "inflict as much damage as possible and then retire."

Heavy Fire

Becker added:

"I flew over the smoking front lines and watched the tanks and infantry plunge up the road. The tanks looked lazy from the sky. They rolled up the road between sharp-sloped hills that held scores of Chinese. The Reds poured down automatic weapons and mortar fire."

The spearheads thrust northward toward burned-out Seoul on three roads a few hours after Turkish and American units hurled back fierce Communist counter-attacks.

The third thrust was a hit-run raid on the Tanchon valley road, a lateral to the main Suwon-Seul highway 10 miles to the west.

Fighter-bombers and artillery turned the ordinarily-quiet countryside into a smoke-choked inferno. Some Reds died under the tanks' treads.

Move In At Dark

A British officer at Eighth Army headquarters said the Chinese had slipped between 10,000 and 15,000 troops into the area south of Seoul. Air observers reported truckloads or Reds were moved up under cover of darkness.

The build-up indicated that the Reds might attempt an offensive Tuesday—the Chinese new year. But if they had such plans, the raids by the three allied columns might have spoiled them.

The entire length of the 45-mile front stretching inland from the Yellow Sea was aflame Sunday night and Monday. The Reds attacked to the sounds of blaring bugles and screeching whistles.

Allied artillery smashed the counter-thrusts, described as the heaviest since the allies began the "limited offensive" 12 days ago.

During the ground action, American and British warships pounded the Inchon area on Korea's west coast in a "continuing bombardment." Two ammunition dumps were blown up.

Supporting and screening the bombarding force were the Canadian destroyer Nootka, the Royal Navy frigate Black Swan and the New Zealand frigate Tutira. The Tutira destroyed a floating mine.

Hundreds of kids swarmed over the ship, raising and lowering the two 4.7-inch guns, clambering over the anti-aircraft weapons, the bridge and the rigging in general. They yelled orders into the loudspeakers no sailor had ever heard before. Navy discipline barely survived the onslaught.

Ask 20% Tax

Corporations with profits in the excess class would continue to pay an extra 30 per cent on the amount deemed "excess."

Lift Ceiling

The proposal—estimated to hit 323,000 corporations, as compared with some 50,000,000 persons affected by the individual income tax changes—would lift the ceiling on combined normal and excess profits taxes from 62 to 70 per cent.

3—Excise taxes—on autos, lift the rate from 7 to 20 per cent of the manufacturer's price to raise $685,000,000 a year in revenue.

On distilled spirits—raise the rate from $9 to $12 a gallon (from $1.80 to $2.40 on a standard, fifth-of-a-gallon bottle of 100 proof whisky).

Snyder also called for an extensive plugging of tax "loopholes." This would add an unspecified sum, certainly "hundreds of millions of dollars each year" and perhaps billions, to the $10,000,000,000 extra sought from the other tax proposals.

Chief proposals in this class were the removal of present tax exemption from co-operatives, mutual savings banks, buildings and loan associations, and income from state and municipal securities.

The major loophole-plugging request from a revenue standpoint, however, was a tightening of the "depletion" (tax-reducing) privilege of oil and mining interests. Present allowances were described as costing the government "hundreds of millions of dollars each year."

Court Martial Likely

Commodore Kenneth Adams, commander of the 18,000-ton flattop, warned the some 1,000 officers and men Saturday in a below-decks talk that a court martial likely will follow investigations now in progress by the navy and the RCMP. The culprits would be subject to civil action before court martial.

One thing was certain in the minds of most harborfront authorities—the saboteurs must have been closely familiar with the engine room and had some time to carry out the job. Only personnel with access to her engine rooms were her own engine room staff and civilian employees known as "dockyard maties."

Worst Storm In 50 Years Blitzes Southern States

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—(AP)—The worst wintry storm to hit the southern United States in 50 years has left the area with damage in the millions of dollars.

Some cities isolated and with business paralyzed for as long as four days have just begun to add up their losses. In Florida alone, the driving, near-freezing rain which whipped the state for 18 hours was blamed for the deaths of an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 cattle.

Some estimated the loss in livestock alone at more than $1,000,000. Livestock men said many head of cattle that might otherwise have survived the storm were trampled to death as the herds stampeded for shelter.

Most of the citrus fruit crop escaped damage and vegetable growers were believed not hard hit, but freezing temperatures were reported again today as far south as northern Florida. Generally, though, temperatures were above those of the last few days.

Hardest Hit

Mississippi, hardest hit state listed 16 deaths from the storm. Louisiana, where the temperature dropped to as low as 12 below, had nine deaths.

Natchez, Miss., was bestirring itself again for the first time since the storm cut off all outside communications four days ago. No estimate of the damage there has been made.

Nashville, Tenn., also was returning to normal although it was the hardest-hit city.

As temperatures climbed back to normal levels throughout the south, the northern plains area and northern Maine again were hit by sub-zero blasts. Readings below zero were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Maine.

Jailed Scot Burrs Thanks To Magistrate Who Promptly Turns Them and Kinship Down

William Brown Gregory, saluted and with a burr in his voice said "Thank you very much. You're a real brother Scotchman".

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, who is not a Scot, said "Don't thank me".

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, in police court today asked that a charge of false pretences against Gregory be withdrawn. Gregory had already spent two weeks in jail on a charge of vagrancy while his past was being investigated.

To Become Mariner

Because of this, the crown attorney suggested that Gregory be imprisoned one hour. The magistrate suggested that one day would serve the purpose just as well.

"He's going to get out of town and joint the merchant marine", the crown said.

Last week, Mr. Bradshaw said there was a deportation order for Gregory, but nothing was said of that this morning.

On the false pretences charge, police alleged that Gregory pretended to be a nephew of Ian McRae, works manager of CGE, and borrowed $15 on the strength of the relationship from J. D. Collins.

Cold Causes Driver Collapse

MEAFORD, Feb. 5—Suffering from severe frostbite, Kenneth Fox, 21-year-old Meaford taxi driver, was rescued Sunday by a passing motorist as he fell exhausted on the highway five miles west of here.

When his taxi bogged down in a snowdrift on a sideroad to the Meaford tank range, he first sought shelter in a farmhouse, but was unable to arouse anyone.

Hatless and without an overcoat, Fox tramped through deep drifts to the highway. He had walked about two miles when he became exhausted. It was six below zero with a biting wind.

"It was lucky I came along," said Walter Bumstead of Meaford who found the driver. "He was in bad shape. I took him to Meaford." Fox was taken to the office of Dr. J. C. Finely, who reported severe frostbite on the face, ears and hands as well as shock.

George Street Sunday School Observes 115th Anniversary

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." Corinthians I. 3: 11, was the text used by the Rev. A. A. Mathews Sunday at the morning service of the 115th Sunday School anniversary of George St. United Church.

A pyramid of boxes representing the six virtues of goodness, beauty, truth, faith, hope and love were placed on the organ console to illustrate the theme, building a Christian character.

These boxes were brought to the front of the church by six wolf cubs, Peter Dorrington, Raymond Tighe, Gary Roseborough, Jimmy Frise, Herb McGee and Roddy Tucker under the supervision of Assistant Cub Master, Bill Sheppard.

The boxes were decorated by George Munro of the Normal School staff.

P. J. Harrison sang a solo, "My God and I". The intermediate and junior choirs who were seated in the main choir loft sang "Forward to Christ" and the senior choir sang "Lift up your heads".

The Sunday School orchestra under the leadership of W. C. Forde played before and after the service and during the offeratory.

Sunday School superintendent, W. C. McBride and assistant superintendents, L. W. Copp and F. G. Greatrix assisted in the service.

The film, "St. Paul's First Missionary Journey" was shown at the evening service.

Special music was provided by Charles Allen, organist and George Gatfield, violinist, who played a duet, Mrs. James Goldie who sang "Arise, Shine for thy Light is Come" and the choir with the anthem, "Fight the Good Fight."

Following the service the Sunday School staff were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mathews at the parsonage where Quirt McKinney led a sing song.

Request Action In Re-wiring Havelock Church

HAVELOCK, Feb. 5—(ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church was held in the basement on Wednesday with a good attendance. The event commenced with a pot-luck supper, followed by a movie film.

Rev. R. D. Duncanson was chairman with F. McKenzie as secretary.

The session report presented by Mr. Duncanson showed that communion had been observed three times during the year; six new members had joined the church and there were two withdrawals. There had been no baptisms or deaths.

Reports Are Heard

Splendid reports were read by Mrs. Fred Bennett for the WMS and the Young Women's Association; Miss M. Sexsmith for the Sunday school; O. Patterson for the choir, manse and cemetery; Mrs. F. McKenzie for the Ladies' Aid.

The treasurer, O. Patterson, reported that all financial obligations of the congregation had been met and that there was a splendid balance carried over this year.

The following officers were elected: Board of Managers, A. Spencer, O. Patterson, H. Jamieson were re-elected for three years; G. Wright, D. Green and H. Hunter for two years; M. Dafoe, R. Anderson and D. Buchanan for one year. The choice of chairman and treasurer was left in the hands of the board.

D. Green and J. Watson were re-elected as ushers.

W. Hitchins, a trustee of the manse, reported that the deeds of the church property as well as the insurance policies had been secured and were put in safe keeping. The matter of increasing the insurance on the property was left in the hands of the board for consideration.

It was the desire of the meeting that the church be re-wired and re-decorated this year and this was left in the hands of the board of managers with the power to add members on their committees if desired.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Rev. R. D. Duncanson and Mrs. Duncanson by F. McKenzie for their untiring efforts and co-operation in the church during the past year.

Death Toll Light Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Six fatalities, most of them in mishaps arising from winter activities, were reported in eastern Canada during the weekend.

A Canadian Press compilation of the toll of February's first weekend showed three deaths in Ontario, two in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

Not included in the list were four persons whose bodies were thought to be in the wreckage of a bush plane found yesterday in the ice of a lake in northwestern Quebec. It is believed they died last Monday when the plane plunged into the lake.

Injuries suffered in a skiing accident proved fatal Saturday to Dr. M. E. Adams, 51-year-old dentist from Magog, Que.

Goes Through Ice

A smelt fishing trip near Saint John, N.B., ended in death for Reginald W. Pope, 33. His automobile broke through the ice on the Kennebecasis River Saturday and sank in 60 feet of water.

Exposure was blamed for the death near Oakville of John Malco of Toronto. A Hamilton photographer found Malco's body partly buried in snow in a ravine.

James York, about 80, was fatally injuried when struck by an automobile while walking in a snowstorm near Penetanguishene, Ont.

Donald Beamer, 44, was killed near Oakville, when he fell under the wheels of a truck that was trying to pull Beamer's truck out of a snowbank.

Mrs. Achille Hanson, 79, died of injuries suffered in a fall in her Montreal home.

Blame Icy Roads For Crashes

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5—(ENS)—Four traffic accidents gave police here one of their busiest weekends in quite a while. Slippery streets were blamed for most of the accidents.

The first occurred Friday afternoon, when Fred Bennett, driving south on Ranney Street, and Leo Sherridan driving east on Market Street, met at the intersection. Bennett said he was unable to stop his car at the intersection because of the ice covered roads. Considerable damage resulted to the front and sides of both vehicles.

On Saturday night about 8 p.m. a car driven by Stanley Lalond of Seymour township struck a taxi driven by David Bowen of Campbellford, on Front Street north. Bowen was travelling north on Front Street when he was struck by the LaLond auto. Considerable damage to the left side of the taxi resulted, but the LaLond car escaped with a damaged fender.

On Sunday afternoon Eldon Bannon of 444 King George St., Peterborough, was visiting a friend in Campbellford hospital and had parked his car on Front Street. A car driven by George A. McDonald of Ottawa was travelling north. McDonald lost control of his car and it skidded on the icy pavement and struck the parked car owned by Bannon, causing damage to the side of the body, the wheel and tire and fenders on the left side. The McDonald auto was damaged about the rad, fenders, grill, hood and bumper.

On Sunday evening, about 11.30, Mr. Harold Cameron of Codrington, Ontario, was travelling north on the Grand Road, just inside the corporation, when a small English type car passed him and cut him off. Mr. Cameron swung his 1-ton truck to the right to avoid hitting the tiny auto, and crashed into the ditch, striking a hydro pole.

The pole was broken off, and the front end of the truck damaged. Mr. Cameron walked to the local police station with his wife to report the accident. The smaller car did not stop.

No one was injured in any of the four accidents, although total damage may run as high as $1,200. Chief Constable Geo. H. Hardy investigated all the mishaps.

Boy Breaks Leg

MARMORA, Feb. 5 (ENS) — Beverly McCoy, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCoy of Marmora township, suffered a broken right leg Friday when he fell between the tongue and brace of his father's sleigh.

His father was hitching the team to the sleigh at the time. The boy was taken to Belleville for an X-ray, where it was discovered the leg was broken above the ankle.

Good Health A Privilege Not A Right, MOH Claims

"Good health is a privilege not a right," stated Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health for Peterborough. "As such it entails certain responsibilities—we are responsible for the health of ourselves and of our dependents."

Dr. Kelly made this statement while commenting on Health Week, the activities of which start today and will continue until Saturday.

"The Board of Health is a service available to all persons in the city," he continued. "Its sole purpose is the promotion of good health in the city."

Dr. Kelly went on to enumerate the exact services supplied by the board. These services include environmental hygiene as well as the health of the individual.

R. M. MacPherson, sanitary inspector, and Dr. H. Worten, veterinary, are two members of the board's staff directly responsible for environmental hygiene in the city. Their work includes the inspection of all public eating places retail stores selling food, and dairies, rodent and vermin control and general sanitation.

In addition, the Board of Health has the authority to condemn homes considered unfit for human habitation.

Miss Gene Clarke and seven Public Health Nurses are in charge of the city's health program. This program for the individual begins six months before birth with pre-natal classes.

Letters are sent to all parents in the city introducing the public health nurse who calls and discusses any health problems that the parents may have. Four clinics are held during the week —Tuesday afternoon at All Saints Church Parish Hall; Thursday afternoon at Dixon House and the De Laval Co., and Friday afternoon at the Board of Health centre.

In the child health centres, two doctors, Dr. Kelly and Dr. H. Wright, examine and advise parents. Patients are sent to their physicians if treatment is required.

Control of communicable diseases is another of the services provided by the Board of Health. This is done by immunization and quarantine. When a child reaches the age of six months, the parents are advised to take the child to the family physician for immunization. In addition, the board carries out an immunization propram in the separate schools every year.

Bi-monthly clinics are held for tuberculosis suspects and contacts and supervision is given to all individuals discharged from sanitoriums. This work is done in cooperation with the Peterborough County T.B. Association, which pays for all X-rays.

General health education is also carried out by the Board of Health staff. This includes distribution of pamphlets, publicity through radio, press and films; public addresses by members of the staff and personal interviews in the home.

The services of the Board of Health are available to citizens of Peterborough and are completely financed by the municipality. Dr. Kelly explained that only two other centres in the province besides Peterborough have health units, separate from the county in which they are situated—Ottawa and London.

Commenting on this situation Dr. Kelly stated, "If there was established a unit consisting of the city and one or more of the neighboring municipalities, the provincial grant would become available and this would ease the city taxpayer."

The Great Enemy Of Democracy

At a news stand the other day we noticed a magazine from the U.S.A. which advertised in large letters that its leading article for the month was called Why Doesn't Somebody Kill Stalin? We took a quick look at it, and as we suspected, the article explained that nobody who might reasonably wish to kill Stalin is allowed near enough to him to do so. The article was inoffensive; its title and the publicity buildup which surrounded it—including a picture of Stalin over which a rifle target card had been imposed—were extremely offensive, stupid, trouble-making and disingenuous.

* * *

There are undoubtedly a great many people both here and in the U.S.A. who are silly enough to think that the assassination of Stalin would make it easier for the Western World to come to terms with Russia. It is to them that such an article would appeal. And because people of that class of mind are very susceptible to suggestion, and are apt to accept what appears in print uncritically, they will be strengthened in their assumption that Stalin himself is the cause of many of our modern discontents and disruptions. They have not the brains to recognize that Stalin is surrounded by men who think as he does, and that his assassination would only serve to put one of these in his place, and provide the Russian people with another martyr at least of the stature of Lenin. They have not the brains to understand that Stalin is worshipped virtually as a god by millions of people and that the slaying of gods does not put an end to their influence.

* * *

Russia is an enemy of democracy. But the greatest enemy of democracy is the stupidity, witlessness and arrogant ignorance of many millions of people who think of themselves as democrats, and who believe that there are simple, violent solutions for complex problems. They are the kind of people who would respond with outraged shrieks if news reached them that an article called Why Doesn't Somebody Kill Truman? had appeared in a Russian publication.

* * *

It would be undemocratic to suggest that stupid people have no right to air stupid opinions; it would be undemocratic to suggest that a magazine may not catch readers by publishing provocative matter. It is not undemocratic to suggest that such people and such magazines should be ashamed of themselves. And it is good democratic practice to wonder what undemocratic people like the Russians must make of the wild and irresponsible nonsense which is published about Russia in the democracies. No wonder they mock our declarations that we want peace, for those declarations are made by men from the upper, intelligent tenth of the population, while the other nine-tenths appears to rage furiously and to thirst for Russian blood.

Are Householders Second Class Citizens?

The more we think about the restrictions of mail delivery to one round a day after April the first, the less we like it. Deliveries in business districts, we learn, will continue as at present. That is to say that in a large city like Toronto, there will be four deliveries of mail in the business district, and only one in residential districts. Now it is plain enough that residential districts do not need four mail deliveries, but we think that they are entitled to two. The proposal to deliver mail once a day to householders seems to us to imply that householders are second class citizens, to whom the Post Office Department does not feel any particular sense of obligation.

Nevertheless, householders will have to go on paying the full postal rate on the letters which they send to one another. They will not be permitted to employ the second class mail rate, but they will get a second class mail service. This is manifestly unjust.

Compare the sour and slightly crooked behaviour of the Canadian Post Office department in this matter with a recent development in mail service in Venezuela. In that country anybody who wants to post a love letter may do it at half the current postal rate, provided he encloses his letter in a pink envelope. Now there is a stroke of genius! Everybody in Venezuela who sees a pink envelope will be cheered, and will think kindly of the Venezuelan Post Office. In Canada the housewife who gets a letter from her son at college, or her daughter in the big city, twelve hours after the time when she might reasonably expect to receive it, will remember that the Post Office is bilking her, although it has not dared to bilk her husband's business.

Hindsighted?

It is reported that the U.N. forces in Korea will stop at the 38th Parallel, if they should carry their advance that far. This means that the United States military and political authorities have agreed to observe the 38th as a boundary between North and South Korea. It is a logic dictated by experience of the last two months' fighting. It is a pity that this logical decision was not made five months ago. If the U.S. (and U.N.) troops had stopped at the 38th Parallel in their victorious advance then, the United Nations and the world might have not been in the predicament with China in which they now are. Hindsight? Not necessarily. This newspaper, together with a few other Canadian papers and many British and European ones, repeatedly called attention to the importance of the 38th Parallel and the diplomatic as well as military consequences of what might come from pushing on across it. We did this before the demarcation line was crossed. We claim no special wisdom for having preached against the full thrust up to the Manchurian border. We were merely less courageous and less optimistic than General MacArthur.

Not An Excuse For Poorer Service

Everybody recognizes that we have a state of emergency in Canada. Parliament has told us so; before long higher taxes will drive the message home. The emergency means that we cannot do everything precisely as we please. But as the emergency is likely to last for a long time, let us take care not to overdo it, and particularly not to make it an excuse for poor service.

During the last war there was a good deal of slackness in services of all sorts, public and private, which could have been avoided, but was not. It was so easy to rebuke the complainer by mentioning that there was a war on or by hinting that his demand for his money's worth was, under the circumstances, unreasonable. The war served as an excuse for much conduct that was needlessly disobliging, for much delay that could have been avoided.

As we have said, the emergency may go on for years. It involves a considerable national effort. Let us extend that effort to include a determination that whatever it is our task to do will be as well done as the situation permits.

New U.S. Step In Internal Security

To describe the United States structure for internal security as haphazard is not exaggerating nor is it being unduly critical, for that condition has long been recognized. Many responsible U.S. citizens, in and out of Congress, have long urged that an independent, nonpartisan commission be appointed to examine the complex and controversial problem of loyalty and subversion in a free nation. President Truman has now done so, naming a board of nine members to be headed by Admiral Chester Nimitz, and is said to have granted the commission sufficient authority to enable it to do a competent job.

The United States is oversupplied with laws, procedures and agencies concerned with internal security. Some of the laws date back before Revolutionary times, others came into being in times of war or stress since then. Two major modern statutes are the Smith Act of 1940 and the McCarran Act of 1950; the first makes it illegal to advocate overthrow of the Government by force or violence, the second requires Communists and fellow-travellers to register with the Justice Department. Security procedures and agencies are the President's loyalty program, calling for all Government employees to be investigated by one or more of a series of agencies, and the Congressional investigating committees. Two of the latter are the House Un-American Activities Committee and the recently appointed McCarran Committee in the Senate.

This complex structure has admittedly proved effective in exposing and prosecuting subversive persons. However, it has also permitted irresponsible accusations and intimidation, and it has helped to foster what U.S. critics describe as an hysterical form of anti-Communism. An example of this is a recent case in Detroit, where a thrice-decorated Negro reserve officer has been ordered to clear himself of charges of Communism or leave the reserves. The charges are based on the fact that he was seen reading The Daily Worker, and that his father and sister have spoken in favour of Communism.

The Administration hopes that the new commission will help to check this sort of thing, and to act as a moderating influence generally. It may do so, for without listing their names, it may be said that the other eight members of the commission are of the same high calibre as its chairman. They face no easy task, however, and Red-baiters and demagogues may be counted upon to add to their difficulties as often as possible.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

HAVING successfully evaded the attentions of the pigeons I entered the Public Library the other day for a browse—a word that expresses admirably the brutish perambulations of the bookworm in search of nourishment for the mind. Near the end of my wanderings and preparatory to my homeward Hegira, with visions of a cold meal awaiting me, on a sudden impulse I snatched up a pamphlet that I saw lying with a number of others. I am not a great reader of pamphlets: there is usually a catch in them. However, on return I conned through this pamphlet. It is entitled "The public library a living force for popular education", and is published by UNESCO, which, as everybody knows, is a department of the United Nations Organization specially concerned with education and the dissemination of knowledge. I am vaguely in favour of this so long as knowledge is not thought of as a mass of undigested facts, statistics, etc. As for "popular education", I am afraid we have a long way to go to make education in Canada even half as popular as hockey! Under the heading "What the public library should offer" I read "The complete public library should provide—Books, pamphlets, magazines, newspapers, maps, pictures, films, music scores and recordings,—and give guidance to their use."

✧ ✧ ✧

I THINK I am am right in saying that the only two items in which our admirable Public Library is deficient (counting the art exhibitions under the heading of pictures) are those of music scores and recordings. There is a small collection of records started by the present librarian, but they may not be taken away. There are no scores at all. It is time that Peterborough fell into line with other cities of comparable size and invested in a collection of scores. At the same time a lending library of records should be started. This has been a great success in other centres. There is no need to fear that the records will be used as table mats—a small subscription would amply repay the wear and tear, and the surplus used for purchase of new records.

✧ ✧ ✧

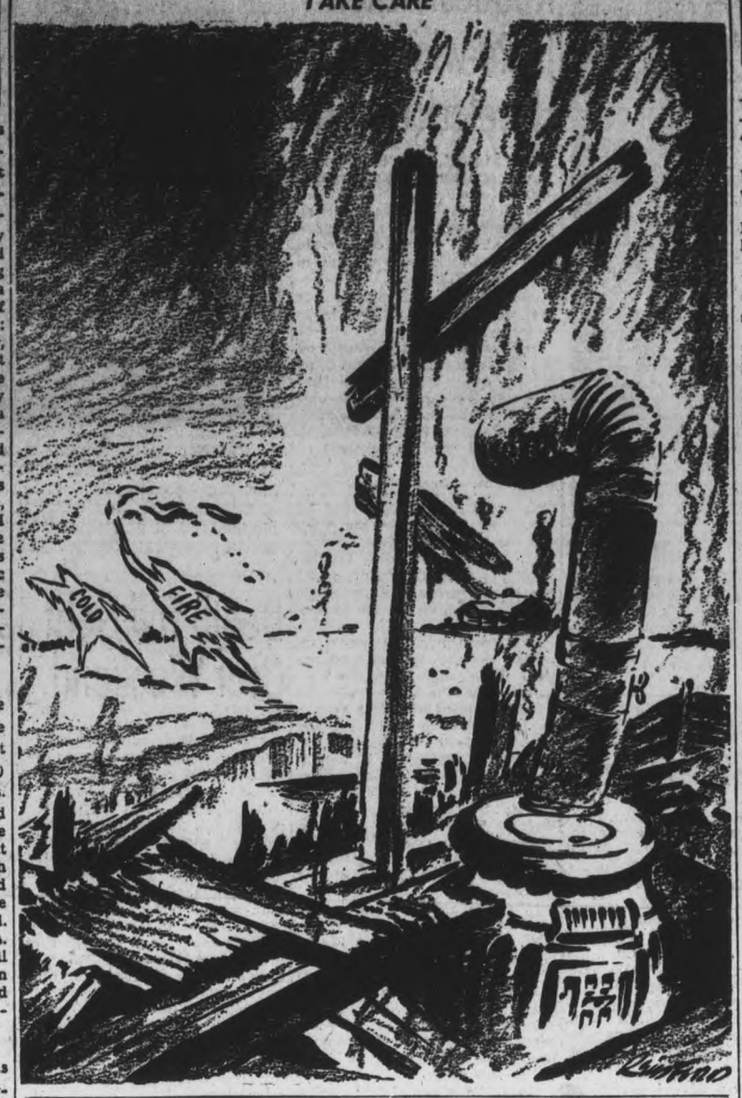
NOW that the long-playing situation seems to have clarified, it is an excellent opportunity for building up a collection. There are many people who cannot afford to buy a large collection of records themselves, who would eagerly patronize a lending library, and if these are supplemented by scores it would be of priceless value to professional and amateur musicians alike. All that is required is authorization to go ahead. Let us hope that it will be soon forthcoming.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOMEBODY has described a fugue as a piece of music in which the subject keeps on coming in and the people keep on going out. While I have not actually witnessed this phenomenon I have often encountered people who confess that fugues bore them stiff; there is no "chune" in them, so they say. They remind me of those unfortunate people who are dragged out to watch a baseball game without the foggiest idea of what the players are trying to do. If they but knew it they would realize that there are so many chunes going on at once in a fugue that it needs a little perseverence to sort things out. With practice it should not be too difficult for the average music-lover to seize some of the more obvious points, though as in games the finer points are seen by the connoisseur. The popular idea of melody is a fairly obvious tune with a discreet rum-ty-tum accompaniment hiding respectfully in the background. This is of course far too narrow a concept. Melody originally meant something that one could sing, and for a considerable period it was a good enough definition; but even that is inadequate nowadays. The opening bars of Chopin's A flat Impromptu are pleasingly and originaly melodious, but I defy anybody to sing them—except of course on the piano, which Chopin uses as a "singing" instrument.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS difficulty of scientific definition (to which I alluded a short while ago) has led to a good deal of loose talk and verbal mud-slinging. A favourite form of abuse amongst critics, professional and amateur alike, has been to accuse certain composers of "lack of melody". Not only Shostakovitch and Schoenberg, but even Wagner and Bach have been accused of this. We must be on our guard before we fling these accusations around. Perhaps our own private idea of melody is too narrow and exclusive. We should ask ourselves, what "melody" really is, whether there can exist a type of melody that is more or less divorced from the human voice and its obvious limitations, whether it is possible to regard music written in the twelve-tone system or in quarter-tones or in any other than the major and minor modes as having melody. We should also decide whether it is desirable to have more than one melody going on at the same time, bearing in mind that every composer worth his salt from the anonymous composer of "Sumer is icumen in" down to the present day has answered this in the affirmative.



✧ ✧ ✧

MORE important than this we should find out what the composer is aiming at when he is writing a fugue or a sonata or what not. There are plenty of little books written in not too technical terms which can shed much light on these problems, there are talks on musical appreciation (there is a series coming up shortly in this city), and there are many musicians who are capable of giving a helping hand: so there is little excuse for anybody who just sits down and glories in his blinkers. Of course one of the difficulties of musical appreciation is the fact that unlike baseball it is the musicians themselves that make their own rules as they go along. That is how music has developed. If this were not the case I suppose we should be listening to something like plainsong all day when we switched on the radio!

✧ ✧ ✧

THE best form of musical appreciation is to take an active part in performance, even as a humble member of the chorus or in the back desk of the second violins. Much as I appreciate musical appreciation as it is commonly understood, this business of sitting back and listening to gramophone records (with nice explanations) can be overdone—like living on candles all the time. Perhaps if we made everything frightfully difficult and abstruse it might attract the more serious-minded. I sometimes feel that we are making the task of learning too easy for the student nowadays: if a few obstacles were strewn in the path it would reduce the number of those with a smattering and give the rest a more solid grounding.

TAKE CARE

James Bridie

by IVOR BROWN

JAMES BRIDIE, who in his other profession was Dr. O. H. Mavor, was more than Scotland's leading dramatist of today: he was an inspiration and a counsellor in all matters of wit and wisdom and the best kind of public man.

Without him there might have been no separate Arts Council for Scotland and no Glasgow Citizens' Theatre; his contribution to the Edinburgh Festival was also a very large one.

He was Glasgow-born and Glasgow-schooled, at the Academy and University. His undergraduate career, as one of a brilliant group including Walter Elliot, was more distinguished for its intellectual side-lines than its concentration upon medicine. But he duly qualified, served as a doctor in World War I, was drafted in the Middle East, and so acquired and satisfied his curiosity about the land of the Scriptures. This resulted in such plays as "Tobias and the Angel," "Jonah and the Whale" and "Susannah and the Elders."

'THE ANATOMIST'

On return to Scotland he practised as a doctor in Glasgow, but with so strong a private interest in talking, arguing, and writing that it was bound, in the end, to alter his whole career. During the nineteen-thirties he became a whole-time dramatist, uncommonly fertile in new ideas, fluent of dialogue, but not matching his creative quickness with constructive neatness. Some of his plays began brilliantly and then wandered downhill. Bridie said, "Only God can write third acts," and God was not always on his side.

He succeeded best with his study of Dr. Knox and the Edinburgh body-snatchers, "The Anatomist," with the scriptural and Middle Eastern plays already mentioned, with a study of the waywardness of genius called "A Sleeping Clergyman," and later with several Scottish plays in which Alastair Sim was his admirable leading actor. The best of these were "Mr. Bolfry" and "Dr. Angelus." He had a great success in London in 1949 when Dame Edith Evans played so magnicifently in "Daphne Laureola" a typical Bridie piece, brilliant in fancy but greatly dependent on the performance.

ENCHANTING QUALITY

James Bridie was a man who combined speaking very quietly, even inaudibly, with a remarkable capacity for saying "No." He hated good advice, was not to be taught his own business by any critic or counsellor, and yet made his obstinacy a lovable, enchanting quality. He was lavishly hospitable, revelled in company, was a great joiner of clubs, and had innumerable friends.

His philosophy of life was individualistic and sceptical. Having inside knowledge of medicine, he distrusted many of its manifestations and activities. He believed in leaving Nature alone. All his views were expressed with his own invention, freshness, whimsicality, and irony. His mind and vocabulary contained no cliches. Never announcing himself a Scottish Nationalist, he was proud of, and zealous for, Scottish work in the arts and professions, and so served nationalism in his own way and without proclaiming it. Always self-willed and often wise, he was constantly witty as well. His death not only bereaves the Scottish theatre; it eclipses the gaiety of his nation.

NOW BE QUIET

A museum contained an immense collection of Indian relics. One giddy feminine member in a party of tourists pointed to a large decorated skull in one of the show cases, and asked the guide if he knew whose skull it was.

The guide, evidently tired of answering an endless chain of foolish questions, replied: "That is the skull of the Emperor Montezuma."

"And," persisted the tourist, pointing to a smaller skull in an adjoining case, "who was that?"

"That, madam," replied the guide with a perfectly straight face, "is the skull of Montezuma when he was a little boy."

The Body Beautiful

(Edmonton Journal)

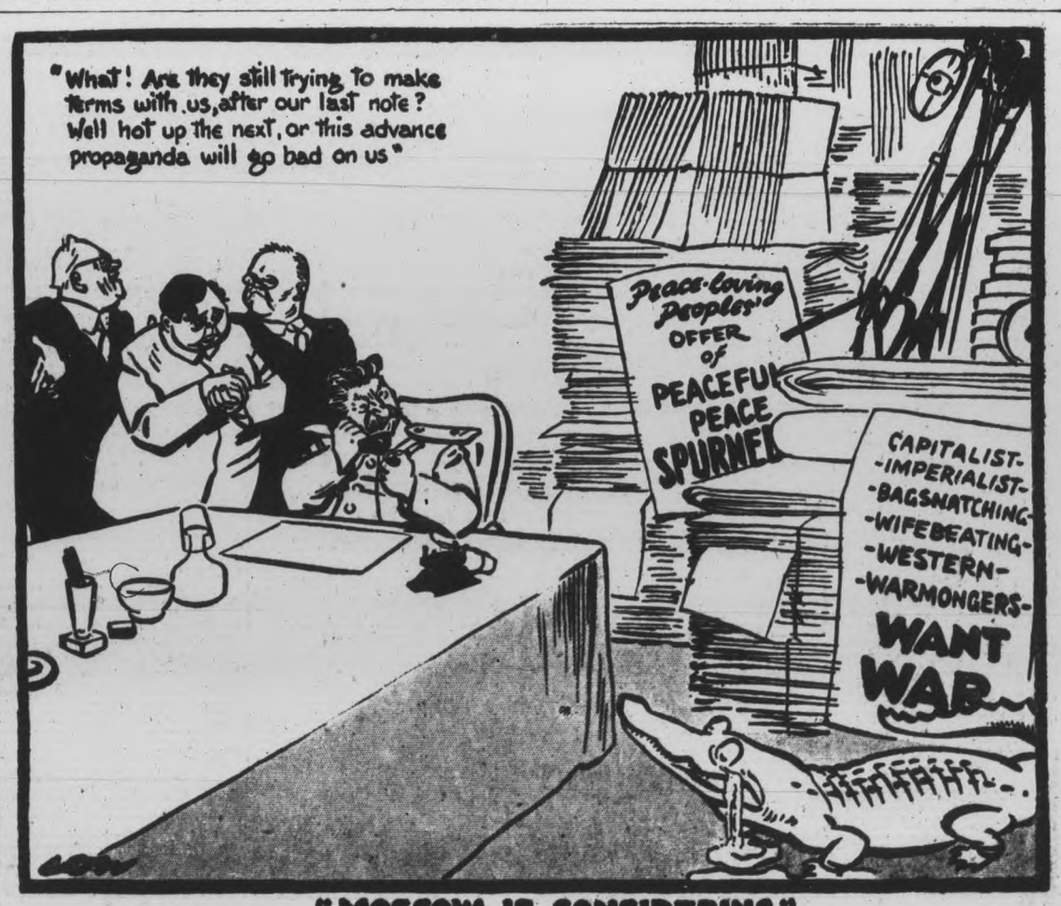
A great multitude of pale, undersized, hollow-chested and unaggressive men around the world are likely to bless the name of the British Medical Press. By the same token, this London medical magazine will be anathema to physical culturists and those promoters of "muscle-building" courses who offer to transform anyone from a shrimp into a fair imitation of Tarzan in 10 easy lessons.

The Medical Press argues that the "Greek god" type of physical specimen, with the knotted muscles and the bulging biceps, may look attractive, but frequently it just doesn't work.

Ordinary experience tends to bear this out. It is the small fragile-looking men and women who are most apt to live to a hundred. Even when it comes to physical tests—especially long, gruelling ones like a forced march or a spell of heavy labour—the thin, wiry type of individual often outlasts the broad-shouldered giant.

Even the ancient Greeks, who originated the cult of muscles, seem to have suspected something of the sort, as evidenced by their tale of Milo of Crotona. Milo was the supreme "muscle man" of the ancient world; he won all the prizes at the Olympic Games where brawn was the main requirement. Unfortunately, he came to a bad end one day when, to show off his strength, he tried to pull an oak tree apart with his bare hands. He split the trunk all right, but in his eagerness he somehow got wedged between the two halves, and while thus imprisoned, he was eaten by a passing bear.

All of which should be some consolation to those who lack muscles and chest expansion—or have too much of the latter too far down.



THE TRUTH

"Do you say your prayers every night, Trudy?" asked the minister.

"Oh, no; Mummy says them for me," answered Trudy.

"Indeed; and what does she say?" he queried.

"Thank God you're in bed!" was the prompt reply.

"MOSCOW IS CONSIDERING."

Reveal Secret Brass Split Hampered Burma War Fight

By DON SCHWIND.

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—Britain broke the secrecy seal Sunday on a four-year-old report by Earl Mountbatten that high brass organizational quirks rivalled malaria and the Japanese in hampering 1943-45 Burma operations in the Second World War.

The report, published by the government, was drafted by the Earl in 1947 and directed to the allied combined chiefs of staff. Earl Mountbatten was supreme allied commander in the Burma theatre from November, 1943, to May, 1946.

The report indicated that, until the May, 1945, collapse of Hitler's Reich raised its status one notch, Burma starved for men and equipment as a third-rank theatre of war. In the queue for allied war material it stood behind Europe and the Pacific.

But, according to Earl Mountbatten, the major bug-bear in his efforts to flush the Japanese out of Burma's jungles and gorges was the fact that a poorly defined command layout often had his high brass working at cross purposes.

Mountbatten's toughest nut apparently was the status of his deputy commander, the late Gen. Joseph W. (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell.

In Tough Spot

"As a deputy supreme allied commander," his report noted, "Lt.-Gen. Stilwell's allegiance was to me. . . as chief of staff to the supreme commander of the China theatre, his allegiance was to the Generalissimo (Chiang Kai-shek) . . . as commanding general CBI (U.S. land and air forces in China, Burma and India) Lt.-Gen. Stilwell was responsible to the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, reporting to and receiving administrative orders directly from the war department in Washington."

"As I had operational control of forces in Southeast Asia and the Generalissimo had operational control of forces in the China theatre, when opposite arguments were submitted about the employment of all resources in the Southeast Asia command . . . Lt.-Gen. Stilwell had either to remain silent or oppose the policy of one or the other of his superiors."

The report added: "General Stilwell did his utmost to discharge his duties as correctly as their conflicting interests allowed. But it is clear that any arrangement by which a commander in one theatre simultaneously holds high appointment in another cannot fail to place him in an invidious position in which divided loyalty is almost inevitable."

According to the report, Mountbatten and Vinegar Joe split on the best way for allied forces to open a way to some port on the China coast. Stilwell wanted it done via North Burma and China's Pynnan area; Mountbatten wanted the movement to be through Sumatra and Malaya to the south and east.

Had To Intervene

The report said: "I directed that (Stilwell's views) should be fully and impartially presented to the British chiefs of staff and to the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, but in one of his other capacities Lt.-Gen. Stilwell considered it his duty to send his own mission to Washington, ahead of mine, without informing me of the fact."

Mountbatten had to step in personally, according to the report, when Vinegar Joe came to loggerheads with Maj.-Gen. W. D. A. Lentaigne, commanding a special Indian force. The report said Stilwell complained that units of the force disobeyed his orders to start an advance. He wanted it removed from his command.

In an official investigation Lentaigne argued that the troops had been overtaxed. An investigating general found the force had in fact been ordered to undertake tasks for which it was no longer fit.

Stilwell was recalled to Washington in November, 1944, to take the post of commanding general, army ground forces, in the United States.

Believe Chinese Reds Making Long-Range Military Plans

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Feb. 5 —(AP)—The Chinese Communists are making military plans beyond their campaign in Korea.

They seem to be looking even beyond such additional possible objectives as Indo-China, Formosa, Hong Kong and other southeast Asia points.

There has been speculation recently that the Korean war already has embarrassed the Chinese Communists, with their thread-bare economy and scanty reserves of bullets and bombs.

One observer put it this way: "Not since the Genghis Khan has a ruling power made such preparations for tapping the world's greatest manpower source."

The Chinese Reds already have four crack field armies of more than 2,000,000 men. They are reported forming at least one and maybe two more field armies.

Start Military School

In addition, they have started military schools on a long-range basis to train officers, technicians, communications experts and supply forces on a country-wide scale.

These will be the brains of future Chinese Communist armies that threaten to dwarf the present armies.

The Reds have begun a sort of grass-roots training of militia. Every village and hamlet must supply a share of men.

The Communist leaders already have talked in terms of a 20,000,000-man militia, a part-time army partially trained from which the full-time field armies will recruit men and condition them for battle.

The militia is to feed in the manpower, the dozens of military schools are to feed in the officers and technical personnel.

Such a military incubation system, if successful, could supply world Communism with manpower that nobody in history—even the great Khans—ever equalled.

The Reds will have to conquer many of their neighbors to get the supplies to keep such a force alive and growing, but observers here think they won't have much trouble doing that.

Boxcar Shortage Threatens Cut Newsprint Quota

MONTREAL, Feb. 5—(CP)—Shortage of box cars is threatening a cut in Canadian newsprint production.

The shortage is due to the cars not getting back from the United States, a situation aggravated by present wildcat strikes there.

Officials of Price Brothers and Co., Ltd., fourth largest Canadian producer at about 450,000 tons a year, state that by Wednesday they will have to close plants at Riverbend and Kenogami, in Quebec's lake St. John district, unless some 10,000 tons of newsprint can be moved from warehouses now almost full.

Other Canadian companies describe the situation as "tight" and "critical," though as far as is known there is as yet no marked cut in shipments, and none in production.

Canada expects to produce this year some 5,360,000 tons of newsprint. This is more than half the world's production and some 90 per cent of it goes to the United States.

In Heavy Demand

A spokesman for Canada's two large railway systems, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific, gave the following statement on the general situation, without specific reference to newsprint:

"Box cars are in very heavy demand just now and unfortunately the Canadian railways are not in a position to meet this demand fully at this time. This is due principally to the long retention of box cars in the United States, a situation which has been further aggravated by the current wildcat strikes there.

"Another factor has been the recent weather which has reduced the speed of freight trains. However, Canadian railways are doing everything in their power to distribute available cars as fairly as possible in order to keep all industries in operation."

Exciting Tale Of Red Planes Leaves Stewardess Blushing

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5—(CP)—It was all a practical joke, but it left a pretty airline stewardess red-faced and embarrassed on arrival here Sunday from Hong Kong.

On her first trip to the Orient, Stewardess Agnes Dunwoody of Vancouver was told that Red Chinese planes had buzzed the big Canadian Pacific Airlines' plane Empress of Hong Kong near Swatow.

Crew members made the story exciting, telling how the plane had been forced off course, but it was just part of the usual kidding of a first tripper.

There were no Red planes. They were U.S. patrol planes making a routine check off the China coast.

The embarrassed crew explained Sunday that it was all a joke, but before Miss Dunwoody knew the truth, she had told a newspaper reporter.

He had cabled a story from Tokyo telling of the China-based Communist fighters staying with the Canadian plane until it changed course away from the China coast.

Miss Dunwoody was not available for an interview Sunday. She had instructions from blushing CPA officials: "Please make allowance in future for practical jokes."

Australian Wheat Farmer Annual Income Of $945,000

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Eric Smart, 38-year-old West Australian wheat farmer, was almost broke 15 years ago. Now he may be the biggest individual wheat farmer in the world; at least that's the claim of his fellow farmers.

Now a battery of harvesters is finishing cropping more than 350,000 bushels of wheat on his farm 300 miles from Perth. Income from this and wool will probably bring Smart's income to $945,000. That's not the biggest income in Australia by a long way—there are wool men making considerably more—but it's good progress in 15 years.

Smart's family had been farming for six generations in South Australia when Eric Smart went to West Australia in 1935. Determination and energy and impatience brought him quick rewards. Sometimes he had to sell his plows to buy harvesters but within three years he was producing 70,000 bushels of wheat.

Speeds Farming

Smart concentrates all the machinery he can on his farms. By this he has seeded 2,000 acres in four days and has harvested 9,000 bushels in one day in one paddock. Smart doesn't take any chances. He'll keep 18 harvesters going at once with repair gangs standing by ready to fix any breakdowns immediately.

His methods have revolutionized Western Australian ways of farming. His main property, Erruguila Springs, is like a small township. Married workers have cottages, and each day a special bus takes 50 of their children to a nearby school. There's a private swimming pool and sports grounds. If Smart wants a game of golf he sometimes drives 400 miles to the seaside resort of Bunbury.

His comment on his work: "The man who refuses to let taxation and other business worries get him down will come out on top."

Seek Pension Change

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP). — The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) served notice on the electrical industry Sunday that it is after pension programs containing severance pay provisions. Earlier, Carey announced the IUE will start an "immediate, all-out" drive for a 12-to-15-cent hourly pay raise for hundreds of thousands of production workers in the radio and television industry.

Burt To Head Labor Federation

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP) — George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers, was elected president of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CCL) at Saturday's closing sessions of the federation's annual convention.

Mr. Burt defeated Arthur Williams of Oshawa, assistant director of district 50 of the United Mine Workers. Mr. Williams and Sam Hughes, assistant director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, were elected vice-presidents.

The retiring president, Joseph MacKenzie, did not seek re-election.

Cleve Kidd, research director of the United Steelworkers of America, was re-elected secretarytreasurer.

The federation passed a resolution condemning the action of the Canada Labor Relations Board in withdrawing trade-union status from the Canadian Seamen's Union because of its Communist leanings.

The federation, which has recorded its opposition to Communism, held that the board had decertified the CSU on flimsy evidence and on a narrow interpretation of Canadian labor legislation.

England Battles Against Lead

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 5 (Reuters) — England, struggling against a commanding Australian first-innings lead in the fourth cricket test match here, today came within 99 runs of the home total and dismissed the Aussies' most dangerous batsman for a paltry 16.

Arthur Morris had cracked 206 in the first innings but was run out early in Australia's second innings shortly before close of play.

Chief architect of England's total of 272 was Len Hutton, dauntless opening batsman who racked up 156 and became the first Englishman of the century to carry his bat through a test innings.

He was aided by bowler Doug Wright—in a swashbuckling 10th-wicket stand of 53.

Australia scored 34 for one wicket in her second innings, leaving her 133 ahead with nine wickets to fall. England will bat last.

Australia already has clinched the five-match series, reeling off consecutive victories in the first three tests.

Smythe Warns NHL Not Promoting Game

BOSTON, Feb. 5 — (TP)—Managing director Conny Smythe of the Toronto Maple Leafs told a press conference here Sunday night that club officials are not promoting the game properly.

"We have the product," he said, "but we aren't selling it or promoting it properly."

He said that only five teams in pro hockey are making money and the losers are dropping huge sums trying to keep the game alive.

He said that such great players as Maurice Richard, of Montreal Canadiens, and Gordon Howe, of Detroit Red Wings, are not being promoted. He described them as two of the finest right wingers in many years in the National Hockey League.

Vitarelli High Man

A clean sweep of all trundling honors was racked up here last weekend by Campbell and Best in the men's City Bowling League. They hit a 3591 total with a single effort of 1300. Tony Vitarelli was their top man with an 835 three-some and high 331 single.

This team whitewashed Swartz, as Shockey's blanked Sunocos. Other results were 2-1 wins for Cavanagh's, Clapper's, McGillis and Esquires over Fashion-Craft, Dunn's, Bond's and Moore's in that order. Good single games were rolled by Fred Martin 318, Bill Miller 327, Vern Ferguson 308, Bill Boon 303 and Tom McPhate 303.

New Puck Record Set By Midget Marines

Who said amateurism was dead in the realm of sports. On Friday night Outboard Marines midgets, drove 91 miles to Haliburton in 11 below zero weather, played a team of all stars and won 27 to 2 for a new scoring record in Ontario this winter. What did they get? Sandwiches and a cup of hot chocolate, and oh yes, the manager of the Haliburton team put a tank full of gas in each of the three cars that brought the players up. The boys had no complaints but they had hoped the home towners would have turned out to cheer or jeer, but the total count in the seats was 11 adults and 31 youngsters. The midgets are leading the Peterboro Minor Hockey Loop and have racked up 15 wins so far, both exhibition and schedule games.
